Flea Market Gains Tentative Approval; Location of Festival To Be Changed

by Mary Lou Williamson
Council gave tentative approval to the proposal by the Cultural Arts Center to hold a Flea Market in the Center Mall. The Flea Market would begin on a once-a-month basis on Saturdays with a restricted number of tables (not more than 15).

Konrad Herling, president of the Arts Center, promised his group would work within the guidelines council had offered at its work session — being particularly sensitive not to compete with established businesses there and not to inconvenience the public's use and enjoyment of the Center. Herling hopes to encourage mostly sales of arts and crafts. The Utopia Theater would be used in case of rain. A five dollar deposit would be required for each table, to be returned only after a clean-up check. Ann and Tony Pisano will be co-chairmen. Councilman Gil Weidenfeld asked that city staff and its solicitor review the details of the Flea Market proposal, which had been handed to council at Monday's meeting. Councilman Tom White agreed and asked that the item return to the council as a public hearing. "This is a significant proposal for the use of our civic center. It needs the test of wide public scrutiny," he said. (The Public Hearing will be held as part of the next regular council meeting, Monday, May 3.)

One member of the public was not enthusiastic. Evelyn Feller suggested giving the arts group a permit to try its Flea Market only once, "the same as you permit other organizations such as the woman's club . . . I can't see tying up the center on Saturdays to take in $75." She also feared success would bring on "tremendous parking problems." She did not agree that the flea market would bring more business to the establishments in the Center. Flea market people come because of the flea market. "They run to it, run around, and run to another flea market, they're not interested in Ben Franklin or bread at the Co-op," she said.

Al Herling appeared before council to withdraw from consideration his earlier request that Southway be renamed in honor of Rexford Guy Tugwell. He had been surprised by the outpouring of "consternation, anguish and anger" directed toward the name change idea. To residents of

by Mavis Fletcher
The City Council work session dealing with the proposed budget for the Greenbelt police department for Fiscal Year '83 was marked by an almost complete agreement by all interests represented on the needs of the department. In contrast to the sometimes acrimonious debates of previous years, there was general agreement by Police Chief William T. Lane, representing his department, and Sgt. James R. Craze, representing the local Fraternal Order of Police lodge, that the budget proposed by City Manager James K. Giese would be, if not ideal, at least a major step in giving the police department the staffing and equipment it needs to combat increased crime in Greenbelt.

In introducing the budget proposal, Giese noted that the police department budget represented the largest increase in the entire budget. A total expenditure of $1,017,600 is proposed for the public safety budget, which includes the police department and small amounts for traffic control and animal control. This proposal is about $90,000 above the FY '82 budget.

In addition to meeting certain unavoidable costs, this amount of money would permit the hiring of two additional police officers, bringing the authorized strength of the department up to 30 members. Since there are now several vacancies, the effective strength of the department would be decidedly augmented when all vacancies are filled and new members trained. According to Police Chief Lane, if the two additional officers are authorized, he would increase the investigations branch by one man and assign the rest to regular patrol duties.

Police Cadet Program

In addition to the two new officers, the proposed budget includes funds for starting a new police cadet program, to be staffed this year by one cadet and possibly expanded in future years if the program is accomplishing its objectives. The cadet program is aimed at recruiting a person under 21 years of age who would perform auxiliary duties such as park patrol, parking enforcement, selected foot patrols, non-criminal reports and other paper work. A cadet would not be a sworn officer, could not make arrests and would not carry a weapon. A modified uniform would be worn.

In response to Mayor Richard Castaldi's questions, Giese explained that cadets would accomplish the required formal police training during their cadet years and, on successful completion of their cadet appointments, would be expected to assume full police responsibilities more rapidly than could normally be accomplished with a newly-hired police officer without prior experience.

The program is planned as a long-term recruitment effort so that cadets who successfully perform their duties would be guaranteed a job with the department when they reach age 21. They

GHI Neighborhood

On Saturday, May 15, Greenbelt Homes, Inc., and its Aesthetics and Environment Committee are sponsoring a neighborhood spring cleanup throughout the GHI community—its yards, homes, common areas, roadsides, and adjoining woodlots.

The sponsors are inviting GHI residents and civic organizations to take part in this effort. The City of Greenbelt will make special pickups of trash within the GHI area on the day of the cleanup.

Persons or organizations wanting special assignments or more information can call Joe Remnick on 474-7087.

Other Funds - Other Budgets

by Charles F. Schwan, Jr.

In addition to the general fund, which is the City of Greenbelt's "budget" for all practical purposes, there are six special-purpose funds for which there must be an annual accounting. The city manager's recommendations for these several funds were submitted to the city council as part of his 1982/83 budget document.

The capital improvements fund was set up to handle the receipts of the 1969 $950,000 bond issue. As of the end of this fiscal year, it is anticipated that the fund balance will be $47,884. Interest expected to be earned in the next fiscal year is estimated to be $4,800, which would leave a balance at the end of the year of $52,684. The city manager recommends no expenditures from the fund. He counsels that it be left intact to match possible future state open space grants which could be used by the city for park development.

As the name makes clear, the community development block grants fund accounts for the receipt and disbursement of CDBG funds. Through 1982, this program had made possible the completion of a number of projects, most recently reconstruction of Research Road, and of Hillside Road from Research to Laurel, as well as construction of the Hillside Road pedestrian underpass. The manager notes that in 1982/1983, $121,000 in CDBG revenues is anticipated. Upon receipt, the money would be used to reconstruct Ridge Road between Eastway and Gardenway.

The motor equipment maintenance fund was set up to provide a means of cost accounting for all of the city's major motor equipment. Receipts are what is charged by the fund to the several city departments for their use of the equipment. Both receipts and disbursements are estimated to total $179,900 in the next fiscal year.

The replacement fund was established to build reserves for the replacement of city equipment as that becomes necessary. Receipts consist of appropriations from the general fund, and interest earned on funds not required for immediate disbursement. The fund makes it possible to smooth out what is required from year to year for equipment purchases, and also provides a reserve when an item is stolen or a major unanticipated repair is needed. The balance on hand at the beginning of the next fiscal year is expected to be $173,368. The city manager is recommending a transfer of $59,300 from the general fund. Interest earnings are expected to be $20,000, which would mean total receipts of $79,300. The city manager proposes expenditures of $51,400—about half for a stakebody truck with a lift tailgate for waste collection, and the remainder for two mobile police radios and, for the public works department, an air compressor and a 4-in-1 bucket for a tractor shovel. With an infusion from surplus of $5,104, the manager forecasts a year-end fund balance of $201,268.

The balance on hand in the revenue sharing fund at the beginning of the fiscal year is expected to be $30,346. Receipt of next year's Federal grant of $73,500 and interest of $2,700 will make a total of $76,200. The manager proposes transfer of $40,000 to the general fund for bond redemption; purchasing parks equipment - $12,600; making building improvements - $14,800; purchasing new equipment - $17,600; and underwriting various small improvements to make public facilities and services more easily accessible to the physically impaired - $4,000.

It is estimated that at the beginning of the year, there will be $45,000 on hand in the unemployment compensation reserve fund. (The city is a self-insurer.) A total of $5,400 in interest income is expected. Expenditures are shown as $45,000, but the actual amount disbursed is expected to be much less.

Ride-A-Bike Sunday

The Greenbelt route of the statewide RIDE-A-BIKE FOR THE RETARDED will open this Sunday (rain date May 16) at 1 p.m. at the Youth Center and continue until 5 p.m. Volunteers will be stationed along the ten-mile route to record mileage on the pledge cards of the participants. Families and organizations are encouraged to ride as a group and plan a picnic lunch afterwards.

HELP

To the Editor:

Greenbelt Homes, Inc., is planning a cleanup effort on Saturday, May 15. The Aesthetics and Environment Committee is taking the lead on the program. We are certain that residents will agree that our part of town would benefit from a neighborhood spring cleanup!

The work will be carried out in two ways. Individuals are asked to clean up their own yards and offer to help neighbors who have severe trash problems. In order to clean up the areas no one seems to be caring for now, civic organizations are also asked to help out by volunteering to remove trash from common areas, woodlots, and lengths of roadsides. The city has agreed to pick up trash and make special trash collections.

We hope that civic organizations will want to participate in this modest effort by helping publicize it and selecting an area to clean. Please call me at 474-7087 if your organization will help. While much of the work will be accomplished on individual initiative, coordination is needed to get the most from our work.

Thank you for your interest in a cleaner Greenbelt.

Cultural Arts Center Begins Annual Drive

The Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center will be conducting its third annual membership drive beginning this Saturday, May 1, with a door-knocking campaign. The goal for May's membership drive is to raise $5,000.

The Arts Center's president, Konrad Herling, expressed confidence in the community responding, a confidence based largely on "a record of service we have provided in the community." The Arts Center has been made available and used by GHI, the Greenbelt Community Theater for the Deaf, the Golden Age Players, a forum with the candidates running for City Council and cultural activities which have included children's musicals, mime and puppet shows, jazz, folk and Broadway music shows and films.

The funds raised from the membership drive will be used for both operational and programming costs. The Board of Directors at its last meeting adopted a motion whereby twenty-five percent of contributions of more than ten dollars will go towards the Wolf Trap Foundation to help rebuild Wolf Trap, which recently burned down.

Spring Treat

To the Editor:

Each spring I look forward to the results of work that the city's park crew performed over the years and especially during the preceding fall and I am never disappointed. The view of the Southway Road entrance to the city during the past week, with its flowering pear trees, yellow and red tulips, plus clear clean roadsides would rival that of any European city. The Crescent Road entrance with its clean roadsides, green grass and blooming trees also presents a visual treat for residents and visitors alike.

Thank you, city employees and residents who help to keep our Greenbelt a place where people enjoy visiting and living.

In Memoriam

To the Editor:

This is a tribute for Raymond Routt, who was my helper and friend. He came to help me after my husband died and was very kind. Twice he followed the rescue squad when they took me to the hospital. He stayed at the hospital with me until 2 in the morning and then brought me home.

He was a beautiful person. May he rest in peace. He will be sadly missed.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

FLEA MARKET IN CENTER MALL

A PUBLIC HEARING HAS BEEN SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY, MAY 3, 1982

8:00 P.M. — COUNCIL ROOM
 GREENBELT MUNICIPAL BUILDING
 25 CRESCENT ROAD

AS PART OF THE REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING
 TO CONSIDER A PROPOSAL OF THE GREENBELT
 CULTURAL ARTS CENTER TO SPONSOR
 A FLEA MARKET IN THE GREENBELT COMMERCIAL CENTER ON SATURDAYS.

In sponsoring a flea market, the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center expects the operation to be a means to raise funds for the Center. However, individual vendors will be permitted to sell for profit.

It is proposed that the flea market would be scheduled on Saturdays during warm months from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Initially, the market would be scheduled on a monthly basis and limited to fifteen (15) table spaces. If successful, and if the market does not unduly interfere with other activities of the Center, the market may be scheduled for more than one Saturday a month and may enlarge the number of vendor tables. All vendor tables would be restricted to the middle and rear Bowmanite (red brick pavement) areas of the mall.

Persons interested in commenting on this proposal may do so either by writing to the City Council or appearing at the Public Hearing.

Rehab Issues Dominate GHI Meeting

by Sandra Surber Smith

The April 15 meeting of the Board of Directors of Greenbelt Homes Inc. was devoted to a number of rehab related actions, including the approval of the stubby series hot water tank, arrangements for sale of rehab salvage, and disapproval of a member request for an alternative heating system.

Hot water and heat

Management requested and received approval from the board to install the stubby series hot water tank in homes where it is impossible to install the taller tank. Members may also request the shorter unit when their home is surveyed for heat conversion. The stubby hot water tank holds 48 gallons compared to the 52 gallon capacity of the tall unit. It costs $50 more.

The greater part of the meeting was spent discussing the request of the Dombrowskis, who would like to install an electric hydronic boiler instead of baseboard heat in their unit. In addition to the debate over the merits of this type of heating system, which would utilize the existing radiators, the board wrestled with the issues of setting a precedent for exceptions to the overall plan, upholding the cutoff date for exemption requests, and allowing individual members reasonable options to the plan. While there was general consensus that the Dombrowskis' alternative was well-thought out and practical, their request was eventually defeated by a 5 to 4 vote majority. The board voted to support the approved program of electric baseboard heat.

In casting his vote, board president Jim Smith said that sufficient justification for the alternative system had not been produced. He saw no benefits to the electric hydronic system over the baseboard units. Also voting against the member's request were board members Della Donaldson, who admitted the decision was a difficult one; and Steve Curtis, John Lewis and Joe Jenkins.

Voting to approve the member's request for alternate heating were board members Margaret Hogensen, Don Volk, Frank Gervasi and Wayne Williams. They had argued that the corporation's concerns about maintenance of the individual system had been adequately met and that this approval amounted to upholding a basic principle of the rehabilitation program—a member can install or have performed rehabilitation work different from the overall program as long as it is equal to or better than the GHI program. There was a good deal of support by other members present for this principle and for applying it in this case.

Salvage

The board quickly dealt with the disposition of salvage resulting from heat conversion and other rehab work. Management was authorized to dispose of these items at the best possible price on an on-going basis. The issue arose when management sought approval to sell radiators and copper already removed from units and stacking up in GHI storage.

Other matters

A draft handbook bringing together all GHI rules and regulations had been circulated to board members for comment. Smith established a subcommittee of himself, Hogensen and Volk to review the handbook and determine which provisions are current policy. Editorial and other changes were also solicited.

Morales Speaks Against Cutting School Budget

More than 1,400 people crowded into High Point High School Tuesday night, April 20, to protest the proposed cut of nearly $37 million in the 1982-83 school budget. The public hearing held by the County Council went on into the wee hours of the morning. Greenbelter Jose Morales was one of approximately 70 people who addressed the Council.

Morales Speech

My name is Jose Morales. I am president of the Springhill Lake Elementary School PTA.

... We, the Springhill Lake PTA, want to go on record in support for full funding of the school board budget.

We want you to know that we do not want the education of our children to be diminished. Our children deserve and must have the opportunities for success. Our children are our most precious gifts. Those opportunities can only be realized if our boys and girls have the learning skills that come from a good education.

Our greatest concern is that the future of quality education in Prince Georges County will be irretrievably damaged.

We believe that these budgetary restrictions will damage our schools. We also believe that this damage will become worse in future years because we believe that the schools will not be able to "bounce back". You can only cut so much. The school budget has been reduced, slashed, restricted to the point that half a skeleton shows (let alone bare bones) after reviewing the funding levels proposed by the County Executive!!

We are asking you the County Council to bite the bullet—to show us your backbone. Are you willing to get tough and stand up for our children? . . .

"Avrey's Magic," an original musical fantasy, will be presented by the Greenbelt Players and the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center at the Utopia Theater May 7 - May 30. Fridays and Saturdays curtain times will be 7:30 p.m., matinees: 2:30 p.m. Matinees will be held May 8, 9, 15, 22, 23, 29, and 30 for the benefit of young viewers and senior citizens.

"Avrey's Magic," a delightful fantasy, takes place on the seaside of a fishing village. Two children discover Avrey, a rather formidable looking sea creature dancing on the water. The old sea captain warns all of a legend he heard many years ago that an Avrey is supposed to turn mortals to stone. The cast of 18 adults and children bring an original new musical to life with singing, dancing and dazzling costumes. This play is excellent entertainment for the entire family.

This is author Anne Sander's first play. For years she has been

CITY NOTES

The Greenbelt Concert Band of Prince Georges County, under the direction of John DelHomme, opened the musical season with its annual spring concert Sunday afternoon at the Youth Center.

The City Council Room was the distribution point for 198 five-pound blocks of cheese last Thursday as part of the Prince Georges County's cheese distribution program. An additional 102 five-pound blocks of cheese were distributed at Green Ridge House. Due to a much larger than expected turnout, the cheese was all distributed by 4 p.m. on Thursday. Many volunteers helped distribute the cheese.

writing tales of mystery, fantasy and magic for her family of five. When several people read the script, they were convinced that it would make an excellent stage musical. Anne revised her original work, writing not only the verse, but the melodies.

Police Blotter

Compiled by Mavis Fletcher

Two new members of the Greenbelt Police Department, Officer John R. Squires and Officer Timothy Hahn, were sworn in by Mayor Richard Castaldi in the presence of other City Council members on April 21.

During the investigation of an area in Springhill Lake where a theft from an auto had taken place, Officer Alex J. Turner and Officer Timothy Hahn checked out a suspicious male operating a van, recovered stolen property and charged the operator with theft.

Three no-force entries via windows were reported in Springhill Lake apartments. Watches, jewelry and cameras were stolen.

Pfc. Daniel P. O'Neil apprehended two male juveniles who were throwing rocks at parked vehicles from the roof of the Co-op Supermarket. They were charged with destruction of property.

A home in the 48 court of Ridge Road was entered by breaking a pane of glass in the door during daylight hours. A television and other articles were stolen. In other occurrences, a Springhill Lake apartment was entered by a window and a television set was taken. An apartment on Mandan Road was entered without use of force. A radio was taken.

BAKE SALE

Greenbelt Cultrul Arts Center will hold a fundraising bake sale Saturday, May 1 in front of the Utopia Theater from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Anyone who contributes baked goods will receive a free ticket to use for any event.

MAY HEAT CONVERSION SCHEDULE

GHI members will receive a two-week, approximate, notice of any conversion work to their unit. A final, exact, notice will be hung on the door the day before any work actually begins. In some cases, plumbing pre-placement work is being done before or at the same time as electrical pre-placement work. Actual conversion is lagging behind pre-placement work because of technical problems with PEPCO. Separate, specialized teams work in either brick, block or frame homes. The following schedule shows the order that buildings will be worked on in May:

BRICK	BLOCK	FRAME
14 Ridge W-Z	21 Ridge A-H	9 Southway J-M
13 Ridge A-H	21 Ridge J-P	9 Southway E-H
13 Ridge J-M	23 Ridge A-F	9 Southway A-D

4 Southway A-D	27 Ridge A-B	18 Ridge L-P
18 Ridge A-D	28 Ridge A-B	18 Ridge W-Z3
18 Ridge S-V		20 Ridge N-R
17 Ridge A-F		20 Ridge J-M
19 Ridge G-K		20 Ridge E-H
19 Ridge A-F		20 Ridge A-D

2 Gardenway A-F		4 Gardenway L-R
		4 Gardenway E-K
		5 Gardenway A-F
		5 Gardenway G-M

Due to the need to decommission the large boiler plants on the north end of town, work on the brick and block homes will stop at the south side of Gardenway and resume at the end of the summer after the frame homes have been converted. For up-to-date information and schedules, call the GHI Rehab Hotline (474-6644) which is updated frequently and runs 24 hours a day. To help follow Rehab progress, members should save this ad.

GENERAL FUND DRIVE

Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department & Rescue Squad, Inc.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the many citizens of Greenbelt who have so generously contributed to our Annual Fund Drive during the month of April. Also, we would like to advise those who may have forgotten or overlooked their envelopes, it is still not too late to make a contribution. Remember your DONATIONS ARE TAX DEDUCTIBLE.

Should you have questions concerning the fund drive, please call, or stop by the Fire House, leave your name and phone number and you will be contacted. The Fire Department's business number is 345-7000. All emergencies are dialed to 911.

would be accustomed to the department and the city, they would be partially trained, and the department would have had a chance to observe their performance over a period of time and could more exactly evaluate their capabilities.

Other increases in the proposed budget were explained by Giese, as he pointed out that costs of employee benefits, principally health insurance, had increased substantially. Additional increases were those caused by continued inflation and were not substantially above the previous fiscal year.

FOP Response

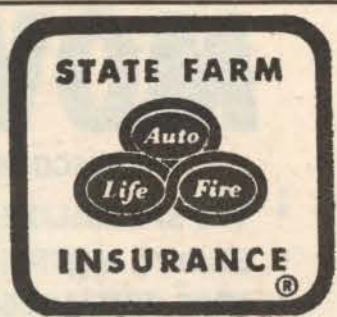

Sgt. James R. Craze, representing the Fraternal Order of Police, agreed in substance with the budget proposal. However, the FOP judges the needed additional manpower to be three officers instead of two. Craze made the point that the patrol area is widespread and the increased commercial areas put some additional demands on the police, such as money escorts.

Craze also requested that consideration be given to acquiring equipment to record automatically incoming emergency calls to the department. He stated that such equipment is urgently needed to help verify calls and information and to provide facts which might now be lost. Giese stated that such equipment is to be given to the city by Prince George's County when the city joins the "911 network," which it is to do next month. Craze agreed to withhold the request for such equipment pending arrival of the county gear.

In areas of vehicles and equipment, Craze said that the FOP saw no substantial deficiencies. In view of the large increases in insurance costs which Giese had mentioned, Craze stated that the FOP would not press for additional fringe benefits. He did ask that consideration be given to budgeting for civilian manpower to keep the records office open in the evening for the convenience of the public.

Several members of the city council commented that they were pleased to see that the proposals of the various interested parties were so close together, and commended the FOP for the helpfulness of their presentation.

Southway," he said, "my apologies."

Herling endorsed Katherine Keene's suggestion of renaming the Lake Park for Franklin Delano Roosevelt and said he hoped someone would come up with a suitable way to honor Tugwell.

Labor Day Festival

Because of the close proximity to the apartments, the Labor Day Festival location must be changed. In a letter from the Festival Committee, president Deana James has suggested the upper or west parking lot by the Municipal Building be used instead. Advantages as seen by the committee are: (1) more space, (2) better accessibility, (3) greater safety closer to the police department, (4) activities can be tied closer to the center with (5) potential for increased business. Committee vice president Rena Hall, who appeared on behalf of James, showed council a map detailing traffic flow available during non-festival hours; the access road to the Youth Center will not be blocked; and rides will be placed away from trees. The stage would be located on the lawn to the side of the swimming pool bathhouse with plenty of grassy area for seating. Electricity, for a fee of $400 for the weekend, would be provided by the carnival operator who has his own generator.

Council accepted the letter and asked for staff review. The request will be considered by council at its next regular meeting, Monday, May 3.

Air Quality

Council approved ten goals for improved air quality that Greenbelt could recommend to COG as being the measures that would have the greatest impact on reducing emissions per dollar spent.

The 10 measures are: 1. maximum construction of METRO by 1987; 2. commuter rail service; 3. provide fixed route minibus service; 4. transfer interstate highway funds to mass transit; 5. provide additional bike lanes, storage and locker facilities for bicyclists. (Bike lanes exist along portions of Greenbelt Road and within Greenbelt. A study is underway for a bikeway along Crescent Road from the Center to Springhill Lake); 7. provide safe sidewalks within one half mile of METRO stations; 8. institute a regional tax to support transit operations; 9. consider effects on air quality in making land use decisions; and 10. provide stage 2 vapor recovery equipment at service stations.

County Budget

Giese reviewed proposals in the various County budgets that could affect the city's budget. A 30% increase in county land fill fees which the city will have to pay will force the city to raise the fee its customers pay. Here, the impact will be slightly lessened by a rebate to the city which does not buy the full package of county refuse services. While making note of the sharp fee increase, Giese did indicate satisfaction that some of the extra funds will go into capital improvements to extend the life of the landfill. He fears fees will be a lot higher with a new landfill. Giese's operation of refuse at $112 per home per year is less than the county's projected cost of $129 for a lesser service. A share for the State police aid funds to the county must now be passed on to municipalities such as Greenbelt that have their own police departments. Area counties have traditionally paid one-half the dues for municipalities for their membership in the Council of Governments. This year's county budget omits those monies. The city is sending a letter objecting the failure of the county to pay its share as established many years ago in the formation of COG.

The Park and Planning Budget provides for increased planning funds and continued funding for the preparations of the Greenbelt-College Park Master Plan. Recreation funding has been cut from three to two for staff members, for the North End summer playground. Contributions to cultural groups have been totally eliminated, Giese wrote in his agenda memorandum to council. Funding for the Greenbelt Concert Band by Park and Planning was discontinued several years ago. White suggested sending to the county a representative sample of the appreciative letters received by the city for the concert band many from county institutions. "The Greenbelt Concert Band provides a lot of enjoyment for a lot of audiences. They are representative of the kinds of things that are done with very little funding and volunteerism at its best," White emphasized. "The county executive's knocking out cultural endeavors is shortsighted. While they are difficult to measure, they are certainly worthwhile."

Council Actions

Council — approved for first reading a transfer of funds in the amount of $196,500 within various accounts.

— received bid information for three purchases by the city: (1) installation of a new heat-pump/air conditioning system for a portion of the Youth Center (13 bids received); (2) a radio communications system for the Public Works Department (4 bids); and, (3) miscellaneous concrete work (sidewalks, curbs and gutters) to be done throughout the city (28 bids). Staff recommendations for bid approvals are scheduled for next Monday's regular council meeting.

— referred to advisory boards the "Greenbelt North End School — an adaptive reuse study" prepared by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission for the City of Greenbelt.

— supported CB-38, county legislation which would allow municipalities with police departments to exempt their cities from county burglar alarm licensing.

— accepted with regret the resignation of T. Vernon Greer from the Parks and Recreation Advi-ory Board. Greer is moving out of the state. Member Ray McCawley has been elected by the board to replace Greer as vice chairman.

— approved requests by White and Putens on the recommendation of the city manager for the city to pay costs associated with their attendance at meetings out of Greenbelt. White will attend the Steering Committee of the National League of Cities Environmental Committee. Putens will attend the Maryland Energy Conference in Frederick ($15).

— postponed until May 17 council meeting consideration of handicapped parking regulations and enforcement (at request of a resident).

Charles W. Elliott Triumphs In Walk-a-thon

by Helen Meleney

It was 6:30 a.m. on Sunday, April 25, when Charlie and I, completely oblivious of each other, drove away from 58 Court. I went my way - to join up with bird watching enthusiasts. He went his - to rendezvous at the Sylvan Theater on the Washington Monument grounds, starting point for the March of Dimes Walk-a-thon.

Upon my return at 2 p.m., I found Charlie standing in his front yard. He was looking good and feeling great and proudly wearing a button of participation. Here is his story:

"I started at 8:05 a.m. and completed the 36 kilometer (22½ mile) course at 11:11 a.m. for a total time of 3 hours and 6 minutes. There was only one runner in front of me crossing that finish line. I was a 2nd place winner!"

"I did the best I ever could. Both the people you run with and the cause you run for count. I was paced by an airline stewardess for the first 18 of those miles." Charlie firmly believes in the cause for which he ran. Due to his efforts, both as a runner and successful pledge seeker, he raised over $200 for the March of Dimes.

"First and foremost comes the caring about children," Charlie continued. "Helping the lives of kids. Next comes your own feelings of good health and fitness. Because of my participation in the walk-a-thon today, I killed two birds with one stone."

Charles Elliott fully portrays the Greenbelt spirit.

Charlie ended the informal over-the-fence conversation with three concluding thoughts: (1)—the welfare of the kids comes first; my own comes second, (2)—all able bodied Greenbelters could participate in 1983; everyone ends up a true winner, and (3)—my co-workers, fellow registered plumbers, meet the challenge and match my pledge of $5.70 per mile.

Charlie lives at 58-F Ridge Rd. with his wife, Nancy, a nurse at P. G. General Hospital, and his son, Charlie Jr., a student at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. He is 35 years old, weighs 135 lbs., and is 5 ft. 8 inches tall.

This story is not complete without these remarks — all about Charles Elliott's Triumph and what made it possible. 1. He trains only in Greenbelt. 2. He is a Martial Arts student. 3. He never has run more than 10 miles (before this event). 4. He ran the entire course without a break for added liquids. 5. He ran in Nike Qualifiers.

And, finally, when Charlie's wife called him by phone shortly after his triumphant return, he answered her question in the following way. "I ran the total distance. The more miles I could run the more I knew I could contribute. I proved to myself that I could go that distance."
