TWO SLATES COMPETE FOR POSTS ON GHI BOARD, AUDIT COMMITTEE

by Al Skolnik

A total of 11 candidates will compete for the five openings on the 9-man board of directors at the Greenbelt Homes, Inc., annual election on Thursday and Friday, June 1 and 2. Biographies of the candidates appear on the inside pages of this issue.

The election will feature a contest between two slates. One ticket is composed of incumbent board members Charles Schwan, John O'Reilly, Norman Weyel, and James W. Smith and one former board member, Josephine Seay.

The other ticket is composed of Ben Rosenzweig, Norman B. Charles, William Feller, Norman L. Kilpatrick, and Robert J. Crowley.

The 11th candidate, Douglas T. Hawes, is running as an independent. All seats are for two-year terms.

The board race has spilled over into the contest for the three-man audit committee. Running with the board incumbents are Gerald Gough, Thomas White, and Charles Emberger. Opposing them are Seymour Kaplan and Martin Anderson. A sixth candidate - George M. Townsend, 51-D Ridge - announced this week. Kaplan and White are present members of the audit committee who serve for one year.

Balloting will begin shortly after 8 p.m. Thursday at the Center School and will continue the next day from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in Twin Pines.

Voting for candidates is by secret ballot, with each member asked to vote for as many choices as there are vacancies. The candidates getting the highest number of votes are declared winners. Unlike city elections, no previous registration is needed to vote. Membership in the housing co-op (GHI) entitles a member to vote. Each family is entitled to only one ballot and vote.

Agenda

In addition to the elections, the membership will have before it a revised proposal with respect to the sales and resale policy for the larger homes that are being constructed. At the special membership meeting of April 6, the GHI board of directors was asked to "re-study the problem" and to devise a policy to carry out "the intent to try to hold down the resale price."

According to GHI officials, the new proposal calls for an appraisal of the house at time of purchase and at the time of resale. Whatever percentage change is indicated by the two appraisals will measure the rate of appreciation (or depreciation) of the home. This rate of appreciation will be applied to the initial cost of the home to the member - all building and related costs. (The land, which under any circumstances GHI would retain title to, would be included at the original cost to GHI or, alternatively, at no cost).

However, the member would not receive the full appreciation, since deducted from this appreciation would be the savings the member enjoyed in his monthly mortgage payments by virtue of the fact that the land was made available to him at low cost, or no cost.

Thus, upon resale, the selling member will receive his paid-in equity (down payment and principal payments on the mortgage), plus the appreciation, if any, in the initial cost of the house (as measured by appraisals) after deducting the subsidy involved in his not having had to pay mortgage payments on the full value of the land. This subsidy consists of about $6 per month per $1,000 of value of land (not included in the mortgage).

Should the property decline in value as a result of the housing market, the selling member would bear his part of the loss. Subsequent member-purchasers, who would be chosen from a waiting list in order of priority, would be treated in exactly the same way.

Other features of the proposal include a requirement that a member selling after less than two years sell at the price he paid, and that a minimum down payment of 10 percent be made. A buying member would have the option of securing a new mortgage or taking over the mortgage of the selling member.

Petition on Land

The membership will also have before it a petition submitted by a group of members asking for a membership vote on the question of whether the person buying a larger home should be charged (1) nothing for the land; (2) for the land at cost to GHI; or (3) market or appraised value for the land.

Attendance of five percent of the membership or about 75 persons is required for the conduct of official business. Four door prizes of $25 each will be awarded at the Thursday evening meeting. Members must be present to be eligible.

'67-68 Budget Arouses Little Controversy

by Al Skolnik

The public hearing on the 1967-68 municipal budget on Monday, May 22, produced few sparks and relatively few citizens. About 20 persons turned out to review the budget proposed by city manager James K. Giese, which calls for no increase in real estate taxes, although expenditures are expected to rise 18 percent over last year's appropriations. The budget must be adopted by June 10, and council has tentatively scheduled a final budget meeting for Monday, June 5.

There were indications that final adjustments in the budget would permit a lowering of taxes. Tentative decisions announced by council included an increase in estimates of the city's share of State income tax revenue by $10,000 and of State motor vehicle license revenues by $1,000.

On the expenditure side, council indicated deductions of $6,500 in the amounts needed for replacement of vehicles and of $500 in informational expenses, though some offsetting would take place through additions in the budget for construction of new sidewalks and new street lighting on Centerway.

Kramer Urges Cuts

Harold H. Kramer, representing the owners of Springhill Lake Apartments (Greenbelt Associates), urged council in a written statement to scrutinize carefully the expense side of the budget to eliminate all unnecessary items. He expressed hope, however, that no cuts be made which would affect the caliber of city employees.

Kramer stated that since 1964 there has been little change in the city tax rate in spite of a doubling of the assessable tax base. He noted the competition faced by Greenbelt apartment owners from the units across from NASA and those on lower Kenilworth who "do not have to pay the City over $43.00 per unit for taxes."

Kramer felt that the council should keep in mind that city services required by new apartments are in most instances less than those required by the older low-tax yield homes. He referred particularly to parks and recreation items. "New apartment buildings, (SHL)" he said, "provide pools, meeting rooms, social rooms, playgrounds, picnic areas, tennis and basketball courts, one Lake, and a golf course under construction."

"In the past four years," he continued, "possibly $1,000 has been spent by the city for Springhill Lake for the above park and recreation items. This represents less than 1 percent of the expected expenditure for the current budget year. This same apartment development supplies about 32 percent of the city revenue."

Tennis courts

One item that created some discussion was the proposed $11,000 for two new tennis courts at Braden Field. Joe Hanyok questioned whether the demand for such facilities warranted the expenditure. Cliff Simonson and Hugh Jascourt stated that they have observed waiting lines at the courts.

There will be a Jog-Along this Saturday, May 27, at 10:30 a.m. at Braden Field. All those interested in physical fitness are invited to jog 1½ miles at their own pace -

Interviewing . . . J.M. Hennessey

by David Stern

James M. Hennessey is a native of Chevy Chase and can recall the times - not too far in the past - when much of the area around Washington was rural and sparsely settled. Things have changed and Hennessey is now Assistant Planning Engineer for "Park and Planning" - the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission - where for the past 8 years he has coordinated the area's growth. The revised Master Plan for Area 13, which greatly affects Greenbelt, is one of his responsibilities.

What was the status of the re-newed master plan?

Mostly, said Hennessey, the new plan was similar to the one submitted two years ago. Changes corresponding to zoning enacted since then have been incorporated, and the areas municipalities have been contacted for their recommendations. Two meetings with Greenbelt's councilmen and city manager have taken place, and Park and Planning was also consulting with the councils of College Park, Hyattsville, Berwyn Heights, Riverdale and University Park. It was the general feeling of the commission, he added, that wishes of local jurisdictions should be taken into account as far as possible, unless they conflicted with regional needs or accepted planning principles.

Will there be a public hearing on the revised master plan?

This point has been raised by representatives of Greenbelt and by others, Hennessey said, but no decision has yet been made.

Is the residential density of Greenbelt going to increase, as a result of the plan?

"We've got to face what has already happened" replied Hennessey. He noted that, apart from the northeast end of the city, there wasn't much undeveloped land left in Greenbelt.

"Change in Character"

Since much of Greenbelt is already zoned for apartments, cannot the owners of the rest of the land claim "change in character" and demand higher density use for their land? Why don't we ever hear the "change in character" argument the other way around - so much has been rezoned, that there is no justification for more?

You obviously haven't heard the arguments of the staff (of Park and Planning) lately, said Hennessey. They strongly believe that what is needed in zoning is a proper balance.

We noted that Greenbelt already seems to have passed that proper balance. Does this mean we can expect no more multi-family zoning in and around Greenbelt?

Park and Planning was aware of Greenbelt's problems, Hennessey replied. It obviously had a high percentage of multi-family dwellings, especially if GHI is not considered as single-family homes. However, other things should also be taken into account.

We cited the fact that Greenbelt is bounded on two sides by federal land, so that the high density cannot taper off in these directions. Wouldn't that speak against more urban concentration?

Yes, answered Hennessey, but on the other hand there is the easy access afforded by the Beltway, the Baltimore Parkway and Kenilworth avenue.

Road Plans

Concerning the roads - did Hennessey think that when Interstate Rte. 95 (connecting Washington and Baltimore) is built, the pressure on the Greenbelt area will be reduced?

He didn't think so, said Hennessey. At first, when Interstate 95 is opened, traffic might drop a bit, but in the long run it won't make much difference.

When is Interstate 95 to be built? Not too far in the future, implied

Hennessey. Work on the Beltway interchange with the new highway has already started, and necessary land has already been acquired north of the Beltway. On the other hand, south of the interchange all was still not clear.

How do planners feel about the role of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway as a commuter highway, something it was not originally intended to be?

"The parkway is a commuter highway, whether we like it or not."

MAN ARRESTED FOR LURING CHILDREN

A 26-year-old man was arrested on May 17 and charged with soliciting for lewd purposes, following five separate reports to the Greenbelt police about a man trying to lure young girls into his car. The five incidents took place on May 15 near Greendale Pl., the 16 court of Ridge Rd., the Consumers' Discount supermarket, and North End and St. Hugh's schools. The girls ranged in age from 10 to 13.

In each case, with minor variations, the man began by calling to the girls from his parked car and asking them to help him "adjust" a towel across his lap. In four of the five cases, the girls refused and immediately informed their parents. The suspect has been charged in connection with the fifth incident, which occurred at 8:25 a.m. near Greendale Pl. and involved an 11-year-old girl. According to Chief William Lane, she has identified the suspect.

A hearing was held at 9 a.m. on May 17 at People's Court in Hyattsville. At the time the Greenbelt offenses occurred, the man was out on bond awaiting trial for similar offenses committed elsewhere in the county during January and March. He was again released on bond several days after his arrest last week.

Traced Through Plates

Several of the girls described a heavy-set, white male wearing sunglasses and driving a blue car, and one remembered the Pennsylvania license plate number. It was traced to Montrose, Pa. and the description of the owner was found to tally with that of the man the girls had described. His Maryland address was unknown. Acting on the possibility that he might be a federal employee, the police eventually obtained an address in East Riverdale from a government agency and arrested the suspect in his home.

Greenbelt's police department was commended by the office of the State's Attorney for its quick work in the case.

PFC Reamy Promoted

PFC Paul Reamy became the Greenbelt Police Department's first corporal this week. Provision was made for this new rank several months ago, but it had not previously been filled. Reamy, a lifelong Greenbelt resident, joined the department in 1956. The Municipal Police Association selected him as the county's Outstanding Officer of the Year in 1966.

Volume 30, Number 28 Thursday, May 25, 1967

Twenty-Five Years Ago

With only about 300 of the expected 1,000 new families now residing in the Defense Homes, it was becoming apparent that many facilities in Greenbelt were being overtaxed. "Traffic jams" were noted in the GCS food store at peak hours. At Center School (the only elementary school) the kindergarten was already overcrowded. Teachers and parents expressed concern that all grades in all schools would be above schoolroom capacity by next fall . . .

On April 25, all Greenbelt men between the ages of 44 and 65 had to register under the Selective Service Act . . .

Governor Herbert O'Connor called for volunteers to serve as Minute Men of Maryland. They were to act as a home defense unit for community protection "in case of invasion, sabotage or general disorder . . ."

In May, the head doctor resigned from the Health Association. His position had been in dispute for over a year. He had been accused of failure to cooperate with his fellow doctors and with the hospital Board of Directors. Another doctor resigned at the same time because of pregnancy. Two other physicians had resigned previously, complaining of inability to work under such unpleasant conditions. Now the Health Association was left with only one doctor, and efforts were being made to attract new doctors to the community . . .

Greenbelt families registered for sugar ration cards in May. The allowance was half a pound of sugar per person per week . . .

Because of the metal shortage, the Greenbelt Valet Shop advertised, "When you bring in a garment, bring in a hanger . . ."

Gas rationing was due May 15, and there was a shortage of tires. At the same time, the Capital Transit Company announced that the newly inaugurated fast bus service was to be discontinued, and a return to the old system of shuttle buses to the street car tracks at Berwyn was to be reinstated. A special transportation committee was formed to appeal to the authorities and to point out to them that an augmented bus service would be needed as soon as gas rationing went into effect . . .

Tour of GHI Homes

On Sunday, June 11, there will be a tour of GHI homes that have been remodeled, or to which there have been additions. More than 20 homes will be visited. This will be a wonderful opportunity to pick up ideas for those who may be thinking of remodeling or adding to their homes.

There is room for more homes on the tour, however. Those who wish to show their homes should call the Chairman of the Member Relations Committee, Mrs. Josephine Seay, at 474-9226.

ART GUILD CRITIQUE

The next critique of the Greenbelt Art Guild will be held on Wednesday May 31 at 7:30 p.m. in the Youth Center.

Peace in Vietnam Memorial Service

Mme. Tran Van Dinh, Vietnam Buddhist neutralist leader and wife of a former Saigon ambassador, will speak at a Memorial Day service on Tuesday, May 30 at 2 p.m. in the Center. The program, sponsored by the Greenbelt Committee for Peace in Vietnam, will honor the memory of those killed in all wars and especially the casualties in Vietnam. It will be held next to the War Memorial and will have as additional speakers the legislative assistant to Senator Gruening and local veterans.

The Peace Committee will hold a preliminary meeting tonight at 9 p.m. at the home of Lewis Paszkoff, 14-H Hillside. All are welcome.

Has there been a contact with NASA concerning the opening of the Goddard interchange to general traffic, in a way similar to that shown by the draft of the master plan?

The form of the plan finally adopted by Park and Planning had only a cross-over near that point, Hennessey noted. There will be no connection to the parkway, but there will be an overpass.

Problem Areas

We shifted our questions to some problem areas in and around Greenbelt. The case of the Jaeger tract, projecting into federally-owned Greenbelt Park, was finished as far as Park and Planning was concerned, but were they aware of another parcel, comprising 10 acres, jutting into the park from the south, near the camping area?

"We hope the federal government will acquire this land, as we have hoped they would acquire the Jaeger tract" said Hennessey. He added that twice already have zoning applications been filed for this land and that Park and Planning recommended denial in each case.

What will the master plan show for parcel 15?

Ralph Webster

Ralph F. Webster, former president of the local housing cooperative, died on April 26, 1967. He served as Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (then Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation) head from August 1953 to December 1954.

At the time of his death, he was assistant to the Veteran Administration director of personnel for employee-management relations and classification. Besides dealing with the professional organizations and unions that represent VA's 170,000 employees, he administered the classification system by which employees are advanced.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret, of 6412 Forest Rd., Cheverly, and three children. A surviving daughter, Mrs. Robert Crandall Chambers, lives in Greenbelt.

M. Finkelstein

Morris Finkelstein, 77 years, 16-A Crescent, died on May 19. He is survived by his wife, Rose, three daughters, Mrs. Esther Gerson, 45-D Ridge, Mrs. Elizabeth Merl and Mrs. Loretta Katz of New York, 5 grandchildren and 1 great grandchild. A resident of Greenbelt for twelve years, he was a member of the Jewish Community Center and the Golden Age Club.

James F. Griggs

James F. Griggs, 14-V-5 Ridge, died May 13. A resident of Greenbelt since 1938, Mr. Griggs attended Greenbelt elementary and high schools and was employed by the Co-op from 1946 to 1951 and the Briggs Company from 1954 until the time of his death. He is survived by his wife, Betty Jane, and children, Kathleen, Carlton, Leslie, Bonnie and Sandra, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Griggs.

The plan originally adopted by the commission called for R-30 (low density multi-family) on this land, Hennessey noted. The planning staff has recommended R-30, while the planning board - which reviews zoning petitions for the commissioners - recommended R-18 (medium density) and C-1 (commercial.) The case is now before the commissioners, he said, and "our view is what the commissioners say."

He added that the planners were also refraining from taking a stand on the cases of the "Golden Triangle" and the Greenbelt High School, both of which were being heard by the courts.

What was his estimate of the life expectancy of apartments now being built?

This depended on how well they were put together, was the reply. Apartments in Langley Park, for instance, were 20 years old and still structurally sound, though out of style. Apartments presently built should certainly last that long, unless other considerations for their replacement arose.

As our final question, we asked Hennessey what advice he could give to citizens who wished to voice their opinions on planning.

"The only advice I would give to anyone; consider all of the factors involved and be reasonable. There are always going to be disagreements - someone will be happy and someone will not."

New Regional Park

Prince George's first regional park is due to open next month. It is the 500-acre Clinton Regional Park, southwest of Andrews Air Force Base.

In the first stage of its development, the park will have athletic fields, family picnic areas and an elaborate playground, including slides, an "Indian Village" and a retired U. S. Navy jet fighter. Later a 15-acre lake, amphitheatre, nature center and riding stable will be added. Development is expected to be complete within three years.

The new park may be reached by taking Branch Ave. (Md. Rte. 5) southward from the Beltway, turning right near Andrews AFB onto Brandywine Rd., which parallels Branch Ave. for some distance. From Brandywine Rd. turn right onto Thrift Rd., which crosses the park.

Letters To The Editor

Who Is the Board Kidding?

Ignoring two mandates from the membership to build low-cost homes for large families, the G.H.I. Board of Directors seems determined to build four-bedroom homes at semi-luxury prices. Further, the Board seems to be more concerned with resale profits than with low monthly charges. In brief, sound investment for those who can afford it seems to be more important than filling a real need for a greater number at popular prices. The resolution endorsed by the membership clearly uses a housing index to hold down monthly charges. The formula submitted by Mr. Rosenzweig does the same thing. At the Board's request, I submitted a procedure for valuing improvements to the home. An example of how the membership resale policy works was available to everyone at the April membership meeting.

In the face of all this, the actions of the Board raise many questions. Why did the Board reverse itself and decide to hold no referendum on sale policy? Why did they vote to offer only one resale policy to the voters, and that only on the night of the annual meeting? Why did they refuse to include a minority statement? Why wasn't the Board's latest proposal sent to the membership with the notice of annual meeting? Why does this proposal list a $30,000 market value for the four houses when the figures the Board used last month were $33,750? Why does the Board use housing indexes to estimate appreciation of the houses, but insist on appraisals only as a basis for resale? Why does the Board feel that appraisals work so well on the complete home but won't work at all on home improvements? Why does the Board oppose a plan that includes prior approval for improvements? Why is the Board so concerned with investment profits when the savings on mortgage payments—plus interest on those savings over the 30-year life of the mortgage—would in themselves greatly exceed the total selling price of the house, if no charge were made for the land? Why were emphatic statements made at the Board table that low-interest for new construction was not available under any circumstances when FHA has assured me personally that such money could be made available?

These are some of the questions that every G.H.I. member should consider before the night of June 1. It would also be useful to consider what the opposition slate has to offer. Then come to the annual meeting to select the larger homes policy that you want, and elect those candidates who will support it.

Clifford H. Simonson

Thanks

We wish to thank the people of Greenbelt for buying Girl Scout Cookies. As a result, Troop 95 was the only troop in District 15 (Hollywood-Greenbelt area) to make the "Cookie Honor Roll" by selling 1,608 boxes. Our treasury profited by $80.40 and $723.60 was sent to G.S. Council.

Many thanks also to Mrs. Willard, our excellent cookie chairman.

Slum Clearance?

As one of the GHI Board members who heard Mr. Kilpatrick report that other co-ops are building townhouses more cheaply than we expect to do, I must protest his statement that we "heaped ridicule" on him. However, we did question his statements.

Certainly he knew that the project he mentioned—Williamsburg in Detroit—is part of a slum clearance program; that it consists of frame structures meeting only minimum FHA requirements; that families purchasing these units must move out if their incomes go above certain levels; and that those displaced by slum clearance have priority for occupancy.

Last year the City of Greenbelt looked into this program, which is sponsored by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and is known as 221(d)(3). FHA sent a representative, who toured Greenbelt but found no slums or blighted areas. This program is the only one that offers funds at 3% for construction of new houses.

Is it heaping ridicule to wonder whose GHI homes may be classified as slums, or whether any of us really want a section of GHI with income restrictions?

For some reason many people take exaggerations and outright untruth in a political campaign for granted. I don't. I take honest differences of opinion, differences in philosophy for granted, but not seeking votes by telling members GHI can get 3% loans and a $93 a month townhouse without mentioning that slum clearance is involved.

Katherine Keene

Political Football

One who is a candidate ordinarily avoids a dispute with a voter, but I cannot permit to stand unchallenged Bruce Bowman's charge that the GHI Board has failed to carry out the members' instructions.

The Board held four special meetings between April 6 and the current date. The GHI membership generally were invited to two; certain individual members, including Mr. Bowman, were invited to the other two. Mr. Bowman attended none of these meetings, yet he concludes that the Board has failed to follow instructions. It would appear that Mr. Bowman is more interested in making a political football of this issue than he is in assisting the Board in achieving a workable solution.

Despite Mr. Bowman's insistence on the Board's alleged dereliction, I am confident that most GHI members will examine the evidence before they make a decision.

Charles Schwan

A Devastating Impact

Congratulations to Mr. Charles Emberger for his concise resume of plain facts, the resale value of higher priced homes in a lower priced community.

In reference to the town houses, I would like the members to visualize a block area of 25 townhouses containing from 125 to 150 children and teenagers. The impact on the surrounding homes, mostly one and two bedroom units, would be devastating. The only possible property which would lend itself to such a project, "If it were necessary, which it is not," would be opposite the GHI office, where the impact would be felt less, being more isolated from neighbors. There would not be destruction of a wooded area and also no expensive grading.

Conceding that larger quarters are always desirable, why not encourage them to add a two floor extension plus porch on a long term lease?

By having large families evenly and unobtrusively distributed among the members one lessens the impact of children concentration to the benefit of all, especially the larger families.

Mrs. M. Hutzler

Country-Club Housing

Added to the scenic attractions of Greenbelt are four luxury homes now being built by G.H.I. I recommend for the curious a drive up Northway where two of these houses are under construction, at an outrageous cost notwithstanding the use of non-union labor.

As you pause before each, please reflect upon the fact that while funded reserves do not exist for adequate, progressive maintenance and renovation of existing homes, over $100,000 of your money is already committed to this country-club housing, among whose beneficiaries are two incumbent candidates now asking us — the other 1575 member-families — to return them to office in the June 1-2 GHI election.

What's going on here, anyway?
Martin Anderson

How Shall We Evolve?

It seems that the personal comments circulating during the current GHI campaign are blunts that make less clear the basic issue that is at stake. The issue of resale policy and of the type of new construction we are to build are really part of a decision the membership must make. That decision is: do we want to evolve GHI into a luxury co-op such as River Park, in D. C.'s urban renewal area, or shall we evolve into a modern, attractive, moderate priced co-op, such as are developing in the suburban Mid-west?

One GHI member recently stated that "Perhaps we have enough moderate priced housing in GHI now." I must disagree, since the local real estate industry seems determined to produce nothing but high priced units (even Levitt now is building at $30,000). GHI should push to build the $100 per month range type townhouses now found in co-ops in Ohio, Michigan, and Illinois, for surely the need for moderate priced homes for our large families is the need which our co-op, GHI, should respond to.

Norman L. Kilpatrick

Decided to Join

I have been a GHI home-owner since moving to Greenbelt in 1964. I was under the impression that the GHI Board of Directors was an efficient and capable group who would protect my financial investment in my home and further the economic stabilization and growth of GHI.

Since last year, I have had some misgivings regarding the performance of the Board of Directors and their controversial program for building new homes for larger families, particularly in the matter of costs, both building and selling. When a Board cannot conceive a program satisfactory to the membership and must resort to such a large number of meetings (28) without being able to come up with an acceptable solution, this then becomes a matter of great alarm and concern to me as it should to all GHI members. Therefore, I determined that I would offer my services to the membership as an independent candidate for the Board.

Recently, I met the members of the Committee for Modified Resale Policy on GHI Homes and found that they shared my concern and views on this matter. After becoming well acquainted with the candidates proposed by this Committee and being impressed with their sincerity and concern over the future of GHI, I decided to join them instead of running independently.

I am firmly convinced that the slate presented by the Committee for Modified Resale Policy offers the GHI home-owners highly specialized talents by dedicated people. These talents will prove advantageous to the growth and security that GHI sorely needs and which appears to be seriously jeopardized by the present Board incumbents.

Norman B. Charles

Quibbling Details

Those who have regularly attended GHI board meetings have been disturbed by the fact that the board is continuously bogged down in quibbling details which, by sound management practice, should always be earlier resolved in committee. This failure of leadership is typified in the large home controversy, which the board would have us believe has taken many hours of serious study.

To the impartial observer, the situation is quite different and comprises a continuous, time-consuming wrangle, punctuated by personal invective, insults, and temper tantrums, over some people customizing their own $30,000 dollar homes.

Exogenous factors, indeed!

Robert J. Crowley

Does Not Seem Fair

In regard to "Tenants Protesting Raise in Rents," I must make one thing clear — the sentence about the rent increase would create a hardship because of the rising cost of living. The protestors are older people on fixed incomes and they are protesting the 7% increase when the rest of Greenbelt was raised only 4%.

After reading the News Review from cover to cover, I learned that the new homes costing $30,000 or so are to be subsidized and it does not seem fair to starve and worry these older people to give a profit to someone who can not only afford a large family, but can pay more rent and be assured of a good profit on his resale. Some of these older people have been here since Greenbelt was built.

IN GREENBELT'S LIBRARY

by James O'Brien
Branch Librarian

Taylor, Robert Lewis. VESSEL OF WRATH. New American Library, 1967.

Robert Lewis Taylor, Pulitzer Prize winning author of THE TRAVELS OF JAMIE MCPHEETERS, presents in VESSEL OF WRATH a hilarious but affectionately respectful story of the life and times of Carry Nation and her free-swinging campaign against drink, tobacco, sex, the Masonic Lodge, William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt and others far and wide. The biography is not only a fine character sketch of an unusual woman but also an equally excellent realization of the Kentucky of her formative childhood and the social mores of her time that roused the temperance worker to her dedicated frenzy. Whether describing Miss Nation's exploits swinging her hatchet in barrooms from Wichita to New York or describing her battle with the "old bitty" Mary Sherriff and her "Flying Squadron of Jesus" to her insulting judges, defying sheriffs and terrorizing bartenders, VESSEL OF WRATH is a highly entertaining and amusing book that many will enjoy reading.

Van der Zee, John. THE PLUM EXPLOSION, Harcourt, 1967.

THE PLUM EXPLOSION is the story of a young law student in California who falls in love with a plum orchard which is scheduled to be demolished by real estate developers. Residents of Greenbelt should definitely be able to sympathize with the student's efforts to save the plum orchard and its peace and beauty from destruction. The novel is about the risks run by a man who too steadfastly pursues a private vision of saving a secluded, lovely area from the whims of city planners, and about the devastation Americans are imposing on their country. When, by becoming a successful developer himself, the young man accumulates the funds to buy the orchard, he finds his dream thwarted by an artistic city planner, the city farmers, and ultimately and ironically by the fertility of the plums themselves. John Van der Zee, a welcome addition to contemporary young American writers, presents in THE PLUM EXPLOSION uncommonly fine entertainment.

Both of the above books are available at the Greenbelt Branch of Prince George's County Memorial Library.

A Cruel Hoax

Using a flyer featuring an artist's picture of townhouses in Detroit, that cost $93.00 per month, a slate of candidates opposing the reelection of current GHI board members has promised to build similar townhouses in GHI.

They ask — Why can't GHI do this?

Here's what they failed to tell you —

- In order to have similar Government subsidized housing the City of Greenbelt (not GHI) must first qualify with the Government by submitting an official community plan to deal with SLUMS AND BLIGHTED AREAS.
- Within the past year an official of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) inspected Greenbelt for the City Council. Council was informed that Greenbelt cannot qualify for urban renewal because it has no SLUMS OR BLIGHTED AREAS.

Incidentally:

Whose homes did they think should be torn down?

What did they plan for families whose incomes exceed the limits allowable under the Government program: $5,900 for a single person; $7,150 for a couple; $8,400 for a three or four member family; $9,650 for five or six members; and $10,900 for seven or more?

Further:

The GHI Board is continuing to explore every possible means, including Government loan programs, to keep costs low for the townhouses.

Therefore:

To raise false hope is reckless and irresponsible. It is worse. It is an act of cruelty.

No, this should do no harm to your TV set if you have it regularly serviced by a reputable technician.

Dear Punchin':
Would you believe it if I told you that a couple of little green fellows stopped me the other night on Southway and invited me to take a trip on their flying saucer?

Why not? I saw those same little fellers talking to a trash truck, and one of them said, "Take me to your litter."

DRIVING ON THE CAPITAL BELTWAY

Freeway driving tips to make your trip on the Capital Beltway safer and more enjoyable:

Be prepared for freeway driving by knowing entrance and exit points by number, name, location and destination.

Be alert for freeway signs—if you miss a turn, don't stop or back up.

Merge smoothly with freeway traffic—watch for a safe gap and enter without stopping on the acceleration lane.

Keep pace with traffic—adjust speed and lane only when approaching interchanges.

Pass with care, allowing extra room for high-speed passing. Always give proper, clear signals.

Pull completely off the roadway for emergency stops. Never walk on the pavement.

Prepare to leave the freeway by getting in the proper exit lane and maintain your speed until you are on the deceleration lane.

Enrichment Course For Junior High Students

The Board of Education of Prince Georges County is again offering a four-week summer school enrichment course in the junior high school. Students who have completed the eighth grade this year and have at least a B average in social studies are eligible to attend. The first session will be held from June 26 through July 21 at Bladensburg Junior High School. The second session will be held from July 10 through August 4 at Suitland Senior High School.

The purpose of the course is to permit pupils to study in depth the background and events leading to the American Revolution with an emphasis on the New England scene.

In addition to using the usual resources such as printed and audio-visual materials, students will visit sites where many of the historic events took place. The entire third week of the course will be spent on a five-day trip to many places of historic interest such as Philadelphia; Hartford and Mystic Seaport, Connecticut; Boston, Lexington, Concord, Plymouth and Old Sturbridge, Massachusetts; and Providence, Rhode Island.

The only charge ($72.00) being made for this course is for the expenses involved in the trips to be taken.

Further information about this program may be obtained from Bruce C. Hoak, Supervisor of Secondary Schools - 627-4800

Rezoning Petitions Listed in County

The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission has announced the preparation of a comprehensive booklet and a set of two maps which list all rezoning applications filed with the Commission in Prince George's County during the January, 1967, filing period.

The booklet, which is available to the public at a cost of $1.50 will contain the petition number, requested zoning change, acreage, location, applicant's name and the affected planning area for every application which will be handled by the Prince George's Planning Board.

The maps which accompany the booklet, and are included in the $1.50 price, cover the entire county and will locate by cross-reference number all of the rezoning petitions listed in the booklet.

According to James M. Hennessey, the Commission's assistant planning engineer: "This information will enable citizens, builders, realtors and civic organizations, to locate and keep abreast of all requested zoning changes within their area of interest."

The booklet and maps combination may be obtained at the Planning Commission's Prince George's Regional Office, 6600 Kenilworth Avenue, Riverdale.

The Commission, Hennessey pointed out, "plans to continue to update this information and will prepare a new booklet following the close of each of the semi-annual filing periods." The next filing period will close July 31, 1967.

City Notes

The swimming pool is ready for the Saturday opening, and so are the staff. But will the weather be? That is the question.

During recent weeks the crew of life guards have been cleaning the pools and the bath houses. They also covered the interior of the pools with a coating of Portland cement paint. Employees of the Public Works Dept. have constructed new concrete pads around the diving platforms. They hope that this extra weight will counterbalance the stress on the boards that worked the boards loose from their supports more than once in the previous season. A new chlorinator feed system was installed some time ago. It will feed each pool separately so that the chlorine can be kept at its appropriate level.

The pools are full of fresh water. They look inviting. What's the prospect, weather man?

Applications for seasonal passes to the swimming pool have not yet been filled because of a delay in their printing. City officials hope they will be available in time for opening day. If not, the applications themselves will be good for admittance.

The Public Works program, as well as many other construction jobs in the vicinity, has been delayed by the rain. Sod growers, for example, have been unable to get into their fields with sod cutters; hence the city's project of sodding the playground near Westway has been postponed. Between rains, however, the city crew has graded new dirt fill behind the dam at the lake. Rain has apparently also delayed completion of paving in the University Square development.

New lights have gone up, however, in two parts of town. A private contractor installed seven poles and light fixtures along the pathway from the Crescent Rd. underpass near Westway to the tennis courts. Pepco installed street lights along Ridge Rd. between 73 Ct. and Lastner Lane. (The city, however, will pay the cost of this installation.)

The new shopping center opposite the elementary school in Springhill Lake is opening soon. Final landscaping is being done, and a dry cleaning establishment is already open for business. Stock is being put on the shelves of the new Giant food store. Three or four other shops, including a beauty shop, will open soon.

At the same time, about 125 families have now moved into apartments at University Square. Their arrival has increased noticeably the number of young mothers with strollers and baby carriages walking up Southway toward the Center. When the Westway route is paved, it is expected that they will prefer that safer and shorter way.

Commencement At Maryland University

More than 4000 degrees will be conferred upon undergraduate and graduate students of the University of Maryland on June 3 at 10 a.m. The presentation will be made by University President Wilson H. Elkins and the principal commencement address will be delivered by Governor Spiro T. Agnew.

"POPPY DRIVE"

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 136 will have their annual "Poppy Drive" over the Memorial Day weekend. The Junior members will be in the bank and grocery store Friday night and Saturday. All citizens are urged to support this cause.

NEW LAWS AFFECT DRIVERS

Four new laws of interest to Maryland drivers go into effect June 1st.

One of the laws is concerned with automobile insurance, and it gives an insured motorist the absolute right to obtain the "real reason for cancellation" if his insurance company cancels his policy or refuses to renew it. At present, many insurance companies will not supply such information. According to outgoing State Insurance Commissioner Norman Polovoy, Maryland is the third state to put such a law on its books.

Another law, passed in 1966 but scheduled to become effective only on June 1, 1967, raises the minimum driving age for drivers without formal training from 16 to 18. Drivers between the ages of 16 and 18 will still be eligible to apply for drivers' permits, provided they have completed a state-approved driver education course of 30 classroom hours. Beginning April 1968, this requirement will be tightened to include 6 hours of actual driving instruction, combined with "at least" 30 hours classroom study.

One year's grace was allowed between the passage of this law in 1966 and its going into effect, in order to allow schools sufficient time for preparing their driver education courses. Drivers under 18 who are already licensed in Maryland are not affected by the new law.

Motorcycles Regulated

Still another law becoming effective June 1st affects motorcycle drivers, whose number in Maryland is estimated at 22,500. After

June 1, 1967, any individual wishing to operate a motorcycle or some other powered two-wheeled vehicle must be specifically licensed to do so by the Department of Motor Vehicles. As a prerequisite for acquiring such a license, such an individual must possess a valid Maryland motor vehicle operator or chauffeur license. However, individuals already possessing a Maryland motorcycle license will not be required to present a motor vehicle operator's license until they wish to renew their motorcycle license.

Other restrictions will be applied to the vehicles themselves. Specifically, motorcycles will not be allowed to have handlebars rising 15 inches or more above the seat, and will be required to have two rear-view mirrors, one for each handlebar. The cutting or altering of fenders will be prohibited.

The new law also prohibits carrying more than one person on motorcycles not specifically designed by the manufacturer for this purpose. Carrying packages interfering with grasping the handlebars will not be allowed, nor will be passing a vehicle by a motorcycle using the same lane.

The law does not, however, go so far as to require use of approved helmets and eye shields or goggles. Such a requirement is part of the 13 tentative highway safety standards proposed by the newly created National Highway Safety Bureau.

Finally, according to a law also taking effect June 1st, applicants for Maryland driver permits will henceforth have to submit birth certificates or other evidence of their age.

Now — U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E — 9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate.

Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

An Appeal to Reason Addressed to all my fellow members of GHI

by Albert K. Herling

It was my hope that this would be one GHI campaign in which I could maintain a relative silence. I had hoped we had reached a point in the life of our community and in our cooperative housing organization that reasonable people would discuss differences of opinion in a reasonable way in the spirit of truth and in an atmosphere of calmness, or at least an atmosphere devoid of an over-abundance of emotion.

Unfortunately, my hopes have proved to be ill-founded and my disappointment runs deep because I must now speak of the actions of men I consider to be friends and to speak of them critically.

Some of those seeking places on the GHI Board and on the Audit Committee seem to be intent on trying to "win" by raising the emotional temperatures of the GHI membership so that any reasonable statement of facts will have the appearance of a lack of conviction, fervor, or commitment.

Wording of Petition

This appeal to the emotions began with the wording of the petition for a special membership meeting and the propaganda issued. You will remember the words — "profiteering," "give-away," "subsidy," — and you surely recall the heat generated by the entire approach. These words were deliberately used. Some of our members were so heated up by the words that they wanted to vote immediately on the petitioners' request — without debate, and without the possibility of amendment. The resolution was debated, it was amended — and one of the amendments passed overwhelmingly was the elimination of the word "profiteering" because even the petitioners, or most of them, realized how horribly wrong and false was such a terrible charge.

The propaganda issued in connection with the petition also fed the flames of emotional unreason by claiming that certain cost figures that had appeared in the News Review as a reporter's illustration were, in fact, the hard figures of the GHI Board. With a stubbornness that can only be described as fanatical, several opportunities to set the record straight in public, both during the special meeting and afterwards, were refused and resisted.

What About That Detroit Co-op?

And now, the slate headed by Benjamin Rosenzweig is trying to use this same device and deliberately arouse an emotional reaction by issuing a leaflet claiming that it is possible to erect four-bedroom houses in Greenbelt, as part of GHI's larger homes program where the cost would be $93.00 per month! The example they give is the Williamsburg Co-op in Detroit, Michigan.

The object of such propaganda is to make you think that the GHI Board is not interested in good housing at $93.00 per month — and 4-bedrooms to boot!

At the same time, the author or authors of the Rosenzweig slate propaganda know that again, they are giving a false example.

At my own expense, I called the FCH (Foundation for Co-operative Housing) office in Detroit and the FCH National Office in Connecticut to check on information supplied to me by non-housing experts in Detroit. I learned what the propaganda writers must certainly have known: It is not possible for GHI to erect these homes at $93.00 a month or near that amount for its present members.

The Detroit project, known as 221 (d) (3) cooperative, was built because the local jurisdiction — the City of Detroit — passed legislation and established what is known as a "Workable Program" as described by the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Under the program in Detroit the 40 year 3% FHA mortgage carries with it a very rigid set of requirements concerning family size and income limits. A family with seven children, for example, which had an income above the $9,500 to $9,800 range would be ineligible to move into the project. Those with fewer children would have even lower income limits placed upon them. Indeed, if they could meet the requirements at present and their income increased beyond the limit set, they would have to get out!

Could Not Be Part of GHI

Moreover, the houses could not be exclusively for GHI members, it must be open to all. If some GHI members qualified, fine. If no GHI member qualified then we would have larger homes, but not for GHI members.

GHI could build similar homes — but not with the $93.00 a month price tag. They could build, as FCH told me, with houses at market value and with the going interest rate for mortgages, starting at 6%, if you can get it.

The Williamsburg project is great. But it could not be a part of GHI and it would not meet the problem of GHI members.

But, the important thing is that the authors of the propaganda sheet knew the facts. Don't you consider this to be a misleading technique and strategy? Isn't it designed to make the members of the GHI Board look like horrible monsters who are against giving the people something really good? That use of the illustration was false and misleading didn't seem to bother them. The facts did not stand in the way.

I don't believe that this GHI board is perfect — no Board ever is or could be. But they have, in my opinion, done an admirable job. They have been good for GHI and that means good for the membership.

They have tried to "keep their cool" in the face of all this deliberate catering to emotional unreason — if at times it has appeared more than some could take in silence or without reacting, one could understand.

The fact is — in the face of all this they have provided reasoned and reasonable leadership.

Worthy of Support

And the GHI Board, including those running for re-election, have not resorted to the obnoxious propagandistic and deceitful tactics of those who seek office at the price of using deliberate half-truths, non-truths, and emotionally weighted words.

I appeal to you, my fellow GHI members, to re-elect the four incumbents — Charles Schwan, John O'Reilly, James Smith, Norman Weyel and to elect Josephine Seay. I also appeal to you to vote for Tom White, Gerald Gough, and Charles Emberger for Audit Committee.

The ability, the dedication, the commitment and devotion of these people to the welfare of GHI, the GHI membership and the community, should not be lost. On the contrary, it should be again enlisted in our service.

Both our heart as well as our reason should lead us to support what is good and to reject what is based on the sands of expediency.
