Only Two Citizens Address Needs At Manager's Public Hearing

by Andrea Edie

Only two citizens — Dorothy Pyles, Mandan Rd., and Albert Herling, 13 Ridge Rd. — spoke at the proposed use hearing on the fiscal year 1985/86 budget, which was part of Council's agenda for the March 4 meeting. Both spoke in support of a larger police force and a new police headquarters building.

Pyles also read two letters from other residents who want an increase in the police force and a new police building. The expansion of Greenbelt in the last few years and the high daytime population have created the need for an increase, she said.

"We marvel at the level of professionalism, efficiency, and the morale of our officers despite the cramped and dismal surroundings" said a letter from the chairman of the security committee for Greenbriar Phase III.

"I think it's a miracle and good luck that even though our police department has been stretched to the limit, we get as good service as we do," Herling said.

The health of the officers, court appearances and earned vacations have stretched police coverage to a thin line of protection, Herling said.

In response, city manager James Giese said, "The question of a building is a matter for the bond issue. As to the need for additional manpower, it is a matter which the chief has indicated is a need and it will be reviewed."

New Officers

Two new police officers, who will begin active duty on May 8 after they graduate from the Baltimore County Police Academy, were sworn in at the March 4 council meeting by Mayor Gil Weidenfeld.

The mayor welcomed Troy Harding of Greenbelt and James Parker of Hyattsville to "the best police force there is."

Absentee Ballots

An ordinance to amend absentee voting regulations, which had been introduced at the Feb. 25 city council meeting by councilmember Toni Bram, was unanimously adopted.

The city charter had provided that absentee ballots would be delivered to the appropriate polling places within two hours after the closing of the polls and then be counted by the judge and an election clerk of the polling place. Because this procedure had become increasingly difficult, the Board of Elections recommended that the city code be amended to provide that absentee ballots be delivered to a place designated by the board and counted at that place by clerks whom the board would appoint for the purpose.

The new ordinance also insures that the validity or invalidity of absentee ballots shall be determined by the board on the same basis as prescribed by the state of Maryland.

A provision, section 9, has See COUNCIL, p. 6, col. 4

Lt. Krob Dismissal Reversed by Judge

The dismissal of Lieutenant John C. Krob from the Greenbelt Police Department has been ordered reversed by Judge G. R. Hovey Johnson of the Circuit Court for Prince Georges County, on the grounds that the dismissal decision was "arbitrary and capricious." The judge, in his order of March 11, remanded the case to Greenbelt's Chief of Police "for further action not inconsistent with this Order."

Krob was charged, in June 1982, with 27 violations of Police Department rules and regulations, including misconduct and misappropriation of property. A Police Review Board found him guilty of 13 charges and, in March 1983, recommended his dismissal. Then—Police Chief William Lane dismissed Krob that same month.

Krob appealed to the Circuit Court, and in July 1984 Judge Johnson ordered the case remanded to the Police Review Board for further proceedings. His order said that "in view of the fact that a wide range of punishments or combination of punishments such as demotion coupled with suspension without pay could be considered appropriate and in view of the fact that the Court can find no indication that the Board exercised any discretion before making its recommendation, this Court finds that the decision of the Board to dismiss was arbitrary and capricious."

In September 1984 the Police Review Board again met and again recommended dismissal. Police Chief Francis T. Hutson reaffirmed Krob's dismissal in early October 1984.

Krob appealed for a second time to the Circuit Court, and the current court order is the result. In the new order, Judge Johnson said, "The Court is ever mindful that it should not and cannot substitute its judgment for that of the Board or the Chief, but for the reasons stated in its (July 1984 Order), which were not substantially or convincingly corrected by the subsequent proceedings of record, this Court finds that the decision to dismiss Lieutenant Krob is arbitrary and capricious."

According to City Manager James Giese, the city has 30 days from the date of the court order in which to decide whether to appeal the decision.

Charette In Motion

by Sandra Barnes

Gears turn as citizens, city staff, architects, planners and Roosevelt Center Mall owner George Cristacos meet to plan a charette for the center area. A charette is the architectural term for a design executed within a designated brief timeframe, perhaps 12 hours. The charette is planned to occur on May 31 with the winning design announced on Greenbelt Day, June 2.

Following their first informational meeting, lay and professional persons have met as three separate planning groups. Heading up the umbrella group is Noreen Yoch of the Cultural Arts Center. One spin-off group is formulating a survey, an opinion poll on how should the center mall be improved or changed. A second group is working on the logistics of the charette, bringing the people together, conducting a tour of the city for the participants, making all of the physical arrangements. And the third group is the design group itself which is in charge of inviting the professionals to participate, setting the rules, picking the jury to judge the final drawings.

Each of these groups invites more participants. Contact the following people if interested in joining any of the groups planning the charette: Jim Parker, survey team, 345-9573; Noreen Yoch, logistics team, 682-8839; Konrad Herling, 345-9369, design team. Citizens are also invited to participate at next week's meetings in the Municipal Building: The design team will meet Tuesday, March 25 at 7:30 p.m.; the survey team, Wednesday, March 27, at 7:30; the logistics team, Wednesday, March 27, 8 p.m.

The latest addition to Greenbelt's Golden Triangle will be this four-story office building to be constructed by Oxford, a leading national real estate firm.

Oxford, Real Estate Firm, Builds in Golden Triangle

Oxford, one of the nation's leading full-service real estate firms, has secured a $9.4 million 20-year fixed-rate tax-exempt bond issued by Prince Georges County to construct an office building in Greenbelt. The 80,000 square-foot building will be located on a 2.5-acre site at the entrance to the Golden Triangle Business Park. The building will be national headquarters for Oxford Development Enterprises, Inc., the company's development and construction subsidiary, as well as for Oxford's Mid-Atlantic regional development and property management offices. Fifty percent of the office space will be available for other tenants.

Facing Greenbelt Park, Oxford's four-story building will be contemporary in design, with a rounded facade and glass curtain wall on one side and banded brick and glass on the remaining sides (see photo). Two levels of underground parking will be provided. Designed as an "intelligent" building, it will feature a master phone and telecommunications system and energy management controls.

Financing for the Greenbelt building was arranged by Oxford Mortgage and Investment Corporation (OMIC). As investment banker for all Oxford financing, OMIC placed in excess of $300 million in financing for affiliated projects in fiscal year 1984, including approximately $140 million in tax-exempt debt, $110 million in conventional mortgages and $50 million in private equity syndications.

Construction of the project will be supervised by Oxford Construction Services, under the direction of Thomas S. Bozzuto, Executive Vice President and Mid-Atlantic Regional Partner, and veteran developer-builder Bernard Lubcher. Oxford Management Company, Inc. will manage the completed office space, which is expected to be ready for occupancy in early 1986. Architectural design of the building was provided by Clark, Harris, Tribble & Li of Washington, D.C.

Since Oxford announced plans to expand its commercial development operations less than a year ago, the company's major focus of commercial development activity has been in offices and retail space, primarily in suburban locations. The company is also acquiring commercial property for research and development facilities and warehouse or distribution centers, and expanding into industrial property and shopping center development. Contract negotiations are progressing for the acquisition of several sites around the country.

"Throw-away Pets"

To the Editor:

Easter is coming up, and some people may think about getting live bunnies or chicks or whatever, usually for the kids. Please don't! Few people have the knowledge or inclination to care for these animals after the holiday. . . . Many are bought on impulse—"I felt sorry for them." This only encourages the store to keep selling them. They can't survive if released in the woods and often end up being neglected, abused, or put to sleep. . . .

Times Have Changed

To the Editor:

Is there a person alive who believes you can legislate morality? I am referring to the discussion now going on about the ruling stating that only married or blood relatives can live together in GHI houses. When this ruling was enacted Greenbelt homes were much less expensive to live in than they are now. At that time a retired person on a pension might have been able to afford to maintain a home and live alone.

Times have changed. For those who believe that morality can be legislated, I would like to say that when persons are intent on committing an immoral act, there is no way you can prevent it. This is the same kind of mentality that enacted Prohibition. It couldn't be enforced either. . . .

I am a middle aged widow. . . . When I became widowed I moved to Greenbelt, believing it to be the ideal community for a single retiree to live in. It is just ideal: perfect for walking, easy accessibility to stores and churches, etc. When I moved here less than a decade ago, it cost me half as much to maintain my house than it does now after the "wonderful rehab" project.

In less than a decade I will be retiring from my profession and living on a pension. I would like to take in a friend who is also a retired professional and share the home and expenses. That way we could maintain a nice home and manage to reside in this lovely community. I want to be able to live here—but once I retire and live on a pension I will be forced to leave because this ruling makes it illegal for me to share my home with someone in the same position I am in.

Statistics show that there are more widows in our society than couples of retirement age, because men die earlier. This ruling makes it impossible for a widow of moderate means to now live in GHI. Much could be said on this subject aside from the economics of it. It has been shown that it is better for seniors to socialize, widows do not often feel safe living alone, etc. . . . thanks to these naive dogooders, in less than a decade I will have to move out of this lovely town.

County Council Seeks Hoyer's Help to Save BARC Parcel

The Prince Georges County Council seeks to retain a 4.99-acre parcel of land at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) in open space.

In a letter to Rep. Steny Hoyer dated February 15, the county council expressed its concern that the small segment of land had been turned over for disposal to the General Services Administration.

The acreage originally was part of 71 acres of land declared surplus in 1973. At that time, all but the 4.99 acres were turned over to the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission (MNCPPC). The MNCPPC acreage has been developed as the Cherry Hill Community Park.

In the council's letter to Hoyer, chairman William B. Amonett said: "Parcel 4 was transferred to the United States Department of Health and Human Services as part of the disposition agreement for use by the Montgomery County Cerebral Palsy Association. The . . . Association later decided it did not want to utilize the site, and it reverted back to BARC and the GSA for disposition."

The letter stated that Hoyer has been instrumental in prohibiting fragmentation and development of BARC surplus land and asked for Hoyer's assistance in preventing disposal of the 4.99 acres for development. The council said that it prefers that the land "should also be conveyed, at no cost, to the MNCPPC for park and recreation purposes. This small piece would be a logical addition to the Cherry Hill Park (as originally proposed by the MNCPPC)."

"Get Hungry"

Prince Georges County Executive, Parris Glendening, and County Council announced they would fast in World Vision's "Get Hungry" campaign and challenged other Maryland county councils to join them. P.G. County residents to participate.

"Get Hungry" is a major grassroots fund-raising campaign sponsored by World Vision in Virginia, Maryland and Washington, D.C. The "Get Hungry" program will culminate in a 40-hour fast on April 26-28 to raise money for African famine relief. Details on participation are available from World Vision toll-free at 1-800-4-HUNGER.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.

B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.

C) Your qualifications:

- 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
- 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
- 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

Are Xrays Necessary?

When your dentist examines your mouth, he can actually see only about 1/2 of the total structures that need to be evaluated. The area between adjacent teeth as well as the roots and supporting bone are not visible.

Besides showing decay in the early stages, xrays also reveal abnormalities in tooth and root form, beginning bone degeneration, potential problems with developing wisdom teeth as well as areas of infection which may respond to early treatment.

Modern dental xray equipment is safe and efficient. The average single xray requires only one-tenth of a second compared to a full two seconds just a few years ago.

Tennis Tournament

It's time to oil those creaky joints and stretch out those rusty limbs. Spring seems to bring out those robust feelings and, for tennis players, a time to get serious about the season ahead.

The first tournament of 1985 will be held April 27, 28 and if necessary, into the next weekend. This will be a membership tournament — in other words, for members only.

Elsewhere in this issue of the News Review you should find an application for membership. Fill out form, include check, and mail to Joni Dies, 101 Northway, Greenbelt 20770, as soon as possible. A tournament entry form will be returned promptly.

Police Blotter

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

At 4:46 p.m. on March 10, officers responded to a trouble call in Edmonston Court and found an assault had taken place. An area check was made without results. The suspect was reported as possibly armed with a handgun.

On March 11 police arrested a man who had removed all his clothing near the ticket booth of the AMC 6 Theatres in Beltway Plaza. When ordered to dress, the suspect threatened a security officer with a razor. The suspect, an adult non-resident, was incarcerated in lieu of bond.

Two cases of vandalism occurred between 7 and 9 a.m. on March 11. A resident of the 5000 block of Cherrywood Lane reported that his convertible top had been slashed at 7:43 a.m. About an hour later, another complaint of the same nature was received from the 5000 block of Cherrywood Terrace.

A breaking and entering was reported at 11:40 p.m. in Springhill Terrace. Money was taken. Another breaking and entering occurred on March 9 on Ridge Road.

A red 1982 Honda motorcycle was stolen from Breezewood Drive on March 10.

Two more Datsun 200 SX were reported stolen. One theft took place in the 9000 block of Springhill Lane on March 14 and the other from the 9000 block of Springhill Terrace on March 12.

The Greenbelt police department reports that a new radar device is being put into use on city streets to help reduce the number of speeding motorists traveling in and through the city. The device differs from previously used systems because it is installed in a moving automobile. The police say the device is impartial: it will find both resident and non-resident speeders.

Soccer Kick Off

by Sue Cornelius

Saturday, March 24 will be the official start of Spring Soccer '85. Six of Greenbelt's seven teams will be playing at their home field — Windsor Green on Mandan Road. At 10 a.m. the eight year old teams will be playing each other, at 11 a.m. the 12 and 10-year-olds are scheduled; at 12:15 Greenbelt's two teams of 15 year olds will play. It's an ideal time to check out some of Greenbelt's soccer program. Our youngest team, the 6 and Under, will play at Robert Frost Elementary School on Good Luck Road. Spectators are encouraged to attend. All team pictures will be taken this Sunday, March 24, at Braden Field between 1-2 p.m.

All teams are now heavy into practice, working on both individual soccer skills as well as team tactics and strategies. At this point Spring Soccer has grown to include 125 players, ranging in age from 5 to 15. Every team is co-ed and includes some new and promising players as well as many old familiar faces.

An Irish Evening

Irish jigs, songs and soda bread drew about 100 people to the Greenbelt Library meeting on Tuesday, March 12 for an evening with The Blackthorn Stick, a local Irish dance group.

Many audience members were drawn into the dancing. Afterward, the Friends of the Greenbelt Library provided hot and cold drinks, sweet snacks and Irish soda bread baked by Barbara McGee Simon.

Senior Citizens Honored

Nominated by the Greenbelt Jaycees/Jaycee Women for their community involvement, Greenbelters Michael Burchick, Myrna Burchick, Frances Herling and Albert Herling were honored at a March 19 dinner recognizing outstanding senior citizens from across the state.

CITY NOTES

City Manager's Awards were made to the Members of the Employee Benefits Committee, which made a study of the existing and proposed employee benefits and submitted their recommendations to the City Council. Employees were selected by the members of each department and were responsible for seeking the advice of other city employees in their deliberations. Awards were given to members: Jane Connolly, Paul Fischetti, Tim Hahn, Kenny Hall, Harry James, Barbara Lawson, Pat McAndrew, Norman Lockerman, Karl Skaggs, Linda Urso and Barbara Havekost, Chairperson.

Another City Manager's Award was issued to Shirley Waller of the Building Maintenance Crew for performing her job in an excellent manner. Mrs. Waller was responsible for maintaining all city buildings for a week due to the absence of other crew members as a result of illness and there being a vacant position on that crew.

The general crew, with the electrician, completed the wiring and installation of the light on the flag pole at the monument. Drainage lines were also installed at the rear of the Youth Center near Braden Field No. 2 and work was done on the water lines to the J. C. Clubhouse.

The Parks crew fertilized and seeded the ball fields throughout the City. Much of the effort was concentrated on Braden Field No. 1. The skinned part of the infield, which is the area between first and third base, was rebuilt by adding fill dirt. The pitcher's mound is being rebuilt.

Special trash is heavier due to warm weather and people starting their spring clean up.

Castaldi Elected Chairman Suburban Transit Comm.

Prince Georges County Councilman Richard Castaldi has been elected chairman of the Washington Suburban Transit Commission (WSTC) for calendar year 1985. He has been a member of the WSTC since December 1982.

Castaldi also serves on the Board of Directors of the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority and has served as chairman of that agency in prior years.

On assuming the WSTC chairmanship, Castaldi noted that 1985 will be a year which promises great progress in public transportation programs for Prince Georges County. "The anticipated beginning of construction on the Greenbelt Metrorail line in 1985 will provide concrete evidence that our long-awaited rail line soon will be a reality," he stated.

Castaldi further noted that 1985 will be the year when renewed emphasis will be focused on improved bus transportation in the county. "With the great strides the county made in the rail system program over the past year," he said, "now it is time to shift gears and give special attention to Metrobus operations in the county."

The Transit Commission meets in public session on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 6 p.m., at the WSTC offices in Silver Spring.

Crime Prevention Corner

This is the first of a two-part series about the Greenbelt Crime Watch program. For further information about Crime Watch, please call the Greenbelt Police Department at 474-7200.

The Greenbelt Crime Prevention Committee and the Greenbelt Police Department sponsored a Crime Watch training session February 27 at the Greenbriar Community Center. The meeting was attended by about 35 Greenbelt residents, primarily from the Greenbriar/Glen Oaks area. What exactly is a Crime Watch training session, and what exactly does Crime Watch do?

Crime Watch training sessions educate residents about crime and criminal activity, disseminate tips on helping the Police Department combat crime, and provide a forum for neighbors to discuss crime-related problems in their area. Crime Watch is comprised of three phases: Neighborhood Watch, Home Security Surveys, and Operation Identification.

Corporal Doug Sappington of the Greenbelt Police Department explained that Neighborhood Watches are built from two integral parts — the "static watch" and the "mobile watch." Static watches are provided by people who have attended a Crime Watch training session. They have learned how to be more alert "observers." Static watchers know what may appear to be a routine activity at first glance may actually be a crime in progress.

Mobile watches are comprised of three-person teams: a driver, an observer, and a base station operator. The mobile watch patrols a defined area looking for unusual activities which could indicate a crime is in progress. If such an incident is spotted, the observer, via citizen band radio, contacts the base station operator. The base station operator then phones the police department which dispatches a cruiser to investigate.

Mobile watch participants never leave the safety of their car;

nor do they intervene — they simply apprise the police of a potential problem, thus allowing the police department to take the appropriate action. Mobile watchers don't have any sort of police authority, but have proven invaluable to the Greenbelt Police Department on numerous occasions just by providing extra "eyes and ears".

What are some of the "trouble signs" a Neighborhood Watcher looks for? Teenagers clustered around parked cars, particularly if packages are exchanged; flashlight beams from within a darkened house; a person running and carrying something of value (television, stereo, etc.); merchandise offered for sale on the street at ridiculously low prices; people peering into parked vehicles; and loiterers, both in business establishments and residential areas.

County Planning Day Set

The Prince Georges Planning Department of the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission will sponsor a "County Planning Day" on Saturday, March 30 at the County Administration Building in Upper Marlboro. The all-day program will start at 8:45 a.m. with coffee and doughnuts, followed by a welcoming session describing various workshops. County Planning Director John F. Downs, Jr., of Greenbelt will participate in the welcoming session at 9:15 a.m.

County Executive Parris Glendening will speak on "Managing County Growth." Workshop topics include "Planning Around Metro Stops," "Import of High Technology on the County" and "Planning for Special Populations." There is a fee. Call 952-3660 for more information.

Rabies Warning

Joseph T. Horman, D.V.M., M.P.H., Maryland Public Health Veterinarian, Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, warned Marylanders that they are at risk of getting rabies if they handle wild animals or stray cats or dogs.

Avoid handling pets that fight with raccoons or other wild animals for a period of two hours following the encounter. This waiting time gives possible rabies virus on the pet ample time to die.

Dr. Horman pointed out that an estimated 950 people in Maryland had to undergo post-exposure rabies treatment in 1984. He warned children should not touch any wild animal or any domestic animal that they do not know well. Hand feeding of squirrels also should be avoided. In 1983 and 1984 Maryland was number one in the nation for reported cases of animal rabies.

Cordless Phone Tips

When thinking of buying a cordless telephone, people probably don't think first of the Food and Drug Administration. But FDA has many responsibilities beyond pure foods and safe drugs — and the agency's recommendations on cordless phones could save peoples' hearing.

FDA recommends that people thinking about buying a cordless phone purchase one with the ringing mechanism on the outside of the earpiece — facing away from the ear. FDA has received about 100 complaints about people suffering impaired hearing or ringing ears as a result of cordless phones which have the ringing mechanism right in the earpiece next to the ear.

However, those people who already have a cordless phone which rings directly in the ear can minimize the danger if they make sure everyone in the family and visitors using the device know how to operate it safely so

Volunteers Needed

In order to respond to the needs in the community, particularly those of young people who need someone to talk to when they are feeling depressed or, at worst, suicidal, Prince Georges Hotline will begin to expand its hours of operation eventually to 24 hours. People who can work approximately three hours a week (preferably during the day or very late hours), and who are sensitive, caring and good listeners, should please call the office for an application to participate. Initial training will take place in early April.

the bell doesn't ring against the ear.

Anyone who has a paging feature which permits activation when the handset is in the "telephone conversation" mode, should use it with caution.

Children should not play with these phones. Keep them out of their reach.

GHI Board Shares Member Worries As New Cracks Appear in House Walls

by Mavis Fletcher

Continuing concern about structural problems in a building in the 6 Court of Hillside occupied by the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., at its regular meeting on March 14. According to General Manager Ron Colton, this building, generally conceded to have the most serious settling problem of any in GHI, began to show cracks in September after damaged brickwork was repaired in July and August. According to Colton's report to the board, the building is again settling and new cracks are appearing.

Lyon Associates, the firm which planned and helped inspect the repair work, had originally recommended injection of lime slurry into the soil to stabilize this building. At the request of GHI management, Lyons recently reinspected the row and advised that the cause of the cracks is the continued movement of the foundation.

Barbara Likowski, owner of one of the affected units, charged that the board had not kept members in the units informed during the structural repair program. She stated that the members had been given lots of information before the repair program began. This information showed plans for extensive structural repair, including the injection of lime slurry. According to Likowski, members in the units were never informed that the plans had been abandoned by the board. She said, "We had no idea that the lime slurry was not being done." She also suggested that the Audit Committee ought to "be on top of this."

Several board members appeared to agree with Likowski that communication with owners on plans for this building was inadequate. Board comments indicated that perhaps communication with the board was also inadequate. Director Wayne Williams said that although the lime slurry process had been dropped, he had been under the impression that other things were to be done to stop the settling. President Margaret Hogensen acknowledged that "as a board, we thought more was being done."

Several members of the board continued to express reservations about the lime slurry procedure. Director Debbie Hartwick recalled that the board had dropped the idea of using the lime slurry method because there was no history of its successful use in local soils.

As a step in finding a solution, the board voted 7-0-1 (with Director Don Volk abstaining) to contract with Geotechnical Services to make test borings and to install stress gauges to measure the amount and direction of cracking over the next six months. Hogensen said that she felt it was important to do any future repairs right and that, therefore, a long test period would be worthwhile. In response to a question by Director Frank Gervasi about whether the stress gauges would "tell us what we want to know," Jay Freedman, Superintendent of Contract Processing and Technical Services, assured the board that they would.

Directors Janet Cantwell and Mac Wirick raised another ominous possibility: are other buildings which had cracks repaired under the structural repair program showing signs of cracking again? By consensus, the board instructed management to check a sample of the buildings to determine whether the problems are recurring.

Fences, Fireplaces

Under member requests, the board granted a request for a 6-foot high, 45-foot long privacy fence to enclose the yard of a member in the 36 Court of Ridge Road. According to a report made by Aesthetics and Environment

Committee Chairman Michael Bordelon, the committee recommended approval of the fence, primarily because the yard backs up to woods and because the fence will not be in the line of sight of other neighbors. The adjacent neighbors who can see it had no objection to the fence. The board voted to allow the fence by a 6-1-1 vote, with Director Wayne Williams opposed and Director Mark Dombrowski abstaining. However, two members who were present at the meeting, Betty Deitch and Steve Polaschik, spoke against the exemption on principle, saying that a 6-foot fence is too high. Deitch expressed the opinion that such an exemption might set a precedent.

The board adopted new regulations also concerning fireplaces and wood-burning stoves. The regulations stipulate that chimneys must be cleaned annually. Fireplaces already in place and which were installed with GHI approval will not be required to be modified to meet the regulations unless they are in clear violation of county code; however, fireplaces which were installed without GHI approval will have to be modified to meet the regulations.

Polaschik, chairman of the Bylaws Committee, reported that the committee has dealt with most provisions of the bylaws and intends to complete its work on March 26. The board also received a draft of the bylaws for their preliminary consideration. The draft included comments from the committee and from corporation legal counsel. The board scheduled a work session to consider bylaws amendments on March 25 at 8 p.m. in the board room.

The Ups and Downs Of Flying Kites

by William Crompton

To keep more kites in the sky and out of trees, participants in the Recreation Department's annual Kite Flying Contest should keep in mind several pointers about the wind and their kites.

Most kites will fly steadily in 4-16 mph winds but will fly erratically in winds above 20 mph. Fliers can correct the balance of kites by adding weight to one side or by checking the position of the side sticks. To control a kite making quick loops, deepen the bow, lengthen the tail or wait for lighter wind.

For a sluggish kite, reduce the tail, lessen the bow or wait for more wind. If the kite seems top-heavy, the bridle may be too low or the bow too deep. Increase the length and weight of the tail. To calm a "skittish" kite, increase the bridle length, lengthen the tail or wait for less wind.

If the kite dives, raise the bridle position or add a tail. Release tension.

Ten Little Indians At Petrucci's

The classic Agatha Christie mystery comedy "Ten Little Indians" will be the next production at Petrucci's Main Street Dinner Theatre in Laurel. The play will run through April 14, 1985.

"Ten Little Indians" is the story of ten people all with suspicious pasts who are invited to a party at a sea and rock bound estate. They are then accused via phonograph record of their crimes and one by one called upon to pay the penalty of death. One of them must be the murderer — but who?

In keeping with the highly suspenseful "whodunnit" plot Petrucci's will also be having a "Guess Whodunnit" contest for every performance.

"Ten Little Indians" will play Thursday through Sunday evenings with selected Wednesday matinees. For more information or reservations call 725-5226.
