City Council Listens

Irate Residents Demand Return Of School Buses to Roosevelt H.S.

by Sandra Barnes

Although there was little that the City Council could do to restore school bus transportation to Eleanor Roosevelt High School from the core of Greenbelt this fall, citizens were permitted to speak for two hours on the issue at a City Council meeting that lasted until 1:30 a.m. Monday, July 9.

Ultimately Councilmember Tom White asked that the school board reinstate the routes that were the furthest from the school such as the three stops that served Boxwood Village and Lakeside North. He also asked that an activity bus be provided for students coming home late, to explore Metro busing possibilities.

Irate parents attacked the school board for its decision to require students to walk to school if they lived within a 2 mile radius and did not have to cross dangerous streets. Other citizens pointed to Trim, the amendment to the county charter which placed a cap on the amount of property taxes to be collected, as the real culprit. The completion of the overpass over the Baltimore-Washington (Gladys Noon Spellman) Parkway now makes the distance safe in the view of the Board of Education.

An enraged Irene Hensel, her voice shaking with emotion, challenged council members and citizens to come up with a good reason why students should have to walk the two miles to school, getting wet on rainy days and cold on snowy days, burdened by books, instruments and projects that equally were subject to the weather.

She chided school board member Lesley Kreimer for suggesting that parents form car pools to take students to school. "It is not the responsibility of parents to provide transportation to a local high school," she stated. "It is the county's responsibility." She also suggested that students might skip school altogether if they had to walk and they would be subjected to the emotional and physical trauma brought on by flashers, and dead bodies. Hensel was alluding to the "dead body" of a woman killed in a nearby county and dropped along the Parkway near Powder Mill Road, the News Review later learned.

Another parent, Joanne Levi, was equally upset. Living in Lakeside North apartments, her children would be subject to a 55-minute walk, she said, along areas in part without sidewalks and adequate lighting. She charged that students would be hustling rides, in itself a potentially dangerous situation with more traffic and more cars on the already overburdened Greenbelt Road. "How dare anyone suggest carpools," she demanded, noting that her working hours and those of many others would prevent them chaffering students to and from school each day.

Former Roosevelt High School teacher, Katherine Keene pointed out the healthful benefits of walking. She urged citizens to consider the effects of Trim. "The price of civilization is taxation," she affirmed. "What more cuts do you want to have made?" she demanded, noting that the salaries of teachers, police and librarians were already suffering the effects of county budget cuts.

Jeannette Gordy, a Greenbriar resident reminded council that she had never been in favor of the overpass, but now that it's there "let the kids walk to school," she bitterly proclaimed.

Lesley Kreimer, Greenbelt's representative to the county school board reported that the school board's policy on walking had been in effect for two years and that students from other areas of the county were walking equally far distances. "If there are unsafe walking conditions, let the board know," she advised. "The safety of the children does come first." But she reminded the audience that the school board's policy applies countywide—not just Greenbelt.

John Huffman, director of transportation for the county school system, noted that the board's policy had resulted in reducing the number of buses by 123 over the past two years, and that this resulted in more funds being available for teachers and books. "Students walk to Bowie High and Parkdale. Everyone within Greenbelt (the center core) is within the two-mile limit," he claimed, based on measurements with a pedometer made by school staff. "If anyone thinks the distance is more than two miles, we will measure again," he stated.

While councilmember Ed Putens commented that he thought the transportation issue was a "tactic by the school board to amend Trim," others in the audience differed. Councilmember Richard Pilski asked the citizens to explore the effects of Trim, "It is not realistic to think we can bus children to Eleanor Roosevelt. There is no money. Do you want to ride or do you want them to learn? Be honest with yourself," he said. "There is no money!"

Councilmember Toni Bram asked if the city could use its two buses (not yet in operation) to provide some transportation. City manager Jim Giese stated the buses, with a capacity of about 40 seats each, could not handle 200 students, busing them back and forth to school daily. The buses were not intended for that purpose, he said.

GHI Board Selects Bruce Bowman For Seat on Co-op Mortgage Board

by Mary Moien

Bruce Bowman was selected as a board member for the new Share Loan Service Corporation (SLSC) at the June 28 meeting of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors. The board presented plaques to former board members Joe Jenkins and John Lewis and during a break in the meeting a small reception was held to congratulate Shekar Narasimhan, GHI General Manager, on his becoming a U.S. citizen that day.

The SLSC was originally to be known as Cooperative Mortgage Services (CMS). Due to a quirk in the Maryland corporate law, however, the word "cooperative" cannot be used in the name of a new company. Thus the new mortgage company will be known as Share Loan Service Corporation. The board agreed at the previous board meeting to seek nominations from interested GHI members for a second GHI seat on the SLSC board. Narasimhan currently holds the other GHI seat. Two nominations were received — one from Bruce Bowman and one from Leo Hool, a current member of the GHI Audit Committee. After discussion of the excellent backgrounds of both members, the board selected Bowman. Mention was made of his extensive experience with numerous cooperatives. There was also concern that Hool, a member of the Audit Committee which oversees the GHI board and operates independently of them, should not be put into a second position where he has to

Plateau Residents Tell City: Keep Perpendicular Parking

by Mary Lou Williamson

Members of council and residents both made significant contributions to the plans for reconstruction of Plateau Place and a section of Ridge Road at the city's public hearing on July 9. Those ideas have been forwarded to the engineering firm for some redrawing of the plans. The city staff hopes the final decision can be made at the next council meeting (August 13) allowing the work to be completed sometime this fall. The projects will be funded with Community Development Block Grants: $104,000 for Plateau Place and $94,000 for Ridge Road. The streets will be widened, resurfaced and curbs and gutters added.

Progressive Engineering of Laurel drew up two plans for Plateau Place. Plan A (estimated to cost $122,900) offers a 44 ft. wide street with parallel parking on both sides, a new sidewalk along the south side and reconstruction of a portion of the existing (Greenbelt Homes Inc.-built) sidewalk on the north. The number of parking spaces would be increased by six. City Manager James K. Giese presented this plan as "preferred." The elimination of perpendicular parking in favor of parallel parking, offering uniformity of appearance, would make the street more attractive. He also offered the possibility of lining the street with trees (some tree loss would accompany either plan). Perpendicular parking, used extensively in the North End, is considered to be unsafe on a through street. While Plateau Place currently dead ends, it is one of three North End streets, he said, which would service parcel one if that area is developed.

Joseph Kielman, 1 court Plateau, asked the city to keep the perpendicular parking which he says is easier for him than finding a place to turn his car around in order to parallel park in front of his house. Others agreed.

Plan B ($105,300) would retain the concept of perpendicular parking, but restrict parking to the north side of the street. There would be no sidewalk along the south side. The perpendicular parking areas are now grouped between the rows of houses except at the far end of Plateau. In redrawing the street, Progressive Engineering placed the parking areas directly in front of the homes.

David Marwell, also a resident of Plateau Place, spoke against relocating the parking areas. The houses are below grade along the north side. "Keep the perpendicular parking and at the spot where it now is." He also expressed concern about four crab apple trees in front of his row which would be lost to parking under plan B.

Giese, not averse to the requests of Marwell and Kielman, pointed out to council that it "would be cheaper to work with the existing parking areas."

"I prefer looking (out of the house) at green trees, not the lights of cars," added Dale Jacobson, a resident of the 3 court.

Harry Bauldauf questioned the need for a second sidewalk as an unnecessary expense.

Council

Councilmember Antoinette Bram, noticing that funds had been included for sod in the engineer's estimates, asked whether any shrubs or trees had been planned. No, but there could be if council so directed, was the answer.

"I agree with Mrs. Bram on beautification," offered councilmember Richard Pilski. At the same time, he told staff, "Find out how GHI is going to participate."

The engineering firm will be asked to redraw the plans keeping the same perpendicular parking areas and with beautification added.

Ridge Road

The next portion of Ridge Road to be constructed runs from Southway to Westway. The estimated cost of $84,200 includes no sidewalks. While the council chamber was packed with people interested in other items on the agenda, only Stephen Curtis spoke on the Ridge Road improvements. He questioned the city's statement of "little tree loss" and asked about the 300 or more yards of privet hedges along the street. Giese promised to look at the tree problem and explained the city's policy of using its own public works crew to dig up and reset hedge rows so as to inconvenience residents as little as possible — a policy, he noted, that has been very successful in the past.

Curtis' statement that there is a "crying need for a sidewalk" along that stretch of Ridge Road prompted the city to send the Ridge Road plans back to the drawing boards also.

Greenbelt Homes is expected to take up the street improvements at a future board meeting.

Gunman Fires at Police In SHL Confrontation

by Mavis Fletcher

A Greenbelt man held police at bay for more than three hours in a confrontation which took place in the early hours of July 15 in the Springhill Lake area. According to a Greenbelt police department spokesman, the incident started at about 1:50 a.m. when a man flagged down Greenbelt police officer Pfc. Craig A. Rich and told him his roommate was tearing up the apartment. When Rich and other officers who had responded to assist approached the building, the suspect confronted them from the apartment balcony. The officers took cover behind a police cruiser. According to the police, the suspect subsequently fired one shot which smashed a cruiser window. The gun was later found to be a gas projectile pellet gun. The man also threw knives and other objects at the police.

At about 4:55 a.m. the suspect, identified by the police as Matthew John Kernan of 9121 Springhill Lane, Apt. 202, Greenbelt, was apprehended without injury to anyone involved. No shots were fired by the police. Kernan was taken to Prince Georges General Hospital for psychiatric evaluation. After several hours, the doctors released him and he was taken back into custody. The suspect was charged with assault with intent to murder and attempted murder. He was incarcerated in lieu of $100,000 bond.

According to the police, more than 30 officers were involved before the incident was over including the Prince Georges Emergency Services Team, off-duty Greenbelt officers and Prince Georges County patrol units.

OPEN LETTER

Dear Mr. President:

I am writing to inform you, respectfully, of my strong opposition to any plan which would reduce the Washington Metropolitan area subway system from the original 101 miles to 76 miles.

Residents of Prince Georges County have been eagerly and patiently awaiting the construction of the "E" and "F" lines. The "E" line will serve the citizens of my own legislative district. I must strongly protest any cutback which would deprive them and other Prince Georges County residents of the efficient transportation we have been expecting.

Completion of the Metro system is essential to the area's overall transportation scheme, in that it will achieve the recognized desirable and sensible goal of moving people, not automobiles.

Thank you for your attention to my views.

State Senator Leo Green
(Ed. Note: The above letter was also sent to Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Transportation).

Eyesore

To the Editor:

A community "Eyesore" has been created by the neglect of the Greenbelt tennis courts adjacent to Braden Field. These courts are used by approximately 150 Greenbelt Tennis Association members and their friends from neighboring communities. Of greater importance is the fact that they are used by 50 to 60 Junior Tennis League players from Greenbelt and shared by the youngsters participating in Camp Pine Tree. Young players are developing friendships, sportsmanship and strategy through practice sessions and competition held on the Greenbelt courts. At present, only 4 out of 8 courts are in playable condition. I urge both Mayor and City Council, in the spirit of community concern, to allocate funds for the repair and reconstruction of the lower four courts.

Barbara J. Moore

Action Needed

To the Editor:

The time has come for the Mayor and City Council to take immediate action relative to the Braden Field tennis courts. The four lower courts are in such disrepair that they stand out as an eyesore within the recreation complex and severely limit the capacity of Greenbelt residents, particularly young people, to play tennis within city limits. I strongly support allocating funds in the budget towards reconstructing the courts at Braden Field so that they are playable next summer.

Beverly Vayhinger

Absurd Determination

To the Editor:

It may be hot outside, but it's not as hot as in the homes of Eleanor Roosevelt High School students and concerned Greenbelters.

A unified group of determined parents and students have amassed together over 400 signatures from concerned Greenbelters trying to gain back buses terminated by the Transportation Office of the Prince Georges County Board of Education.

The precarious possibilities of such an absurd determination are insuperable. Our public officials need to hear from us and to hear from us now. For the sake of the safety of our children we must be heard loud and clear. Our public officials need to know what is going on and they welcome the opportunity to hear from you. Call/write to your school board representative, Mrs. Lesley Kreimer, 8270 Canning Terrace, Greenbelt (441-1990), County Councilman, Richard Castaldi (952-3094), and the Board of Education (952-4324)—ask for the Transportation Office—Mr. Huffman in particular). Please support our children. Don't let anything happen to even "one" child—it may be yours.

Diane Ronchi Timbs

Edith Morris

Edith Morris of San Francisco and Greenbelt died July 8 in Concord, California after a long illness. Age 95, Mrs. Morris was a charter member of the Greenbelt Golden Age Club.

She is survived by her daughters, Pearl Ellerin of Greenbelt and Betty Almodover of California, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Greenbelt's Fiftieth: Photographs Wanted

by Sandra Barnes

Greenbelt's 50th Anniversary is only three years away—in 1987. Plans have begun for the celebration beginning with a booth at the Labor Day Festival this year. Greenbelt history buffs can become masters of trivia in the Greenbelt Trivia Quiz, a festival first. The committee will also be out in force selling small Greenbelt flags to benefit future projects.

One of these projects is a collection of photographs to be made into slides for a special presentation on Greenbelt history and also for a photography exhibit. The committee is seeking photographs of Greenbelt from 1937 to the present day which will depict the changes that have occurred. Photography buffs who would like their pictures to become part of the historical exhibit are asked to contact Dorothy Lauber, city offices, 474-8000, or Sandra Barnes, committee chairperson, 474-5310. Original photographs will be returned to their owners after copies are made for the slide presentation or photo display. Photographs are needed by the end of August. Photographers also can bring their photos to the committee's booth at the Festival and learn more about the activities being planned.

Cardinals Stage Comeback

In one of the last regular season games the Cardinals staged one of the greatest comebacks of the Greenbelt Little League's 1984 baseball season.

The Cardinals trailed the A's 13-2 in the bottom of the sixth inning. Every member of the team contributed to produce eight runs, bringing the score to 13-10. Andrew Knoll then came to bat for the Cardinals with two out and two on. He drove the ball over the center field fence for a three run homer, and the game went into extra innings.

The A's scored one run in the top of the seventh, and the pressure was on the Cardinals once again. With the bases loaded and two out in the bottom of the seventh Glenn Roberts slammed a line drive into right field, scoring two and ending the game with a 15-14 victory for the Cardinals.

Cubs and Indians Compete

Pat Conrad pitched the Cubs to a 7-1 victory over the Indians to assure them of a Little League play-off spot. The Cubs will play the Indians this Saturday, July 21, at 10, Sunday at 2 and if necessary Monday at 6. All games will be at McDonald Field behind 7 Court, Southway. The winner will play the Giants in the World Series the following weekend.

The Parents-Coaches game will be played this Saturday, July 21, at 8 under the lights at Braden Field.

All Little Leaguers are reminded to turn in their chance sales to their coaches.

The standings are: Giants, 13-4; Indians, 13-5; Cubs, 13-5; Lions, 12-6; Cardinals 4-13; A's, 3-14; Orioles, 3-14.

answer directly to the board. The bylaws and articles of incorporation of the new corporation (SLSC) were also discussed. The SLSC should become incorporated in July.

Another major topic to be discussed was the report on larger townhouse sub-surface problems. Mr. Petzold of Oyster, Imus, and Petzold, Inc. reported on the analysis completed by that company. He indicated that water is running under the larger townhouses on Laurel Hill Road just as it did when that area was just a stream bed. He proposed channeling the water around the homes and back into the lower stream. When questioned as to what would happen to the homes if nothing were done, he said it was difficult to say. He was also vague as to the life expectancy of the system.

GHI member Bobbi McCarthy questioned whether there was any guarantee that this system would do the job. The general manager stated that the project would be written with a 1-year workmanship guarantee, but that this would not guarantee that the problems would be corrected. Petzold did indicate that the affected members should see results in about 3 months. McCarthy urged Narasimhan to ask Petzold to provide a written statement as to the chances of no success, partial success, and full success using his proposed method. The board unanimously passed the motion that GHI management obtain bids to have the work completed as stated in the consultant's report.

Other items covered at the meeting included a review of Part X of the GHI rules and regulations on improvements and alterations. The board felt that the rules laid down were appropriate but that the format was very confusing. They also requested that a section be added on how a member could apply for an exemption. Management agreed to reorganize the layout and the board approved the new rules.

A member on Laurel Hill Road appeared before the board to request an exemption for a privacy screen to surround her shed. After much discussion, the exemption was approved.

CITY NOTES

The fireworks display on the Fourth was handled by the Public Works Department. A city report noted that it was much shorter and less colorful than usual because only 52 of the 112 fifteen-inch shells ordered were delivered. There was a small Grand Finale because only 48 of the 348 finale shells ordered were delivered. Of the 820 pieces ordered only 441 were received. No monies have been paid to the fireworks contractor and will not be paid until changes to the contract are made, according to the city.

The general crew rebuilt shoulders on Crescent Road and repaired the backhoe and bulldozer. The paint crew marked handicap parking spaces and prepared curb areas for painting.

The parks crew installed a picnic shelter and barbeque pit in the Greenbriar playground.

The new 1984 Ford open body dump truck was delivered and is being prepared for service as a special trash collection truck.

Paul Williams and Kenny Hall went to Maine to transport a 1975 Mercedes-Benz bus back to Greenbelt. It was purchased for use as the intra-city bus.

"The Ragtime Years" At Utopia Saturday

The Rosebud Musical Theater Company brings "The Ragtime Years," to the Utopia Theater on Saturday night, July 28, at 8 p.m.

A musical revue of the songs and dances of the first two decades of this century, the program takes the audience back to the days of such dances as the cake walk and turkey trot and brings back such tunes as "In the Good Old Summertime" as well as later Broadway tunes such as "The Grand Old Flag" and many Irving Berlin creations.

Under the directorship of Tom Pacl, who moved from Greenbelt to New Carrollton about 5 years ago, the Rosebud Company performed at the Utopia last year. Originally formed as the Rosebud Ragtime Ensemble in 1976 in Greenbelt, the present company is composed of about 15 performers and a 6-piece band. Brian Choper of Northway is the drummer in the band. The others in the group are free-lance musicians and performers from all over the area.

Besides tap dance and a dance called "the grizzly bear," there will be a wide range of music and motion to recall the sights and sounds of musical revues of yesterday, explains Pacl.

The musical director is Alice Mignerey. Choreography is by Mignerey and Donna Saady of Springhill Lane.

Council Tidbits

Members of the Greenbelt Tennis Association appeared before council to ask that funds be allocated from the city's capital improvement budget to re-surface the tennis courts this year. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld stated that the project was in the CIP budget, but that funds were not yet authorized. Tom White told the group that "tennis courts were not a high priority" with him, but that the issue might become part of a bond issue slated for voter referendum later this year. Barbara Moore, tennis association member, reminded council of the 50-60 youngsters who have been recruited to participate in tennis activities.

Jose Morales thanked council for the new light at Green Ridge House, but wondered when the city's senior citizen bus would materialize. He was told that one bus was being driven down from Maine and a second bus, acquired from the Board of Education for $1,000, was due shortly.

Over the objection of council member Antoinette Bram, council okayed a special exception for an automobile gas station to serve, primarily, the Capital Office Park. Bram, who was not a member of council when the original agreement was made, called it "poor planning." Councilmember Thomas X. White countered, "I think the site is ideally suited for a gas station. I don't know what else would go there."

Council granted a two year waiver that it expects to make permanent. The county has promised to pay the cost of widening Hanover Parkway adjacent to the two new office buildings now under construction behind Greenway Center. The county will use T.I.F. funds.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
  - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
  - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
  - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative Member News No More Member-Capital Transfers

In order to buy our Co-op Supermarket and Pharmacy we had to raise $80,000 from at least 1,000 people, and borrow $450,000 from the Co-op Bank and Co-op Development Corporation. This we did. Over 1,300 members of the selling Co-op, Greenbelt Cooperative, Inc. (GCI) of Savage, Md., transferred more than $39,000 in membership capital to our Co-op to make this possible. Another group of 209 transferred more than $5,000 to us last week, and a final group of about 50 transfer requests are being processed. There will be no more transfers. From now on anyone wishing to withdraw his membership from GCI must write directly to Savage. We shall be forever grateful to GCI for the many ways they helped us to acquire our Co-op.
