Council Decides to Negotiate End of Lake Concession

by Marti Silverstein

Negotiations will be started shortly by the city to buy out the concession at Greenbelt Lake currently owned by the SCH corporation. This action was taken by a divided council at a well-attended regular city council meeting, Monday May 5. The full council was present at the almost three-hour meeting, the main topic of which was the lake concession.

Dr. George Cantwell, SCH partner and spokesman for the corporation, had petitioned Council at the last meeting for the purchase of 12 additional rowboats for the concession. This request, then modified to buying six boats this year and the remaining six next year, was rendered in an effort to turn the concession into a profit-making operation.

Several citizens, all from the Lakeside area, spoke on various problems currently existing, which they felt would be intensified by additional boats. John Bogumill, president of the Lakeside Citizens' Association, said he was speaking for himself and several others when he cited three main problems caused by rental boating on the lake: the beauty and tranquility of the lake would be destroyed by crowding it with boats; also noise and abusive language and trash are creating considerable problems.

Mrs. Trixie Nordberg, 50 Lakeside, noted that "Greenbelt should be proud that we have sort of a 'wildlife sanctuary' on the lake that should be preserved." She added, the ducks, which now boast 12 new ducklings, have been joined by a Canadian goose who was here last year and returned, this time bringing a mate. Mrs. Nordberg said that she has continually fed the birds, "buying chick-feed by the ton." While mostly concerned with the aesthetic properties of the lake, Mrs. Nordberg cited an incident of a different nature which took place Sunday morning and necessitated calling police: several teenagers were riding in two boats, and in addition to making much noise were jumping back and forth between the boats, thereby creating a safety hazard.

Mrs. R. J. Rice, 8 Lakeview Circle, said that when she and her husband applied for the license for their 8-foot dinghy purchased for use on the lake, a city policeman was dispatched to their home to check the craft for proper safety measures and to ascertain that the boat was equipped with adequate life preservers. Yet, she stated, she observed recently a boat-load of youngsters, none of whom appeared to be over 12, riding in a boat; no adult was present and one of the children jumped or was pushed into the water. He climbed back into the boat, apparently unharmed. No life preservers could be seen in the boat.

Cantwell agreed that there were problems at the lake, but noted that they could not be resolved by the concessionaire, who did not have the power of enforcement. The solution he said was for the city to assign a full-time guard at the lake. He also stated that the boats cited as nuisances were not those of the concession. He pointed out that no other concession had to abide by such rigid conditions as those that were set down by the city.

Mayor Edgar Smith and council members commended Cantwell for his cooperation and fairness in this matter. But Smith made it plain that "we are not in a position to provide personnel at this time" for a guard.

Hugh Jascourt, a Lakeside resident and chairman of the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board, noted that according to national recreation standards, a lake the size of Greenbelt's could easily accommodate 50 boats. His board had approved the extra boats.

The idea for terminating the lease was first mentioned by Dr. Cantwell, who said that he was willing for this to happen. Councilman Richard Pilski was most insistent in favor of granting the boats. "To buy out the lessee" said he, "is regretful, and removing the boats which have been enjoyed will be greatly missed." He was joined by councilman Bill Hoff but in the final showdown was outvoted by the three-man majority of Smith, Francis White, and Leo Gerton.

Other Business

A unanimous vote by council established a polling place for city elections at Springhill Lake Community Building. This action was taken without controversy after Pilski stated that his studies revealed that a polling place at Springhill Lake was appropriate. This was in sharp contrast to the heated discussion that was generated by the proposal when first broached last January. The approved motion also called for a third polling place at North End School (Precinct 6).

A special voter registration will be held on Saturday, June 28.

The question of parking boats and trailers in driveways, which is contrary to a city ordinance, was referred to the Advisory Planning Board for a recommendation.

Adrian L. Merton, Inc., of Landover, Md., was awarded the contract to air condition the fire house. Their bid was $1,972.

City Council also issued a resolution to State Senator Edward Conroy and Delegates Andrew Mothershead, Pauline Menes and Dr. Arthur Dorman, commending them for their efforts in aiding the passage of the state bill requiring a 2/3 vote by District Council to override a municipality's objections to a zoning change. City Manager James Giese further added that the City of Greenbelt was deeply grateful for all of the efforts of legislators.

Police Open House

Open House will be celebrated Friday evening, May 16, at the Greenbelt Police Station in honor of police week. At 6:30 p.m. a formal inspection will take place and Chief William Lane will present citations to qualified officers. In case of rain the inspection will take place in the council chambers. Exhibits of police equipment will be on display in the council chambers from 7-9 p.m. All citizens are welcome.

Lakeside Association

A membership meeting of the Lakeside Citizens Association will be held on Thursday, May 22, at 8 p.m. in the City Council Chamber. Items on the agenda will be reports from officers of the Association and discussion of the Association's position on the municipal budget.

PARKDALE SCHEDULES INFORMATION MEETING

Parkdale Senior High School in cooperation with the Prince George's Community College and the University of Maryland will schedule an information meeting for students and parents on Monday, May 19, from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. at Parkdale High School.

General admissions procedures and requirements will be presented and discussed by both institutions. Additionally, information concerning terminal programs, including the technical offerings, as well as transfer programs to 4-year colleges will be presented by the community college representative.

GHI Denied Mortgage Renegotiation; Discusses Sheds; Member Complaints

by Sid Kastner

The Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors held its last regular Thursday meeting before the annual membership meeting, chaired by Nat Shinderman in Charles Schwan's absence. Manager Roy Breashears reported that the corporation's request to Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA) for renegotiation of its mortgage in order to finance capital improvements, has formally been turned down. Other approaches will have to be explored, as a result

The board approved a detailed set of regulations for attached and free-standing sheds, and heard its attorney's opinion on the legality of discussing member complaints outside executive sessions.

GHI had requested GNMA to renegotiate the mortgage for 20 or 25 years at a more realistic rate than the present 4%; this has now been turned down. It is recognized by the board that alternative methods of financing the already-launched capital improvements program must be found. Breashears passed on attorney Albert Ginsberg's estimate that placing debentures on the market, for example, would cost about $9000 for printing and distribution costs. Shinderman requested the finance committee, chaired presently by John O'Reilly, to come up with proposals.

Sheds

A set of regulations for sheds, developed by the Maintenance

Standards and Improvements committee, was submitted to the board only slightly modified by management. It allows each member to have one such structure on his lot, either attached (Types 1 and 2) or free-standing (Type 3), though the free-standing type must receive written approval from the manager. The detailed specifications allowed for each type will be made available to members soon, and it is intended that these regulations be followed as closely as possible. In a special motion, however, the board voted to allow variations in particular situations that are approved by the manager.

There has been some question as to whether hearings of member complaints, sometimes involving personal matters, should be heard outside executive sessions. Attorney Ginsberg gave an opinion that though the corporation's affairs normally have "qualified privilege" against charges of libel or slander, such open hearings might void this privilege. He therefore recommended that such matters be confined to executive sessions as they have been in the past.

Decor For Town Houses

Director Katherine Keene reported on the results of a meeting last Wednesday of the Larger Homes committee, held for the purpose of settling on the outside and inside decor of the new townhouses. She stated that the aim was to achieve "unity of design with some variety". Stain, in three different shades or green was chosen for the exteriors rather than paints; the stain is expected to last more than 10 years. Roofing material will be asphalt shingle. When Miss Keene noted that the kitchen equipment will be "coppertone," Breashears raised a question, saying he had understood that the residents were to have a wider choice than this. Directors Smith and Weyell, and maintenance supervisor David Kane agreed with his recollection. Shinderman thereupon asked Kane to discuss this with the builder, and requested that the manager then arrange a meeting with the members to make final decisions regarding kitchen tile, counter tops and color of equipment.

Reaction to the proposal for a new playground in the Ridge-Southway area, to replace one lost to nearby apartments, is favorable according to the manager. Eighteen of twenty-four members in the vicinity felt it was desirable, with three opposed. On a motion by director Jim Smith, the board approved the manager's recommendation that GHI request the city to provide playground equipment there. A poll of residents at 24 Court of Ridge, concerning the desirability of a small basketball area, has also resulted in a majority in favor. The staff will proceed to construct a single-basket paved area.

Additional parking space will be paved by the city at 5 Plateau Place at a cost of about $1600. GHI's share is to be about one-third of this. Twelve or thirteen spaces will be provided, perpendicular to the road. The board passed a motion to approve this construction.

Appliances

The manager brought up the matter of whether GHI should make ranges and refrigerators available to its members at discount prices; the corporation can purchase car-loads of appliances from a firm specializing in cooperative requirements. The directors favored this idea, cautioning however that servicing should be clearly excluded as being outside the scope of the staff. A motion by Weyell, to go ahead with the project, was passed.

Parkdale PTA Plans Film, Talk on Drugs

A special program on drug abuse will be presented at the regular meeting of the Parkdale PTA on Tuesday night, May 20, at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker Ben Wolman, Maryland Assistant District Attorney, will lead a question and answer period.

Program chairman Ronald Alwine, Parkdale biology teacher, will show a film about the effect of drugs on the nervous system. Also on the agenda is the election and installation of officers.

On Tuesday, May 27, Congressman Lawrence J. Hogan will be guest speaker at the dedication ceremonies in the gym at 8 p.m.

Public Works Budget Reviewed; June 5 Set for Public Hearing

by Al Skolnik

The public works budget went through its first review by city council Monday night virtually unscathed. The reason was probably because public works was one of the few departments that has asked for less money in fiscal year 1970 than it received in fiscal year 1969.

Expenditures of $221,300 were being proposed for the coming fiscal year, compared with $255,500 appropriated for the preceding year. The big difference was the one-time appropriation of $38,100 in fiscal year 1969 for renovation of the Greenbelt Shopping Center mall (half the cost to be met through special assessment), which no longer appears in the 1970 budget.

Another item contributing to the difference was $11,500 in the 1969 budget to pay for construction costs of the new Municipal Service Building in excess of funds on hand and to provide for the building's furnishings. The fiscal year 1970 budget calls for only $2,000.

Other items that received higher appropriations in 1969 than those asked for in 1970 were street maintenance expenses, especially for valley gutter replacements, and purchase of new public works equipment.

Offsetting these decreases to some extent were increased amounts proposed for personnel. The 1970 budget calls for four additional workers, including two to join the parks and grounds crew (the latter are mainly chargeable to the recreation budget). Also being requested is a full-time clerk for the new Municipal Service Building.

Street Maintenance Plans

City manager James Giese and Public Works Superintendent Albert "Buddy" Attick outlined to council street maintenance plans for the coming year. These include:

(1) $10,000 for renovation of Laurel Hill Road from Ridge to its end with the purpose of replacement of deteriorated curbs, gutters, sidewalks, and shoulders and new construction where needed. This project would be the first in a long-range program where segments of a street are selected for comprehensive renovation work.

(2) A street resurfacing program which would provide smooth seal or 1½" bituminous concrete resurfacing of Crescent Road—Gardenway to Lakeside Drive ($5,000) and Edmonston Road—Greenbelt Road to new paving sections ($3,900).

(3) $1,000 to re-light Crescent Rd. from Lakeside Drive to Kenilworth Ave. with 7,000 lumen mercury vapor lights instead of the present 2,500 lumen incandescents.

(4) $2,100 for replacement of valley gutter on south side of Ridge Road between Research and Laurel Hill as well as a portion of Laurel Hill south of Ridge up to the existing curbing.

One innovation proposed by the budget is the acquisition of a flat bed trailer with sides to be parked permanently at the Fire House to which residents may take trash they wish to dispose of instead of waiting for a special trash pickup. Giese said that the experimental trash receptacle program has created problems which more than offset the advantages.

Parks

Turning to the parks and playgrounds portion of public works, council found a different situation in that the proposed budget is some $11,900 higher than the amount of $55,400 appropriated for fiscal 1969. However, the $67,300 requested for 1970 is the same as the amount actually spent in the current 1969 fiscal year because of large unexpected amounts authorized after the 1969 budget was adopted for tennis court reconstruction, renovation of softball fields, and lake dredging, and silt basin construction.

A significant item in the new budget is $6,000 for improvements at the bay end of the lake, including the 3.3 acres recently acquired by the city. Giese put special stress on the development of an overall plan for the area since, in his words, "there has been too much attention given individual items." He therefore has proposed $1,000 for hiring a consultant to develop a plan that can resolve the need for recreational facilities to serve the approximately 2,500 residents in that area without causing inconvenience to those residents who live immediately adjacent to the area.

In response to a question, Giese said that conceivably some of the planning funds could come from the bond issue recently authorized by the voters.

Paul Egenreider

Mr. Paul E. Egenreider, age 60, of 73-G Ridge, died suddenly May 3 of a heart attack. A resident of Greenbelt since 1955, he is survived by his wife, Shirleyann, a son, Paul E. Egenreider of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, three sisters, Mrs. Clare Eolbecker and Mrs. Mary L. Bennett of Riverdale and Mrs. Margrette Tittiger of Baltimore.

Guest Minister to Appear

Mrs. Marlies Cremer will be the guest minister at Greenbelt Community Church on Sunday morning, May 18. Mrs. Cremer, who is spending a month in this country, is Head of the Department for Studies and Methodology at the Evangelical Lay Academy in Bad-Boll, Germany. The service, beginning at 10:45 a.m., will be followed by a coffee hour which provides opportunity for a question and answer period. All are welcome.

Hospital Recruits Junior Volunteers

The Prince George's General Hospital Junior Volunteer Program is recruiting Candy Strippers and Blue Boys from among area junior and senior high school students.

The deadline for registering for the summer program is May 17. Students wishing to participate in the volunteer program must be 15 years of age by June 15 and must have a C average in school.

Applicants for the summer program are asked to call the hospital's Volunteer Office, 341-2335.

Anniversary Celebration For Father Dowgiallo

St. Hugh's parish is commemorating Father Dowgiallo's 40th anniversary as a priest with a Parish Celebration on May 25. A Mass will be held at 5:30 p.m. followed by cocktails and dinner at 7. Tickets for the event are moderately priced.

A gala evening is planned, with many former parishioners returning for the occasion. All are welcome.

Kersey-Morris Debate

The controversial "Deputy Reserve Corps" organized by Prince George's Sheriff William Kersey will be the subject of a public debate, to be held 8 p.m. on Wednesday, May 21, at the Springhill Lake Community Center. The debate was organized at the initiative of Jay F. Morris, President of the county's Young Republicans, who invited Sheriff Kersey to debate. According to the Prince George's Post, the Sheriff stated that he "will definitely be there."

SWIM TEAM NEWS

By Mike "Turtle" Jones

It's that time of year again, and by this time next week, the 1968 Red Division Champion Greenbelt Swim Team should be off to a roaring start. Although the date isn't definite, practice will be held between 4:30 and 5:30 p.m., beginning the first day the pool is available. Watch for signs at the pool and at the Youth Center for the exact date.

A meeting for all parents interested in the Swim Team will be held on Monday, May 19, in Center School cafeteria. Organization and general plans for the season will be discussed, and a final decision will be made regarding the Swim Team tank suits.

Mishkan Torah Art Auction

If your apartment looks drab and dull, the First Annual Art Auction of the Temple Mishkan Torah Men's Club could provide just what you need.

From one until five p.m. at the Greenbelt Youth Center on May 18, hundreds of fine pieces of art by sixty-five of the East Coast's best artists will be auctioned to the highest bidders. Jack Perlmutter of the Corcoran Gallery in Washington, political cartoonist Izzy Parker, Jacob Kainan of the Smithsonian Department of Fine Arts, University of Maryland Faculty member Jack Dillinger, metal sculptor Marc Young, potteress Pauline Eis, modern artist Dan Kuhn, Charles Levitan and Patrick Key will be among the artists whose works will be displayed.

Free admission, free refreshments, free parking, and free babysitting will be provided, and all art works for auction may be viewed during the morning of the 18th, from ten a.m. until auction time at one o'clock. The auction aims in particular to provide quality art at reasonable prices. Most prices will begin at $10.00 with a probable maximum of $300.00.
