First Quarter Fiscal Experience Compared To Last Year's by GVHC

by Al Skolnik

Increased heating and maintenance expenses in the face of slightly reduced income from monthly charges resulted in first quarter experience for Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation that compared unfavorably with that of previous years, according to the fiscal statement prepared by comptroller Roy Breashears last week.

The contrast between this year and last year was particularly sharp," Breashears stated. "While total income during the first three months of 1957 dropped $1,600 over a similar period last year, total expenses rose by $12,200, leaving the corporation some $14,000 worse off after the first three months of operation in 1957 than in 1956."

Heating costs during the three months ending March 31, 1957 rose by $6,200 over a similar period last year, while maintenance costs and contract work increased by $10,100. Part of the increased maintenance costs reflected projects which were postponed from earlier years because of lack of staff. Also, favorable winter weather this year permitted the maintenance staff to initiate work which normally is delayed until the spring.

Other major increases took place in board and management expenses ($1,000) and non-operating expenses ($4,900). The latter reflected intensive newspaper advertising placed by the GVHC sales office. Offsetting these increases were drops in interest expense ($2,100), city and county taxes ($800), and water expense ($5,600). The drop in the latter item was unexpected and is being watched to see if similar experience is reported in the second quarter.

"Yet," Breashears stated, "comparison of first quarter experience in 1957 with that of 1954, our first full year of comparable operation, shows reduced operating costs all down the line in 1957 with the exception of heating costs and insurance expenses. Unfortunately, heating costs represent over one-third of the budget and have an important effect on the corporation's financial situation." As a result of fuel oil price rises, the cost of heating has increased from $98,400 in the first quarter of 1954 to $118,300 in the first quarter of 1957. This, despite the fact, Breashears said, that consumption of fuel oil has been reduced because of a more efficient heating plant.

Credit Union Hours

The Greenbelt Federal Credit Union will continue its Saturday hours through the summer months, but will be closed on Monday evenings from June 10 through September 2.

This action was announced by Carl L. Eubank, Secretary, who stated that because of the increasing number of members who use the Credit Union facilities on Saturday it was decided to continue the Saturday hours through the summer.

The Credit Union hours are: 1 to 3 p.m. Mon., Wed., and Fri. afternoons; 7:30 to 9:30 Wed. and Fri. evening; and 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

Any Shoes To Mend?

by Tony Madden

Paul Milasi, Greenbelt's beloved old shoemaker for the last 19 years, suffered a heart attack Saturday, May 25, in his little basement shop in the Greenbelt center. Paul was taken to Mt. Alto Hospital, where he will be confined at least several months. Doctors held no hope for him to return to work for at least six months.

Paul's wife, Josefina, is bravely carrying on in a battle against heavy obstacles. Unable to drive a car, she daily leaves her three small children in the care of a kind neighbor near their Wheaton home, to which the Milasis moved several years ago from Greenbelt, and catches rides to and from Greenbelt with GCS employees.

When GCS gave up the shoe repair shop last year and Paul continued it as his own business, he lost all his group insurance; Josefina has the job of paying the doctor bills without insurance, meeting the mortgage payments on their modest home, keeping up the rent on the shoe repair shop, and paying the wages of a substitute shoemaker. Last weekend the repair machine broke down for two days. During Paul's illness she is also faced with the traditional summer slump characteristic of the shoe repair business.

Mrs. Milasi cheerfully helps out on the sewing machine, meeting the customers and handling the odds and ends. Smiling sweetly in her warm, humble and friendly manner, she refuses all offers of charity and explains in her broken English: "If we only had more shoes... we could work, and Paul would like it that way—work."

What was that you said, Greenbelt?

Little League

Greenbelt's baseball players stole the show in the city on Memorial Day. In the rivalry game between the sixth graders from Center School and North End School, the Center School team, coached by W. G. Leddick, trounced the North End School team, coached by Joe O'Loughlin, 10-4. A good sized cheering group was present from both schools.

In the nightcap the Little League players showed the coaches and managers how much they had been taught by beating the elders 14-10. Cawley and Henderson did the pitching for the Little League team, with Frank Youell doing the tossing for the men.

A lot of interest was shown by the capacity crowd of over one hundred attending the two games. Between the games the American Legion Drill Unit put on an excellent show of drilling and marching under the directorship of Ted Pugh.

BABE RUTH LEAGUE

Practice for the Babe Ruth League will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at Braden Field. All boys between the ages of 13-16 are welcome. The Babe Ruth League is under the direction of Joseph Montgomery.

Parents are urged to enroll their eligible children tomorrow if they have not already done so.

Toastmaster Club

On Tuesday, June 11 at 8 p.m., the Greenbelt Toastmaster Club will meet at the Center school. Toastmaster for the evening will be Dr. Imel. Guest speakers from the Silver Springs Jaycees will be on the program.

Twenty Local Organizations Form Recreation Coordinating Committee

by Russell Greenbaum

Representatives of approximately 20 Greenbelt organizations met with the city council on Monday, June 3, and formed the Greenbelt Recreation Coordinating Committee. The group unanimously elected Percy Andros as its chairman.

Other officers elected to serve in the new organization are vice-chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Isely; recording secretary, Mrs. Mayme Noda, and executive secretary, Warren Leddick, the city recreation director. The purpose of the GROCC is to help plan a community-wide recreation program and to encourage residents to provide volunteer help in carrying it out. The committee will meet again in the city office on Monday, June 17, at 8:30 p.m.

Softball League

Two games were played this past week. On Tuesday night the Community Church defeated the Fire Department 17-9 with each team collecting 11 hits. Home runs were hit by Dave Nusz and Voohrees of the Community Church team.

The Athletic Club, trouncing St. Hugh's 28 to 9, opened up in the fourth inning with 10 runs after trailing 6-1. The G.A.C. collected 23 hits while St. Hugh's collected 7. Burke and Rimar hit home runs for the Athletic Club. Mike Canning led St. Hugh's with three hits.

All games are played on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights at 8:15 at Braden Field. Next week G.A.C. will meet the Fire Department on Monday. The Fire Department vs. Methodist Church on Tuesday and Baptist Chapel vs. G.A.C. on Thursday.

BAND CONCERT

The Greenbelt Band will give a concert on Monday evening alongside the Pool. Due to the bad weather the concert this past Monday was cancelled.

Leddick told the committee that the greatest need for assistance was in the youth center program, particularly in providing chaperones for the evening programs. He estimated that from four to six adults are needed, including men, to supervise the Saturday night dances. At the present time there are two women chaperones, Mrs. Fraidy and Mrs. Birdseye, who serve regularly every week on a paid basis. In addition, a county recreation supervisor has been assisting since January.

The crux of the problem, as presented by Leddick and Charles McDonald, the city manager, is that the city cannot afford to pay the salaries of recreation instructors and supervisors needed to carry out the type of recreation program the community requires and which it can handle with its present facilities. For example, there are several tot playgrounds throughout the city which are ideal for keeping youngsters busy during the summer months. However, the city in the interest of keeping the tax rate down was forced to eliminate funds to pay parent supervisors for these playgrounds. Furthermore, funds and manpower are lacking to keep the playgrounds in good condition.

The committee picked up enthusiastically the suggestion that these playgrounds be rejuvenated by repainting in bright colors, rather than the standard green, and refurbishing the equipment. This would be a cooperative effort of the residents of the courts surrounding each playground, with the committee organizing and coordinating the overall program. Councilman Ben Goldfaden offered to start the ball rolling by helping with the playground at the head of Ridge and Crescent. Mrs. Noda will be in charge of that project.

Leddick pointed out that imaginative play equipment would go far in making the playgrounds attractive to the youngsters. He suggested that a concrete sewer pipe, about four feet in diameter and costing about $16, would provide a variety of play for active children. A wall could be constructed and fitted with a cargo net as another inexpensive means of giving children outlets for their strong motor drives.

Asked about the recreation program provided by the county, Leddick reported that the county ran the summer playground program at the North End school for ages from eight to 18. It is an all-day program five days a week for eight weeks. Leddick said this year he would inaugurate a similar playground program at the Center School in the morning only, from nine to 12, since he felt the swimming pool would draw most youngsters in the afternoons.

The youth center program ends for the year at the end of this month, but Leddick felt that planning was needed for next year's program. He related his previous experiences in trying to obtain parents as chaperones. After contacting 62 parents personally by phone, he received 26 definite offers to assist. However, when he notified these people of a meeting to plan a chaperone program, only four showed up. Part of the job of the new committee, he said, is to generate interest in the youth center and overcome this apparent apathy. Some special outdoor youth programs, such as dancing and possible roller skating, will be tried this summer.

The committee was also asked to scout for residents with special talents who can instruct youngsters, particularly in sports and skills other than baseball. It was pointed out that the previous Recreation Advisory Committee headed by Alen Chotiner stressed that there was an overemphasis on baseball and boy's athletic events, and more attention should be paid to girls' recreational activities.

My Town

by Russ Greenbaum

There is a "ghost town" growing on the outskirts of Greenbelt. Visitors who come in via Greenbelt Road (or pass by on the way to the Parkway) must be intrigued by the sight of four brand new fully furnished homes sitting in a formal semi-circle as deserted as if the families had suddenly left to escape a plague. Around them the hedges are growing wild, and the grass and weeds are sprouting higher and higher as if to cover what might become a classical fiasco in real estate development.

The homes, of course, are the property of the Continental Construction Corporation, which completed them just about a year ago as models for the big housing development that was to bring new life to my town. What has happened? This is a mystery that will probably never be completely solved. The facts, as meager as they are, amount to these. Until late in March, the development was still moving forward, although at a snail's pace. Ads were being run in the Washington Post, salesmen were at the homes at least on weekends, and a letter from Continental to the Veterans Administration dated March 27 stated that construction was about to proceed.

Then suddenly everything caved in, and Continental passed the word around that construction would be postponed indefinitely. It is now definitely assumed by all that this company, subsidiary of the Warner-Kanter Corporation, that has purchased all of Greenbelt's vacant land, will never build a house here. The worst of it, from the city's point of view, is that nothing can be done about the continued delay in the development of the community. We will probably just have to sit and wait until Warner-Kanter sells to another developer who may move things along.

One man who is shaking his head sadly at all this is Ed Burgoon, GVHC's volatile president. After the first papers were signed on the Warner-Kanter deal, another developer showed up with real promise and with a check for a down payment on the land. Burgoon fervently hoped that the W-K deal would fall through on a technicality, but destiny continued to press its thumb down on Greenbelt's growth. Meanwhile, perhaps we should revive that old expression "not worth a Continental."

I saw the new Recreation Coordinating Committee get off to a flying start. It's always heartening to see citizens who have been with us for years tackle the age-old problems of the community with renewed interest. There was Mrs. Isely, a Greenbelt plank-owner, still unwilling to let things slide by and ready to take up the cudgels for a better community.

But what would we do without the newcomers? Adding real sparkle to the meeting was Mrs. Mayme Noda, who has just been here since November. Her lively outspoken manner—but without the crusading overtones—helped to make the group feel that it had a cause really worth working for. Mrs. Noda was not sure that she was a proper representative, since she was appointed by the cooperative nursery school, to which she would not belong next year. Mayor Tom Canning, beaming broadly, brushed this aside and echoed the feelings of the committee when he said, "We'll find an organization for you to represent." In my town that is never difficult.

Advice To a Mother

A reader writes us:

"I am the mother of three children. My son, who is seven, got three Salk polio shots at school. But my oldest child, a 16-year-old high school girl, has had none. Neither has the baby, who is three. Do they need to be inoculated and should we do it now?"

Yes, they do need it and you should do it at once.

Polio authorities, like the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, say that a large portion of elementary school children have already been protected. But most teenagers and still more pre-school children haven't. They are first on the urgency list.

At the moment, heavy demand has strained the supply of the vaccine. Temporary shortages will be made up as rapidly as the manufacturers can produce new supplies. Every family should protect itself at the earliest possible time. And that means the whole family—for polio is not exclusively a child's disease. The percentage of cases among adults aged 20 through 39 has taken a sharp turn upward. Furthermore, it is the adult, more likely than the child, who winds up in an iron lung. It is the adult, and not the child, whose paralysis leaves a family bereft of a mother or a wage-earner.

So bundle up your family—all who haven't had their three shots yet—and get them vaccinated. Don't delay any longer than is absolutely necessary.

Fifteen Ways Not To Spel

From Sioux City (Iowa) Journal-Tribune.

The rules of spelling get flaunted, of all places, in newspaper offices, according to M. MacLean Johnson, who has just published a book about it called "New Goals in Spelling."

And many newspaper people, who are secretly dependant upon the dictionary and who have known the truth all along, are embarrassed about it, too. Especially when some of the words they misspell are so obvious.

Spelling errors are particularly bad in a newspaper because a principle responsibility is accuracy and most newspapers marshal a corps of editors and proof-readers to find and correct the mistakes. The concensus around newspaper offices is that they were getting away with it well enough until Johnson came along to flout the facts in their faces.

But it probably has occured to most newspaper readers that newspaper people, like all other people, sometimes risk spelling "by ear" and that newspaper editors sometimes fail to separate the correct for the wierd.

People who follow closely the principals of good spelling think of this practice as being without parallel, and it is. But newspaper people try to be accomodating and freely admit the truth. In the interest of fairness they have a commitment to do so.

If the foregoing paragraphs sound odd, it is because they contain 15 of the 18 most common spelling errors newspaper people make, and had to be written with the mistakes in mind. Readers are invited to find those 15 errors.

VOLUNTEER NOTES

Fireboard No. — 1-UNION 4-1122

by Lester Citron

FLAGS WERE AT HALF MAST this week over all Prince Georges County Fire Department and Rescue Squad headquarters in honor of pioneer rescue squad worker, Roy F. Frohlich, 45, chief of Bladensburg Volunteer Rescue Squad, who died last Saturday. Frohlich began working with the Volunteer Services when the Rescue Squads were little more than a good idea. That was 28 years ago. Since then he has helped to build the rescue squad idea into an indispensable community service in Prince Georges County. During this time Frohlich served his home organization in various offices and was also elected chief of the County Rescue Squad Association in 1938 and 1939. His enthusiasm and leadership will be sadly missed by the community he served and by every volunteer organization in the county.

FUN AND VACATION are not the purpose of 12 volunteers as they get ready for a 3 day stay at Camp Louise June 14, 15, and 16. Instead concentration will be on more training in first aid and rescue work with particular emphasis on automobile accident rescue work. All expenses and transportation are being paid for by the 12 volunteers. THE LADIES AUXILIARY OF THE GREENBELT FIRE DEPARTMENT AND RESCUE SQUAD, INC. plan to send a 5 member contingent to the State Convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Convention at Ocean City, Md., June 19, 20 and 21. However, the ladies aren't traveling alone. They, with the exception of Mrs. Betty Wynkoop, are taking their husbands with them. The other ladies are Mrs. Jane Junt, Mrs. Maria Snoddy, Mrs. Jean Mogel and Mrs. President Cleo Dutton. Strangely enough, these particular husbands happen to have business in the same area. They are Greenbelt's representatives to the State Convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Poetry Corner

I wonder if it's worth the pain
To struggle for so little gain;
To feel the aching sinews spent,
And never know for what it's meant.

The feeling that some gruesome joke
Has linked one in its awful yoke,
To labor with the ass and ox
And suffer with the worldly pox.

To flee the world's infirmity,
Unknowing what was meant to be,
Is all the choice that's left to us,
And ever has it been but thus.

Harold F. Gates of Takoma Park was elected District Governor of the sixty Lions Clubs in District 22-C at the annual Multiple District 22 Convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey, which closed on June 1. Gates will succeed Lewis Hopfenmaier, II, of Washington, who is the present executive officer of the district comprising Washington, D. C., Montgomery, Prince Georges, Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's Counties in Maryland.

The Legionnaire

The Greenbelt American Legion is sponsoring three high school students to the "Boys State Convention" at the University of Maryland, June 23-29. These applicants will be picked from High Point High, Bladensburg High, and De Matha. Members and those interested are urged to attend the opening performance on June 23. For further details, contact Chairman Nelson Chapman.

Legion award medals for the most outstanding students were given to William Franklin Edwards and Kathaleen Margaret Reed. The runners up were Paul Bragaw and Faith Shields who received certificates. Chairman Nelson Chapman and Mrs. Ann Link of the Auxiliary officiated at the presentation.

Memorial services were held May 30 at the Center in commemoration to those who gave their most that we may live in peace. I might add it was one of the finest conducted programs that this post has ever put on and the Commander wishes to thank all of those who attended.

The Marching Unit Benefit Dance held June 1 was a success and Chairman Ted Pugh thanks those who made it so. The proceeds go towards fitting this fine group with uniforms.

The Legion baseball team put on a wonderful bit of showmanship Sunday afternoon at Braden Field although the final score was 3 to 2 in favor of "My Maryland Post." The Legion is very proud of these boys; and a word of thanks to Bernie Emmeret and Mel Taylor for their training and guidance of these young lads. I do think, however, it would be a morale booster if the community would try to make a better attendance at the games.

It has been brought to the attention of the Executive Committee that in the past few months the movies run on Wednesday nights have had poor attendance. The shows for the month of June will be on a trial basis and if the attendance does not pick up, they will be discontinued. I am hoping that you movie lovers will not let this entertainment cease. Movies are every Wednesday commencing at 9 p.m.—FREE!
