Five Cents

Thank you, Greenbelt

The Greenbelt News Review wishes to express its deep appreciation to all persons and organizations who contributed to the paper's 1960 fund-raising drive. A special note of thanks is reserved for the more than 125 volunteer collectors who contributed so liberally of their time and energy in making the drive a reality. It is hoped that the delivery of the paper every Thursday evening will serve to reinforce throughout the year the sense of satisfaction that must be theirs for a job well done.

Mrs. Elaine Skolnik, chairman of the drive, informs us that the drive has been extended another week in order to give collectors a chance to check back with persons who were not at home or who asked collectors to come back after payday.

In addition to those collectors whose names were published in last week's papers, Mrs. Skolnik wishes to acknowledge the following persons who also volunteered their services as collectors for the courts designated:

Council Begins Work On 7 Charter Changes

By Isidore Parker

Seven changes in the city charter were approved for first reading by the city council last Monday night. The changes establish a 3-man personnel board that will advise the council on personnel administration and conduct hearings for employees that are removed, reduced or suspended by the city manager, if requested by the employee within 15 days of the action. Also clarified in the charter revisions are the limits to which the council can interfere in administrative functions and the requirements that department heads must preserve and safeguard records and documents pertaining to city affairs.

Another charter change provides for bids on materials and supplies, or contractual services amounting to over $1000, with the lowest bid winning, and all pertinent information regarding bids be furnished the city council when the request for bids is advertised. However, any city improvement costing more than $1000 must also be approved by the city council, after bids are received.

A final charter change grants the council, the city manager, "or any person or committee authorized by the council by resolution, shall have power to inquire into the conduct of any officer or officer of the city and to make investigations as to municipal affairs and for that purpose may compel the production of books, papers and other evidence."

The charter changes are largely the result of work completed by a charter revision committee during 1959, headed by Clinton Fair. Many of the changes closely resemble revisions made by a previous council but overthrown by a city referendum. The council will consider the changes for final passage at its next regular meeting, April 18. After passage, the citizens have a 60-day period to petition for a referendum on the charter revision.

LATIN COMPETITION

High Point High School has chosen three Greenbelt girls for this year's Regional Latin Competitions: Miss Eppie Laani, Miss Wendy Baron, first-year students, and Miss Susan Abramowitz, a second-year Latinist, and previous Merit winner. Miss Abramowitz has been inducted this week into the National Honor Society, the highest honor that a school can bestow on a student.

Police News Review

Police are checking courts for disabled or unlicensed motor or other vehicles which are taking up parking space and are unsightly in appearance. Some residents have been already warned to get licenses for these vehicles or remove them to private locations such as rented garages. For example, five such cars were located in one court with 18 houses. Violation of Littering Ordinance 207, which covers such cases, is punishable by a fine of from 1 to 10 dollars.

An attempt was made to break into the Center School last week. An inspection of the door leading to the stage indicated that someone tried to jimmy the door open but was unsuccessful.

Girl Scout Uniforms Needed for Youth Week

All Brownies, Girl Scouts and Leaders, in order to participate during National Youth Fitness Week, will be required to dress in uniform. For various reasons, some of the girls and adults do not have outfits. The Girl Scout Council of Southern Maryland advises that any uniform, regardless of age, is still serviceable. Local residents are urged to search their attics and closets for Girl Scout apparel which may be borrowed or given for the occasion. Call Mrs. McMahan at GR. 4-6671.

Swim Team Competes

The Greenbelt Swimming Team has been meeting for practice on Sunday afternoons at an indoor pool away from Greenbelt. Under the supervision of Coach Jack Trudeau, they have been practicing a few hours each week.

The Greenbelt team spent Sunday, March 27, at the Jewish Community Center in Washington, D. C. in competition against the JCC team. Although losing by a score of 96 to 60, the kids still showed team cooperation and good sportsmanship. The JCC had its pool open for practice every day for its team.

This summer, the Greenbelt team will again resume its daily practice sessions at the pool. Boys and girls between the ages of 7 and 18 are invited to participate. Further information may be obtained from Coach Trudeau by calling GR. 4-9255.

Nursery School Board

At a combined membership meeting for the 1959-60 and 1960-61 sessions of the Greenbelt Nursery School, held Monday evening, April 4, the following were elected to board positions for the coming year: Mrs. Dorothy White, president; Mrs. Mary Aylward, vice president; Mrs. Betty Cormack, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Sucher, treasurer; and Mrs. Ann Driscoll, financial secretary. Mrs. White will take over her position as president immediately, following the resignation of Mrs. Ann Driscoll as president for the current term.

Applications for registration — especially for 4-year-olds — are still being received. Those interested may receive further information by calling Mrs. Aylward, membership chairman at GR. 4-6619.

Council Declines to Use Surplus For Start of Capital Improvements

by Al Skolnik

The city council tentatively voted on March 28 to delay a capital improvement program by refusing to divert part of a $15,070 surplus from last year's operations for the initiation of such a program. Instead, the council decided, upon the motion of Tom Canning, seconded by Bruce Bowman, to use the surplus to effect a 17-cent reduction in this year's tax rate.

This is the first of many decisions the council will make in the next few weeks in considering the $284,733 budget submitted by city manager Charles T. McDonald for the fiscal year 1960-61. The budget calls for a tax rate of $1.94 per $100 assessed valuation, in contrast to the $1.61 rate for the preceding tax year 1959.

According to city solicitor Ralph Powers, it is not mandatory for the council to set the tax rate by April 1, as was originally thought. Consequently, the council decided to consider the tax rate in conjunction with the expenditure budget, which need not be passed until May 20. The solicitor, however, urged that the delay in setting the tax rate be as short as possible.

Champion Opposes

Leading the move to use surplus funds for capital improvements was councilman Dave Champion who felt that initiation of such a program has long been overdue. "Every year," he said, "such items are included in the budget only to be cut out in an effort to reduce taxes." Last year's six months' interim budget contained a capital outlay budget totaling $33,200, which was completely deleted.

Among the major capital improvements suggested last year were development of a new recreation area adjacent to Woodland Hills, construction of a pavilion at the lake park, extension of Greenhill rd. to Hillside, construction of storm drainage and curbs and gutters, especially along Crescent rd., resurfacing of tennis courts, improvement of recreational facilities, including new playground equipment, and purchase of street cleaning machine and a police radar unit.

Champion stressed that he was not arguing for or against any of these specific capital improvements, but he did feel that a start should be made by allocating part of the surplus funds, with financing to be further implemented through a long-term bank loan or bond issue. He feared that if such action were not taken, it would be another year, if not longer, before the program got off the ground.

Other Views

McDonald supported Champion in his view that the surplus might be better used to finance certain capital improvements of a minor nature. However, he held out the hope that, in case the council prefers not to use the surplus for capital improvements, it might be possible in 2 or 3 years to finance a separate capital improvement budget without increasing the tax rate, as the result of increases in the assessable tax base.

Both Bowman and Edgar Smith were against using the surplus for capital improvements as a matter of principle. They felt that the capital improvement budget should stand on its own feet and be submitted to the electorate in a referendum so that the voters may decide whether they are willing to pay additional taxes for such a program.

It was suggested from the floor that the use of the surplus for capital improvements might be considered a temporary advance of funds to be repaid when arrangements for long-term financing are made. In this way, the program could be started without delay and the surplus account would still be available to keep down the tax rate in a future year.

Canning, however, argued for cutting the tax rate now so as to encourage home builders and developers in the new subdivisions. He also felt that consideration should be given to residents of Lakewood, Lakeside, and Woodland Hills. He expressed some doubt as to whether the majority of Greenbelt residents are ready and willing to pay additional taxes for increased services and capital improvements.

Lakeside residents who were present argued that the capital improvement budget should be delayed until such time as its financing would not increase the tax rate. They also felt that the program should provide for a more equitable means of financing whereby the new subdivisions would not bear an undue proportion of the cost.

After the vote, Champion gave notice that at the appropriate time he will propose for insertion in the regular expenditure budget such major capital improvement items as he feels should no longer be subject to delay.

Special Budget Hearings

Special budget hearings open to the public will be held on Friday, April 8, and Monday, April 11, at 8 p.m. at the city offices. The meeting on Friday night will take up the budget dealing with highways, Municipal parks and playgrounds, and waste collection. On Monday night, the council will take up the recreation budget, including cultural, organized facilities, and other recreational activities.

Testimonial Dinner Honors Mrs. Gerrits

The PTA of the Greenbelt Center School is planning a testimonial dinner in honor of Mrs. Genevieve Gerrits, 4-F Southway, who is retiring this year after devoting 37 years to the teaching profession, 22 of them in Center School.

The dinner will be held on Wednesday, May 18, at Northwestern High School in Hyattsville. There will be an informal "punch bowl" at 7 p.m. with dinner starting at 7:45 p.m.

Former pupils, parents of former pupils, friends and professional associates of Mrs. Gerrits are cordially invited to attend.

Reservations may be made by mail to Mrs. Rosenzweig, Chairman of Reservations, 4-E Crescent, or by calling Rosenzweig, GR. 4-4655, Levine, GR. 4-6890, Amberg, GR. 4-6077, McKenzie, GR. 4-6660.

CIVIL WAR GUNS TALK

Jack Carroll of Burtonsville, Md., will present a program demonstrating civil war muskets, shooting muzzle loaders, and a skirmish between the Blue and the Gray.

JUNIOR HIGH PTA

The Greenbelt Junior High School PTA will hold its next regular meeting on Tuesday, April 12, at 8 p.m. After the business meeting in the school auditorium, the 7th grade parents will have classroom visits with their children's teachers. The parents of the 8th and 9th graders will hear representatives from Bladensburg High and High Point High discuss the requirements for these schools. The curriculum for the soon-to-be-opened DuVal School on Glen Dale Road will also be presented. A "Get-Acquainted" session for all parents will follow.

BANK HOLIDAY HOURS

All offices of the Suburban Trust Company will reopen for the transaction of business on Thursday evening, April 14, 1960, from 5 to 8 p.m.

These special banking hours on Thursday evening are for the public's convenience due to all offices of the institution not being open on Good Friday, April 15, 1960, a legal holiday in the State of Maryland.

Vol. 24 Thursday, April 7, 1960 No. 36

Mrs. Greenbelt at Home

By Vivian Greenbaum

We have a friend whom I'll call Jim who had a compulsion to get drunk every Saturday night, so he decided to take his problem to a psychiatrist. Several months later he dropped in on us to announce jubilantly that he was cured. "You mean you don't get drunk on Saturday nights any more?" I asked. "Oh no, I still get drunk, but it's not a compulsion any more. I do it because I want to."

This answer satisfied me, but it didn't satisfy my husband. He immediately asked, "But Jim, why do you want to get drunk?" That's Russ all over, always throwing a monkey wrench into life's machinery because he has to know why people do things. This creates all sorts of problems for me because I'm the sort of person who acts on instinct and often can't supply reasons why. The best way to handle this, I decided, was to jot down over a period of days all the "whys" Russ demands of me, and then set aside a day to sit down and figure out the answers. I spent such a day yesterday, and, considering the answers I got, I could have spent the time more profitably taking a nap.

Here are some samples:

Why are you saving our cancelled checks from 1946?

Because these checks contain a clue as to how we managed in 1 year to buy a car, a fur coat, and to take a vacation, and I'm trying to solve the mystery of how we did it.

Why do you have three red dresses all alike?

Because they were on sale.

Why don't you get in the car on the driver's seat side instead of sliding across the seat from the other door?

Because on the car we owned ten years ago the door on the driver's seat side was broken, and I got into the habit.

Why did you buy me four pairs of shorts and no undershirts to go with them?

I don't know.

Why can't you tell me why you do things?

Because I'm too busy trying to figure out why you want to know all this stuff.

There are times, though, when it's important to know why I'm doing something. If I'm getting dressed, for instance, I find it is advantageous to ask myself why I'm getting dressed. I learned this the hard way. When Eric was a baby, my neighbor spied me coming out of my door carrying him. Perceiving that I was wearing both lipstick and stockings she surmised correctly that I was on my way somewhere. "Oh, Vivian," she said, "let me take Eric for the afternoon, and you go off and enjoy yourself." Gladly I handed over the little bundle, together with diaper bag and bottle, and got into my car. I was halfway to Silver Spring before I remembered that the only reason why I was going out was to take Eric for his monthly check-up.

BOYS CLUB BASEBALL

Baseball practice for the Boy's Club will start Saturday, April 9, at 10 a.m. Practice will be held on Braden Field behind the swimming pool. All boys thirteen years of age and under are asked to report to Mr. Bernie Emmert at the field. Please bring gloves and spikes to practice in.

When The SIREN BLOWS

By Rita Fisher

March 29

I was just about to start this paragraph on Tuesday afternoon at about 1:38 p.m. when the siren went off. Details as to what happened will have to wait until I finish the report I already have prepared. By that time, I'm sure the information will be available. How will I get it? I'll go down to the Firehouse later with my four year old by my side and my nine month old youngster in the stroller and look at the report. If I'm lucky enough to find one of the men there to give me more details than are on the report sheet, then I'll know more. If not, the report will tell the facts. And now to go on.

On the 23rd, the men were called to the wooded area behind 10 Court of Southway. They found a brush fire which was quickly extinguished with Indian tanks. The report read: "Probable incendiary by parties unknown." Early the same day, the Rescue Squad answered a call from the 8800 block of Edmonston Road where a man with a liver disorder was in need of transportation to Leland Hospital. He had difficulty breathing and oxygen was administered enroute.

One auto accident and one brush fire was reported on the 24th. The auto accident occurred in Berwyn Heights on the Greenbelt Road. Two women were transported to Prince Georges Hospital with possible back injuries. The brush fire was also in Berwyn Heights and our men arrived there after the fire was out.

The siren blew once on the 25th, this time for the Rescue Squad to make an emergency run to Prince Georges Hospital with a woman from Ridge Road who was suffering with low back pains.

On Saturday, March 26, at about 5:30 p.m., my neighbor came in and told me that there was a fire in the leaves at the rear of the apartment house on 52 Crescent. I called the Fire Board and they said that they had already been notified. As I walked out the door, the triple siren went off and the men were there fast. The leaves that had piled up around the hedges had caught fire, possibly by a tossed cigarette, and the hedges seemed to be burning too. My husband, not in running gear, did his best to clear the burning area near the doorway and the men put the fire out. When this was over, they took the smoke ejector into the basement and blew the smoke from the building.

The men stood stand-by duty with the ambulance during a sports event at Maryland University on Saturday night. Although they did not administer first aid to anyone, they were able to carry a District Heights woman to Prince Georges Hospital who had a possible flu attack.

GARAGE CLEANING

Many residents are anxious to get busy cleaning outside Pop Bell, GHI Inspector, notes. Although it is still rather wet for that, he suggests that this is a good time to clean up garages. Most garages have leaves and rags lying on the floor. Pop urges garage owners to use this weekend to clean them up. "Just one spark and away you go," he warns.

He will explain federal legislation and programs to combat juvenile delinquency and will report on the recent White House Conference on Children and Youth, particularly its implications and recommendations bearing on youth problems and delinquency.

Our Neighbors

By Elaine Skolnik - GRanite 4-6060

Relative newcomers to the Greenbelt Bridge Club dominated the play at last Friday's duplicate session at the North End school. Fran and Jim Bates, who were participating in their first game of the year, won by 3 points over the second-place team of Glenn Stahly and Bob Smith, recently moved-in residents of Greenbelt. Third place went to veterans Peg Wainscott and Sara Thompson.

Congratulations to Greenbelt Junior High's Champion Speller, Barbara Feller, 11-M Ridge. Barbara won on the word "cauliflower" and clinched the title by spelling "countenance." She'll represent the school in the Washington Spelling Bee competition in May.

St. Hugh's Champion Speller is Brian McDonnell, 2-J Northway, who will also be a contestant in the Washington Spelling Bee. Congratulations Brian!

A very happy birthday to Evelyn Hoy, 10 Plateau, who celebrates her ninth birthday on April 10.

Best wishes to Marika Simms, 57 Ridge, who will be nine years old on April 10.

Making her debut this week was Rachel Wagner, 2-D Northway. She had a grand time on Pick Temple's program - especially when Pick serenaded her with "Rubin-Rubin".

Glad to see Joan Woytko, 18-S Ridge, up and around again after a long siege of illness.

Sometimes the demands and pressures of everyday living prevent us from enjoying the treasures that are found just outside our front door. Perhaps if we would take the time to look around us, we too might have seen, as Mrs. C. Cormack, 6-B Ridge, did, the flock of rare evening grosbeaks. Only recently seen in this part of the country, the grosbeak is originally a western bird. The birds have been here several months. Almost the size of the robin, the male is a brilliant yellow with a narrow strip of black along the wing and white spots in the tail and the wing tips. The purple finches are also here in numbers. About the size of a sparrow, the male looks as though he's been dipped in red juice. The female is rather drab with brown stripes. Both the evening grosbeaks and the purple finch eat sunflower seeds.

A very happy birthday to Pat Murphy, 6-J Hillside, who celebrated his eleventh birthday. In honor of the occasion, Pat dined with Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Attick.

High Point High Points Poetry Club News

By Marion Ryss

The third Prince Georges County Band Festival was held at High Point on Saturday, April 2. Donald K. Smith, band director, was general manager of the festival. Each band competing was judged by three prominent adjudicators, masters in their respective fields of music, and given ratings from 1-superior to 5-inferior. One of three bands receiving ratings was High Point. The High Point band worked very hard on the entire program, from organization to actual playing, and richly deserve this superior rating.

Principal for a day will be the task of Kenneth Libby, president of the Student Council at the Student Day to be held on Wednesday, April 13. At this time students will exchange their chores for the role of teacher in their various classes.

High Point's band will journey to Greenbelt Junior High and Rollingcrest Junior High to give their annual Exchange program on Wednesday, April 13. The purpose of this concert is to acquaint the students of these junior high schools with the High Point band and perhaps encourage them to join the band when they come to High Point. Mr. Smith, band director, has picked seven numbers which will be played, two of which were done at the County Band Festival.

Women's Club Honors Golden Agers at Party

Snow (and a balky oil-burner) did not dampen the high spirit of the Golden Agers who attended the Club's Birthday Party held in the local Jewish Community Center on March 16. Refreshments, including a decorated cake, and entertainment were provided by the Community Affairs Committee of the Greenbelt Woman's Club, assisted by Recreation Director Warren Leddick. The program included: A poem read by Mrs. C. S. McCarl and musical solos and a duet by Mrs. Chas. McDonald and Mrs. C. S. Turner, Jr., accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Goetze. The party ended with a community sing.

The third polio clinic sponsored jointly by the County Health Department and the Greenbelt Woman's Club will be held May 3, in Center School, 7 to 8 p.m. $1.00 per shot will be charged to a maximum of $4.00 per family. All are urged to attend and be fully protected for the summer months.

The Fine Arts Department will hold a meeting to work on their china painting on March 24 at the home of Mrs. Warren N. Steffen.

Mrs. Beverly G. Fonda, the Vogue Fashion Show winner from the Greenbelt Women's Club, won first award at the 6th District Woman's Club Meeting and will now go on to the Maryland Women's Club Convention at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore, April 25 and 26.

"I wouldn't want to do without the Yellow Pages"

says WILLIAM M. WRIGHT, Silver Spring, Md., jeweler

Started in 1936, Wright's Jewelry has grown from a husband-and-wife shop to a busy store with 18 employees. And for 22 years, Mr. Wright has advertised in the Yellow Pages. Today he estimates that 25 to 30 of the telephone calls he gets each day stem from his ad in the Classified Telephone Directory.

How do the Yellow Pages bring in so much business? Mr. Wright gives these reasons:

Complete local coverage—the Yellow Pages carry your advertising into almost every home, office and public place in your area!

On-the-spot impact—the Yellow Pages put your message in the hands of your customers, at the time they want something you sell!

First contact for newcomers with the stores of their new community is the Yellow Pages. Old customers, too, use the Yellow Pages as a memory-refresher.

"When I think how little it costs, and how much I get in return," says Mr. Wright, "I know I can't afford not to advertise in the Yellow Pages."
