Six Winners Named In Garden Club "Beautiful Yard Garden" Contest

First place winner in the Greenbelt yard gardening contest for Old Greenbelt is Joseph G. Brown of 58-F Crescent. Clyde Dupree of 54-M Ridge took first place in New Greenbelt. Second place in Old Greenbelt went to Merle F. Frady of 35-L Ridge and in New Greenbelt to Howard Bell of 11-H Laurel Hill. Third place in Old Greenbelt went to Mr. Chas. M. Cormack of 6-B Ridge and in New Greenbelt to Bill Moore of 32-K Ridge. Honorable mention was awarded in Old Greenbelt to Miss Hilda Edgecomb of 10-B Crescent and in New Greenbelt to Lambert Brezina of 12-C Plateau Place.

The winners of this contest sponsored by the Greenbelt Garden Club and the Greenbelt News Review were awarded ribbons at a meeting of the Greenbelt Garden Club Thursday evening. Paul Campbell, General Manager of GVHC, made the presentation.

The judges, Mr. Brigham, Mr. Duncan, and Mr. Jorgensen found Brown's yard, 58-F Crescent, a neat, well designed small front yard. An unusual feature of this yard was the almost exclusive use of plant material in design. The rose hedge also deserves special mention. Dupree's yard, 54-M Ridge, was graded very high on the quality of the lawn and excellent composition of azaleas, rhododendrons, and tall trees.

Residents of New Greenbelt with houses within the row and long narrow, heavily shaded yards that seem to defy attempts to grow grass or flowers should see how the gardenside yard of Bell's of 11-H Laurel Hill takes advantage of the handicaps of narrowness and deep shade. Directly behind the house is a small patio and rock garden. Flagstone steps from the patio through the rock garden lead to a grove of pines where a picnic bench is set among azaleas, rhododendrons, and native ferns. The second place winner in Old Greenbelt, Frady of 35-L Ridge, has probably the most elaborately raised flower beds in this area. For those who have any doubts about the superiority of the new wonder grass, Merion bluegrass, stop by and see the patch of this grass in Frady's yard.

Moore's yard, 32-K Ridge, is judged a showplace by many. The judges found the ornamental evergreens and azaleas most interesting. The Cormack yard at 6-B Ridge received favorable comment from the judges for the excellent variety of flowers and other plants. Mrs. Hilda Edgecomb's yard of 10-B Crescent had an excellent lawn and was a good example of what can be done with the "shady park" type of yard in Old Greenbelt. Brezina's gardenside yard at 12-C Plateau Place showed excellent planning. This yard is one of the prettiest in Greenbelt when the spring and early summer flowers are in bloom.

Water Meters Slated For All New Homes

All new homes or buildings built in Greenbelt will be provided with a water meter, the city council decided last Monday night after passing an ordinance for that purpose. The new ordinance also prohibits anyone tampering with or using the fire hydrants in the city without a permit.

New library hours for the Greenbelt library will be effective October 1. They are:
Saturday (10 a.m. - 4 p.m.),
Monday (1 - 9 p.m.), Tuesday (1 - 6 p.m.) Wednesday (1 - 9 p.m.), Thursday (10 a.m. - 6 p.m.), Friday (1 - 6 p.m.)

Vaccination Program Resumes In Late Fall

The public polio vaccination program will resume late in the fall following the closing of the polio season, according to a joint announcement from the Maryland and Baltimore City Health Departments. Thirty percent of the initial proportion of available vaccine will be used for free administration by the County and City Health Departments, and 70 percent will be distributed for the use of physicians, hospitals, drug stores and supply houses throughout the state.

These percentages are flexible and will be changed in either direction as the need arises, officials of both health departments said. No date has been set for the resumption of vaccinations for first and second grade school children or for other eligible children in the priority group. The policy has been adopted to postpone further vaccinations until the seasonal incidence of the disease has sharply declined.

At present, the age group now eligible to receive vaccine has been designated as children from five to nine years of age inclusive. As the vaccine supply permits, this group will be broadened both upward and downward until the ages of one to 19 years of age inclusive.

Children in health department clinics or school health programs will receive free shots. Others, excepting for those in foster homes or with medical care cards, who are able to pay physicians' fees will obtain their shots from the 70 percent allotment reserved for sale to physicians.

Potomac Federation Holds Annual Outing

The Potomac Cooperative Federation will hold its fourth annual Barbecue on Sunday, September 25, from 1 p.m. until dusk, at the Gaithersburg, Md. Fair Grounds. More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend, according to Mrs. Simon Newman, Federation vice president and chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Food will be served from 1 to 3 p.m., with barbecued chicken as the menu's chief feature. Entertainment will include square dancing to the music and the calling of Curly Smith and his Blue Mountain Boys, and an exhibition of tumbling by boys enrolled in the Montgomery County Community Arts Cooperative. For the children, there will be many kinds of rides—hay, pony and mechanical. Both adults and children will participate in a program of games and races. There will be a bonfire at dusk.

Tickets at $1.50 per adult and 75 cents per child, may be obtained from the Potomac Cooperative Federation, 1129 Vermont Avenue, N.W. (REpublic 7-6804), or from the various consumer cooperative organizations in the Washington Metropolitan Area. An adult group in each community sponsors the Teen Club, with leadership being furnished by the Recreation Department and the teen-agers, through membership dues, financing all other expenses. The Teen Clubs, which meet weekly for social recreation, use the facilities of the public schools or a community hall.

All Teen Club directors will be given an intensive In-Service Training program on October 1, under the direction of the Recreation Department.

Last year the Recreation Department provided leadership for thirty-six teen clubs which had a total attendance of 72,246 young people.

Council Votes $4,000 To Fix Center School

The city council appropriated $4,000 to repair the roof of the Community building at its meeting last Monday night. City manager Charles McDonald revealed that the roof has been in need of repair and is causing further damage by leaking water after rain. The roof has been patched continuously for the 18 years if its life and should be repaired now before it causes more expense.

The money was appropriated from the $16,000 surplus reported present in the city coffers.

Lone dissenter in the appropriation was councilman Robert Hurst. "This is too large a sum to approve by suspending the rules for a second reading," he declared. City manager Charles McDonald stated that the work must be done soon before inclement weather starts, and more than a month will pass before bids are accepted and approved.

ADULT EDUCATION

Registration for Adult Education classes will be held at Northwestern Senior High School Monday, September 27 from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. A fee of $2 is required for each enrollee per semester. If classes can be formulated and teachers available, the applicants will be notified by mail when and where to report.

Canning Likely Mayor As 743 Vote; Wolfe, Hurst, Smith, Kistler Win

Greenbelt citizens elected a new city council last Tuesday, but the only change was the substitution of Alan Kistler for Ben Goldfaden. Kistler, a newcomer to the Greenbelt political scene, battled Goldfaden and James Smith all through the vote counting, and finally ended up fifth. All other incumbents were re-elected; Thomas Canning, James Wolfe, Robert Hurst and Jim Smith.

GCA Meeting Schedules Sewage Disposal Talk

by Mat Ambers

Reports and discussions on the needs of the Youth Program of the Youth Center Advisory Committee and the city's looming decision on the problem of growth-restricting sewage disposal shortage will be key items before the Greenbelt Citizens Association at its first meeting of the 1955-56 year Sept. 27.

Beverly Fonda, GCA's youth program chairman as well as chairman of the Youth Center Advisory Committee, will present the report on the Youth Program's needs.

I. J. Parker, City Hall reporter for the News Review, will outline the vexing sewage disposal facilities and water supply situation and possible alternatives faced by the City of Greenbelt.

Interest in the sewage and water problem has been growing since it became widely known that present city sewage treatment facilities must either be expanded to take greater loads expected when new housing being planned for is here, or some or all of Greenbelts residents will have to be served by Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. A report that Suburban Sanitary does not want to serve only the housing to be built by Warner-Kanter on the undeveloped land sold by GVHC but would take in all Greenbelt—with the resulting higher costs to residents here—has dismayed some Greenbelters. So has their reflection on the cost of expanding Greenbelt City's own facilities. The problem spilled over into the City Council elections and will be one of the first big decisions the newly-elected Council must face.

Interested citizens will be able to learn of the background and current status of the sewage and water issue from Parker at the GCA meeting Tuesday at the Social Room of the Center School; meeting starts at 8:15 p.m. Similarly, those at the meeting will have available information on the status of fund-raising for the Youth Center, plans for the Center, and problems and needs of the program as seen by an active participant in the work.

Also on the agenda is a progress report on the work of publishing a revised Greenbelt City Directory to take the place of the now out-of-date Directory that appeared nearly two years ago. Directory publication will be a major GCA project, with help from the city's other organizations, this fall.

All residents of Greenbelt are invited to attend all GCA meetings—admission free and no dues collected. That's Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 8:15 p.m., in the Social Room (down stairs) at Center School.

County Starts Crafts Workshop For Leaders

A Crafts Workshop for volunteer leaders of youth serving groups will be conducted by the Prince Georges County Recreation Department on Thursday evenings starting October 6 and continuing through December 1. The Workshop will be held at the cafeteria of Northwestern High School, Colesville Road, Hyattsville, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

A variety of crafts suitable for children and young people's groups will be offered including basketry, clay, plastic and shell jewelry, felt, crepe paper, nature, and inexpensive gifts. Instruction will be given by Mrs. Mildred Reed and Mrs. Thelma Elder, craft specialists for the Recreation Department.

There is no charge for the Workshop and leaders may attend any or all eight sessions. For further information call the Prince Georges Recreation Dept., APpleton 7-8696.

Garnering a surprising bounty of votes was Canning with 527 of the 743 votes counted, who earned the right to be next mayor. Wolfe and Hurst tied for second with 472. Other votes were Smith, 416, Kistler, 405, Goldfaden, 382, Louis Tierney, 343, and William Seigel, 332. In order to be elected, candidates needed a majority of the votes cast (372).

The usual crowd of about 30 citizens waited outside the fire house to hear the votes announced to the counters. After each 100 ballots, a total was broadcast. At the last 43 votes, Goldfaden was only 12 behind, adding an air of suspense and drama to an otherwise calm election. After the final tally, the crowd quickly flocked to the candidates to offer their congratulations or regrets.

Election officials, appointed at the last city council meeting were: Judge of Election, Mrs. Oscar Zoellner; Director of Count, John Murray. Other election workers were H. Ogden Donellan, William L. Moore, Jr., Bernie Emmert, Dorothy Galvin, Adelaide Kaighn, W. Earl Thomas, Mrs. E. Turner, Mrs. Ben Rosenzweig, Harry Merryman and Rev. Robert C. Hull.

New Council Schedules First Meeting Tonight

The first "organizational" meeting of the newly-elected city council will be held tonight in the city office at 7:30 p.m. Mayor James Wolfe will swear in the new council members, and then the business of selecting the new mayor and mayor pro-tem will take place.

Precedent has been established to select the councilman elected with the highest number of votes; Thomas Canning holds this distinction. However, Wolfe can be selected because of his former position as Mayor. Informed sources say that Wolfe is not anxious for the mayor's job. Mayor pro-tem, if established on the number of votes, will offer a problem as two councilmen were tied for second place: James Wolfe and Robert Hurst.

After the "swearing-in" the new mayor has the privilege of assigning seats to the council members. This is usually done on the basis of tenure, rather than votes. Hurst will probably move one chair closer to the mayor, and Alan Kistler, only non-incumbent elected will take Hurst's old place at the end of the table.

The first official meeting of the council will be held Monday, October 3.

School Vision Called A Community Problem

Community-wide cooperation is needed to reduce vision problems in our schools, Dr. Arthur Dorman, President of the Central Maryland Optometric Society, said today.

"If parents and teachers insisted upon a complete vision examination for all children who are rated in the lowest third of their grade, much could be done to eliminate the poor eyesight handicap that inhibits 35 to 40 per cent of our school age children," the doctor continued.

One way to control vision problems in our schools is for the PTA groups to make sure that the classrooms in which our children spend from six to eight hours a day are properly lighted. The second prerequisite is that the chairs and desks are the correct height and size, according to each child's requirements, and are comfortable and conducive to good posture and good study performance," Dr. Dorman pointed out.

He added that parents can also make their contribution to good vision for their children to be comfortable at their work.

News & Democracy

745 votes were cast in Tuesday's election, some 100 more than voted two years ago. This, in spite of or because of the tremendous turnover in population in the past two years, is a good record. However, before we pat ourselves on the back too hard, let us remember that this number is probably half the number of eligible voters, and over 200 less than the number registered. Considering the lack of initiative shown by the city fathers in publicizing the registration and election, it is a good turn-out and we modestly feel that the NEWS REVIEW deserves a share of the credit for this expression of citizen interest. We sometimes wonder what sort of democracy we would have in Greenbelt if no community paper existed. Perhaps we would be like the Colmar Manor and University Park communities, where total votes cast are between 25 and 60! May this never happen here.

Unfortunately, the NEWS REVIEW's financial status is again shaky. We need more editorial assistants, reporters, and other helpers, but most of all we need money in the form of advertising. Without these items we cannot long continue. Our present staff is working on all cylinders these days trying to solve these problems. Some help from the community at large is once again in order. We have already seen one encouraging sign—a promise from the majority of the new council (who when polled were only candidates) to make for a better informed citizenry by printing ordinances and resolutions in the newspaper as advertising, and incidentally support the NEWS REVIEW. While we recognize that this was only an expression of support at a time when they, too, needed it, we trust that the new members of council will heed their campaign promises! If the Council comes through it will be a decisive step toward real community support.

Daniel Villaral Jr.

Hurricane Ione, which did not arrive, indirectly led to a tragedy in Greenbelt on Monday night, September 19. Three-year-old Daniel Villaral, Jr., of 1-B Laurel Hill was fatally shot when his father accidentally dropped a gun he was carrying as the family was leaving home to wait out the expected arrival of the hurricane.

The boy was pronounced dead about 7 p.m. on Monday at Prince Georges General Hospital.

Greenbelt town police reported that the father was leaving the house with his family about 4:30 p.m., carrying the gun, a .45-caliber revolver, under his arm wrapped in a pair of dungarees. He intended to unload the weapon in the car.

The revolver slipped from under his arm, struck the door sill and discharged, hitting the boy in the stomach who was just then going out the front door with his parents and sister, Rose Elaine, one. The parents said they heard Daniel cry out as he fell back against his sister.

Villaral was quoted as saying he was taking his family to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Richard E. Jackson, 5710 Somerset Avenue, Riverdale, Md. He said Mrs. Jackson lives in a wooded area and he had decided to take the revolver along.

SILENCE

Mr. Morgan's letter concerning the impending and unnecessary death of the Greenbelt Gun Club raises a secondary issue of some consequence to the community. He speaks of the vandalism that has plagued this well-meaning organization. Isn't it rather surprising that this continued delinquency has never been publicized in the NEWS REVIEW? Mr. Editor, what is the reason for the paper's silence? Perhaps open reporting of these events at their start may have prevented the present crisis in the life of the Gun Club.

Citizen

(Ed. Note: Both the News Review and the city authorities are at fault, we think. The former for not more aggressively pursuing this news, and the latter for not volunteering it. This is a situation which will be corrected when we get more help and when the city becomes more cooperative.)

Civil Defense

By R. Hal Silvers
Civil Defense Director
Civil Defense Rescue Service . . .

No organization exists which can do rescue work on scale required following a nuclear attack. Civil defense rescue service has been established to provide adequate number trained and equipped rescue workers.

Rescue workers will remove trapped persons, many of whom may be injured. In large-scale emergency, organized rescue teams may not be immediately available. Everyone should learn basic rescue work so he can help himself and others in such emergency.

Rescue work must be done by skilled rescue workers. Untrained rescue workers can assist, but they must be supervised by experienced men. Without supervision they could cause additional collapse of damaged structures and injure themselves and others. Because work requires some basic engineering skills, such as shoring, rigging, and construction; and proper training, practical experience, and good judgment.

Rescue Instructor Course . . .

This course provides two weeks of comprehensive and practical training in applying technical knowledge of three phases of rescue—access, casualty handling, and extrication. This training is effectively given by competent staff at a facility described by international experts as finest available anywhere in the world. The course is especially recommended for responsible representatives of local organizations, including leaders of disaster groups, rescue teams, and safety personnel of industrial plants.

Rescue Instructor School at Olney trains key civil defense personnel from states, counties, municipalities, and industry in skills, techniques, and operations of rescue. Key personnel then train additional rescue workers locally so that adequate rescue service can be developed and maintained in readiness for war or natural disaster.

Rescue Instructor Subjects . . .

Breaching Walls, Casualty Carries and Pickups, Casualty Handling, Damage to Utilities, Debris Tunnelling, Effects of Modern Bombing, Emergency First Aid, Establishing Local Rescue Schools, Field Training Methods, High Rescue Operations, Instruction Methods, Reconnaissance in Rescue, Rescue Street Training Exercise, Rigging Rescue Devices, Stability Shoring, Stages of Rescue, Sub-surface Rescue Operations, Surveying Damaged Structures, Use and Care of Ladders, Use of Lifting Devices, Use of Rescue Operational Equipment, Using and Improvising Stretchers.

An Invitation . . .

In line with the President's statement declaring that "The immediate job of the Federal Government is to provide leadership and to supply technical guidance," the Federal Civil Defense Agency has established a Rescue Instructor School at Olney which provides leadership and guidance through its excellent rescue training courses.

As your County Civil Defense Director, I invite you to participate personally in this training, to prepare yourself as a rescue worker. This will enable you to accept and carry our your share in the responsibility of civil defense operations. Please Clip and Mail Today to:

Training Director

Call for Help

The generous response to a story in the Greenbelt News Review placed used refrigerators in the homes of several very needy families this summer, said Mrs. Elizabeth Goldfaden, Executive Secretary of the Social Service League, adding that she is again asking for help.

Single beds, cribs and chests are needed by families this Red Feather agency is trying to help. Mrs. Goldfaden stated that one family has nine children and is very much in need of a crib and a small bed. Another family, just reunited after a long series of illness, financial problems, and many serious hardships, needs two single beds, two chests of drawers, and any small bedroom furniture.

Mrs. Goldfaden said that both families have done all they can to help themselves with counseling and financial assistance from the Social Service League. The phone number of the League is Warfield 7-1441, and if fall housecleaning reveals some furniture for which you have no further use, a call to this number will bring someone to pick it up.

Orioles Nipped At End But Have Fine Season

Nearest thing to a championship team, fielded by Greenbelt Boys Club in baseball this summer, was Coach Bill Moore's Orioles, spunky enough to win 15 out of 17 games against Intermediate age competition but lacking guns necessary to beat out University Park for Central Division title. Orioles beat University Park on June 7 by 5-3 and were undefeated all along until August 3 when UP's Fofler bowled us over at Magruder Park by 3-0. Then, for division championship on August 30 at Green Meadows, tall Fowler closed the door on us with another fine whitewash pitching job—this time by 1-0.

Fowler limited the Orioles to mere two hits in that last game, struck out 8 and gave up just 3 bases on balls. Barry Petroff, trying very hard for the Orioles, also fanned 8-batters but yielded 5 hits and 5 walks. Both teams played errorless ball afield.

Big run came in the bottom of the fourth inning when Petroff walked Horwitz and Fowler to start. Tommy Iveson grabbed Ballard's grounder and tried to beat Horwitz to third for a force out, loading bases by failure. Petroff whiffed Weedon but, with infield deployed in for possible double play, Beckman lifted a little pop over Richie Fonda that plated Horwitz. Chagrined Petroff blazed his fastball past Mazzotta and Crawford to end the inning, but damage was done.

The Orioles never got any closer to a run off Fowler than Dale White took them. The league's outstanding catcher walked in the fourth, stole second and advanced to third on an infield out. White singled in the sixth and again swiped second, dying again as Bobby McGlothlin popped.

Big Barry Petroff was batting champion of Orioles according to final statistics released on the Birds this week. Petroff compiled a .449 batting average on 13 hits in 29 AB's. His fine battery mate, Dale White, was runner-up with a .432 mark.

Bobby McGlothlin had most AB's - 58. Captain Bobby Canning had 53. Ronnie DonBullian scored most runs—24—and Dale White was next with 21. McGlothlin's 23 hits topped runner-up Canning by one. Tommy Iveson's 4 two-baggers topped that department of slugging. Canning, Richie Fonda and McGlothlin shared runner-up spot with 3 doubles apiece. Fonda's pair of three-baggers topped the club as Canning and Ken Reamy got only other triples. Dale White was only Oriole to smack two home runs. Petroff, McGlothline, Iveson, injury-stopped Wesley Hogan and Reamy each chipped in with one circuit drive. Captain Canning topped the important "runs batted in" column with 16. Tied at 15 RBIs were Fonda and McGlothlin.

DonBullian easily topped the Birds in drawing walks, opposing pitchers passing him 18 times. DonBullian also had "pink check" honor of leading his team in striking out the most times—13! Petroff and White tied for runner-up honors at receiving base on balls—11 times each. McGlothlin and White went one-two for base stealing honors with 18 and 17 respectively.

Staff Thanks Board For Air Conditioning

by Mat Ambers

A helping hand to Capital Transit Co. employees who were unable to meet their monthly GVHC payments on time because of the recent protracted strike was extended by the GVHC Board at its September 9 meeting.

And the Board also was given a bit of "warm (actually cool)" praise by 16 GVHC staff employees.

The CTC action came about when General Manager Paul Campbell reported to the Board meeting that about six GVHC members who are CTC employees were in arrears on their housing payments because of the interruption to their income. Campbell told the Board it probably would take a couple of months for these members to catch up on payments, and he pointed out that under GVHC a member must pay $1 for each month in which his payments are in arrears.

Quickly going along with Campbell's suggestion, Board Member Al Long moved—and it was unanimously passed—that the $1 charge would be applied only once in these cases, not once each month of arrearage, so long as the affected members' payments adhere to schedules they would work out with Campbell within a reasonable period.

The praise for the Board came in the form of a statement of thanks, signed by 16 staff members including Campbell, to the Board. The staffers gratitude was for the air conditioning the Board had ordered installed in GVHC headquarters. They expressed "warm (actually cool) appreciation for the thoughtfulness and consideration of the working conditions of the staff" shown by the Board.

The Board also voted to accept 9 new GVHC members. And it set up a three-man committee to study the medical center where a vacancy was to be created by Dr. McCarl's moving and where a possible parking space might be built. Campbell was instructed to inform an applicant for the McCarl house that because of zoning regulations it cannot be used as a pharmacy, as the applicant proposed in a letter to Campbell. Such a use would be commercial, not residential or professional, Campbell, Counsel Abe Chasanow, and board members said.

The meeting, attended by four GVHC staffers and eight Board members (Andros was the only absentee), was a short one, over soon after nine p.m. As has been the case at several recent Board meetings, the only spectator was the News Review reporter—although the Board has repeatedly made it clear that GVHC members are welcome to come, listen, or bring up problems. Next meeting Friday, Sept. 23, 8:15 p.m., GVHC headquarters, Hamilton Place.

Mental Health Clinic Becomes A Reality

A new mental health clinic for Prince Georges County residents is almost a reality. This has been the goal of many years work of the Prince Georges County Mental Health Society. The clinic staff is now in the county one day every week meeting people in the community; and acquainting them with their work.

The clinic, located in the First Methodist Church, Baltimore Avenue at Hamilton Street, Hyattsville, will be open only one day a week. The Society admits that this will mean a limited number of people will be able to be served, but spokesmen for the Society state that at least it is a beginning towards a full time mental health center.

Dr. Benjamin Karpman, Chief of Psychotherapy at St. Elizabeth's Hospital will speak under the auspices of the Mental Health Society Monday, September 26 at 8:30 p.m., at Hoffman Hall, the First Methodist Church. Dr. Karpman, a specialist in psychoanalysis and an author of innumerable articles and books, will speak on "The Field of Mental Hygiene."

W-K Wants To Use City Sewer System

A rate of 7 cents per thousand gallons was established by the city council last Monday night for sewer service for property lying in the sanitary district of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission and using Greenbelt's sewage disposal plant service. At present the rate only affects junior high school, which is so situated.

However, the rate ordinance is a prelude to negotiation with WSSC and the Warner-Kanter home-building group which intends to build 150 expensive homes near the lake. The lake site is within the WSSC district, city manager Charles McDonald disclosed, and WSSC has informed Warner-Kanter that it cannot provide a trunk sewer line to the site until a larger demand is present. WSSC has advised the city that it will be willing to pay for the service if Greenbelt will provide it.

Council members indicated the move has greater import than recognized, as it is possible that the entire Greenbelt system may come under the WSSC jurisdiction if we so desire; in fact, WSSC would provide the trunk sewer immediately if we would change over.

The ordinance was approved 3-2, with councilmen Robert Hurst and James Smith dissenting. The rules were suspended for a second and final reading and passage.

McDonald then introduced a letter from Warner-Kanter asking to use Greenbelt sewage service on a temporary basis at the established rate. The request was tabled until the next council could consider the matter.

Officer Marshall Zoellner displayed two trophies to the city council last Monday night representing first prizes won by the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire department and Rescue Squad at the Annual Prince Georges Firemen's Convention held in Branchville last Saturday.

The local group copped first prize in "first aid techniques" and another first in the "best fire-training record." McDonald reminded the council that the fire department has been part of the county group only three months. The city council expressed its appreciation of the fine work of the volunteer group in winning the "most coveted" prizes. It was also disclosed that two Greenbelt police officers were in the crew that won.

Drop Inn News

by Barbara Moseley

The Drop-Inn opened Friday, and we were glad to see so many new and old faces there. All the girls looked very nice in their skirts and sweaters and slacks.

There has been one change in the rules about clothes worn by boys. They can no longer wear jeans except on Wednesday nights when there is skating. They must wear dress pants or khakis on Friday and Saturday nights. This rule was put into effect by Mrs. Birdseye.

Let's everybody come to the next dance so we can have a bigger and better Drop-Inn.

The Drop Inn opened Wednesday night for our teen-age skaters. Everyone had a wonderful time and we were glad to see so many people there.

Co-op Kindergarten

The Greenbelt Cooperative Kindergarten opened Monday, September 12 with twenty-five enrollees in each of two sessions. Mrs. Betty Wilson teaches one session at Center School and Mrs. Ruth Bowman is at North End School.

At a membership meeting held September 7, President Jennie Klein reported several children on the waiting list but not enough to warrant opening a third session. In past years two sessions were available at Center School. However, the membership voted to open a third session in October or later if there were enough new applications received. Parents in surrounding communities are being advised that their children are eligible now.
