Budget Proposals and Council's Objectives Discussed and Analyzed at Public Hearing

by Leta Mach

Many citizens responded to a request in the city budget statement to help determine whether individual department goals "reflect accurately the objectives that the council seeks" at a public hearing May 22 on the proposed budget for 1978-79.

Using charts and graphs in his presentation, City Manager James Giese began the evening by noting that he proposed no change in the property tax rate of 99c per $100 of assessed valuation. The city manager's budget message states that increases in the $2,283,150 proposed budget are "due almost entirely to increased salary and material expenses."

After the first department budgets for city council and administration were considered, Greenbelt-er Jack Steiffer began the citizen comments with: "Commendations are in order; I think the city is well administered." While the budget for the finance department was under review, Assistant City Manager and City Treasurer Dennis Piendak emphasized the department's goals of looking into the use of computers and establishing cost accounting records for various programs.

Police Department

When the police department budget was reviewed, David Fulgham, president of the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) lodge #32, presented the views of the lodge. Its first concern was that the 6% cost of living increase provided for in the budget was lower than the 7% cost of living rise. The F.O.P. would like to decrease the number of years needed to reach the maximum pay and provide a "college incentive plan." He supported dental and optical insurance coverage for all city employees. The city budget calls for the addition of one police officer, but the FOP would like at least three, Fulgham explained, in order to help patrol the city in three areas instead of two. Police Chief Lane later stated that the department was going to attempt this with the help available, at least on the evening shift.

Fulgham expressed concern about the high mileage on patrol cars and recommended replacing three cars a year and increasing the number of marked cruisers to nine. This, he felt, would give each car a rest period, thus increasing its useful lifetime. The city budget statement also recognized that "replacing two cars a year . . . is no longer adequate." Four new police cars will be provided for next year, two in the police budget one in the replacement fund and one in revenue sharing funds.

A special objective for the police department, as set forth in the city budget, is for "a new console with added radio and telephone equipment in the police dispatcher's office. (Fulgham showed council a circular describing such an installation.) Giese noted that it could be funded from the building fund, but that he had no recommendation yet on the brand of equipment desired. Many individuals expressed concern about getting a busy signal on the Greenbelt police line. Giese disclosed that the telephone company has been asked to do a second study on this problem. Support was expressed for providing each officer with a portable radio, as provided for in revenue sharing funds.

As the budget for traffic engineering was discussed, a request was made for a better, more visible, double stop sign for the center. Mayor Pilski also expressed his desire for a parking place for the handicapped in the center.

Public Works

Council then moved on to the budget of the largest city department, public works. Giese noted that this was also a "hold the line" budget. In the area of street maintenance, Giese stated the sidewalk, curb and gutter work takes care of only the worst areas. Greenbelt-er Bill Clarke recommended that Crescent Road be widened for bikes and mopeds while it was being repaved. Although he has recommended it be widened in the past, Giese stated that there was little possibility of funding such a project at this time. In the area of waste collection, a rate increase of 50c a month is proposed. This increase, according to Giese, should be sufficient for about two years.

Recreation and Parks

Councilman Gil Weidenfeld spoke in favor of adding one more recreation assistant to provide a full-time person at both recreation centers. The net cost of the program was variously quoted as $5,500 or $10,000, prompting Councilman Thomas White to ask "Will the real net increase please stand up?" Recreation Director Hank Irving explained the increase would be lower if he eliminated some part-time labor and higher if he could keep it. Lakeside resident Nancy Neupert asked about the swim team and raised the question of the desirability of subsidizing these recreation activities. Neupert stated that none of the sports were self-supporting, although such activities as ballet and pottery not only supported themselves but also paid an additional 25% into the city's treasury. Irving stated that in general it was the children's programs which were subsidized.

Some discussion centered around the question of whether the city maintained its golf course by default, as White had stated. Weidenfeld felt that although the city bought the land for the Springhill Lake Recreation Center, it had made a decision to keep the course. Many felt it was necessary to publicize the golf course. Giese stated, "I agree with White that it's the shabbiest golf course around," but he added, "it's also the cheapest."

Revenue Sharing

One of the last items on the agenda was the revenue sharing fund budget. This fiscal year, money from this fund was planned for the repair of the recreation center roof, but it was not used. The money has been reassigned to the repair of the municipal building roof, which was found to be in even worse condition. One use for $2,700 in revenue sharing funds is to provide "limited extra transportation service for elderly citizens." GHI board member Norman Weyel read a statement calling council's attention to a "federal program which aids non-profit organizations in providing transportation services for the elderly and handicapped." GHI is interested in cooperating with the city to apply for a grant under this program.

PARCEL II PURCHASE POSTPONED INDEFINITELY AFTER NEGOTIATIONS REACH IMPASSE ON PRICE

by Mary Lou Williamson

The purchase of 9.574 acres of land in Parcel II, which seemed imminent on May 15, has now been postponed indefinitely. What steps the city may take next, whether it will even seek to purchase those exact acres, was left in doubt by council's action at a special meeting May 22.

The hang-up over the past eight weeks has been council's reluctance to sign any kind of statement or declaration concerning the owners' rights to develop the remaining land in accordance with the master plan. Seemingly everything else was ready to go. The developers (Burton J. Reiner, Theodore Lerner and H. Max Ammerman, Trustees) had requested that settlement be made on or before May 31. Then Friday, May 19, City Manager James K. Giese learned from Charles Bresler, spokesman for the developers, that the $202,000 price which the city claims has been agreed upon for months, was not accurate. Instead, Bresler talked of a total price of $211,000.

"$211,000 is not a price I can recommend" for the purchase of those 9 acres, Giese said flatly. He recommended council either vote down or indefinitely postpone the resolution which would have authorized the negotiated purchase.

Council, long fed-up about the negotiations, was in no mood to go along with the new demands either. Councilman Charles Schwan moved to postpone.

"We ought to rethink the entire proposition," said Councilman Tom White, clearly annoyed at the turn of events. White argued in favor of voting down the motion, not just postponing it.

"Why have it hanging around?" queried Councilman Richard Castaldi.

Mayor Richard Pilski preferred postponement as a more flexible alternative. Too much time would be required to pass a new resolution if events turned around again. (A resolution requires two readings at separate meetings. Council only meets once a month during June, July and August. Thus, council could not react swiftly if the owners were to present an acceptable offer.)

were more pessimistic about further negotiations, preferring to pursue condemnation proceedings. Giese reminded council it had already begun the condemnation process and need take no further action at this time. But whether the city will go that route was left in some doubt.

"Based on the disappointing, or rather, frustrating negotiating," White suggested council consider purchasing "only land the city needs . . . access to the overpass." The city must go to condemnation to acquire the access land on the Greenbriar side of the Parkway, he explained, and might as well do the same thing on the Parcel II side. "There's no added delay there. Council might want to wipe the slate clean and acquire only what it needs," he reiterated.

Pilski wondered out loud what White was driving at. "We have an agreement with HUD that we replace the Ridge Road Center with specific land."

DEMS Submit Ryan's Name to Fill Vacant Seat on State Legislature

by Elaine Skolnik

The Prince Georges Democratic Committee has submitted the name of Charles J. "Buzz" Ryan, Jr., to Acting-Governor Blair Lee III to fill the 24th Legislative seat created by the elevation of Delegate David Gray Ross to a Circuit Court judgeship. This action was no surprise, but it was disappointing to Greenbelters who believed, until Ryan threw his hat into the ring in early May, that a Greenbelt-er would be tapped for the vacant seat.

Prior to the surfacing of Ryan's name, three Greenbelters - Mayor Richard Pilski, Marcia Krasnick and F. Anthony McCarthy - announced their intentions to seek Ross' seat. At that time State Central Committee Chairman Lance Billingsley indicated that if Krasnick wanted the appointment, she was the leading candidate.

However, in early May, Krasnick, who is the Executive Director of the Prince Georges Democratic Central Committee, said that she no longer was interested. Ryan, vice-president of both the county and State central committees and the Governor's liaison for the Metropolitan Area, then became the leading contender. He will serve in name only, since the General Assembly session ended on April 15.

Making their bids for the delegate seat at the county central committee's lengthy hearing on May 17 were Pilski, McCarthy, former school board contender Joanne Becker, and former Greenbelt councilwoman Elizabeth Maffay (a Republican). Bruce McIntire of the Bowie-Glenn Dale area, and Ryan of Bowie also appeared.

By law the central committee has the authority to make the appointment. The committee also takes into consideration the recommendation of the Democratic Advisory Committee (the Monday Morning Breakfast Club) which is composed of the county's leading political figures.

Bowie Advantage

All three delegates from the 24th Legislative District - Gerard Devlin, Leo Green and Ryan - are from Bowie, which has a population of 42,000. Greenbelt's population is approximately 20,000 (Judge Ross also resides in Bowie.) The 24th Legislative District comprises Bowie, Greenbelt, Upper Marlboro, Kettering and parts of Lanham.

Because of Bowie's population advantage, Greenbelters had considered it vital that a Greenbelt candidate get the nod before the September 1978 primary, when all three delegate positions will be open.

The September primary is shaping up with a number of contenders for the three delegate positions. Pilski has told the News Review that he intends to be a candidate. McCarthy, too, has announced that he will seek the seat. (He is resigning as State's Attorney on June 2 in order to run.) Maffay is undecided at this time. Becker said she is planning to appear before the Democratic Ticket Selection Committee in June.

Of the incumbents, Delegate Devlin is expected to seek re-election to a second four-year term. The newly-appointed Ryan will probably throw his hat into the ring. Delegate Leo Green has indicated that he will challenge incumbent

McCarthy Leaves Job To Run For Delegate

F. Anthony (Tony) McCarthy has announced that on June 2 he is resigning from the State's Attorney's office in order to run for the House of Delegates.

McCarthy, who has served as prosecutor for Prince Georges County for the past four years said "the job has been very challenging and rewarding, but it has necessarily required me to remain apart from elective political activities."

Noting that the law making process has always been a second love, McCarthy added "I am looking forward to the challenge of running for delegate and I am hopeful that the voters of the 24th District will allow me to continue in public service in a new area."

McCarthy is joining the Bowie firm of Lochte, Murray, Devlin, Northrup and Schiff in the general practice of law as of June 5.

State Senator Edward T. Conroy for the seat on the senate side. This, in effect, will open a position of a third candidate to be chosen to run with the incumbents on the Democratic slate.

Four years ago, the Democratic Blue Ribbon Committee selected the candidates from a number of applicants for positions on the county-wide slate. The ticket swept every Democrat into office and most of the slate's candidates. County Democrats are again expected to propose a slate with candidates to the voters. A hotly-contested race for a slot on the slate is anticipated among all those vying for the delegate's seat, joining Devlin and Ryan who have apparently won spots on the slate.

Summer Problems With News Review Delivery

The summer months present some unique problems in the delivery of the News Review. Because most of the carriers are of school age, they will be taking vacations for various periods of time during the next three months, and may be unable to do their regular routes.

With the help of substitute carriers, we will attempt to deliver all routes every Thursday evening. However, for some weeks, residents may receive their papers later than usual, and, especially in some GHI courts, at different doors than they usually expect. Occasionally, a route might not get done until Friday because of unavoidable circumstances.

We are, of course, interested in the performance of our substitute carriers. Residents who do not receive their paper are asked to call the News Review office (474-4131) where a recorded message will take their name and address, or to call their circulation manager. In Springhill Lake, circulation is handled by Barbara Clawson (474-4541), and in old Greenbelt, circulation is handled by Mike Jones (474-6001). In Greenbriar, delivery is done through the community office, and in Glen Oaks, through the rental office.

Gr'nbelters Underestimated To the Editor:

In selecting Charles "Buzzy" Ryan to fill the vacated delegate's seat for the 24th District, the Democratic Party's leaders in Prince Georges County once again have chosen to ignore Greenbelt. They come to Greenbelt when they are looking for votes but return to Bowie when they have a "goodie" to hand out.

As a 5-year resident of Greenbelt, I share the pride that most Greenbelters feel for our community. It is one of the largest and certainly the best-administered cities in Prince Georges County. This is attributed to the quality of its elected officials, and above all its Mayor.

There is no lack of outstanding talent in Greenbelt. But the political atmosphere has been rather casual. We like it that way. The City has a good voting record in elections. However machine politics has been at a minimum. Apparently our friends, the political leaders of the 24th District, think we are "patsys" — not to be taken seriously in the political arena.

I, for one, think the political leaders have seriously underestimated the political acumen of Greenbelters. But I also think it is time for us to unite in our effort to show them the error of their ways.

So I strongly urge every citizen of Greenbelt to register now, if they have not done so as yet, and, above all, vote in both the primary and general elections.

Blood Pressure Tests By Red Cross at GHI

As part of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. program to bring more services to senior citizens living in Greenbelt, particularly in GHI, a blood pressure screening program will be starting Wednesday, June 7, between 2-4 p.m., at the GHI Board Room on Hamilton Place.

The American Red Cross is sponsoring the program which will be providing free blood pressure tests on a weekly basis to any person in the community. No appointments are necessary. A registered nurse will take the test, and a card will be given to the person being tested so that a weekly record can be kept.

On March 16, the GHI Board of Directors approved an outreach program for senior citizens in GHI. A number of seniors and other persons in GHI are receiving help with their monthly charges through the federal government's Section 8 program.

In a questionnaire sent to GHI's 500 senior citizens in January of this year, many seniors indicated that they are in need of increased services such as improved transportation, a nutrition program, help in meeting their housing costs. GHI is trying to bring these services — many of which are available in other areas of the county — to Greenbelt. GHI also hopes to establish a viable volunteer program in which those in need of a service (such as lawn care) will be matched with those who would be willing to perform a service.

Police Blotter

The communications staff, which has been shorthanded for the past month, has again reached its full complement of employees with the employment of Evonne D. Green. Evonne is a student at the University of Maryland, a major in Law Enforcement, and is a resident of Mount Rainier.

Officer Murray, after receiving a complaint of a subject passing bad checks at the Equitable Trust Bank at Beltway Plaza, apprehended the man as he attempted to cash yet another bad check. The 24 year old was also found to be listed as AWOL by the Army; he was charged with eight counts of false pretense and was incarcerated in lieu of $800 bond. Military authorities were also notified.

The Exxon Station on Greenbelt Road reported a robbery. An unknown subject apparently entered the office area during business hours.

Four juvenile girls were reported as runaways last week. Three who reportedly left together have not yet returned home. The fourth returned home the following day.

Investigation by Officer O'Neil of a reported breaking and entering on Lakecrest Drive led to the apprehension of a 12 year old female resident. She was charged and is awaiting Juvenile Court action.

As the result of a traffic stop Officer Murray apprehended a man wanted by Anne Arundel County authorities for contempt of court. He was released to the Prince Georges County Sheriff's department for transfer to Anne Arundel County.

A resident of Springhill Lake reported that as she went out onto her balcony on May 17, she was bitten by a raccoon that had taken up residence in the rafters above her balcony. The animal has been captured and will be held for observation.

A new Park Patrolman has been employed for the summer season, Marc A. Siegel, a longtime resident of Maplewood Court, began patrol on May 14 and will continue until the middle of October. Siegel was sworn in by Mayor Pilski at a budget session on May 22.

As a result of a domestic complaint, a 36-year-old male resident of Brentwood was arrested and charged with transporting a weapon. In two other instances residents reported their apartments had been broken into; investigation revealed they were both entered as the result of domestic arguments.

Officers also assisted the County Police with traffic control at the entrance to Goddard Space Village apartments on May 18 when a construction worker was accidentally electrocuted.

Challenges for GHI 1978-79

The following is a statement that President James W. Smith presented to the G.H.I. Board of Directors at its organizational meeting on May 25 following the election of officers.

I appreciate the support and confidence expressed by the membership through the election of the Board and Audit Committee. The election results indicate that a large majority of those participating support the current goals, policies, and operation of GHI. I appreciate your confidence in electing me to serve another term as President. I believe that the year ahead promises to be one of the most challenging in GHI's 27-year history. Therefore, we must not approach the coming year with a business as usual attitude. We must approach the coming year with vigor and determination to make significant progress in some difficult and uncharted areas.

1. We must formalize the recommended rehabilitation program, including financial arrangements, at the earliest possible time. To date we have been deliberate and cautious. The time used for study and questioning has been extremely valuable. To have charged off to implement the first recommendation would have been irresponsible. However, to continually defer the hard decisions would be equally irresponsible. With the Board's consent I will appoint an Adhoc Drafting Committee consisting of Wayne Williams, Don Volk, Charles Schwan, Roy Breashears, Ken Kopstein, Don McGinn, Dean Mulder and Jim Smith. This committee will draft a proposal for the board's consideration. This committee should present the Board a complete package that, when approved by the Board, will go to the membership. The package should include:
 - (a) Basic programs for all homes.
 - (b) Options which members may elect for their units.
 - (c) Recommended sources of financing.
 - (d) Programs to assist members on limited income. This should include recommendations for participation in government assistance programs and expansion of GHI's program to delay collections of increases in charges, if appropriate.
 - (e) Recommendation or procedures for presenting the program to the membership.
2. A member orientation and education program is urgently needed. Actually two specific programs are recommended.

First, the board of directors is urged to direct management to develop and operate a member orientation program. This program should be especially aimed at new members, but during the initial year should include a concerted effort to enlist current members. This program should emphasize the nature of the cooperative, member responsibilities, the policies and general operating procedures and regulations of GHI.

The second program conducted largely by board and members must be directed toward informing members and gaining support on policy issues. The first major assignment will be to present the recommended rehabilitation plan. If the members are to understand the issues and make informed decisions, I believe it will be necessary to discuss the program with numerous small groups of members. To do this we will need to solicit a number of members willing to assist in holding court meetings.

3. We must enhance the corporate image of GHI. For 12 years I have supported GHI's sound management. GHI has an outstanding record and we have been extremely fortunate to have had such an outstanding staff. However, we have deficiencies and considerable room for improvement.
 - (a) We should consider developing a new system for recording, analyzing, and using maintenance records to project maintenance needs.
 - (b) We must develop an improved system of two-way communication between employees and management. All level of employees must understand the importance of levels of employees must understand the importance of needed, wanted and used in the operation of the cooperative. All employees must understand their responsibility and limitations in communicating with members. To accomplish this we must develop a progressive program for training personnel. I would hope that management would give high priority to the development of a program and that the board would approve the allocation of appropriate funds in the 1979 budget.
 - (c) We must be more effective in enforcing the spirit of our regulations. Management needs to be more aggressive in the use of gentle persuasion to gain compliance with our rules.
4. Finally, I am suggesting that the Board strive to improve its efficiency and renew efforts to handle business in a timely fashion. There are a number of small time saving conventions that we could use to speed through items with a solid consensus. When we are apparently in agreement, I suggest that we take note of the consensus rather than use the formality of a motion. If you wish to voice a dissenting opinion you may object to a consensus and the issue will be settled by motion.

GHI has a good record. We have accomplished a great deal in recent years, but the challenge is in the future and the future is now. Let's get to work.

Jim Smith Re-elected GHI Board President, Stresses Rehabilitation, Management

by Sid Kastner

The first regular meeting of GHI's Board of Directors, following the annual membership meeting earlier this month, got under way Thursday evening with election of officers: James Smith, re-elected president; Wayne Williams, vice-president; Margaret Hogensen, secretary; and James Foster, treasurer.

A keynote speech by Smith emphasized going ahead with the projected rehabilitation program, as well as improving GHI's management procedures. (This speech is reprinted elsewhere in this issue of the News Review.) Therewith, Smith appointed an Ad Hoc Drafting Committee consisting of several board, staff and committee members to draft a concrete rehabilitation proposal for consideration by the membership.

Election Procedures

Appreciation for work done by the Nominations and Elections Committee in the recent election was voiced by director Donald Volk and also by Katherine Keene from the floor. The latter, and director Norman Weyel, suggested members of the committee be compensated for time taken off work. However, one member of the committee, Angela Morris, felt this was unnecessary. Morris separately commented that it was a "very poorly run election" this time. She indicated that some members were confused as to voting procedure, and noted that the Nominations and Elections Committee is preparing recommendations to the board for changes in the election procedure.

Shed Problem

Most of the evening's agenda was taken up with "housekeeping" matters. For example, a fair amount of discussion took place on whether a member living in an upstairs apartment should be made to comply with a previous pledge to remove his shed presently adjoining the lower members' bathroom window, now that he is selling the apartment. Though director Mary Clarke argued against this, and was supported by a favorable report on the shed's construction by staff inspector Robert Mogel, the majority of board members felt the previous commitment to remove the present shed should be kept. A motion to this effect passed; however, the motion at the same time authorized the new owner to construct a new shed which would conform to present regulations.

Water, Water Everywhere

Manager Roy Breashears reported that a broken cold water supply pipe at 9 court Hillside, last month, brought an unexpected reaction from the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission (WSSC) which will require augmenting the staff's plumbing resources. The broken pipe turned out to be the cause of an excessive water bill, concerning which GHI queried WSSC.

WSSC's reaction was to insist, among other things, that all GHI's plumbing work in future be done under supervision of a licensed plumber, and major repairs must be done under a permit. Thus the manager now asked that a journeyman plumber be hired, a new vehicle be purchased and services of a Master plumber be obtained for permits, etc. The cost of these additions will total about $23,000. In response to a question by Volk, Breashears suggested that a part of this cost could be absorbed by not replacing a carpenter soon to retire. Director Wayne Williams expressed further concern that "this plumbing situation is just the tip of the iceberg" and should not be taken lightly. A motion by director James Foster was passed, in any case, to authorize the manager's requests.

Playground Easements

The manager brought up some other items, also, such as the city administration's request for easements for existing playgrounds maintained on GHI land. Breashears asked board authorization to get together with counsel Albert Ginsberg and the city. This was generally supported by the board; in fact, director Weyel threw in an additional matter that he thought could be usefully addressed, namely sidewalks.

Smoke Detectors

Breashears noted that about 740 members — half of GHI's membership — have not responded on whether they will install smoke detectors in their homes, as is now required by the county. The board directed him to contact these people and explain the necessity of such installation.

He also reported on the progress of renovation of the corporation's administrative building. Central air conditioning is now being installed, and bids have been requested for further panelling, ceiling and duct work. The board authorized him to proceed with this renovation, at a cost not to exceed $18,000.

Chairman Smith concluded the meeting by asking board members to recommend candidates for the numerous committees that help to carry out GHI's policy-making, saying that he wanted to continue the practice of appointing non-board members as chairmen of the committees. He also repeated a point which he had included in his speech at the beginning; that board matters will be handled if possible by "consensus" rather than by formal motion, to expedite agenda items in future meetings.

Original Greenbelt Furniture Donated

The City of Greenbelt recently accepted three pieces of original Greenbelt furniture donated by Mrs. Carnie Harper, a member of one of the first Greenbelt families. Both the City and GHI are interested in receiving original furniture in good condition with the hope that eventually it will be possible to establish a Greenbelt historical museum with rooms furnished as they might have looked back when the town first opened. In the meantime it might be possible to place some of the furniture in some public buildings where it can be viewed.

The original Greenbelt furniture was purchased by the federal government from furniture manufacturers in Michigan, West Virginia and North Carolina. It was made out of amber and white maple, oak and gum and was contemporary in design. The furniture donated by Mrs. Harper was made by Anglin Brothers in Michigan and consists of a bed, a chest and a chair in the amber maple finish.

Early residents were able to purchase as much furniture as desired and were able to make payment for a small monthly charge paid with the rent. It was displayed in what is now the Ben Franklin Store and was stored in metal warehouses alongside Southway Road. One of the many jobs held by Buddy Attick, Public Works Director, when he began working for Greenbelt, was moving the furniture from the warehouses to residents' homes. Some residents, according to Buddy, tried out two or three different styles of furniture in their homes before making a final decision.

Persons interested in making donations should contact either the Greenbelt City Manager's office or the GHI Manager's office.

LET KASH HELP YOUR FAMILY

Council Asks DOT For Bus Changes

by Barbara Likowski

City Council decided at its meeting on Monday, May 15 to ask the Prince Georges County Department of Transportation (DOT) to (1) extend the T16 bus service from Beltway Plaza to Springhill Lake when Phase III bus schedules are put into effect and (2) to run the F6 on Saturdays.

At present the R12 runs between Springhill Lake and the Goddard Space Flight Center. However, when the New Carrollton Metrorail station is opened, presumably in November, the R12 will no longer go to NASA. The T-16 route will be changed to come into Greenbelt Center and will serve as the connecting link between NASA and the city. The route is planned to run from Beltway Plaza. Those people living in Springhill Lake and working at NASA would have to walk to Beltway Plaza to take the T16 or take the R12 to Beltway Plaza and transfer to the T16. In order to alleviate the inconvenience of either choice, council is suggesting that the T16 terminate in Springhill Lake instead of Beltway Plaza.

Mayor pro tem Gil Weidenfeld had received a request for help on this problem from Roberta J. Fisk who resides in Springhill Lake. Another problem which will affect the city when Phase III schedules are put into effect was also pointed out by Fisk. The C2 which runs out of Beltway Plaza is proposed to be terminated at Prince Georges Plaza instead of Beltway Plaza. At present, this is the city's only link to Prince Georges Plaza on Saturday, when the new F6 route does not run. The F6 runs between the city and Silver Spring by way of Beltway Plaza and Prince Georges Plaza. If this route were operational on Saturdays, Greenbelt riders would be assured of a way to get between the city and points west. Council will ask DOT to extend the F6 route to include Saturday runs. (Also contributing to this story was Elaine Skolnik.)

Students Visit Post Office

Sixteen children, ages 6 to 12, toured the Greenbelt Post Office on Thursday, May 11. The students, all of whom attend Greenbelt Center School, belong to the Hearing Impaired classes. Six members of the school's staff accompanied the group to help interpret the visit. The school term.

Mike Quinn, the student counselor at the Center, arranged the trip.

The Post Office, which considers all children as future customers, is happy to tell the Post Office story, point out the advantages of using the service and encourage stamp collecting as a hobby, according to Greenbelt's postmaster, Emory Harmon.

Collins Named Principal of Northwestern High School

by Linda Orenstein

Charles Collins, a Greenbelt since 1956 and currently principal at Greenbelt Junior High School, has been made principal of Northwestern High School. He replaces William Blount who will assume the position of administrative assistant to the superintendent.

Following eleven years of teaching at Greenbelt Junior High, Collins became vice-principal of Roger B. Taney Junior High. His next position was that of vice-principal at Mount Rainier High for one year, after which he served as principal at that school for three years. By coincidence he was transferred to Greenbelt Junior High before he himself applied for the change. Collins has been principal at Greenbelt Junior High for the last three years.

Collins states that although he regrets leaving Greenbelt Junior High, he looks forward to the challenges awaiting him in the principalship at Northwestern. He would not discuss the subject of changes, as he feels that he must speak with the faculty and understand the nature of the school and its programs before instituting changes, if any. Collins' view is that the job of the school is to educate each child, based on his or her ability, so that that individual is prepared to function in the world. He feels that Prince Georges County offers a basic curriculum, basic having a different meaning for each person, which gives students the background to function either in the working world or a college atmosphere.
