CFG Game Winners Receive Special Tour of BARC Land and Buildings

by Philip J. Hanyok

The Beltsville Agricultural Research Center has about 20,000 visitors a year from around the world. But, on Saturday, Oct. 1, the winners of the Citizens For Greenbelt adopt an acre game at the Labor Day Festival received a special personalized tour of the center by its director, Dr. Paul A. Putnam.

According to CFG President Steve Curtis, the CFG, a community activist group concerned with local zoning, would like to keep "some degree of separation" between Greenbelt and other urban sprawl areas, in order to maintain the quality of life in Greenbelt.

The group sponsored the adopt an acre game to "convey to people the idea that, as taxpayers, they do own a part of the land," and they have a say in how it is used, Curtis said.

The agricultural center is one of the last large open areas around Greenbelt.

The tour started at the visitor's center where each member of the tour received an information folder complete with maps, publications by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Smithsonian Institute, and even a BARC pennant.

After a few words of history about the center, which opened in 1910, the group boarded a BARC bus and made their way toward the Main Administration Building on Rte. 1. Passing those ever-present plots of vegetation along Kenilworth Ave., Dr. Putnam pointed out that these are part of the center's work with the Goddard Space Flight Center (NASA).

He said that being close to other governmental installations is an advantage because they can share in research. For example, NASA does satellite monitoring of crops.

Near the National Agricultural Library, across from the administration building, Dr. Putnam pointed out an area of land, between Route 1 and Rhode Island Ave., that has been declared surplus land. This area is "probably the most valuable piece of land" in the approximately 7000 BARC acres.

At the main headquarters, Dr. Putnam showed a display of the aerosol bomb, the Beltsville turkey, and the russet potato, all of which were developed at the Beltsville center. The aerosol bomb protected soldiers against mosquitos. The Beltsville turkey, introduced in 1945 and still being bred, was developed for tenderness and plentiful white meat. Dr. Putnam said the center often cooperates with states, other governmental bodies and industry.

Down the corridors, past scientific instruments and shelves of magazines and books, the group watched two scientific machines in action. The first, an electronic analyzer which Beltsville scientists began developing in 1968, provides a rapid prediction of grain and oilseed compositions. The second predicts the fat content of living animals. Some members of the group tested the fat content of their own bodies.

Also in the administration building is a "growth room." In this room, part of the fruit laboratory, tissue cultures from fruit trees grow in rack upon rack of petri dishes and test tubes.

This process allows scientists to grow thousands of identical trees that are virus free. It is much faster and more efficient than the ancient method of grafting.

Most of the research here is on dwarf fruit trees which will probably become the orchards of the future, because they produce as much fruit per acre and are easier for the farmers to tend as regular trees. The researchers make these production increasing discoveries and "industry is coming in right behind them" to make them work, Dr. Putnam said.

We made our way to an office where Dr. Putnam showed the group the BARC master plan, which has been approved by the MNCPPC. On a multi-colored map, he explained what each area of the Center is used for. He also pointed out which lands have been released to Goddard, the Patuxent Wildlife Refuge and other federal bodies.

From the administration building, the tour bus drove past the dwarf fruit tree orchards before stopping at the greenhouse complex. Here scientists do research on ornamental plants. The research helps American industry and can be generalized to other areas to increase food production.

After seeing parasitology area where scientists search for antibodies to fight parasites and diseases, the tour went through the heart of the center, stopping here and there, until it arrived at the entomology labs. Here Suzanne Batra, a CFG member and BARC employee, explained a trailer full of exhibits about bees.

On the road back to the visitor's center, Dr. Putnam said, "Agricultural research is really research about the world around us. We were blessed to be born in an environment with such abundant supply," he said.

In the future, he added, people will comment on the "good foresight that these people had" to maintain the Beltsville-Greenbelt area as it is. "I'm glad you adopted an acre of Beltsville," he said.

Greenhorne & O'Mara Showcase Capabilities at Gala Open House

by Elaine Skolnik

The architectural and engineering firm of Greenhorne & O'Mara, Inc. rolled out the ceremonial red carpet on September 15 for an Open House at the firm's new corporate headquarters in Greenbelt. About 600 guests, including city, county and state officials and the company's clients and employees, were given guided tours of the 80,000 square-foot building. They also enjoyed a lavish buffet served in a gigantic white tent, which was pitched on the three-acre tract at 9001 Greenbelt Road.

Founded in 1950 by A. James O'Mara and Marcus F. H. Greenhorne the firm has grown steadily through the years. At the time of incorporation in 1965, the company employed 80 people. Today there are 450 persons in the firm's full service branch and field offices. In addition to three offices in Maryland, Greenhorne & O'Mara is located in Colorado, Michigan, North Carolina, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Prior to the opening of the new building, the company's headquarters was located in Riverdale.

Greenhorne & O'Mara has been involved in prominent area projects such as the Capital Center, New Carrollton Metro and the Prince Georges County Administration Building. The firm has developed studies for the city of Greenbelt and for private development projects located within the city limits.

Projects currently underway in Greenbelt include:

(1) Greenbelt Metro. The company has a contract with the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority to provide the civil engineering, design and site work for the Greenbelt Metro Station on the Springhill Lake Industrial tract. Design work by the firm's structural engineering team has also begun on the Beltway Metro exit and entrance ramps. A parking facility for 3,000 cars is on the drawing boards. It is expected that an interim parking facility will be used for B & O commuters. A B & O station will also be constructed on the Industrial tract.

(2) Indian Creek. In conjunction with the Metro project flood plain and hydrology studies will be undertaken by Greenhorne & O'Mara's Water Resources Section. A system will be designed by computer for the Indian Creek-Point Branch area.

Open Letter

To Mrs. Eunice Coxon:

Just a note to say how sorry I was to have missed the tour of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center on Saturday, October 1.

My Legislative Assistant, Jesse Jacobs, had the opportunity to attend and informed me that it was a very educational tour and Dr. Putnam gave the entire group a great deal of information to pass along to your fellow Greenbelters.

I must also commend the "adopt an acre" idea. It certainly is a unique one and one that informs our citizenry of the value of the public open space surrounding the City of Greenbelt.

Steny H. Hoyer

"A Menace to Us All ..."

To the Editor:

It is with anger that I write this letter, that our mailman should be subjected to such cruel and vicious treatment, as he was when bitten by that dog. How selfish can people be? To keep an animal like this is a menace to us all. The owner says he keeps the dog under control. I'm sure our good mailman would argue that point.

What guarantee do we have he won't get out of control again? Where are GHI and the Greenbelt police? Why do they allow a dog like this in a densely populated neighborhood where there are a lot of children and elderly people? I was told that the dog has to bite someone three times before the owner is ordered to get rid of the dog. I guess it is just too bad for the other two unfortunate people that have to be bitten. If these two victims are children, they could be killed.

To add insult to injury, the post office is now suggesting we have mail delivered at boxes at the entrance of our courts. I can understand their problem, but, why can't the police and GHI see ours? Why should we be deprived of door delivery of our mail?

If these people want dangerous animals like this, they should move out in the woods away from all humans.

To date, they don't even have a "Beware of the Dog" sign up to warn people.

GHI and the police should see that this menace is removed from our safe, happy neighborhood.

COMMUNITY HALLOWEEN PARTY HELD BY JAYCEES

The Greenbelt Jaycees and Jaycee Women are again sponsoring a community Halloween Party — a safe alternative to "trick or treating" — on Sunday, October 30, from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. at their clubhouse behind St. Hugh's Church. No admission charge.

There will be games, prizes, candy and soft drinks, apple bobbing and a costume contest. Come as you are or dress up as your favorite creature feature. Parents are welcome to assist, take pictures and to participate. There is no age limit for Halloween. Jaycee families and "Little Brother" families are particularly urged to attend.

Hallowe'en Safety Tips

The following tips are offered in hopes of keeping Halloween safe and happy:

Be sure that wigs and hats are securely fastened so they will not slip over the eyes.

Decorate any costume with reflective tape so it will show up when a car's headlights shine on it.

Carry a flashlight.

Home owners should keep their porches well lighted.

Keep costumes well above the feet and wear shoes that fit, to help avoid tripping.

Make costume props such as swords, knives and broomsticks out of cardboard and round all corners.

Treats should not be eaten until screened by an adult.

(3) North Springhill Lake-Capital Office Park. The company's land development, surveying and transportation departments have been involved in the project located off Kenilworth Avenue north of the Beltway. Three office buildings are already occupied, one building is under construction and a Greenbelt Hilton Hotel is planned.

(4) Green Holly Woods. Preparatory work - surveying, civil engineering, land development, storm drainage and water and sewer - is underway. One hundred ninety-four townhouses are proposed for about 20 acres of land north of Greenbelt Road adjacent to Roosevelt High School and the Greenbriar Glen Oaks condominium development.

(5) Beltway Plaza. Staff is working on development plans for Bennigan's Restaurant and on proposals to expand the AMC theaters.

Others

Other projects just outside the city's borders include preliminary studies for Cipriano Springs, 97 townhouses and Green Oak Townhouses, adjacent to Cipriano Springs. Early planning work is underway on the large Tidler tract south of Greenbelt Road, south of the Glen Ora development.

During the tour of the building, staff members described the firm's multidisciplinary services and capabilities - architecture, land development, landscape architecture, civil, environmental, structural, water resources, transportation, engineering surveying, photogrammetry and planning. Also explained was the firm's new high-tech design and drafting automated equipment.

The square brick and glass building features a plaza entrance. Guests were impressed by the building's warm and friendly environment. Interior walls and floors are bathed in earth-tone colors, furnishings are contemporary and interesting exhibits were on display.

About 250 Greenhorne & O'Mara employees occupy the ground three floors and a portion of the top floor. The remaining space is leased to outside business organizations - Baltimore Stationery, Kongsberg Computers, Security Pacific Bank and Masstor Systems.

    - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)

Mrs. Norris Celebrates Her 86th!

Mrs. Norris and great grandchild Jaclyn.

Mrs. Otilie Norris of Green Ridge House celebrated her 86th Birthday Oct. 11. The day started with a greeting from President and Mrs. Reagan then lunch at Red Lobster with five of her daughters and her sister, Amelia Avesser who had just gotten out of the hospital. Mrs. Norris was surprised to see her sister and also her daughter, Evelyn Dent who came from Boco Raton, Florida.

At the lunch the waiters and waitresses made a special hat of balloons and sang "Happy Birthday Tillie." After lunch it was back to Green Ridge House for Birthday cake and a steady stream of grandchildren and great grandchildren of which she has 50 in all.

They brought many gifts and all had some cake. Her daughter, Alverta Shanahan of 2-J Westway wrote a special poem for her mom about their childhood years, which brought tears of joy to her eyes.

This year also brought another great-grandchild, Jaclyn Naomi Shanahan, who is now 8 months old. Mrs. Norris thanked all her friends at Green Ridge for the nicest gift of all and that is their kindness to her all year long. "God bless you all" she said.

By 11 p.m., Mrs. Norris was ready to retire after a fun-filled Happy 86th.

This Week's Soccer

by Sue Cornelius

Greenbelt had a great soccer weekend October 15 and 16. In the Interleague, Greenbelt II (6 and under) beat Lanham 3-2, with Stevie Klem scoring his second hat-trick for the season! Nice playing, Stevie. David Lehman did an outstanding job as our goalie, making several unbelievable saves that drove the spectators crazy! Greenbelt I (6 and under) also won, with a 3-0 win over Cheverly. Peter Timer scored one goal, and Jaime Brigoli scored the other two. Greg Hunanian worked the ball downfield several times, showing great control, and almost scoring a goal himself. The 8 year old team tied Beltsville 0-0 in a defensive game that was very exciting, too. The 10 year old team had its first victory of the season, beating College Park 1-0, with rookie Timmy Snoots scoring his first goal of the season. Congratulations to a team which deserved a win!

In County, the 10 year old team took a tough loss to Lanham 2-0. Chris Davis played superior soccer while goalie in spite of some rough play against him. Andy James played a great game, and Greg Klem played like a champ at left fullback. The 11 year old team had its first win, and it was a decisive one at that! Colin Joseph scored a beautiful goal from his left wing position. Jonathan Schacter scored from a center pass from Adrian Tapley. David Krieger scored the final goal, playing a position new to him, right wing. The 12 year old team played Camp Springs, and lost 5-1, with Jimbo Barron scoring Greenbelt's goal.

As the season comes closer to the end, Greenbelt seems to become a tougher competitor. It is hoped that many of our teams will be invited to play in local tournaments once the season is over. This information will be passed on to individual teams as soon as it is available.

The 13 year old team lost 5-1 on Saturday, with Troy Altamore scoring on a penalty kick.

ATTENTION MEMBERS
FRAME APARTMENTS

Some members have expressed concern about outside hose bibs not being available for upstairs frame apartments. This was dropped from Phase I of the rehab project as it was considered prohibitively expensive. Because this has caused inconvenience for the members of frame home apartments and since new water mains have now been installed, GHI has reviewed the situation.

As a service to members, GHI Maintenance will install the cut off valves at no charge to the members affected. These valves will be located in the crawl space and will be connected to the water meter of the upstairs frame unit. This program will begin immediately and will take approximately six months to complete.

To have the hose bib turned off in winter and on in the summer members of upstairs frame apartments will need to call the Maintenance Department.

Effective Annual Yield

Community Savings & Loan in Maryland made financial headlines across the country when they found a way to add the security of insurance to the high yield of money market funds. Now the innovative Daily Money Account is available to investors nationwide, with rates that are consistently higher than those paid by other comparable accounts. Here are some of the basic advantages of the Daily Money Account. It's a high yield account, based on current money market conditions but designed to pay rates that are better than those prevailing. It's fully insured up to $100,000 per account.

It's administered by a financial institution which provides other deposit and lending services, which make it convenient for you. It allows you access to your funds when you need them.

Compare the difference. Community's commitment to offering a consistently higher yield shows up when you chart the course of other comparable accounts over a few months. For example, here's what it looked like through September 8.
