Democrats Predict Sweep of County Offices; State Outcome Uncertain

by Al Skolnik

Democratic party leaders expect a clean sweep in county races in Greenbelt next Tuesday, Nov. 8. Predictions on the Statewide races are harder to come by because of the confusing situation left by the Democratic gubernatorial primary results.

Much depends on where the supporters of the losing gubernatorial candidates, Sickles and Finan, throw their strength. They have a choice of supporting the winner in the Democratic primary, George P. Mahoney, or of cutting across party lines to vote for Republican Spiro T. Agnew or independent Hyman A. Pressman. In the September Democratic primary, Mahoney drew only 7 percent of the Democratic vote in Greenbelt.

The governorship results may also affect the outcome of other contests, such as those between Democrat Louis L. Goldstein and Republican Charles S. Bresler for State Comptroller, and between Democrat Hervey G. Machen and Republican Lawrence J. Hogan for the House Congressional seat from the Fifth District.

The Democrats have a substantial edge in the registration. Of the 5,325 eligible voters in Greenbelt, 3,735 (70.1%) are Democratic, 1,240 (23.3%) are Republican, and 350 (6.6%) are unaffiliated. These ratios vary only slightly from precinct to precinct. There are 3,100 voters registered at Center School 945 at North End, and 1,280 at Springhill Lake.

What proportion of the eligibles will vote is uncertain. In the presidential election of 1964, about 79 percent of the eligible voters cast ballots. In the previous off-year election of 1962, this percentage was only 56 percent.

Voters Can Split Ticket

In reply to inquiries received by the News Review, voters are advised that they can cross party lines and vote for individual candidates regardless of party affiliation in a general election.

High Point Students To Assist Voters

P. O. D. (Problems of Democracy) students at High Point High School are volunteering services on election day, November 8, 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. to Prince Georges County voters in the first, 21st, and 17th Election Districts. Services offered by non-partisan students, without charge, include babysitting and transportation to and from the polls.

Arrangements can be made by calling 937-1000 on election day.

Good Turn for Good Will

Cub Scout Pack 202, as part of its "Good Turn for Good Will" program, will distribute good-will bags throughout Greenbelt this week. Pick-ups will be made on Saturday, Nov. 19. For further information, call Linkenhoker, 474-4766.

INVITATION TO BID

The City of Greenbelt, Maryland invites bids on the following items for which bid forms and specifications may be obtained from the City Clerk, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland, phone 474-8000.

1. Dump Body Truck with Snow Plow.
2. Utility Vehicle with Snow Plow.

Bids will be opened and publicly read by the Mayor and City Council at a Regular Meeting, Monday, November 21, 1966 at 8:00 P.M. at the City Offices.

Bresler Asks For Appeal Bond to Cover Damages

The latest development in the Charlestowne Village covenant case is a move by owners Charles Bresler and associates to have the court require the city of Greenbelt to post an appeal (superseas) bond which would indemnify them for damages sustained by reason of the appeal filed by the city with the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The city had appealed following a decision by the lower court that covenants and agreements entered into by Bresler in April 1962 were not legally enforceable since they were conditioned upon the city's making favorable zoning recommendations. The covenants had called for limiting the density of the 50-acre Charlestowne Village tract to seven units per acre and for construction to be in conformity with R-30 zoning which prohibited high-rise apartments.

In the brief submitted to the Circuit Court by Bresler's attorney, Abraham Chasanow, it was alleged that actions taken by lending agencies and title companies as a consequence of the suit showed that damages have been sustained.

Letters were attached to the brief showing the refusal of Suburban Trust Company to advance construction funds to Burton Builders during the pendency of court action. Also included was a letter from Aetna Casualty Company to B. F. Saul Company, requiring a $10,000 loan commitment extension fee because of the pending action.

Finally, a letter was included from Reichelt, Nussbaum, and Brown to Bresler requiring a personal indemnification bond to protect their office and Commonwealth Land Title Insurance from any losses which might be incurred by virtue of the insuring of construction loan advances pending the final outcome of the case.

The city, through its attorney, Thomas R. Brooks, has replied that it has a legal right to take an appeal and that in taking such an appeal it is not required to give security. The city also noted that it is not seeking a lien of any kind and that the appeal does not operate as a stay of action by Bresler.

ECUMENICAL RETREAT

There will be an ecumenical retreat for laymen and laywomen of all faiths at the Washington Retreat House, 4000 Harewood Rd., N. E., Washington, D. C., from Friday, Nov. 11 at 6 p.m. to Sunday, Nov. 13 at 4 p.m. The Rev. Joques Epple, O.F.M., will be the Retreat Master. For further information, please call Mrs. Joseph T. Haslinger 474-8171.

GCS Offers to Sell Food At Cost to Boycotters

Greenbelt Consumer Services, one of the few stores not being picketed by area housewives in an effort to bring down the price of food, has offered to sell food in bulk at wholesale prices to any of the food-buying clubs that are now being organized in the District of Columbia.

Victor Smith, director of Member Relations of G. C. S., says that plans are still in the very early stages; the offer has been made but the buying groups are not yet sufficiently organized to place a large order. Negotiations are in progress for an order of about 25 cases of food, to be delivered by the wholesaler to the Greenbelt store on Friday morning and to be picked up from there by the buying club in the afternoon. On this and all similar orders, G.C.S. will sell the food at wholesale cost plus ten cents a case, and only case-load lots can be ordered.

American Education Week

During American Education Week, Nov. 6-12, all Prince Georges County Schools will be open so that parents may visit their children's classrooms while lessons are in progress. Special programs and exhibits are being planned by the schools.

United Givers Fund

The United Givers Fund drive is now under way. Many Greenbelt residents are contacted through their employers, but a number of others are not reached. These Greenbelters may make their donations or pledges by calling Mr. or Mrs. Arthur Goldstein at 474-9203.

5300 Greenbelters Registered To Vote In General Election

About 5,300 Greenbelt residents will be eligible to vote in the General Election, next Tuesday, November 8. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in three precincts: Center School (third precinct); North End School (sixth precinct); and Springhill Lake Community Hall (eighth precinct). These precincts are part of the 1st Sub-District.

With the experiences of the September primary still in mind, election officials are urging citizens to vote during the day before the evening rush. The ballot will contain candidates for 24 elective offices plus 17 referendum-type questions.

Under election rules, voters waiting in line at 7 p.m. are permitted to vote, but any voters joining the waiting line after that time will not be able to vote.

Voters are reminded that they are eligible to vote if they have participated in any Greenbelt General Election (not city) within the last five years.

Chief Interest

Chief interest centers around the three-cornered race for governorship involving Democrat George P. Mahoney, Republican Spiro T. Agnew, and independent Hyman A. Pressman. The State Comptroller's race is between incumbent Democrat Louis L. Goldstein and Republican Charles S. Bresler. Bresler is a local developer who is involved in a legal battle with the city of Greenbelt over land covenants. The other Statewide contest is for Attorney General between Democrat Francis B. Burch and Republican William O. Doub.

The battle for the Congressional House seat from the Fifth District is between incumbent Democrat Hervey G. Machen and Republican Lawrence J. Hogan. There is no U. S. Senatorial race this year.

County Contests

At the county level, Greenbelt voters will cast ballots for five county commissioners, sheriff, treasurer, surveyor, clerk, State's Attorney, register of wills, three Orphan's Court judges, and two Circuit Court judges. The five Democrats running for four-year terms as county commissioners are Francis J. Aluisi, Jesse S. Baggett, M. Bayne Brooke, Francis B. Francois, and Gladys N. Spellman. Baggett, Brooke, and Spellman are incumbents. They will be opposed by Republicans James S. Brady, Jr., Joseph A. Chesaneck, Thomas D. Conrad, Jr., S. G. Frederick, and John H. Hughes.

In addition to county races, Greenbelt voters will decide their representatives in the new State legislature. Under the redistricting plan adopted last year, Sub-District 1, of which Greenbelt is a part, will be represented by one State Senator and three House Delegates.

Vying for the Senate seat are Democrat Edward T. Conroy and Republican William W. Gullett. The battle for the House delegates is between Democrats Arthur Dorman, Pauline H. Menes, and Andrew O. Mothershead and Republicans Robert S. Hoyert, George W.

Hogan and Gullett To Head GOP Rally

Larry Hogan, nominee for Congress and College Park's Mayor Bill Gullett, candidate for the State Senate, will headline the Greenbelt Republican Rally 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 5 at the Center School.

Other candidates on the program will be Don Messenger, for State's Attorney; Robert Hoyert, George Senge and Bob Woodside, for House of Delegates; Bill Sharpe, for Sheriff; Charles DiNenna, for Treasurer; and Jim Brady, Joe Chesaneck, Tom Conrad, Fred Frederick and John Hughes for County Commissioners.

The rally is being sponsored by the Greenbelt Republican Club. The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Time Limit on Voting

According to the Registration and Election Laws, Article 33, paragraph 128, "No voter shall remain within the voting machine booth longer than four minutes, if there are other voters awaiting an opportunity to register their vote, except that an additional three minutes shall be allowed if there are constitutional amendments or referenda to be voted upon (1957, ch. 739, par. 1)".

Senge, and Robert M. Woodside.

Referendum

There will also be 17 questions on the ballot, all but one concerning amendments to the State constitution. Although some of these amendments may affect only one local subdivision, they must be voted upon Statewide.

Two directly affect Prince Georges County. One would establish a new system to undertake code home rule government through approval of the step by the county commissioners. At present, home rule needs to be initiated through petition. The other would permit the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to revise its procedures for acquiring land it needs for water and sewer projects.

Other amendments of general interest involve raising the governor's salary from $15,000 to $25,000, fixing of salaries of State legislators, and establishing an intermediate court of appeals.

Also to be voted on is the question of a second Bay Bridge across the Chesapeake, parallel to the present bridge.

Gold Medal for Valor Awarded to E. Boggs

Ernest H. Boggs, 24-F Ridge, a retired member of the D. C. Fire Rescue Squad, received the Gold Medal for Valor in annual award ceremonies held recently at the Mayflower Hotel. The Gold Medal is the highest award the Department can bestow. Boggs is a 23-year veteran of firefighting, 16 of them with the city's rescue squads.

As reported by the Washington Post, his citation recalled his rescue of three small children and their parents on Jan. 31, 1965, from an apartment house fire at 1415 Chapin st. nw.

Finding the family trapped at the window of their fifth-floor living quarters, Pvt. Boggs straddled an ice-coated fire escape railing and, with one foot anchored on a snow-covered window ledge high above an alley, passed the five members of the family between himself and the building wall to the fire escape, from which they were led to safety.

WHAT GOES ON

To the Editor

Avoid Three-Cornered Race

There are only a few days remaining before Maryland elects a new governor. We are disappointed to see how many of our fellow Greenbelt citizens remain unsure about how to vote in this crucial election. Some plan to register protest votes by supporting Mr. Pressman. Others threaten not to vote at all for governor.

The concern of these Greenbelters is understandable. However, we believe that both groups are throwing away important votes necessary to ensure that Maryland is governed responsibly over the next four years. Mr. Pressman is a capable and an honest man, but he surely cannot win. The state cannot afford another three-cornered race in which the sensible vote is divided two ways and Mr. Mahoney sneaks in a winner. We urge all reasonable citizens to concentrate their support on Spiro Agnew as the one responsible candidate with a good chance to be elected.

Some of our neighbors cannot support the Republican candidate for Comptroller. We agree with them, and urge them to combine their Agnew votes with votes for Mr. Goldstein. But they should not lose sight of the key importance to the state as a whole, and to Greenbelt as well, in the race for governor. They should note the strange combination of old-time machine bosses, real estate speculators, and wheeler-dealers who are rallying to Mahoney's support at this time. Jack Pollock, the Baltimore boss, Prince Georges County's movie tycoon, Mr. Wine-land, and the beer lobbyist Hocker all seem enthusiastic about George Mahoney. Greenbelters surely do not want to help them to power, even by default.

Ted Agnew is not everyone's favorite candidate. However, he is a good public servant with a fine chance to win and provide responsible government for Maryland. We ask our fellow Greenbelt citizens to unite in support of Agnew. Our Republican friends can look on this as a fine opportunity to strengthen the Maryland two-party system. Our fellow Democrats can join us in this necessary first step towards rebuilding a responsible and vigorous Democratic Party.

United in Protest

With the November 8 election almost upon us—I would like to appeal to my friends and acquaintances—Republicans and Democrats—to cast their vote for Louis Goldstein for Comptroller of the State of Maryland. His opponent, the Republican candidate, has demonstrated his apparent disregard of the wishes of the community by his action with respect to the covenants on the Charles-towne tract and by his attempts to thwart the city's Master Plan. He must be shown at the polls that the people of this city are united in protest.

His latest action against our town (cutting down 8 acres of trees, at the Crescent Rd. entrance to Greenbelt, near Boxwood) for which there was no apparent need—as this land is zoned R-55 (residential) seems to be another well-aimed blow at Greenbelt.

As a life-long Republican who has, and shall always support the Republican candidates (with the exception of this year's candidate for Comptroller), this letter is not an easy task—but my feelings against this man, and his dealings with our city are so strong that party loyalty in this instance must be put aside.

Elizabeth Maffay

Beautification Emphasized

Beautification of our town and country was strongly emphasized in my elementary school years. We planted flowers, bushes, and small trees for the beautification of our school. We recently had friends visiting from Venezuela. They always mentioned the beautiful entrance to our town on Crescent Road.

If they come again, they will find a new picture. The majestic trees are gone forever. The very man, who in his campaign supports scenic easement, sent in the bulldozers. The man is Charles Bresler. Should he be in Annapolis this year?

Barnett-Spitzer

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Barnett, 45-F Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Karen, to Midshipman Leonard Spitzer, United States Naval Academy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Spitzer, of Canoga Park, California. Jane is a sophomore at the University of Maryland.

JCC Teenagers Meet

On October 23, the teenagers of the Jewish Community Center held their second combined meeting. An Israeli folk dancer and singer entertained the group, followed by refreshments and socializing.

On November 6th at 3 p.m., the Junior High and Senior High School groups will hold another combined meeting. A discussion with the rabbi will be held, entitled, "What it is to be a Good Jew," followed by the individual group meetings. Refreshments will be served.

All teenagers in Junior High or Senior High School are welcome. For further information call Dave Frager at 336-0736 or Dave Ungar at 345-7595.

Unusual Personal Courage

This is a statement of appreciation for the Greenbelt minister who demonstrated unusual personal courage in the recent City Council prayer request. His action publicly expressed concern for men of all faiths and beliefs, recognizing that prayer is private and personal and is not an evangelistic device. His stand has subjected him to public criticism by those eager to attack any action in support of the Supreme Court ruling on public prayer, rulings which uphold the constitutional provision of separation of church and state.

Recent attempts to amend the constitution in opposition to Supreme Court prayer rulings brought numerous public statements of support of the Supreme Court from religious officials. Those officials and our Greenbelt minister were simply expressing the opinions of a majority of religious bodies which appeared before a Senate Congressional Committee to oppose the attempted amendment. Those groups represented the major church organizations listed below, including approximately 73 percent of the leadership of 63 protestant denominations.

American Jewish Congress, American Lutherans, Baptist Joint Council of Public Affairs, Central Conference of American Rabbis, Lutheran Missouri Synod, Methodist Church, National Council of Churches, Protestant Episcopal, Reformed Church in America, Seventh Day Adventist, Southern Baptist Convention, Synagogue Council of America, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, United Church of Christ, United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A.

Insensitive to Others

I too wish to commend the City Council for wishing to pray before meetings. My concern arose out of the fact that the general public was requested to join in the Lord's Prayer. We live in a pluralistic society composed of many faiths and philosophies and it is insensitive to other's beliefs to ask them to join or remain silent in a prayer that is clearly Christian in origin. After the reporters had left, the City Council said that they too had previously agreed on this position.

I am not ashamed of Christ as the letter last week implied, nor opposed to prayer. Let us all pray for ourselves, for our community, for our nation, for our enemies, for our world; then do what is harder, live in the spirit of prayer. Amen.
Rev. Kenneth B. Wyatt

What You'll Never Have . . .

Sunday is a great day for our little boys. The best fun of all was carving our family's version of the Halloween pumpkin. This is a kind of tradition for us: he always looks the same — sort of seems as if he comes back to us each year, complete with hat, bow tie, and the same surprised look on his face!

It's a real pity that whoever is free to trespass at odd hours couldn't have done a complete job by coming around Monday morning. You would have gotten a real buzz out of three little boys with tears in their Cheerios when we had to tell them someone stole our pumpkin. It's too bad you missed out on the real value of such a high-minded prank. We are sure your family will take great pride in you when you grow up enough to bigger and better things!

But one thing you will never have: At least my boys can care enough to cry—and laugh—and love. We bet you never will!
The Furioso Family

Thanks

My grateful thanks to the men of the Rescue Squad for their prompt, courteous service. And to my many Greenbelt neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness during my husband's recent illness and death.

Gullett Opens Hdqts. Here

"Double-taxation forces Greenbelt property owners, GHI, and the city to pay twice for maintenance of the municipal storm drainage system," said College Park Mayor William W. Gullett at the opening of his Greenbelt Headquarters last Saturday in the Greenbelt Shopping Center. Gullett, who is campaigning for the office of State Senator, added that, "The situation which is common to both Greenbelt and College Park, is the result of legislative indifference to the needs of our municipalities."

"Legislative steps to bring the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission under closer public control are an absolute necessity," Gullett continued, "and this is illustrated by a 1965 bill, passed by the General Assembly, which permits the WSSC to impose a maintenance tax for municipal storm sewers. The bill has allowed the WSSC to tax us all, to the extent of thousands of dollars, for services never performed, the maintenance costs in parts of Greenbelt and College Park being paid for by the cities, since only WSSC and county approved drains are included in the bill. The General Assembly refused to take requested action in 1966 and the WSSC has never delivered on a promise to take care of the matter by resolution."

Mass For Youth

St. Hugh's CYO is sponsoring a Mass for the youth of the parish on Sunday, November 6, at the 9:30 a.m. Mass. All young people from the 6th grade through college are invited to attend and receive Holy Communion as a group.

City Notes

The scheduled opening this week of the Springhill Lake Elementary school, together with the extensive smoothseal repaving program throughout the city, will keep the Public Works Dept. crew busy at line painting for some time to come. Top priority this week was cross walk markings for pedestrian traffic at the new Springhill Lake school. Later will come the repainting of parking spaces on Centerway and other repaved streets. Still later—as time and weather permit—will come the marking off of basketball and volleyball courts at the new paved area at the Lake Park.

Autumn brings overtime work for city personnel—extra policemen on duty over the Halloween weekend, extra public works crewmen to man the leaf vacuum on Saturdays.

6th Grade 4-H Club

By Olga Penney

This year instead of having 4-H groups such as the Cloverbuds or the Little Women, the clubs are organized gradewise and age-wise. We still don't have a name for our club, but plenty of suggestions. Last week elections were held and turned out as follows: Carmen Torres, president; Mary Louise Ladnier, vice president; Debbie Hibbs, secretary; Cathy Geiger, treasurer; Ann Wuermser, County Council delegate; Olga Penney, reporter; Jill Bergemann, game leader; Eileen Fitzgerald, song leader. There is an anonymous phone committee. This week we are going to Officer's Training and are going to do Trick or Treat for UNICEF.

Special November offer:

Buy an Electric Post Lamp now and get a free set of Twinkle Lights for Christmas decorating

Ornament your home . . . safeguard it, too. Electric post lamps are the most versatile you can buy. If you just want atmosphere, use a soft light, or one of the many colored lights available. When there's snow on the ground, try a blue light. The effect is breathtaking! If you want atmosphere and protection, use a brighter light. Even a 100-watt bulb will cost just an average of about 60¢ a month to operate. You can turn electric post lamps on and off when you want to. You can also have photoelectric controls to turn them on and off automatically.

What are Twinkle Lights?

They're a garland of seven colored lights which blink in sequence. Wrap it 'round your post lamp "barber pole" style for the cheeriest holiday greetings under the Christmas moon. Start a Christmas tradition on your lawn. Yours as a gift, but to enjoy it properly, be sure the post lamp you choose has a built-in, weatherproof outdoor outlet.

So You Have A Cold?

This is the season of the year when the American Medical Association reminds once again that you can't cure a cold. And if anyone tries to sell you on the latest version of a so-called "cold cure," you can save your money.

What can you do for a cold? No specific treatment is effective against the cold virus. Treatment is directed toward relief of the discomfort of runny nose, watering eyes, sore throat, slight fever and the other symptoms of the cold. Penicillin does not stop the virus, but may be prescribed by your physician for secondary bacterial infections. Bed rest, or at least inactivity, is helpful. Your physician may suggest mild medication to help relieve the discomfort.

If a cold persists or seems unusually severe, see your doctor. Colds are great imitators and the early symptoms can mimic those of other more serious infections. Recurring colds may not be colds at all, but may be allergic attacks that require medical attention.

William Gullett For State Senator

WHY?

- * * As mayor of College Park, Gullett vigorously and successfully opposed the Area 13 Plan which would have changed Greenbelt to Graybelt.
- * * As an officer of Prince George's Municipal Association, Gullett strongly supported Greenbelt's motion urging County Commissioners to appeal Jaeger Case.
- * * As Chairman of Association's Zoning Committee, Gullett shaped a strong program of zoning and planning reforms which passed in the House of Delegates but was emasculated in the State Senate.
- * * As an officer of Maryland Municipal League and a Director of Washington Council of Governments, Gullett fully understands the problems facing urban communities throughout our state.
- * * As a dedicated, well-informed, dynamic, and honest public servant, Gullett is highly competent to deal with such issues as tax reforms, school population explosion, traffic hazards, rights of minority groups, conflicts of interest, etc.

UNICEF MATERIALS ON SALE LOCALLY

UNICEF cards, calendars and games go on sale at Twin Pines Savings & Loan this week. Greenbelt, fourth in consignment sales of cards in Maryland last year, has followed the world sales increase each year, and that now totals over 48,000,000 cards (from 3,130,000 in 1954). Under the supervision of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF, net proceeds of over $2,000,000 go to UNICEF, which depends almost entirely on voluntary contributions from governments and individuals for support of its activities in behalf of children in over 100 countries. Local sales also support UN and UNICEF activities in Greenbelt.

The United Nations Postal Administration will issue a special commemorative series of stamps for UNICEF on November 28. Those who wish will be able to have their UNICEF cards mailed from the United Nations with these stamps on first day covers. Details are available at Twin Pines.

The 1967 UNICEF Datebook Calendar, in new size and format, is available for adult gifts, and a Festival Book for Children includes a Flag-Map-Language game as a special bonus.

By an odd coincidence, last Friday's duplicate bridge session was almost a replica of the preceding bi-weekly game as far as the winners were concerned. In the North-South direction, Ann and Tony Pisano were top scorers for the second game in a row, as were Nat Shinderman and Fran Sanders in the East-West direction. Second place went to Ted and Pauline Pritzker, North-South and to Tina and Si Pristoop, East-West. Next game: Friday, Nov. 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Migliorino, who were married Oct. 1 in the Church of Christ the King, Silver Spring, are living in Greenbelt.

Congratulations to Nancy P. Brown, Professor of Renaissance Literature at Trinity College, who was awarded the Danforth Foundation's coveted Harbison Award for Distinguished Teaching. She is the only woman named among this year's nine recipients. The Washington Post on Sunday, Oct. 30, reported that "the selection committee made its choice from impressive credentials: the nomination of Trinity College itself; high recommendations from Mrs. Brown's students, from her colleagues and an expert in her field; from an essay she wrote on the goals of teaching; and from a day-long inquiry at Trinity by a representative of the Foundation . . . As part of the award, Mrs. Brown will have a full semester next spring to devote to research. She'll continue at the Folger Shakespeare Library—where she was a fellow in 1954 and has been studying since—as an honorary Folger Research Fellow." Her husband, Dr. Samuel E. Brown, is on the English faculty at the University of Maryland. The Browns reside at 12 Greenknolls.

A speedy recovery to Mrs. Carol Patterson, 13 Pinecrest, who is back home after recent hospitalization. Sorry to hear that Joseph Muller's mother, 10 Lakeview, is in the hospital. We hope that she will be feeling better soon.

Evelyn and Sid Barnett, 45-F Ridge, had a marvelous time vacationing in Acapulco.

Among the Greenbelters attending the recent citizens conference of the Metropolitan-Washington Council of Governments were county commissioner, Frank Lastner, Tom Kelly, Peg Baldwin and Norman Kilpatrick. Open space housing, employment, transportation, traffic and safety were some of the issues discussed.

It's a boy for Kathryn and Darryl Nieman, 62-F Ridge. Darryl James, Jr., was born October 24, weighing 7 lbs., 14 ozs. He joins two sisters, Marjorie and Jill. Darryl's proud paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nieman and his maternal grandfather is Walter "Bud" Dean.

Jimmy Dean of the Army Infantry Paratroopers is home on leave and is staying with his brother Hugh, 45-A Ridge.

With the opening of the new Springhill Lake Elementary School this week, Mrs. Schneider's fourth graders and the city personnel joined in a double celebration—"Farewell-Halloween" party — to mark the occasion. Looking on as Mayor Edgar Smith passed out Halloween goodies were Mrs. Bessie Golden, principal of the Springhill Lake School; City Clerk, Nita Maschauer; secretary, Doris Cottingham; and Police Chief William Lane.

Harvey Geller, 117 Northway, is back home after a two-week stay in Tokyo, Japan, where he delivered a paper at the International Cancer Conference.

The News Review was pleased to hear from 2/Lt. Ronald A. Charles, who is an Armor Platoon Leader with the 64th Armor, in Aschaffenberg, Germany. Ronald writes that while he is kept quite busy he has been able (between temporary duty school and field maneuvers, to pursue his poetry writing and Judo practice. In fact, he was asked to teach German students Judo on two nights each week. In the course of his working out with Judo schools in Bremerhaven, Offenbach, Aschaffenberg, and Schweinfurt, he has made many good friends. Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Charles, 2-D Gardenway.

High Point Senior, Adrienne Cornett, 14 Greenway, will appear in the musical comedy, "Bye Bye Birdie," which will be presented at High Point Little Theater, room 100, on November 9, 10, 12, 17, 19.

Congratulations to Irving Dross, Carl A. Generes, Alan Smith Kerxton, and Richard Stuart Granat, who passed the Maryland State Bar examination held in June.

Steven William Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Thornton, 42-A Ridge, is a member of the Glee Club of David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tennessee. He sings bass.

"Good evening, Mr. Fieldmouse, my name is Dormouse. I'm here on behalf of the UGF."

"Sorry, Mr. Dormouse. I'm not interested. There are too many of these collections and I have to draw the line."

"I'm glad to hear you say that, sir. There have been altogether too many different agencies soliciting. That's why United Givers was started, to give everyone a chance to donate to one combined appeal."

"That's all very fine and good, but you know charity begins at home. And it isn't as if my family will ever benefit from this UGF."

"I'm not so sure about that, my friend. I notice that picture of the young soldier over on that table."

"My boy Jim. We're real proud of him. Joined the army right after he finished school."

"Fine looking boy. What does he do with his spare time?"

"Well, he doesn't have much of that right now. But he enjoys going to the USO lounge."

"Did you know that the USO is one of our member organizations? Do you have any other children?"

"We have an eight year old son and a ten year old daughter."

"Do they belong to the Scouts?"

"Why, sure, Eddy is a Cub Scout and Debby is in the Campfire Girls."

"Wonderful! Both of them are UGF participants, you know."

"That UGF sure gets around, doesn't it?"

"I could name you dozens more, all doing their good work right in your community. There's the Red Cross, Visiting Nurses, YMCA Family Service. . . ."

"Whoa! This could take all night. I thought you had to be poor as a churchmouse to benefit from UGF, but I see I was mistaken."

"Well, Mr. Fieldmouse, I must be going."

"Oh, no, you don't!"

"I don't get it. . . ."

"But you will. You'll get my check made out to United Givers Fund. And here you are."

"Thank you, Mr. Fieldmouse, and if you happen to meet any people-types who would like to make their donation, please tell them that the drive is now under way."

THE REAL ISSUE

ABILITY

For These Things I Stand . . .

"Let's face it. TAXES are here to stay. We must provide for education, protection against crime and all the services the people demand and the state can best provide. What is desperately needed, however, is a fair, comprehensive method of taxation that strikes a proper balance between what people are earning and what has already been earned. I think such a plan is possible and I intend to offer one."

"A LOTTERY would provide such a small amount of money relative to the state's needs that it could not make an appreciable dent in the obligation. It would be a cheap and intentionally deceptive experiment that could only result in deluding the people."

"We know that steps can be taken to effectively combat and eventually eliminate WATER POLLUTION. To not begin to take them now would be a cruel evasion of our responsibility to our children."

"It is unthinkable that the State government would not use its resources and knowledge to assist in the problems of local subdivisions. I propose an office of local affairs to help LOCAL GOVERNMENTS avoid the expenses of duplication and delay."

"It's easy to forget about our state MENTAL INSTITUTIONS and go all out for some more glamorous issue. We need to do something here and no compromises are tolerable. This remains a high priority issue as far as I'm concerned."

"The State must do more to combat the increasing CRIME rate. It can lend fiscal and technical assistance to local law enforcement agencies, and it can take prompt action in reforming penal and rehabilitation systems to end the pernicious problem of criminal repeaters."

"I favor a WELFARE system that provides more substantial and realistic aid to persons endeavoring to train themselves to become self-supporting. The establishment of training and job opportunity programs must go hand-in-hand with the new start we have to make in this area."

"There is little doubt that substantial savings in the COST OF GOVERNMENT can be accrued by employing modern data and record keeping methods."

"I don't know whether I am a liberal or a conservative and I hope I never find out. It's a dangerous thing to have to succumb to a package philosophy. I won't do it. I have no intention of doing it."

GHI Decides to Reopen Bids on Larger Homes

by Sandra Barnes & Sid Kastner

After much reflection and deliberation, the GHI board, on Thursday, Oct. 27, decided to reopen the bidding by contractors on the construction of the four larger homes. Discussion centered on whether it was fair to the contractor, who had been chosen on the basis of his low bid, to seek further estimates. However, most of the board agreed that the contractor should not object to submitting a new bid in view of the changes in specifications which the families, the architect, and the board had made since the low-bidder was first selected. In addition, it was felt that these very changes might lead to lower bids by other contractors, particularly during the slower winter months when contractors would be looking for more work.

Agreeing that architect Edwin Ball "has gone beyond what could be expected" in terms of services rendered to GHI on drawing up the plans for the larger homes, debate nevertheless arose on payment of his bill as presented to the board. However, it was finally agreed that payment would be made for "services rendered and to be rendered" so that no additional fee by the architect would be expected.

Manager Breashears mentioned that the resident manager of the privately-owned Parkway and Crescent apartments has inquired into the possibility of the GHI maintenance staff providing services to those buildings. Superintendent David Kane noted that former attempts to work out a contract for maintenance elicited little cooperation from the owners. So, though there was reluctance by some board members to pursue the matter, it was felt that the apartments' appearance reflected on all of Greenbelt. Management was therefore requested to investigate the situation once again.

Parking

In another action, assignment of parking spaces was approved in three courts: 60 Crescent, 2 Plateau and 53 Ridge. Such assignment is based on requests by over 51% of court residents, providing there is at least one space per resident.

A question arose as to whether the board should concern itself with such "housekeeping matters", as Seymour Kaplan put it. Cliff Simonson argued for continuing to bring such matters to the board's attention as they take very little time to process and are usually as routine as approving purchase of a GHI home. However, in a 6-1 decision, management was authorized to take up future requests for such parking assignments.

Deficit

Director O'Reilly repeated his criticism of the term "deficit" in connection with GHI operations, as used in a recent News Review summary. He defined an actual deficit as existing when "expenditures exceed receipts by more than the reserves." In his view a correct evaluation was to say whether the budget was well-planned or not. Director Shinderman added that "we expected to" use reserve money, which had been allocated for the purpose.

The law firm of Krooth and Altman, and attorney Albert Ginsberg were again retained for the coming year by a unanimous motion of the board. Chairman Schwan and Shinderman commended both legal representatives highly for their effective services.

Visiting Cooperators

Members of six cooperatives in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Kentucky and Virginia visited Greenbelt over the weekend; they represented more than 3000 housing units of the Association of Conversion Cooperatives ("Conversion" referring to the change from government to cooperative ownership). James Cassels addressed the visitors on the topic of financing of resales, an important factor in the operation of today's cooperatives.

Earlier in the evening, the board of Greenbelt Development Corporation (subsidiary of GHI) approved a dividend of $8000 to be paid to the parent corporation, before the end of the year.

The Show Will Go On

By Rita Fisher

Recently the marquee of the Greenbelt Theater closed—apparently for good. Then, in less than a week, the lights were on again and the theater was open for business.

Paul McDaniel, the Greenbelt Theater's manager, sat in the quiet theater one night after it had closed. His pocket held exactly eight cents. With him was Jerry Goodin, a porter for many Center stores; a person well known and respected by all Greenbelters. "Jerry," Paul said, "Let's open the theater again. It's the kids who are hurting because it's closed."

McDaniel negotiated for the sale of equipment from Charles Walton, the former owner, on faith that the people of Greenbelt would not let him down, reopened the doors of the theater.

McDaniel would like it known that the theater will be available for use as a meeting hall, for benefit shows and other worthwhile uses. In order to accommodate important meetings, he stated that he would cancel films during the week. He would be willing to make a deal on the sale of benefit tickets.

McDaniel has been in the motion picture business for 52 years, winding reels at the age of nine and running the projector at the age of twelve. He and his wife live in

Halloween Costume Parade

Over 100 excited youngsters turned out in a variety of costumes for the Halloween costume parade on Oct. 31, and the judges found it difficult to choose the best costumes, especially in the pre-school age group. The winners follow:

Pre-School	Shelley Newman	John Beall	Joey Hess
Grades 1 & 2	Linda King	Laurie Beall	Mary Oneda	Robby Lawson
Grades 3 & 4	Lilly Lawson	Kim Scheibel	Tom Ogden	Arnold Comproni
Grades 5 & 6	Sandy White	Patty Bailey	Bev Rexon	Pat Parlett

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Greenbelt participated in air-raid practice drills which were held all over the Eastern seaboard from Oct. 9-16. Volunteer airplane spotters, working in two-hour shifts, watched the skies for "enemy" planes; "sightings" were relayed by telephone to U.S. Army communication centers

Kline Fulmer, former assistant manager of Greenbelt, published a booklet, "Greenbelt", with a foreword by Lewis Mumford, on the very early history of the town

The hospital run by the Health Association was operating at a yearly deficit of $8,500. Cost per day of patient care was $10, of which $4 was paid by the patient and the rest was covered by the town budget

The U. S. Post Office was petitioned to start house-to-house delivery of mail in town

What had been feared and rumored for some time finally became fact; the Farm Security Administration announced that, effective March 31, 1942, families whose total income exceeded maximum requirements would have to move out of Greenbelt. It was thought that about 300 families would be affected. There was a waiting list of 1,300 qualified families seeking residence in Greenbelt

Work was proceeding on Southway and Ridge on the new homes for defense workers — it was thought that about 150 units would be ready for occupancy by about Dec. 1

A Civil Defense Council was formed and calls went out for volunteers to take training courses in airplane spotting, nursing, first aid, police and fire emergencies, home guard duty, firearms and subversive activities

Greenbelt had a string orchestra with twelve members, some of whom were professionals

Nationally, the cost of living was up 10% in two years, nylon and silk hose were hard to find, and the government imposed new retail excise taxes on the sale of jewelry, furs and cosmetics

Greenbelt Reminiscences

by Jim Smith

(Jim C. Smith, 4-H Southway an original Greenbelt resident, has written a series of reminiscences about the origin and development of Greenbelt. Smith was employed by the Federal government at the time that Greenbelt was being planned. The first of these reminiscences appears below).

Origin

Greenbelt, Maryland, one of the three New Deal test-tube "Green-towns", has distinguished itself through its foresight and achievements from which other rapidly expanding communities may well benefit. Spawned during the depression and now approaching its thirtieth anniversary, Greenbelt was one of the bipartisan-controversial topics during that era. Long before its completion the federal utopia was called "Tugwell-town" by the workers who built it. Throughout that economic-stricken, brain-disturbing revolutionary period, Rexford Guy Tugwell, then Administrator of the Resettlement Administration, was erroneously accredited with having sold President Roosevelt on the idea of building the three such uniquely "Planned Communities." As "The Little Warrior" Al Smith once said, "Let's look at the record."

Prior to their construction, "Jake" Baker who was then Harry Hopkins little-known barter expert in the F.E.R.A., headed a committee of five dedicated New Dealers who toured England and Southern France making a study of "European Garden Type" medium cost housing. Upon their recommendation, with others concurring, including Mr. Tugwell who, incidentally, had not accompanied the fact finding group, Greenbelt's original "Garden Type Homes" were approved and built.

Of interest then, in addition to bringing home the committee's report, Mr. Baker brought home three aged bottles of French cognac which his French host had given him to give to President Roosevelt. Roosevelt accepted the gift and gave the 80-year-old bottle to his mother; later, when the donor asked him to endorse the product for commercial purposes, he declined.

Today, after nearly thirty years of intellectual and material growth, "The City of Greenbelt" has become perhaps the finest example of communal life originally denounced as a "New Deal Boondoggle" and has since acquired a culture that would astound its critics.

One of the opponents of the "Untried Fledgling" was Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia. His salvo was trained on the project's cost, but his opposition sprang from a discord with Henry A. Wallace, then Secretary of Agriculture, over the proposed transfer of acreage from the Department of Agriculture to the Resettlement Administration under whose jurisdiction Greenbelt was to be constructed. In 1934-1935 the administration acquired approximately 3300 unproductive red clay acres bordering the vast Department of Agriculture Research Center near Beltsville, Md., where Greenbelt imposingly stands today.

The bulldozers, some smoked-out veterans and D. C. transient workers dug in the fall of 1935. The ground-breaking ceremony was done with a pickaxe in the hands of George E. Allen in his role as W.P.A. Administrator for the District of Columbia. Just why this political honor was not bestowed upon the Governor of Maryland or Maryland's own W.P.A. Administrator is lost in obscurity.

CD RECOMMENDED ON FLOOD WORK

College Park and Bladensburg residents have thanked the Prince Georges County Civil Defense Agency for its help during the recent floods.

Sister Dolores, Principal of Elizabeth Seton High School, Bladensburg, wrote: "It is with deep gratitude that we say thank you for your tireless efforts in our recent flood." Heavy rainfall caused flooding at the school and threatened to damage school supplies and books stored in the basement.

William W. Gullett, Mayor of College Park, wrote: "I would like to express my appreciation for the aid you and the Civil Defense Office rendered during the recent storm which flooded so many homes in Lakeland, College Park." During the recent heavy storm, over twenty homes were inundated and more than 100 people were evacuated. In the stricken areas, Civil Defense provided services which were praised by Mayor Gullett.

IT'S THE LAW

Several boats and trailers have been seen parked on the streets. This is in violation of City Ordinances nos. 471 and 574 (pertinent parts are printed below). Members of G.H.I. may park their boats and trailers in a special lot off Hamilton Pl., while individual homeowners are permitted to leave them in their back yards. Apartment dwellers should contact their management for information as to the proper parking arrangements.

Ordinance No. 471

... that it shall be unlawful to park or store any boat, canoe or other water craft, any trailer, any unlicensed or disabled motor vehicle, any vendor's truck, any mobile machinery or equipment within the public right-of-way or the paved service court or driveway of any residence, or group of residences or apartment units; and

... that it shall be unlawful to park or store on any residential property any boat, canoe or other water craft, any trailer, any unlicensed or disabled motor vehicle, any vendor's truck, or any mobile machinery or equipment to the front of the setback line of any residence or apartment on any street or service court side of said residence or apartment, unless said above items listed are parked or stored in an enclosed garage

Ordinance 574

Section II Storage in Public View

It shall be unlawful to accumulate or store in open view to the public any brush, trash, building materials or any waste material from building or remodeling operations or any debris, any packing boxes, rubber tires, tubes, automobile parts, disabled or unlicensed motor or other vehicles, trailers, and the like, except when active building construction is in progress.

The police are planning to start ticketing violators in the near future.

Hadassah Game Night
 The Greater Greenbelt Area Chapter of Hadassah will hold a "Game Night" on Wednesday evening, Nov. 9, 8:30 p.m. at the Springhill Lake Community House. All ladies are cordially invited to bring their Mah Jongg, bridge, canasta, or other groups for a relaxing evening among friends. A special door prize will be given to the lucky lady, and refreshments prepared by the members themselves will be served during the evening. A small fee will be charged. To be sure your group can get in on the fun, you may call the following women: Mrs. Susan Rothberg 345-1687 during the day, or Mrs. Arlene Perkins 474-7503 at night.

KEEP PRINCE GEORGES DEMOCRATIC

Auth. J. Connelly, Treas.

Now — U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E — 9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate. Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."
