The Greenbelt News Review deeply regrets our printer's error in omitting the ad for the Greenbelt Realty Corp. from last week's issue.

NEWS REVIEW DRIVE BEGINS MONDAY

The Last Word

Next Monday our crew of News Review solicitors — your friends and court neighbors who have volunteered for the job — will begin their rounds of all Greenbelt residences. At the end of the week we shall have a clearer idea of the future of the Greenbelt News Review, your community weekly newspaper which has never yet missed an edition in more than 20 years.

This is the last word we shall say about our financial plight, and we are happy to say no more. Frankly, it has been rather painful to pour out our troubles publicly. It has not been easy to explain our technical problems as well as our philosophy in simple, understandable terms.

Nevertheless, we wish to stress once again that as far as we can foresee advertising revenues from local businesses will not support an adequate weekly newspaper without additional financial assistance from the entire community. In fact, in recent months the lack of advertising has forced us to publish many skimpy two-page papers, which have been in the nature of little more than a holding operation to keep the newspaper going. It has not been fun for the staff, and we feel that our readers have been equally unhappy.

Actually, we do not know whether most people in the community eagerly await the News Review every Thursday, although a number of such sentiments have been expressed lately. Yet we have always had a deep conviction that the community would feel quite lost without the weekly newspaper, and, therefore, we feel that no drastic steps should be considered before our readers have had a chance to be consulted.

Next week is your chance. Now is the time for all good citizens to come to the aid of their paper. We are only asking for a small contribution—perhaps the two dollars which would be the low cost for a subscription to the News Review if it were not delivered free to everyone. However, anything less—or more—than that would be satisfactory as an expression of your support.

GHI Officers Re-elected; Decision On Pets Reviewed At Board Meeting

By Al Skolnik

By a unanimous vote, the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors re-elected on April 9 its present officers for another 1-year term. Allan Morrison, who was top vote gatherer in the recent membership election, bowed out of contention by nominating incumbent Ed Burgoon for the presidency. Burgoon and the remaining officers—vice-president Frank Lastner, secretary Bruce Bowman, and treasurer Lloyd Moore were elected without opposition.

With the election out of the way, the board turned its attention to the problems created by the April 8 decision handed down by Chief Judge John B. Gray of Maryland's seventh judicial circuit with respect to the banning of pet cats and dogs by the corporation.

At the time of the GHI meeting, the board had not yet seen the written decision and was relying on telephone accounts provided by its attorney, Jerrold V. Powers. The full implications of the decision, said Burgoon, would not be known until the entire decision had been studied.

Power to Regulate, Not Prohibit

According to the preliminary interpretation received by the board, GHI is prevented from prohibiting the ownership of pets by GHI members and such ownership in itself cannot be a cause for eviction or cancellation of the mutual ownership contracts.

However, Burgoon said, the decision apparently does not prevent the corporation from establishing reasonable rules and regulations aimed at preventing pets from becoming a nuisance to the community. Such rules and regulations, he thought, could be enforced by the courts, and GHI could seek to evict or cancel a mutual ownership contract of a member whose pet did constitute a nuisance.

The following passage from the decision was used by Burgoon to uphold this interpretation: "It may very well be that if the objectives of section 7 (b) are contravened by the manner in which pets are kept in any of the dwelling units or are allowed to roam the community in derogation of the rights of others under this section, the corporation could adopt proper rules to regulate the same, but we must hold that this authority does not permit the corporation to prohibit."

Section 7 (b) of the mutual ownership contract requires members to observe and comply with such reasonable rules and regulations as the corporation deems in its judgment to be necessary or desirable for the safety, care, and cleanliness of the dwelling unit and surrounding premises, and for the preservation of good order and comfort.

Burden on City

Burgoon stated that in preliminary talks, city manager Charles McDonald and police chief Jim Williams acknowledged that the decision now puts the main burden of controlling pets on the city. The city officials indicated, according to Burgoon, that they will move to enforce strictly the ordinance regulating dogs which was passed by the city council on November 4, 1957.

This ordinance deems it a misdemeanor to allow a dog to run at large without a leash and provides for fines ranging from $2 to $25. It also provides for the apprehension of dogs running at large by a special dog catcher who is authorized to hold the dogs for a period of two days at the fenced-in compound adjacent to the city warehouse. Dogs not claimed in that period are to be turned over to the county dog pound. Owners reclaiming dogs are subject to a minimum charge of $5 to cover the expenses involved.

Burgoon stated that city council members contacted have also expressed their full cooperation in the regulation of pets and have indicated that if the existing ordinance is not strong enough, they will push for more stringent controls.

MECHANICAL PROBLEM

If you have been wondering why the delivery of your News Review has been delayed until Friday for the past two weeks, this is to assure you that there has been no change in the publication date. Unfortunately, mechanical difficulties with the printing press, which have now been corrected, caused the delay.

Clean-up Drive Parade Slated, Sat., April 18

By Virginia Beauchamp

A kickoff parade, starting at 11 a.m. on Saturday at the North End School, will begin Greenbelt's official Clean-Up, Fix-Up, Paint-Up campaign this year. Heading the parade will be "Sweepy," the squirrel, mascot of the Governor's Keep Maryland Beautiful Committee. Local units participating in the parade will be: the city of Greenbelt, Greenbelt Homes, Inc., Greenbelt Consumer Services, the Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, the Greenbelt Majorettes, the Stepperettes, the North End Drill Team, the Cub Scouts, and the Boy Scouts. Any other organization and all individuals wishing to join the parade are encouraged to do so. They may join in at any point along the route—down Ridge to Southway to Crescent to the Center—and may step out when they become tired.

Children who wish to march in the parade must have the permission of their parents. They may carry pennants, mops, brooms, trash cans, bags, signs, or any other symbols of clean-up; but no sharp objects will be permitted in the parade.

Everyone in the line of March and along the parade route, Chairman Robert W. Mogel, has announced, will receive a lapel tab from "Sweepy." Litterbags will also be distributed. A surprise for participants only is being donated by Greenbelt Consumer Services.

As the planning stage for the Clean-Up drive nears its conclusion, a number of organizations and businesses have announced specific ways in which they will participate. Boy Scout Troop 746 has volunteered to clean the area around the Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church. All the Scouts, under Ted Dalbow, will arrange to make a roadside pick-up. The Isaak Walton League will repair and repaint the signs at the Greenbelt Lake; they'll also survey the lakeside areas needing attention. City and GHI trucks will be available for the many extra trash pick-ups during the campaign.

Businesses taking part in the campaign will be: GCS, which will distribute litter bags to all customers in their Maryland service stations, and which will also supply travel trash cans for their use; Twin Pines, Greenbelt Pharmacy, the Ben Franklin Store, and the Co-op, which will donate window display space and the Greenbelt Theatre which is showing a show feature on Clean-Up throughout the month of April.

The Clean-Up committee also expressed the hope that local churches would take advantage of the campaign to conduct clothing drives for serviceable but discarded clothing to be given to the needy.

One of the reasons for placing Greenbelt's 1959 Clean-Up Drive mostly in the month of April is that April has been designated Keep Maryland Beautiful month. From the Keep Maryland Beautiful committee, the three elementary schools in Greenbelt have now been supplied with copies

Over 100 Volunteers Will Make House-to-House Appeal For Funds

Heartened by letters and oral expressions of support from city officials, church leaders, and prominent citizens, the Greenbelt News Review will launch its first annual drive for funds, this Monday, April 20. Over 100 volunteer collectors are keyed to solicit their fellow neighbors in a house-to-house community campaign that may play a major role in determining the newspaper's future.

Laundromat Will Open Soon In Center Site

Sometime around the end of April, Greenbelters will see another business enterprise open its doors in the shopping center. Known as the Greenbelt Laundromat, the new business will feature all coin-operated machines on a completely self-service basis. It will be located next to the Ben Franklin store an adjacent to the space which the Post Office is currently contemplating.

Proprietors of the new venture are Irving and Rose Latva of Burtonsville, Md. The Latvas have operated similar businesses in this area for the past ten years, and for fifteen years previously in N. Y. At present they have three locations, including one in nearby College Park and one in Hyattsville. The Greenbelt location will have 30 washers, 8 dryers and 2 extractors. Total investment in equipment and installation amount to almost $25,000.

For those who are not too familiar with laundromats, Irving Latva pointed out, extractors remove up to 70% of excess moisture, cut down on drying time and save money. In addition, they make for fluffier drying and prevent clothes from turning yellow. The washers will cost 20c to operate, the dryers 10c, and the extractors 10c, but the extractors hold as much as three loads at a time. The store will be open 24 hours a day, and there will be an entrance from the parking lot behind the building for the convenience of customers. Soap dispensers, tables and chairs will also be on the premises, as well as a coke machine and possibly other refreshment dispensers.

During the first week or two of operation, the Latvas will be on the premises to explain the machines and to meet their new customers. Thereafter, however, it will not be necessary for anyone to be present, since the laundromat is operated entirely on a self-service basis. The cost of washing and drying clothes by this method is far less than you would believe, Latva said. In fact, he added, it is so reasonable that it compares favorably to using your own machines at home.

of a film strip on clean-up. Cost of the film strip was supplied by a contribution from the Lions Club.

Of particular importance in the reporting of the local drive to the National Clean-Up Bureau, which sponsors the national contest in which Greenbelt will again participate, Mogel stressed, will be snapshots of people in action as they engage in group or individual projects. He particularly called for pictures of planting tasks of any sort.

For Greenbelters who would like to participate in this year's drive, the following list of activities which are recognized by the National Clean-Up Bureau, have been supplied:

Cleaned Up — alley lots, back yards, front yards, vacant lots, walls, basements, attics, house gutters, porches, garages, furnaces, street name signs cleaned, insect breeding places destroyed, rats killed, truck loads trash hauled

The fund-raising drive is directed at bolstering the paper's financial structure, which has been steadily deteriorating in recent months as the result of a decline in advertising income. In a final drive statement, Mrs. Virginia Beauchamp, president of the news paper's board of directors, reminded Greenbelters that the paper is delivered free to every household in Greenbelt and therefore is completely dependent on advertising income for its existence.

"When advertising is insufficient to pay the costs of publication, the paper has no other recourse but to seek assistance from its readers or to cut back its operations."

No set amount has been suggested for each family to contribute, but Mrs. Beauchamp declared that "We will accept gratefully any amount that a family wishes to donate on the basis of what it feels the paper has been worth to it during the past year. If people are seeking more of a guide for their donation, I might point out that if the News Review were on a subscription basis, the rate would be $2 a year."

According to last-minute reports from Mrs. Elaine Skolnik, heading the drive organization, there are still some 30 courts in need of collectors. These areas include 58 and 62 Crescent; 25, 26, 42, 48, 57, 59, 61, 62 and 69 Ridge; 1, 4, 7, 10 and 12 Plateau; 2, 6 and 8 Research; 1, 3, 7, 8 and 9 Laurel Hill; 7 Southway; 4 and 5 Gardenway; 1-7 Woodland Way; and 1-9 Forestway. In addition, volunteer collectors are needed for the apartments along Crescent.

Any person wishing to volunteer his or her services is asked to contact Mrs. Skolnik at GR. 4-6060.

A list of the collectors and their courts appears elsewhere in the News Reviews.

Babe Ruth League

The Babe Ruth League for boys 13-15 years of age is a national organization with which the Greenbelt League is affiliated. Games are played during the day when the boys have no other activity. This leaves evenings available for other leagues and social activity. The league is run by the Greenbelt Recreation Department, under the direction of John Huffman, a physical education graduate of Slippery Rock State Teacher's College in Pa.

One of the features of this league is that every boy plays. Once a boy is selected on a team, he is guaranteed to play at least two innings on the day his team is scheduled. This rule falls in line with one of the main objectives in recreation, that every boy be given a chance to participate regardless of his skill and ability.

Another feature of the Babe Ruth League is the selection of an All Star team to represent Greenbelt in the Maryland State Tournament. The winner of this tournament automatically progresses to a regional tournament. In 1958 Greenbelt was runner-up in the state tournament, losing the final game to Bel Air, 3-2 in a ten inning game.

Here are the nine objectives for recreation play in the Greenbelt Babe Ruth League.

1. That all boys have a chance to play.
2. That the program is for the

The Distribution Problem

Last week we spelled out some of the technical problems involved in trying to plan a 4-page paper each week without a positive amount of advertising copy upon which we can depend with certainty. The money collected in this fund drive would make it possible to print 4-pagers regardless of the ups and downs of advertising income, depending, of course, on how much we collect. But there is a corollary problem which we have not yet touched upon.

Greenbelt, as all of us know, is expanding. The Lakeside homes, the Woodland Hills homes, and the currently building Lakewood homes, to say nothing of the homes contemplated in the near future, all impose an additional burden on our hard-pressed delivery crew. The limited amount of money we have had at our disposal in the past has made it impossible to hire enough delivery boys to insure the utmost reliability in distribution. In our expanding community it is imperative that we expand the delivery crew to ease the burden on each of the youngsters. After all, what good would it do to improve the quality of the product if we could not also guarantee distribution? With an increase in our budget for this purpose, and a corresponding expansion in the delivery crew, we will undertake to guarantee delivery to every home—every week.

THANKS

To the Editor:

As Publicity Director for the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, Inc., I have read with much regret that your paper is in financial straits.

An undertaking like this, with such a versatile crew; editorial reportorial and circulatorical, needs the support of every citizen of Greenbelt to support such wonderful coverage.

We have grown to depend on you for coverage of efforts of our company's work. The Special Supplement for our Ambulance Club Drive has completely covered Greenbelt, which could have been accomplished only by a lot of work without your help.

We sincerely urge every person living or working here to give the most they can to keep such a community project alive.

Let me take this opportunity to thank you and all of your staff for the work and time they have given to help us in every way.

Donald A. Pratt
Publicity Director, Greenbelt

UNIFYING ELEMENT

To the Editor:

Greenbelt is a city of many organizations, interests, and activities. The News Review is the communicating link presenting in one source the information needed to keep the people of the community aware of development that are of interest or concern to them.

Without the News Review, our understanding of the life of this community, and our role in it, would be inadequate.

I am delighted to be able to contribute, via the fund drive, to its continuance. The drive provides me with an opportunity to give some tangible expression of the high value I place upon the newspaper—as more than just a news organ—as an important institution, the single, most important unifying element in our community.

Alan Kistler
Member of Council

PRACTICAL OPPORTUNITY

To the Editor:

As Greenbelt newcomers we have been surprised and impressed by our weekly News Review; impressed by the wide scope of local news coverage and by the neighborly style of reporting; surprised because residents are not charged for this relatively costly service. Your drive for funds should furnish a practical opportunity for readers to participate in this important community activity.

Thanks for the opportunity and thanks for the newspaper.

Sincerely,
The McMahons
27-A Ridge

GRATEFUL

To the Editor:

I wish to express our appreciation to the Greenbelt News Review for their excellent cooperation and wholesome spirit in informing the people of Greenbelt of our activities and services of the Greenbelt Baptist Church.

You will be interested to know that our church started as a result of a one-inch announcement which appeared in the spring of 1953, requesting all who were interested in starting a Baptist Church to call a certain phone number. As a result of a number of calls, the interested group met which eventuated in the formation of Greenbelt Baptist Church. Personally I would encourage

OPEN LETTER

Dear Parents and Participants in Recreation Department Programs:

Because of the numerous accidents that occur to participants in the various recreation programs, requiring medical, surgical and dental treatment, (for which the expense is not covered by the City's liability insurance) the Recreation Department has investigated the availability of insurance to cover such accidents.

One firm, the American Casualty Company, seems to offer the most complete plan, one that is written exclusively for schedule, sponsored and supervised recreational activities. Under this plan every insured participant is covered for injuries occurring during the policy term while engaged in the following scheduled, sponsored and supervised activities: touch football, softball, bowling, golf, basketball, swimming, roller skating, tennis, weight lifting, tumbling, gymnastics, table tennis, arts and crafts, men's gym, women's gym, golden age club, teen club, Babe Ruth league, Little League, Boy's Club and summer playground. The cost of this insurance is $2.25 per person for the policy term beginning April 15, 1959 and ending April 15, 1960, whether you or your child participates in just one or several activities.

This item is brought to your attention as a service of your Recreation Department but it should be understood that the City of Greenbelt or its Recreation Department are not a part of the insurance agreement itself. Applications for the insurance will be available at the Recreation Department office for your convenience.

Warren G. Leddick
Director of Recreation

WORTHY CAUSE

To the Editor:

The City Council has long been aware of and is very much concerned about the serious financial plight of the News Review. As indicated in its recent issues the current drive for funds is a measure of last resort to provide for continued publication of the paper. The staff of the News Review works on a voluntary basis without compensation and deserves great credit for performing, under the most difficult circumstances, a real public service to the residents of Greenbelt. A local newspaper is and has always been a most important factor in the life of our community. The News Review serves a vital need in our locality for the dissemination of local news not normally covered by the Washington or local county newspapers. To demonstrate our appreciation to the News Review and to provide for its continued publication on a free and independent basis, I respectfully urge all residents to be as generous as possible in contributing to this worthy cause.

To the Editor:

For a little over two years I have watched and read the News Review with interest and profit.

The meetings of the Greenbelt Homes' Board have been well covered and the resulting news has been uniformly fair and adequate.

It is well for our members to have an outside source, bringing an outside view of our work to their attention.

The News Review is worthwhile to this Corporation. It is worthwhile to the residents of Greenbelt. It should be maintained.

Nursery School Gives To News Review Drive

Mrs. Helen Geller, president of the Greenbelt Co-operative Nursery School, announced that the membership at the last meeting voted to donate $5 to the News Review fund-raising drive. This action, she said, was taken in appreciation of the assistance rendered by the newspaper in publicizing the nursery school's activities.

boy, not adult.
3. That the boy learn to take responsibility.
4. That the boy develops leadership.
5. That the boy develops skill.
6. That the boy gains confidence.
7. That the boy plays with friends.
8. That the boy plays in Greenbelt.
9. That the program is kept in proper perspective in relation to all other public recreation.

Contracts may be picked up after school on Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Recreation Department.
There will be an important meeting for all boys playing Babe Ruth ball this year on Saturday, April 18, at 10 a.m. in the Center School Gym.
