DENIAL OF APARTMENT ZONING ASKED ON PARCELS 1 AND 2

by Elaine Skolnik

City council tentatively agreed at last Monday's meeting to recommend to the county council that R-30 apartment zoning be denied for parcels 1 and 2 and that the tract be reserved for single-family R-80 zoning. The final vote on this decision was delayed until the next city council meeting on Monday, May 3, so as to give the public time to comment.

The owners of the parcels, Charles Bresler and Theodore Lerner, have petitioned for R-30 zoning. The Prince Georges County Planning Board has recommended that most (89 acres) of the vacant land not owned by the school board between the Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. property be zoned R-80 (3 units per acre) and that the remainder (36 acres) be zoned R-T (townhouses, 10 units per acre). This is in accordance with the College Park-Greenbelt Master Plan, which provides for R-T zoning to the south and west of the proposed perimeter road and R-80 zoning to the north and east of the perimeter road.

The county council will consider the zoning in a resumed hearing scheduled for Wednesday, June 2, at Upper Marlboro.

APB Recommendations

In taking this action, city council had before it the recommendations of the city's Advisory Planning Board (Report #103). On behalf of the APB, Charles Collins recommended denial of R-30 zoning on the grounds that it would compound the existing serious imbalance of apartments to private dwellings. He suggested that any zoning at this time would be premature because of the absence of any immediate plans for sewer and water service, an elementary school, and a perimeter road to service the parcels.

The APB report continued that if for any legal reasons rezoning cannot be withheld, then the rezoning should be in accordance with the Master Plan. It made no comments on the public purchase of the land since it felt more data was needed.

City Action

A proposal by councilman Robert McGee that the city recommend no change in the present rural-residential (R-R) zoning ran into opposition from councilman Richard Pilski, who wanted to adhere to the Master Plan. Pilski said that "we have fought hard to include in the Master Plan low-density development of the tracts" and he wanted to "lock in" the decision, to get single-family homes on the tract.

Members from the audience pointed out that R-T zoning is not necessarily low-density development. As for single-family development, the present zoning already permits that.

Mayor Edgar Smith then came up with a compromise acceptable to all. The city would request denial of the R-30 rezoning petitions on June 2. At the time that zoning is considered for the tract, the city will then urge the county council to consider R-80 single-family zoning for the entire tract because of the need for additional single-family homes in Greenbelt, and because of the change in circumstances of the created by the removal of the senior high school from parcel 2.

Senior High School

In a related development matter, the APB in Report #104, recommended approval of the location and preliminary subdivision plan for the Franklin D. Roosevelt Senior High school, to be located on the Smith-Ewing tract east of the B-W Parkway and north of Greenbelt Road. The city council will consider the report at its next meeting. APB chairman Collins said that the APB had one reservation regarding the subdivision plan. It

Council Prepared To Grant Vote To 18-year Olds

The city council is getting ready to grant 18-year-olds the right to vote in city elections. At present the requirement is age 21. At its last meeting on Monday, April 19, the council, on a motion by councilman Joel Katz, directed the city manager to prepare a charter amendment to that effect. Such an amendment must go into effect at least 50 days before the September 21 election date to apply this year. In the meantime, the city clerk was directed to register youngsters 18 through 20 but to keep a separate register.

Council expects to take action on the charter amendment at its next meeting on Monday, May 3. It also hopes to have for consideration the recommendations of the specially-appointed City Advisory Election Committee.

Also on the May 3 agenda will be proposals for construction of sidewalks along Crescent Road, Lakeside Drive, and Northway. In addition, there will be two ordinances that were introduced for first reading at the April 19 meeting.

Sidewalks

City council has received an engineers' report recommending the construction of a permanent Crescent Road sidewalk from Parkway to a point 150 feet west of the Fire House entrance, at an estimated cost of $1,840, and the overlay of the existing sidewalk with a four-inch layer of asphalt for the remaining distance, at a cost of $415.

Before the sidewalk could be constructed, however, city manager James K. Giese said, more detailed engineering studies would have to be made to determine what problem.

See CITY COUNCIL p 3 col 2

felt that direct access to the school property should be from the proposed Hanover Parkway and not from Greenbelt Road. The APB noted that traffic along Greenbelt Road in the vicinity of B-W Parkway is heavy. It felt that by eliminating turns directly from Greenbelt Road to the school, turning movements that would tend to back up traffic on Greenbelt Road could be reduced.

Gentry Traffic Light

The council indicated general approval of a formula worked out for financing the cost of installation of a traffic signal light at the intersection of Greenbelt Road and Gentry Drive (now known as Cherrywood Lane). The State Roads Commission would pay 50 percent, the cities of Berwyn Heights and Greenbelt 20 percent each, and the Phillips 66 gas station at the corner 10 percent. Greenbelt's share would come to about $3,400.

With respect to electrical charges for current operation, the council suggested that Beltway Plaza also be a contributing party. It directed the manager to advise SRC accordingly. Council noted that Greenbelt and Berwyn Heights are currently paying the entire electrical bill for the light at the Klein's department store entrance.

Four Members Announce For GHI Board Posts

Four members have signified their intention to run for the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors, it was announced this week by George Adams, chairman of the GHI nominations and elections committee. Two of the four candidates are incumbent board members—David Lange and Norman Weyel. The other two candidates are Janet James, 1-D Plateau, and Donald Volk, 17-G Ridge.

Five spots are open on the nine-man board. Board members receive a salary of $750 a year, officers $1,000. The term of office is two years.

The election will be held in conjunction with the annual membership meeting on Wednesday and Thursday, May 19 and 20. The meeting on Wednesday night will be held at the Center School Auditorium, starting at 7:30 p.m. Balloting will begin that night and resume the next day at Twin Pines.

Also to be elected is a 3-man audit committee for 1-year terms. The chairman of the audit committee receives $350 a year, the other two members $250. Two have announced: incumbent James Foster, and Alexander Barnes, 5-H Laurel.

GHI candidates wishing to run for the board or audit committee are urged by Adams to contact any member of the nominations and elections committee to pick up a Candidates' Consent Form. Other members of the committee are Gordon Allen (474-4963), Jule Churchill (345-8588), Douglas Hawes (345-3470) and Jackie Shabe.

Candidates' Consent Forms are to be completed and returned to the nominations committee by midnight, Saturday, May 8.

The committee requests that each candidate run as an individual rather than as a member of a slate. The committee has also decided not to recommend to the GHI board that door prizes be given at the Wednesday evening meeting.

Council Scrutinizes Proposed New Anti-Littering Ordinance

by Al Skolnik

Environmental matters continued to dominate city council meetings, as the Monday, April 18 meeting saw an anti-littering ordinance receive a comprehensive review, as well as the setting up of an apparatus for formation of a broad-based citizens' committee to assume responsibility for improving the city's environment.

Consideration of the anti-littering ordinance took the most time because of the council's desire to review the ordinance section-by-section. Numerous changes were made, including deletion of most of the material dealing with the distribution of commercial and non-commercial handbills. The proposed ordinance now goes back for first reading at the next council meeting on Monday, May 3.

Most of the objections to the original motion centered on regulations concerning the distribution of non-commercial handbills and flyers. Councilman Richard Pilski and several members of the audience expressed concern that the regulations could be used to harass citizens engaged in the normal political process of handing out flyers and handbills.

The original draft made it illegal to hand out literature in public places or door-to-door except when handed directly to an individual willing to accept the same, or secured from blowing around. It was also felt that such regulations would be difficult to enforce: who would be held responsible? The person (or child) doing the distributing or the person who prepared the flyer?

In addition to council and audience objections, city solicitor Emmett Nanna revealed little sympathy for the regulations when he reminisced that as a youth in Greenbelt "the distribution of flyers was my major source of income." In a letter sent to council by Mrs. Nancy Neupert, however, retention of the provisions regulating the distribution of newspapers and handbills on private premises was urged on the grounds that they tended to blow around and cause littering.

The ordinance, as amended by council, is now limited to a prohibition against the distribution of commercial handbills (except newspapers) on a door-to-door basis unless handed directly to the owner or so secured as to prevent such handbills from being blown around the premises.

Other changes in the ordinance included an exemption for organic compost piles and leaves from the definition of "rubbish," and a clarification of the owner's responsibilities in connection with litter on his own property. One PRAB recommendation for requiring open trucks to cover loose loads with tarpaulin was turned down on the grounds that the ordinance already covered such contingencies.

Another PRAB recommendation for requiring fines to include the cost of removal of litter and restoration was deemed by the city manager to be good, but not enforceable in court. A final proposed change in the ordinance calls for an alternative method of enforcement utilizing the city ticket system, payable at the city offices, that is being utilized for parking tickets.

After the strenuous go-round with the anti-littering ordinance, council decided it did not have the fortitude to take on the proposed animal ordinance the same night. It therefore decided to defer action on the latter until the next council meeting.

Environmental Committee

Council adopted a proposal of councilman Robert McGee that the city send a letter to civic groups and school principals to help in the organization of a citizens' committee that would assume responsibility for the development and coordination of community programs aimed at improving the environment.

"A broad base of community support is needed for a successful effort," pleaded McGee. "We must reach into the community for unity."

In the meantime, until such a committee is organized, the city manager was directed to continue his environmental efforts. One area involves the recycling of newspapers. Giese said he is proposing to designate pick-up dates once a month when papers would be picked up at curbside by city trucks.

He mentioned one problem of getting information to apartment dwellers in Springhill Lake as to pick-up locations and it was suggested that perhaps the SHL Civic Association could help out.

Giese also mentioned that the city has arranged for a debris dumping station in the area of the Fire Station parking lot to which any person may take any trash he wishes to dispose of. The county will arrange to remove this trash at no expense. Giese also noted that a number of tree whips have been planted throughout the city by Boy Scout Troops.

Other Matters

In other action, council directed Giese to check on the status of the embankment correction program at Beltway Plaza and to ask the county attorney to investigate the situation. . . . Council also gave final approval to an ordinance appropriating $2,010 to help purchase a new truck chassis.

Jaycees Announce Awards

The Outstanding Young Man Award has been won by Daniel A. Minster, 111 Periwinkle. This is the major award given by the Greenbelt Jaycees. The purpose of the award is to give recognition to a young man who has distinguished himself both in his work and in his service to the community. Mr. Minster had the City of Greenbelt endorse a proclamation for a "Greenbelt Drug Education Day" which resulted in a panel discussion attended by over 300 concerned parents. He also instituted a program of increased safety for school children resulting in the installation of stop signs and petitioning the city for construction of sidewalks.

Mrs. Katherine Clausen has won the Outstanding Young Educator award for 1971. Mrs. Clausen teaches fourth grade at Center School in Greenbelt. Both the Principal, Mr. Ellis, and parents wrote letters of recommendation in support of Mrs. Clausen's work with her pupils.

Mr. Minster and Mrs. Clausen will be honored by the Greenbelt Jaycees on April 23, 1971 at a banquet to be held at the Interstate Inn on Route 1, at 8 p.m. Also attending will be the Judges for both contests, Councilwoman Elizabeth Maffay and Mrs. Carolyn Estridge, Head Librarian at the Greenbelt Library. Labor Day Festival Origin

To the Editor:

The events leading to the establishment of a Labor Day Festival in the summer of 1955 can now be brought to the attention of the people of Greenbelt. While rummaging through some forgotten papers in my office on April 9, 1971, I discovered an article concerning the origin of the 4-Day Labor Day Festival. Since I am retiring on May 31, 1971 from 32 years of Government service, this gave me cause to sift through some old treasured clippings. Lo and behold, I was pleasantly surprised to find this clipping. (See accompanying article.) The record now can speak for itself.

For many years the beginning of the Greenbelt Festival was unknown to the general public, except, perhaps, to a small group. It may have been because of the continued efforts of an outstanding leader and civic-minded individual, the late Eli DonBullion, a truly great entrepreneur who, as one of the two charter members solely directed the destiny of the festival immediately after its inception for a period of several years.

A great deal of credit must go to those who have continued in the perpetuity of this traditional activity, and those who are now enthusiastically engaged in its continuance.

Little did DonBullion and I realize that the festival we started would become an annual affair and such a worthy one. Congratulations must be extended to Messrs. Allan D. Chotiner, Beverly Fonda, Former City Manager Charles T. McDonald, Councilmen Ben Goldfadden and James C. Smith, Austin Green, Henry Brautigam, the late Mayor James Wolfe, and many many others who supported Eli DonBullion and me in this most exciting and rewarding community-involved activity.

As a matter of further information the Youth Advisory Committee under Mr. Chotiner nominated me as Chairman to preside over a committee of 5 members. After the very first meeting we discussed the possibility of holding a 4-day festival, and only DonBullion and I showed up for the 2nd meeting. We went right ahead and set the pattern for the present festival. All of the other members dropped out of the Committee. However, the City Council did not know that the other members had quit. I often wondered if the Council would have accepted our proposal if they had known that DonBullion and I were the only two members left to organize and execute this activity?

A Trashy Solution

To the Editor:

I read in a recent issue of the Greenbelt News Review, that the Greenbelt city dump is reaching full capacity at a very fast clip. With our city dump closed, we may be faced with no place to dispose of our trash in the near future. It may end up costing more money to haul our trash to other sites out of the area.

I have made some observations in only two locations in and near the city that I feel may solve our problem. It seems that the residents in and around 15 Court of Laurel Hill Road have found a perfect solution to where to dump unneeded trash. The solution is so simple, it's a wonder more people of our fair city have not done the same. On second thought, others may have done the same, as I have not observed the entire city. What is the solution? Just dump your trash in the woods behind your yard. If you have no woods behind your yard, dump your trash behind someone else's yard. Simple solution, isn't it? The woods in and around Greenbelt have yet to be tapped for trash dumping. There is plenty of room for everyone to dump everything. And just think of the savings. The city could do away with special trash pick up. That should save us poor taxpayers some money. Now I know what you are thinking. What do we do when the woods have been exhausted and all filled up? That leads to location number two that I mentioned above.

It seems that some people have found another perfect site near the city to dispose of their waste. As you enter the "Research Farms" from Research Road, please note the gully to the right. This area is already being utilized for trash disposal. Just think of all the land area in the farms. Why, there might be room to dump trash indefinitely in our own back yards. Pardon the pun. Please watch this space in future issues for helpful suggestions in trash dumping locations.

Labor Day Festival Benefits Youth Center

(Reprinted from the June 23, 1955, issue of the News Review.)

A Greenbelt "Festival" for the Labor Day weekend received a strong send-off by the city council last Monday night when a $400 appropriation was approved for "promotion and entertainment." The money was granted after Vincent Caruso disclosed details of the festival which is planned for raising funds for a new recreation building. Caruso requested an advance of $400 in order to start publicity, print posters and make deposits for "wheels of fortune" and varied entertainment personalities.

The council decided to appropriate the money as an advance for the "promotion" venture, rather than overcome the obstacles of spending the money through municipal channels.

Money raised from the affair will go towards the "Greenbelt Youth-Recreational Building Fund" which will be the theme of the Festival. Heading the committee and running the affair is Vincent Caruso and Richard White and Eli DonBullion other members of the group. The committee is an outgrowth of a council-appointed recreation advisory committee chaired by Allan Chotiner.

Some of the activities planned for the festival are a "popularity" contest (one vote—one cent), outdoor and indoor dancing, a parade, a swimming pageant, wheels of fortune with food parcels as prizes, an orchestra concert, art exhibit, and booths exhibited by all the organizations in Greenbelt. Groups participating in the festival will receive half the income from their own exhibits, providing their organization has some youth activity in their program.

Citizens Urged To Save Newspapers

Did you know that the average Greenbelt family accumulates five to ten pounds of newspaper each week? This amounts to more than 20 tons of newspaper alone generated by Greenbelt residents. This paper is usually buried in the sanitary landfill. Paper companies then cut more trees to generate more paper and thus we lose more of a precious resource; our forests. Is there a better way? Yes, there is. Save your newspapers for recycling.

On Friday, May 7, city crews will collect newspapers for recycling at separate collection points throughout the City of Greenbelt. All residents of the city are asked to participate in this program. Should this prove successful, the city may continue this service on a regular basis. All the city asks of you is that you follow a few simple procedures. These are:

1. Bundle newspapers and magazines by tying or bagging. We don't want papers to blow around town.
2. Please! No other trash. It will not be collected.
3. Put newspapers out by 8 a.m. Friday morning, May 7.
4. Where to put papers:
  - A. Single Family Residents - At curb next to driveway.
  - B. Greenbelt Homes, Inc. Residents - Next to street either at Court entrance or where parking is prohibited.
  - C. Apartment Residents - At any yellow painted curb in your apartment area.

Swimming Pool Passes

The Greenbelt Swimming Pool will open for the 1971 season on Saturday, May 29 at 1 p.m. Season passes are now on sale and offer a considerable savings over the daily admission fee. A discount is offered for purchases made prior to the pool opening. These season passes remain one of the most inexpensive pool memberships in the Metropolitan area.

Pool Hours: Hours of operation are 1 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. Prior to the closing of the public schools, the pool will open at 4 p.m. Morning hours are scheduled for swimming classes, swim team practice, synchronized swimming and general pool maintenance.

The pool will be under the management, this season, of Richard Mest. Assistant manager, Steve Davis, will be on duty when the manager is off. Marybeth McNally will be assistant cashier while Anne Barcus will be cashier. The lifeguards are as follows: Danny Cassels, Joe Smith, Michael Lundregan, Eddie Hughes, Brain Dredger, Greg Gigliotti, Paul Klem.

Arts Festival Sunday

On Sunday, April 25 at 2 p.m. the Recreation Department's Greenbelt Art Festival will present an Arts show and sale open to the public - free. The festival will take place at the Greenbelt Youth Center on Crescent Road located just behind the Shopping Center.

The show will feature a ceramic exhibit and throwing on the wheel demonstration by Mr. van Kluyve, the potter at Federal City College Art Center. Mr. van Kluyve works in the strong and traditional American pottery style originating in the hills of the North Carolina piedmont. His exhibit will feature useful and functional items, each with its own original design and glaze. All items will be on sale.

Besides the pottery demonstration there will be other professional demonstrations in decoupage, macramé, stained glass design, and egg design. These items will also be on sale.

The Show and Sale area artists will feature sculpture, ceramics (hand molded and throwing on the wheel), water colors, and screen prints. Those artists interested in this portion of the Arts Festival please contact the Greenbelt Recreation Department, 474-6878.

lems, if any, there are with existing structures and trees, and to determine the amount of fill that would have to be done. No funds have been budgeted for this work.

The Capital Improvements Fund, Giese reported, is expected to have some $10,000 to $15,000 left after the improvements to Southway are made. He has proposed that this money be used to cut down the high bump in Crescent Road in front of the church and rectory.

If that were done, Giese said, the ultimate grade of the street for the entire length would be determined and a permanent sidewalk could be installed the full length. He is uncertain whether the balance of funds in the Capital Improvements Fund are sufficient to fully pay the cost for such a project.

The council has also received a request from the Center School PTA for installation of a sidewalk along Lakeside Drive. The PTA noted that shrubbery within the public right-of-way prevents children from walking off the street, and suggested as an alternative clearing the right-of-way.

The Lakeside Citizens Association had previously rejected such a proposal, but it was thought that perhaps there has been a shift in sentiment. Councilwoman Elizabeth Maffay suggested that Giese also look into the possibility of installing a sidewalk along Northway at the same time.

Ordinances Introduced

The first ordinance introduced would prohibit the riding or walking of horses or similar animals in city parks and on public sidewalks. Giese said that in the past couple of years there have been a few instances in which people have brought horses into the Greenbelt Lake-Braden Field area. Horse hooves, he said, can cause considerable damage to grass areas and can be a pedestrian hazard.

The second ordinance provides for transfer of funds within departments. The ordinance calls for transfer of $43,400, mostly from the contingency and salary adjustment reserves, to cover deficits in such accounts as the police department, street cleaning, recreation, and finance.

LIONS BET ON GAMBLING

by C. M. Cormack

The Greenbelt Lions Club will sponsor their first "Las Vegas Night" on Saturday, May 1, 1971 at the Greenbelt Fire Department.

Food and beverages will be available at nominal cost. Prizes will be raffled off as the evening wears on. Admission charge will cover issuance of scrip.

Proceeds of the affair will be utilized by the Lions in their Community Betterment Program and eye conservation projects.

Council Urges More Citizen Participation

The April 14 review of the municipal recreation budget for 1971-72 touched off discussion on the need to get more citizen involvement in recreation and other civic projects. Council members expressed concern that there has been a growing tendency among Greenbelters to rely on the city to provide necessary equipment, manpower, and money for such activities.

"Years ago," said Mayor Edgar Smith, "there were all kinds of groups engaged in fund-raising activities to supplement the efforts of the city. The Labor Day Festival, for one," he continued, "had as its chief motivation the raising of funds to help finance furnishings for the Youth Center. Nowadays, groups find it easier to come to the city for the money."

What touched off the discussion was the city manager's comment that $10,000 would be needed to furnish new equipment for the Youth Center addition which is almost completed. In addition, the city plans to convert the old multipurpose room in the Youth Center to a youth lounge and city manager James Giese had proposed the purchase of a color TV set and ping pong table for the room. Other items asked for included the installation of additional gym lights, carpeting for offices, and new gutters and downspouts.

This concern over lack of citizen participation was also applied to the current clean-up campaign. In fact, it was noted, out-of-town groups, such as local high schools, were making a greater contribution to this campaign than Greenbelt groups.

WHY DON'T THEY TELL US THE REST OF THE STORY?

Certain GHI members claiming an interest in the welfare of GHI have been getting much mileage out of the Auditor's report on 1967 operations.

They quote a sentence from that report and a chart to "prove" that GHI is in dangerous financial condition.

Why are they afraid to quote more from the report, such as this:

"having been associated with Greenbelt Homes since its inception, in our judgment, it has been an outstanding example of a proper blend of cooperative philosophy, sound financing and dedicated management."

Why don't they quote the auditor's suggestion for stopping the downward trend in reserves: "We note the monthly charges have been increased again in 1968, but wonder if enough to arrest that downward trend." In plain language, the auditor suggested INCREASING 1968 monthly charges more than the Board thought necessary.

Further, why don't they quote from the audit of 1968 operations? Of 1969? Of 1970? Could it be because these have nothing derogatory to quote, raise no alarms, make no criticisms of procedures?

How much more mileage are they going to get from an old report, particularly one where changes had already been made even before the report was received? When do they start telling the truth, all the truth, instead of lifting sentences from context and twisting what is lifted?

ECOLOGY COLORING BOOK

The Charlie Ecology Coloring Book was published by The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission as the central feature of the Montgomery-Prince George's agency's program to promote public awareness of ecology-environment problems in the bi-county area.

Charlie, a fictional penguin orphaned by the death of his parents through pollution-poisoned fish, was adopted as the Commission's official ecology program symbol last July.

The initial printing of 10,000 copies of the Coloring Book will be distributed through Nature Centers, Community Centers and other Park Department facilities, or may be picked up at the Commission's Regional Offices, 6600 Kenilworth Avenue, Riverdale.

TRAFFIC TIPS

Thirty-five miles-per-hour can be recklessly fast or slow, depending on conditions. In addition to the posted limit, drivers must consider the road, the weather, the light conditions, the flow of traffic, and their own condition when setting their speed.

You can take steps to avoid being hit by a passing car. Slow down to help him pass if need be, always get into the proper lane early before you make the turn, and use caution when pulling out of parking spaces.

When driving on freeways, be a nice guy and help other drivers get on. Adjust your speed and permit new arrivals to make a smooth and safe entry. You have equal responsibility to see that traffic merges smoothly.

Anticipation is better than fast reaction time when driving, says the D.C. Department of Motor Vehicles. If you drive defensively and anticipate traffic situations, you won't need rapid reactions in trouble spots because they won't arise.

In freeway driving, maintain a steady speed consistent with traffic. Sudden bursts of speed can confuse other drivers, while slow-pokes cause impatience and risky passing by other drivers.

WHEN NOT TO PREHEAT YOUR OVEN AND OTHER MEATY SECRETS.

Both old and new electric ranges can serve you better if you know a few secrets.

Take preheating. For baking, it's necessary. But more than 15 minutes wastes electricity. It doesn't do any good to preheat before broiling. Besides, beginning with a cold rack makes cleaning easier later on.

Two-piece broiling pans, by the way, are designed to prevent smoke-filled kitchens. The top rack drains fat away and shields it from direct broiler heat. So if you cover the rack with foil, pierce it first.

After broiling, drain the pan, sprinkle detergent on the rack and cover with wet paper towels. Cleaning comes much easier that way.

Since most cooking is done on the range top, it pays to know that temperature controlled surface units won't work unless you use flat-bottomed pans that depress the sensing device.

Flat-bottomed pans heat more evenly on any type surface unit. But if the pan is smaller than the surface unit, you waste electricity. If it's larger, heat is concentrated unevenly in the pan, plus the fact that the area around the surface unit could be damaged.

Something else. Most temperature controlled surface units are designed for aluminum pans. If you use cast iron, glass or steel you have to lower cooking temperatures.

In baking, enamelware or glass pans cook food faster than aluminum or steel. (You'll also wind up with thicker, darker crusts.) But don't keep opening the oven door to check what's baking. It'll come out uneven if you do. And it wastes heat.

One good way to save electricity is to bake in batches, then freeze what you don't serve right away. Another way is to undercook meat about 5 to 10 degrees, since it keeps cooking after you remove it from the oven. And if you want your roast easier to carve, let it "set" after cooking.

There are many other hints, plus some delightful recipes, in "Electric Cooking the Easy Flameless Way." Call Pepco's Home Service Department at 628-8800 for your free copy.

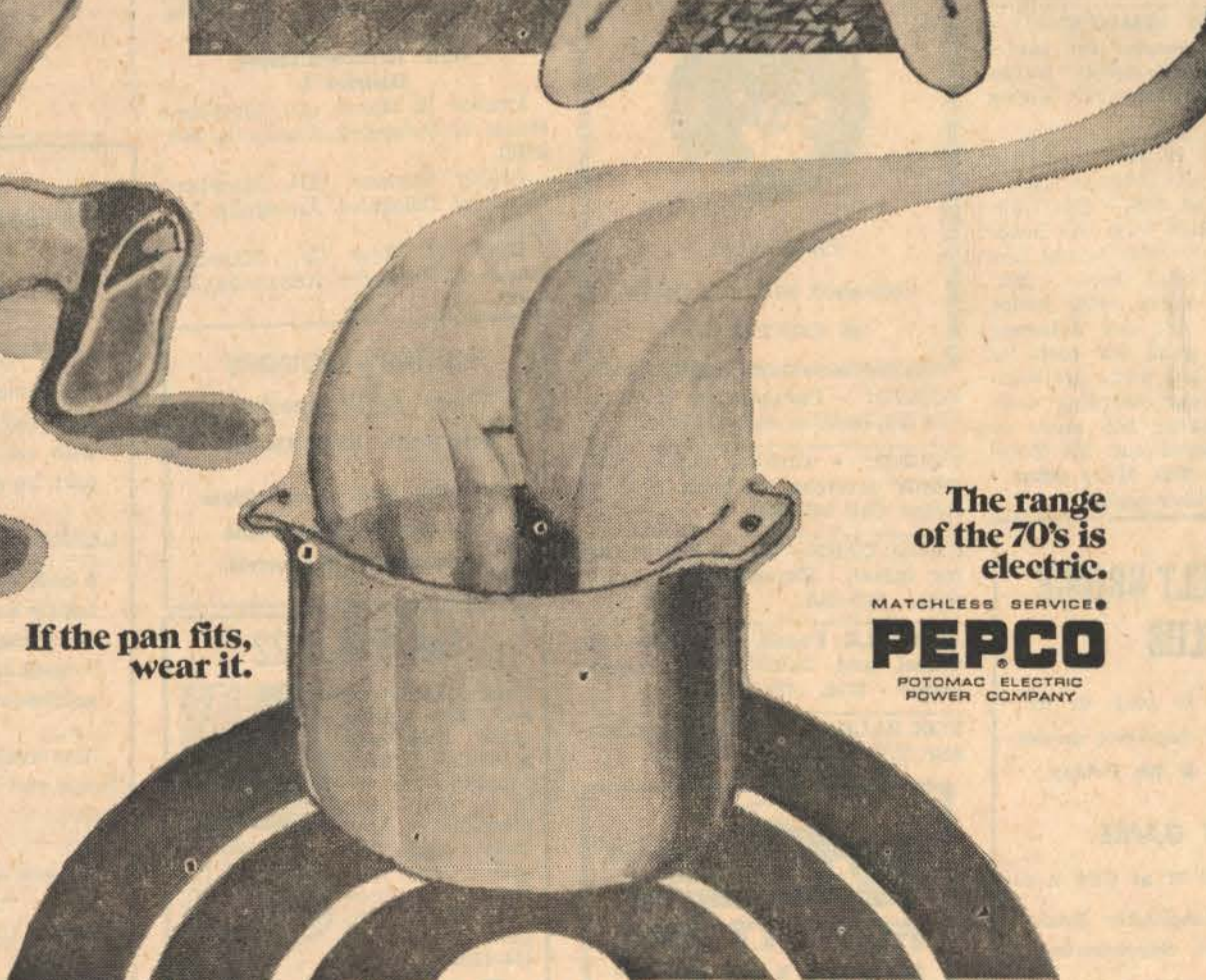

Curiosity kills the cake.

Just because you've stopped cooking doesn't mean the roast has.

If the pan fits, wear it.

The range of the 70's is electric.
