Pros & Cons of Shed Policy Debated

by Rita Fisher

Last Thursday's meeting of the Board of Directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., turned into a lengthy meeting due to much discussion regarding the erection of sheds, particularly those classified under the #3 category, free-standing sheds.

Prior to the discussion, the board elected its officers for the coming year. Charles Schwan was re-elected president for his fourth term. Nat Shinderman was elected vice-president; Steve Polaschik, secretary, and John O'Reilly treasurer. All votes were unanimous.

Speaking on the subject of sheds, Mrs. Catherine Foster, 36-J Ridge, commented that, in her opinion, the rules were unfair as presently written, particularly the #3 shed, which according to regulations, must be situated away from the home and against the wooded area. Mrs. Foster cited the fact that this ruling was not applicable in many G.H.I. courts and felt that the rules should be revised. As a further suggestion, Mrs. Foster felt that existing shed complaints should be suspended until such time that the study now being made could be completed.

At the instance of Mrs. Betty Clark, 55-J Ridge, who had been notified that a shed in her yard was in violation of the regulations, and who had received a letter from G.H.I. requesting her appearance before the Board, the Board placed the matter on the agenda during the meeting.

Manager Roy Breashears presented a brief resume of the matter to the Board. He explained that a request had been received from Mrs. Clark regarding regulations for the erection of a 10' by 12' shed. Breashears stated that a letter was sent to Mrs. Clark informing her that 10' by 12' shed was larger than the regulations permitted. The letter further pointed out that the type 3 shed was not permissible in 55 Court of Ridge because of the way the court was situated.

In a prepared statement, Mrs. Clark commented that many G.H.I. members are in need of extra storage space. The shed she had erected was valued at over $200 and had been a gift. She further stated that, upon measuring the dimensions of the shed, it was actually only 7' by 10'. She stated that she had tried to communicate with Manager Breashears for some time to discuss the different dimensions with him but was unsuccessful, therefore the shed was put up.

She also presented a petition signed by 51 members from 55 and 57 Courts of Ridge Road and other homes on Ridge Road which might be affected by the shed. The petition was in favor of the shed's existence in that area.

Manager Breashears held to his judgment that the shed was in violation of existing regulations and was, in fact, located in a designated fire lane between two rows of homes.

Comment

Board members then commented. Director O'Reilly stated that the violation existed because the free-standing shed was erected before obtaining approval. Chairman Charles Schwan explained that a termination of contract notice is the only route to take in order to enforce regulations. He reminded those at the meeting that the Corporation was required, under the terms of the contract, to make and enforce regulations.

A motion was approved that the manager look into the matter of granting a special exemption for this specific shed and Mrs. Clark agreed to abide by the decision of the manager.

Another subject presented to the Board was a request from a member regarding G.H.I.'s stand on sheds. See SHEDS, p. 8, col. 3

Hearing Postponed On Ch. Village Suit

The scheduled hearing for May 29 on the city's suit seeking a halt in the construction of 21 additional apartment units at Charlestowne Village was postponed while the city amended its bill of complaint adding the name of Stones, Inc. as a party to the suit. The original bill was filed against Charles and Fleur Bresler, but the defendants in their reply stated that the parcel of land on which the 21 units are being constructed was conveyed to Stones, Inc., a District of Columbia corporation, by deed dated April 19, 1968. The building permits issued on April 18 had named the Breslers as the owners of the property.

Legal Controversy Involves GHI Member's Use of Land

by Sandra Barnes

On Friday, June 7, a member of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., James Smith of 4-H Southway, intends to test the issue of whether GHI members are legally tenants or homeowners in the first phase of a lawsuit to be heard before the courts in Upper Marlboro.

The case came about when Smith wished to construct a carport with a concrete driveway leading to it. The carport would have housed his custom-made automobile which, Smith said, has been vandalized a number of times when it was parked on Southway. At a GHI board meeting, he presented his building plans, complete with sketches, for, he stated, "review and comment" — not for permission to build.

According to GHI manager, Roy Breashears, the board, in open session, informed Smith that a "free-standing building was not permitted" in the area chosen for the carport. The board also thought that it would be dangerous for a car to back out onto Southway, because it is rather heavily traveled.

Injunction Sought

After the board's denial to Smith, of the right to build his carport and driveway, Smith cut through his hedge and parked his car on the lawn. Subsequently he was asked by the manager's office to move the vehicle back onto the road. When he did not comply, GHI, in executive session, discussed the matter and decided to seek an injunction which would force Smith to move his car.

According to GHI attorney, Albert Ginsberg, the case should come up some time in the fall.

In the meantime, according to Ginsberg, Smith, in his attempt to prevent GHI from seeking an injunction against him, has filed a counter-claim seeking the deed to his property. GHI has filed a demurrer to the counterclaim, and it is that phase of the suit that is to be heard on June 7.

"To Use and Enjoy"

One of Smith's main contentions is that his contract with GHI permits him "to use and enjoy" his property and that this includes the right to build a carport.

Smith further stated that the courts have ruled in a case decided several years ago that GHI's per-

Council-Approved 68-69 Budget Sets Lower Property Tax Rate

by Al Skolnik

The city council last Monday night approved for first reading a municipal budget for 1968-69 that calls for a slight decrease in the property tax rate. The new tax rate is $0.85 per $100 assessed valuation, compared with the 1967-68 tax rate of $0.87. Routine and final passage of the budget is expected this Monday night.

Appropriations under the new budget are up by $118,900 to a record total of $815,100. This is higher than the $785,000 budget proposed by city manager James Giese. The increase is due to a bookkeeping shift from the 1968 budget to the 1969 budget in the amounts authorized for renovation of the Center Mall. The $40,000 renovation item had been included in the fiscal year 1968 budget, but only $1,900 was actually expended. The remaining $38,100 is being carried over to the 1969 budget, half of which ($20,000) will be financed through special assessment bonds levied against property owners in the Center.

Increased expenditures with a lowering in the tax rate was accomplished through increased State aid, use of surplus funds, a hike in waste collection fees, the special assessment, and through the higher yield from an assessable tax base that increased on the average $3 million during the year.

Of the $815,100 budget, the city anticipates receiving $470,850 from non-real property taxes, leaving $344,250 to be raised through the real property tax. Applying this amount to an assessable tax base of roughly $40.5 million yields a tax rate of $0.85 per $100 of assessed valuation. This is the lowest tax rate in the history of Greenbelt since its divorce from the Federal government.

Expenditures

On the expenditure side, council changes in the budget proposed by Giese were of limited magnitude. The most significant change was the addition of $8,000 for renovation of the present tennis courts at Braden Field. The council hopes that this sum will permit resurfacing of three courts and reconstruction of a fourth, with perhaps consideration given to shifting the direction of the courts. Helping to offset this addition was a reduction of $2,000 in landscaping supplies.

Another significant change was the inclusion of $3,500 to widen Woodland Way. At the same time, an item of $7,500 for reconstructing Lakecrest Drive was dropped and $1,700 was lopped for sidewalks cutting across playgrounds. A third change was reduction in the police budget of $8,400. The council turned down a request of $6,350 for another policeman and $2,050 for rental fees for a computer terminal.

The amount set aside for salary increases for city employees was reduced from $19,000 to $17,250. This amount will permit an across the board adjustment averaging 5 percent, instead of 5½ percent, effective July 1. Additional amounts were included for employee awards and for office equipment.

Other changes included $300 extra for Little League (to total of $1,000), $700 extra for Boys Club (to total of $1,500), and $675 extra for election and registration expenses (city is anticipating a special referendum to float a $500,000 capital improvement bond issue).

Unchanged Items

Major items left unchanged in the budget include: (1) the addition of a records clerk and purchase of a portable radar set for the police department; (2) new street construction — curbs and gutters on Crescent Road from Southway to Westway and Lakeside Drive, replacement of deteriorated gutters, construction of new sidewalk in front of Center School, and resurfacing of Youth Center driveway; (3) additional street lights for the north side of Centerway at the Mall; (4) $2,000 beautification program for landscaping entrances to the city;

(5) additional man for the parks crew, bringing the size of that crew to four and bringing the total number of men in the public works crews to 24; (6) $4,600 for improvement of fire department building by air conditioning the offices and lounge and for improvement of traffic circulation by providing a driveway along the west side of the building; (7) new equipment for the Youth Center, $300 for the Aquatic Club, and $600 for Greenbelt Youth Council.

Revenues

On the revenue side, the city expects to get $185,800 from State income, highway, race track, motor vehicle, and related taxes and fees. It is also anticipating $47,000 in State aid for police activities.

To help balance the budget, the city will apply $29,530 from surplus See BUDGET, p. 2, Col. 4

Parks for Springhill Lake
To the Editor:

We at Springhill Lake, comprising some 45% of the total units in the City, would like to present some comments on the current proposed budget.

One does not expect that the City Fathers would develop a plan for distributing receipts on the basis of origin. However, it is reasonable to expect that a Plan For The Future as cited in the Annual report to the People, might include similar improvements and betterments to those already provided for in the older part of the City. The four, six or eight lane highways that divide the City are sufficient reasons for extending, especially park and recreation facilities to the entire City and not limit expenditures to one area. The residents of Springhill Lake pay for and need such services and it should not be necessary for them to appear in force. Good planning would provide for all areas.

The City Fathers are of the opinion that representatives of needy areas should supply them with plots of land for parks and recreation. Was this the case for all acquisitions in older Greenbelt? Has any attempt been made to inventory all possible sites? To mention some, rear of the Beltway Plaza along Breezewood Drive, Stidham property along Kenilworth Ave. and A. H. Smith land adjacent to Cherrywood Lane.

The facilities at Springhill Lake for parks, playgrounds, etc., are paid for by the tenants. It cost the city exactly nothing. At present these facilities are inadequate and before any additions are planned for, the City Fathers should extend their spending powers to a long neglected group of taxpayers. If this is asking too much, then consideration ought to be given to creating a separate taxing district for Springhill Lake with regards to Parks and Recreation. The tax reduction could go into an Escrow Fund and be used for the benefit of tenants at Springhill Lake.

This is our way of appeal for fair play.

An Open Letter to St. Hugh's Vincent de Paul Society

Dear Sirs:

I am one of the persons who took the time to turn your ad right side up and consider it. I hope you are sincerely asking these questions and not committing an act of sophistry.

You posed the questions in such a way as to indicate a true interest in an answer. I will then take your words as being sincere and try to explain it to you . . .

You first establish that our country is the richest country in the world. I would like to ask if you know why our country is the richest in the world? It is because it was built by PRODUCERS and not MOOCHERS. What claim does one who has NOT produced a value have upon one who has? The only moral claim one man has upon another is a FAIR TRADE OF VALUE FOR VALUE. A pet gives his master back value for value. He is loyal and dependable and loving in return for his food and lodging. He guards his master's property and gives pleasure to his children. . . .

If your group wishes to feed, clothe, house, and educate these PARASITES, at your own expense, and out of your misguided sense of charity, based upon a PERVERTED SENSE OF THE ETHICS OF EMERGENCIES, it is your free privilege to do so. No one will stop you. But; to insist that every tax-payer pay for your pet charity is to claim that you have a GOD-GIVEN RIGHT to steal from someone and to give your loot to whom you chose.

Don't you understand that it is the "something for nothing idea" that motivates criminals? . . .

Fight the government's interference in the function of the churches. Return the church to its proper place in Society—That of dispenser of charity rather than that of government social worker.

Remember that your government spends enough every day on the "NOT GROWING WHEAT PROGRAM" alone to feed every person in the entire United States. A tax break by eliminating this would allow people to donate—tax-free—money to their church.

Remember that Rome fell because it gave its citizens free food and free baths and free entertainment. A government owns NOTHING. A government in order to give something, must take it from someone who owns it. If that something is yours, that you have honestly earned, who—even a government—has the right to take it from you and give it away to buy votes?

Proposed Co. Budget Up

A total budget of $177.3 million was recommended today to the Prince George's County Commissioners by Budget Director Vance Y. Kane.

The proposed budget, developed after months of consultation with County department and agency heads, is up $36 million, or 25 percent, over the current fiscal year. Last year's budget was 25.5 percent higher than the year before.

Departmental proposals for the new fiscal year were trimmed $5.6 million prior to submission to the Board.

The Budget Department recommended an increase in the County's surtax from 20 to 45 percent to finance the new spending proposals, coupled with a reduction of 5 cents per hundred in the real estate tax.

Public hearings on the proposed County budget for FY 1968-69 will be held on Monday, June 10th, at 8 p.m., in the Courthouse in Upper Marlboro, and Wednesday, June 12th, at 8 p.m., in the County Service Building in Hyattsville.

County Commission Chairman Gladys Spellman pointed out that the Board was of the "firm opinion that the real estate levy is a regressive one — that the income surtax is far more equitable for the population of this County."

The Chairman also noted that the continuing increase in school enrollments, largely in the kindergarten and elementary grades, accounted for the major share of the overall budget again this year — 71.2 percent — or $126.3 million of the $177.3 million total. School enrollment is expected to increase by 13,000 next Fall, to around 150,000 students. Of the school budget, 66 percent goes for teachers' salaries.

The budget proposals include substantial spending increases in all major departments, reflecting the additional services demanded by an increasing population, and as the Chairman put it, "because of the additional services demanded today by our citizens."

The surtax increase, minus the real estate tax reduction, would cost the average homeowner with a $10,000 income and two children, $33.75 cents more annually, or $2.81 per month.

For this, in addition to the major increase in school expenditures, the County budget will:

- Increase Police Department allocation by 29 percent, to a total of $7.4 million — mostly for a 5 percent salary increase, 52 additional officers and increased specialization as recommended by a recent survey of the Department.
- Increase Health Department allocation by 28 percent, to a total of $5.1 million, mostly for increased services in the fields of mental health, public health nursing, maternal and child health and environmental health.
- Increase Public Works allocation by about one-third, for a total of $8.4 million, though much of this will be recovered through user charges.
- Increase retirement of County bonded indebtedness by 17 percent, for a total of $18.2 million, mostly to retire school construction bonds.
- Increase Recreation Department allocation by 35 percent, to a total of $825,000.
- Increase Library Budget by 23 percent, to a total of $3.3 million.

Another major factor in determining the new tax levy was the decreased income from construction in the County, reflecting the tight money market, which reduced the assessable base and related construction taxes considerably below estimates.

Also, Federal Aid for "impacted areas" which contain a high percentage of Federal government employees was reduced by Congress by 20 percent this year, with a resultant impact on school financial projections.

from previous years, raise the basic residential waste collection charge from $2 a month to $2.50 for three times a week service, and assess the property owners in the center for the mall renovation ($20,000 at the rate of $0.99 per $100 assessed valuation. To help accomplish the latter, a special taxing district including the property at the Center was created.

Councilman Bill Hoff protested the latter move on the grounds that he did not believe the merchants could afford to pay half the cost of the renovation program. Mayor Edgar Smith said that the assessment when amortized over a ten-year period would only come to an average of $129 a year.

Concert Highlight Is Violin Concerto

The Baltimore Symphony Society completed its first season in the beautiful hall of Prince Georges Community College at Largo with its third and final concert on Saturday evening, May 18. Under guest conductor Allan Miller, the orchestra opened with Rossini's Overture to William Tell, building storm up to classic tempest proportions. Conductor Miller's pace was somewhat leisurely, however, when brisk movement was called for. This pace unfortunately slowed even more in the Beethoven Eroica after intermission, when it became too languid to carry the heroic theme to fulfillment. Normally unnoticeable differences in tempo between sections of the orchestra then also became evident.

Each concert has its silver lining though, and here it proved to be the fine accompaniment provided for violinist Paul Zukofsky, in Mozart's Violin Concerto in A Major. Zukofsky, though only recently out of his student years, displays real maturity. The concerto was alive in all its courtly gradeur, a real pleasure to listen to.

Speaking Sternly . . . by David Stern

Might Have Been
(Here is what a history book might have said, had things worked out slightly differently than they did)

A unique and interesting document that originated during the short-lived separation of the American Colonies (or United States, as they called themselves) is their proposed constitution. Produced by a convention especially called for this purpose in 1787, it embodied a powerful and dangerous idea - indeed, one which our British Commonwealth would never have survived, had it gone into effect. Conceived by far-sighted individuals, it proposed no less than the creation of a unified modern government, stronger and better coordinated than that of any of the states and based on a democratic system, dispensing with the King and his lords.

Fortunately for us, the architects of the colonial constitution reckoned without the people: in a display of reckless overconfidence in their carefully laid plans and in the democratic process, they made the mistake of presenting the document to a popular referendum. They figured that a widespread campaign, appealing to the reason of the people and acquainting them with the proposed document by means of thousands of free copies, would assure popular support.

However, it soon became evident that few voters had the endurance to read the constitution past its inspiring preamble, and even fewer turned out to listen to the eloquent pleas for its support by Madison, Jefferson, Hamilton and others. Instead, a whispering campaign began - launched by local legislators, who resented the idea of a central government, by those who supported our cause in the American rebellion and who disliked the idea of a strong, flourishing democracy, and by other disgruntled elements, of which there was no lack in the colonies.

The rumors were wild and ingenious. Watch out, some of them said, this constitution is going to allow slaves to vote - for isn't it already equating 5 slaves to 3 free men in determining congressional representation? And what a flawed document it is, said others - allowing two bitter rivals to the presidency to take office as president and vice-president at the same time (even Jefferson finally had to admit publicly that at least this part of the constitution was faulty, though he maintained, somewhat illogically, that it could be corrected by amendment once the constitution was approved).

All of these, however, were muted whispers compared to the loud cry that swept across the land, namely "The New Constitution is Going to Increase Your Taxes!" For indeed, did not the constitution give the right to collect taxes, a right previously reserved to the states alone? With such a right, who could tell what congress - power-mad, money-hungry congress - might do! Why, if it so fancied, it might even levy a tax on every person's own income!

In vain did Hamilton - who had made a considerable name for himself in financial matters - declare and affirm that congress would collect no more money than it spent on public services, and that unless such services changed, taxes could never change appreciably. When election day came, the proposed constitution was roundly and soundly defeated, and with it - though few knew it at the time - the threat of the United States to our Empire.

The rest, of course, is history. The country floundered along for several years, but with a congress permitted to print money but not to raise taxes, the economy slipped quite rapidly. When in 1803 President Aaron Burr made public his dealings with our King, under which the colonies returned to the fold, with himself as their first Viceroy, there was hardly any organized opposition - and whatever there was, he quickly silenced by effective means which would have been quite illegal under the 1787 constitution.

Under Burr - with General Benedict Arnold as the Crown's representative - the colonies' ties with the Mother Country were quickly renewed. We need not dwell on the exploits of Captain Stephen Decatur of the Royal Navy at the battle of Trafalgar, or of the heroic colonial troops who turned the tide at Waterloo. Nor shall we add to the tribute given to Orville and Wilbur Wright, founders of the Royal Air Force, and to John Glenn, the first British subject to orbit the earth.

All we really want to do here is to point out what a close thing the constitution of 1787 was. Were it not for the pettiness and lack of vision of colonial voters, history might have been written quite differently, and the divine right of Kings, which is the cornerstone of our Commonwealth, might have given way - God forbid! - to a democracy.

Golden Age Club

by Allen D. Morrison

Well, the carnival has come and gone. It was the best one of the four carnivals sponsored by the Club — but the weather, don't mention it! Such is life and we take it with a smile whatever comes.

A short Memorial Day program was rendered, with Mrs. Dickman reading a list of those members who had passed on in the past year. There were also vocal selections by the Hecht sisters, aged five and six, followed by a short address by the Rev. Kenneth Bunker.

Five new members were admitted to the Club at its Wednesday meeting. They are: Frances Crossman, Florence Rogers, Virginia L. Poore, Phyllis P. Peterson, and Grace Gordon.

One hundred pounds of magazines were each delivered by Mrs. C. Swinson, A. E. Tavenner, the Rev. Musser White, Mrs. R. R. Smith, and Mrs. Don Kern — thank you!

Mrs. Mable M. Hughes of 2-C Crescent was physically unable to assist in the recent carnival and instead donated ten dollars to the Club. Mrs. Hughes is a lifetime member.

The Club is indebted to the Committee, James K. Giese, City Manager, and the alert City Council for their advocacy of a new bus, and, after many years and much urging bringing to a conclusion the formation of a plan to construct a building adjoining the Youth Center. The Club has funds to completely equip the building without cost to the City. The Club presently has $7,000, which can be used for this purpose, all of which was accumulated by the members' own efforts and without public solicitation. How did the Club raise this money? Come to the regular meetings each Wednesday at 1 p.m. and hear the story unfold. Three years ago the Club consisted of about 50 members; at the present time over 250 belong to the ranks, with a potential of over 1,000 more in Greenbelt.

You can join the Club by dropping into the Club's city office next door to Twin Pines.

On July 25, 26 and 27 you will find us in Yorktown, Williamsburg, Jamestown, and Richmond. A lower floor of a motel has been rented, special rates have been obtained from Jamestown, where a picnic will be held and the drama "The Common Glory" will be viewed at night. Reserved seats have been engaged. Two 40-seat buses have been chartered for the trip.

Now — U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E — 9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate. Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

City Notes

The Public Works Dept. is still experimenting with special trash receptacles for GHI courts. The two previously installed, of cinder block construction, are being used extensively by nearby residents. Their location has helped to centralize the piling of trash, city officials believe. Nevertheless, their design is less than ideal, according to the department. For this reason, two new receptacles of a different design are being tested at locations between 9 and 11 Laurel Hill and between 14 and 16 Ridge. These containers are made of stockade fencing. Funds for further experimentation with design of trash receptacles have been included in the city's budget for the new fiscal year.

Despite the rain, the sale of swimming pool passes continues at a brisk rate. Swimmers who braved the opening day weather were the first to try out the new hot showers, which were already in operation. Minor repairs Monday, however, delayed slightly the opening of the pool. A gasket and butterfly valve both needed replacement.

Because of the recent heavy rains, the Public Works Dept. has been called several times to clean out catch basins and storm sewers. In preparation for the Memorial Day ceremonies, they erected the bandstand near Centerway. They have also completed excavation for the parking lot behind the firehouse. Bids for construction of that parking lot area will be opened on June 10.

Land clearing has started for the new Municipal Services Building. Other work there has been delayed because of the heavy rains. On the other side of the city, south of Greenbelt road, land clearing has also been started for the new Lutheran Church.

The Police Blotter

Two male juveniles, ages 15 and 13, were arrested on five counts of breaking and entering, and larceny. The youths, never in any previous trouble, had entered first-floor apartments on Crescent Road and University Square through opened windows after ringing the doorbells to determine if the tenants were home.

Over $1200 worth of stolen property was recovered when Officer Hall, who investigated the cases, noticed one of the youths with a stolen item. Officer Hall was commended for his work in apprehending the youths, which closed the books on most of the breaking and enterings for the month. The youths will be tried in juvenile court.

Chief, Lane cautions all first-floor apartment occupants in particular to lock their windows when leaving their house. Also he noted that a metal bar or bolt placed on the track of sliding glass doors would prevent illegal entries. Further, the Chief noted that Springhill Lake residents can purchase from the management more secure

cerning contributions to the Poor that nothing had been discussed since the matter had never come up before the Board

Steve Polaschik stated that G.H.I. has, in the past, given donations only to organizations serving G.H.I. members. The budget allowed for only $600 to be used for contributions for civic and community purposes, according to the by-laws of the corporation. The matter was dropped for lack of a motion on the subject.

Notes

On the subject of Committee staffing, a motion was approved to have new committees commence their year effective October first of each year.

Following the defeat of the proposed By-Law changes at the Annual meeting, a Committee on By-Laws has been set up with 6 members. Bruce Bowman, Mat Amberg, Bernard Bordenet, David Lange, Ernest Varda and Thomas White.

In discussing dates for coming meetings, it was announced that a special meeting would be held on June 6 regarding regulations. The Board also announced that its meetings held during the summer months of June, July and August would be held on the second Thursday of the month.

The Missing Ingredient

The sun shines bright for kids' delight

The ducks quack and dogs bark
But bathrooms are nowhere in sight

At the Greenbelt Lake Park

The forest there has beauty rare
As visitors remark

But find a bathroom, anywhere
When you need it, in the park.

No noisy motor disturbs the water
It's open dawn till dark
But where d'you go ter, whenever y'oughter

At the Greenbelt Lake Park?
