June Drive Seeks Volunteers, Funds In Support of the NEWS REVIEW

The "Friends of the Greenbelt News Review" will conduct a search for volunteer staff and a drive for funds for the 47-year-old newspaper throughout the month of June. "The News Review must continue publishing," insists Dave Lange, president of the newly-formed steering committee. Members of the committee were certain that Greenbelters will respond enthusiastically and generously to help resolve the critical problems facing the small staff in trying to meet the needs of fast-growing Greenbelt. June has been designated by the committee as "Greenbelt News Review Month."

An independent, non-profit newspaper, the News Review has been published every Thursday since 1937—never missing a week. Over the years the publication has grown from an average of four pages to eight and now runs eight to 16 pages. Delivered free, the newspaper's cir-ulation is now 9,800. With the growth of residential and commercial development in Greenbelt, it is likely that the pages of the newspaper will continue to increase.

The difficulties in coping with the many problems brought on by a growing community led the Board of Directors of the News Review to call for help. At a special meeting on March 11, News Review board president Elaine Skolnik told more than 25 representatives of the city's homeowner and tenant associations, "Our small staff is so busy publishing the paper each week that we cannot address the problems of finding volunteers and of soliciting more advertising. If the News Review is to see its 50th year—and the years beyond that—and if Greenbelters are to continue to know what goes on in their city, the News Review—we—desperately need your help. We must find new blood—a new generation of volunteers, and we need to know we have replacements."

Overwhelming Problems

The growth over the past several years of the problems confronting the paper was described to the group by Bill Rowland, Vice President of the News Review's board. He said that while the city has been growing, with related increases in news to be

Open Letter

It is the belief of the Friends of the Greenbelt News Review that our paper must be able not only to continue, but must also be able to expand its service within the community. If we, the citizens of Greenbelt, can all give a pledge, whether financial or a volunteer effort, those goals can be met.

As a committee we reach out to you and ask for your support. We have set a goal! We would like to acquire at least 30 new volunteers and raise a minimum of $15,000. Our goal is set and we need your help.

Please send your donation to: The Greenbelt News Review, P.O. Box 686, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770 and make your checks payable to the same. Also, please send us a letter or short note to the same address if you would like more information about staff jobs. We of the committee of course will also welcome any remarks that you may have regarding our endeavor.

The needs of the paper cannot be denied and our support of this 47-year-old institution is crucial. We have scheduled our drive for the month of June. Please show us your care for an improved paper by pledging early.

Weekend of Fun and Games To Mark Greenbelt Day

A three-day festival is planned for this weekend as the official observance of Greenbelt Day on June 2. Sunday is the 48th Anniversary of the incorporation of Greenbelt in 1937. The festivities will start on Friday with exhibits at the Youth Center starting at 10 a.m. and activities at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center beginning at 3 p.m. The municipal swimming pool will be open from 1-8:15 p.m. for recreation swimming.

A public forum at Utopia Theater at 7:30 p.m. will give residents an opportunity to express their opinions about the plans to revitalize the center before the design Charette. The Charette will start at Center School at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Starting at 8 a.m. with a tennis tournament, Saturday is packed full of activities with something for everyone. Greenbelt library will celebrate its 15th anniversary with day-long activities, films and refreshments. A moonlight swim at the pool from 8:30-10:30 p.m. will end the day.

Sunday at noon, the Charette teams will make their presentations and jury deliberations will begin. The winning design for the Roosevelt Center Mall renovation will be announced at 3 p.m.

An anniversary ceremony on the mall featuring the mayor and city council is slated for 2 p.m. Sunday, followed by a performance by the Greenbelt Concert Band.

For a detailed schedule of events with exact times and other information, see the complete listing elsewhere in this paper.

CFG Members to Testify At Metro Public Hearing

Several members of the Transportation Committee of Citizens for Greenbelt will testify at the Metro Board Public Hearing on proposed bus route changes Tuesday, June 4 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School at 7:30 p.m.

Irene Hensel, Committee Chair, said at their meeting at her home on May 20 that they are particularly concerned over the proposed elimination of early morning and evening express service to New Carrollton via the R-15 bus and changes to the R-11 bus schedule affecting Springhill Lake commuters. The record will be held open for five days after the hearing to allow those interested to mail their letters.

Other committee concerns are the support of a possible trial run in the fall of a fixed-stop program for the City Bus and the expansion of the Dial-a-Ride service. Plans are also underway for a committee study of pedestrian crossways.

Any member interested in joining this committee may call 345-2756. Members who have not paid their 1985 dues are asked to mail them now to Lekh Batra, Treasurer, 45-M Ridge Road.

GHI Members Vote to Convert Boiler Rooms As Dwellings; Hogensen Leads Board Ticket

by Mavis Fletcher

Members of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., reelected three incumbents — Margaret Hogensen, Debbie Hartwick and Wayne Williams — to the Board of Directors and chose three new faces — Todd Amani, David Warner and Nancy Hutchins — to fill out the six openings. The five top vote-getters (see box) were elected for two-year terms; Hutchins was elected for one year to complete the term of Mark Dombrowski, who resigned last month.

For the Audit Committee, Andrea Haslinger, Beverly Colvin and Charles Hess were elected to one-year terms. Two hundred and thirty-five GHI members voted in the May 23 election.

At the annual membership meeting on May 22, GHI members elected Mary Moien, Steve Sinden, Sandra Smith, John Taylor and Suzanne Plogman to the Nominations and Elections Committee. The first four were incumbents of the committee.

At the annual meeting, where 139 voting cards were issued, the membership approved the conversion of the four large, free-standing boiler plants and the unsold small boiler rooms attached to the frame units to new living space. The issue of the small boiler rooms was left over from the 1984 annual meeting. At that time a motion to allow the sale of these rooms to a non-adjacent member was tabled. That motion was not specifically recalled; however, the same concept was voted down in the defeat of a motion by a member who wished to purchase the small boiler room in his court for additional living space. Member Ben Elkins summed it up when he said that he would like to "accommodate special needs" but felt that the corporation should concentrate on the greatest market—in this case, the demand by retirees for a place to live.

After ascertaining that no work would be undertaken without a firm purchase contract for the new units and that the new units would become part of the frame homes account, members voted by a show of voting cards to approve the conversion of these buildings to new living space. The motion passed by a

Trust Politicians

To the Editor:

I cannot agree with Franklin Gage that "our democracy is really endangered" when we have a willingness to trust politicians. When the Gages of this world insist that politicians are "repeatedly . . . involved in either outright corruption, well intentioned but inept actions, or zealotry in promoting an issue at the expense of fair and balanced debate," they are scorning democracy because they are saying its service attracts only venal people. Certainly there may be from time to time unattractive individuals or incidents, but a wholesale categorization of politics and politicians as unwholesome does not smack of belief in a viable democracy.

When Gage says that he feels himself superior "to politicians when it comes to economic decisions . . . I also believe other people . . . are too"—a remarkable statement when one considers that in a democracy the politicians must be the ones who make economic decisions—he says that this belief is based on the moral and material superiority of societies such as the United States versus Russia and Ethiopia.

There are no politicians in a dictatorial state. Politics is the art of compromise and assumes for its existence free debate. There is neither free debate nor compromise in a totalitarian state. It is true that people jockey for position behind the scene, but to the external world there is only one decision and that is to be accepted as the best, without argument.

I'm sorry, Mr. Gage, but we cannot separate democracy from politicians, and politicians are people like ourselves, with our weaknesses but also with our strengths. We elect them to represent us in the directing of our common affairs. Democracy is not perfect, nor all the politicians who are a necessary part of democracy, but it is the best system yet found. I prefer it to monarchy, theocracy, anarchy, any benevolent despotism—and certainly to the state systems of either Russia or Ethiopia. I will trust politicians until I have hard evidence to convince me not to do so and that on an individual basis.

Clarification

The News Review has received information concerning a Greenbelter who is trying to accumulate enough money to permit him to enter the special Olympics. He is asking the community help in this endeavor. However, no person was listed as being in charge of the campaign to raise funds or any telephone number. No name has been given to which checks might be addressed nor any address given to which to send them. Before such a campaign can be published, the News Review needs the above information.

THANKS

To the Editor:

I would like to express my thanks to all those who voted in the election for the GHI Board. I look forward to serving on a Board of Directors made up of committed and responsible members.

The Board will be dealing with many important issues over the next few years—I will need the input of members to be an effective representative. I hope members feel free to contact me about any community concerns.

Swim Team News

Practice continues on weekday evenings at 7 p.m. at the pool. The swim team is open to all Greenbelt residents 6-18 years old and non-resident pass holders. As soon as school ends practice will switch to mornings.

These first practices are usually chilly and are held in the deep end of the pool. Younger children might want to wait until morning practices begin.

The coach strongly urges parents to make sure their children have goggles. The Recreation department reminds parents who come onto the deck of the pool to watch practice to remove their shoes.

The swim team always needs new swimmers. Any questions will be answered by Betty Sonneveldt, 345-1033, or Gail Drake, 345-2522.

Visit to the Greenbelt News Review

It is late, about 9 p.m. on a Monday night, yet it is time for a final meeting with the Greenbelt News Review staff regarding the upcoming drive for the paper in June. Located at 15 Parkway in the basement of one of the GHI apartment buildings the News Review office is reached after you pass through three doors. Looking into the works of the operation in dim surroundings, one sees the obvious need for both financial and volunteer support.

A seat is provided for me at the end of the working table and I wait while staff members attempt to finalize an article before the meeting can begin. It gives me time to examine the surroundings. Not only has our city's self supporting paper been in existence for 48 years, much of the equipment that is used can also be dated back that far. Underwood typewriters stored on top of the filing cabinets are no longer in use, and only one old electric and several manual typewriters are available for the nimble and patient fingers of the typists.

The phone is ringing, but I cannot locate the equipment. A staffer disappears behind the rows of file cabinets and reaches high up on one to answer the phone. Next I am distracted by conversation at the ad desk, where a resident is asking for a photo copy of her ad. A short chuckle is followed by an explanation that the paper does not have the benefit of such modern equipment. The bookkeeper sits close to the ad desk balancing the monthly records. The calculator used is brought from home—the office adding machine is older than its user.

The night is now Tuesday, a week later, and we're meeting once more, but the News Review is once again short-staffed, so the time allotted will be cut short because of more pressing demands. An assortment of chairs surrounds the long tables, and although some chairs are risky all remain and continue to serve the needs of the office.

Interruptions continue throughout the discussion: "Elaine, where is the other pair of scissors?" "Mary Lou, we only had two reporters last week, therefore some events that required coverage were missed!" "Elaine, our delivery was missed last Thursday night because the papers were not delivered until 11 p.m. from the printer." A rather lengthy discussion takes place on the need to meet with the circulators to stress the importance of delivery.

Several staffers are editing and cutting, but some of the articles will have to be deleted this week because it is necessary to keep the paper to 12 pages in order to cut printing costs. The meeting is ended and I leave. It's 11:30 p.m. and the volunteers continue to work on the articles for the Tuesday night deadline. Once again I am reminded that the paper is run by volunteers, rewarded by satisfaction only, not by salary, working out of a love for Greenbelt and its people.

Improvements are needed, no doubt, but the costs of this paper, provided free to Greenbelt residents, are on the rise. The need for volunteers and up-dated equipment is crucial. Greenbelt needs a News Review that keeps pace with the city's growth.

We need YOU!
Please support our cry for help. Please give your financial support and/or help in the weekly miracle of our paper by volunteering your knowledge and expertise to the Greenbelt News Review.

The paper's cash reserves are almost depleted. Rowland told the group, primarily because it has been difficult to find volunteers who will solicit advertising on a regular long-range basis.

Help Is Offered

The group of community representatives was swift to respond. A steering committee was formed and wheels were set in motion (1) to publicize the newspaper's critical need for a significant increase in staff by describing the News Review's situation in the associations' respective newsletters, (2) to identify and make personal contact with potential staff recruits in their respective neighborhoods, and (3) to conduct a fund drive for funds to pay for larger papers when advertising revenues fall short, to ensure a more reliable delivery operation and to help provide overall operational stability.

Citizens Comment on Road Improvements

by Mary Lou Williamson

Two more sections of streets in the original portion of Greenbelt will be brought up to current city standards with federal funding for the 11th year coming from Community Development Block Grants. The improvements — base repair, resurfacing and some widening of the streets; curbs and gutters; and a sidewalk along one side of the street — are proposed for the length of Gardenway and for Ridge Crescent Roads from Westway to the 4 court of Crescent.

The city held a public hearing on May 20 prior to the regular council meeting in order to obtain citizens' comments and concerns on the proposed plans. The work is expected to be done before this winter.

No trees will be lost, according to City Manager James K. Giese, and where hedge rows must be moved, the city crews will undertake the work rather than outside contractors, thus assuring careful treatment of residents' yards. Because the streets are not always centered within the right-of-way, in some areas additional easements will be needed from Greenbelt Homes.

Costs

The plans, prepared by Greenman-Pederson, Inc., a Laurel Engineering firm, estimate the costs of the two projects at about one third above the grant money allowed. The Gardenway portion is projected to cost $92,000 and the Crescent/Ridge, $180,000. Giese listed several options for the additional funding: next year's CDBG funds, this year's reserve for capital improvements (replacing other street projects) or previous years' unappropriated surplus. On the other hand, cuts in the proposals could reduce the cost.

Sidewalks

Five foot wide sidewalks are planned along the curb of Gardenway on the west side (even numbered courts) and on the outside curve along Ridge and Crescent Roads. In a number of courts, the sidewalks would bring pedestrians within ten feet or less of a resident's window. Tony Durantine 7 Crescent, objected to the "perimeter" sidewalk. "We already have internal sidewalks," he told council. "If we're going to take the green out of Greenbelt, this is the way to do it," he added. "This sidewalk would be very close to my window." Linda White, 5 Crescent, wrote of her objections in a letter to council.

Charles Hagelans, 3 Crescent disagreed with them. "We are in favor of the proposed improvements, especially the sidewalk," he emphasized. "From my court we have to walk in the street or in a ditch. Either is very hazardous for me and my family. If something has to be cut . . . please, not the sidewalk."

Keith Chernikoff and Ben Rosenzweig, both of 4 Crescent Rd., agreed with Hagelans.

"It is a hazardous area for pedestrians who live on the outside of the circle."

Stanley Edwards, 3 Gardenway, suggested some of the money might (better) be used (to repair) existing sidewalks." Edwards, who said he walks around Greenbelt a lot, spoke of a number of places where the sidewalks are badly deteriorating.

Council member Thomas X. White said he had no problem with placing sidewalks along the perimeter of the GHI neighborhood. "those areas never had an inner walkway system." But he was concerned about setting a precedent on lateral streets. "I am concerned about sidewalks on Gardenway," he cautioned, where sidewalks were not part of the original design.

Member of council Antoinette Bram disagreed with White, saying, "Gardenway, as a connector between Greenbriar and the Center, is a unique situation."

Stephen Curtis saw the new sidewalks as "complementary, not competitive" with the original design. "People are walking in the streets," he pointed out, adding "the inner walkway effectively closes down after dark."

Curbs and Gutters

Continuing his offense against unnecessary alterations to the original design concept, White said, "(standard) curbs and gutters do serious injustice to the original plan." He chastised Giese for not yet providing to council the written report White had requested on alternatives to the current curb design and then stopped Giese in mid-sentence when he began to outline those alternatives. "The current standards were established before I came to Greenbelt," said Giese, who often has been the target of those residents who have strenuously resisted changing the rural character of Greenbelt's original roads. Giese also speculated that it would be difficult today to find a contractor who still has old style forms for pouring concrete curbs.

Those streets that have been improved with curbs and gutters have a finished look, it really looks very nice," said Stanley Edwards, in defense of Giese.

Objections

The plans for Gardenway would "destroy the attractiveness, and safety of the area," said Gardenway resident Bart Ingraham. "I've heard nothing to show a need for the improvements," which he termed a "needless expense." The street, he said, "is very attractive in its present form." Its narrowness, he suggested, "has the effect of slowing down the traffic." Sidewalks — luring small children on trikes to the steep hill — would be an attractive nuisance.

Bram challenged his reasoning. "Gardenway is very narrow. There's a safety problem with buses on that street. What about the students crossing the overpass?" Ingraham said he hadn't seen many. He challenged the need and method of improvement to the street. Giese asked Peter Hedrick, who was at the hearing to represent Greenman-Pederson, to comment. In Hedrick's opinion, the road surface does need maintenance now and the proposed plans should "prolong the life of the road at least 10 years. Ten to 20," he said. Putting off the work, he continued, would mean more extensive reconstruction later.

Along the upper part of Gardenway, suggested dentist Clayton McCarl, "some of the improvements are unnecessary and some are undesirable." North of Ridge Road, "Gardenway is a quiet parking lot. Even with a sidewalk, the high school students would continue to use the center of the road," he claimed. "But with only one car per half hour,

AIDS Test Sites Set Up

Maryland has now established Alternate Test Sites (ATS), where individuals who may be at high risk of developing (AIDS) may be tested for the presence of antibody to HTLV-III virus, commonly associated with the disease, the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene and other community groups announced today. For information about test sites, call 301-383-2618.

it's no big deal."

Giese acknowledged that placing a sidewalk on either side of the street would be difficult. The sidewalk, as currently planned, would be close to McCarl's window.

large majority. An alternative motion, which would have allowed some of the boiler rooms to be converted to rental storage lockers for GHI members, was tabled.

The matter of the four large boiler rooms proved to be more complicated. The board acting on a member survey which showed high interest in a community center, had proposed that the plant on Research Road be converted to that use. Donna Gomez of 2-G Research Road, who stated that she was representing others in the neighborhood, objected to the community center on grounds of noise, shortage of parking, and litter. She urged that the plant be demolished.

Despite urging by some other speakers to demolish all four plants, the membership merely quashed the idea of a community center. The motion failed on a show of voting cards. The members then voted, 67 to 23, to authorize conversion of these four plants to new living space with essentially the same provisos as in the case of the small boiler rooms: No construction to be undertaken without a purchaser, all costs to be recovered in the purchase price, and the units to be added to the cooperative with mutual ownership contracts.

Rehabilitation Approved

In a third major issue dealt with by the membership, authorization was granted to secure a loan for rehabilitation of the 29 larger townhomes. The motion, approved by a near-unanimous show of voting cards, provides that the masonry and frame homes will not be encumbered by this loan and that all costs will be borne by the owners of the 29 units.

At about 11 p.m. the meeting fell apart on the issue of bylaw amendments. Whether it was due to the late hour or the prospect of extended speeches on some of the amendments, members began leaving the meeting almost as soon as the issue was introduced. When a quorum call was made, a count showed that the number of members present had fallen to 67, well below the 75 members needed for a quorum. President Margaret Hogensen warned those remaining to hear her that it would be necessary to have a special meeting to deal with bylaws.

Without a quorum the meeting was recessed. Therefore, no action was taken on a petition to reduce the size of the board from nine members to five.

Other highlights of the meeting were the granting of awards. Former General Manager Shekar Narasimhan returned briefly to accept a plaque honoring him for his service to GHI. Hogensen praised his skill in working with the staff and the help he gave "a new president" as well. Hogensen also awarded a plaque and a check to Maureen Osborne, who was chosen as this year's Most Valuable Employee.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" Opens June 7 at Utopia

The Greenbelt Players end their 1984-85 play season with the perennial favorite tale of mystery and madness "Arsenic and Old Lace," which opens Friday, June 7, at 8:15 p.m. at the Utopia Theater.

The fourteen-member cast will be toasted at an Opening Night Gala after the performance. Tickets for opening night will be available at the Arts and Crafts Fair this Saturday or can be reserved by calling 441-8770.

The Joseph Kesslering play is a twisting tale of skulduggery. The Greenbelt Players' cast includes many familiar faces from past plays among them Judy Holland, Director Marie Tousignant, Jeff Beyrent and Miss Greenbelt of 1984 Angela Schreiber (who played the title role here in "Diary of Anne Frank"). Many new faces fill out the cast, including two assistant directors: Donalee Hill of Bowie and Leslie Peiken of Laurel.

The play runs Friday and Saturday nights through June 29, and an interpreter will be present on Friday, June 14 for audience members who have impaired hearing.

ARTS CENTER TO BENEFIT FROM RUNNERS' ENERGY

The many runners, joggers and walkers in the Greenbelt area and their friends are invited to participate in a benefit run or walk for the Greenbelt Arts Center on Saturday, June 15, in the beautiful and safe Greenbelt National Park off Greenbelt Road. At 8:30 a.m. a 1 1/2 mile run or walk will start at the Holly Picnic area. At 9 a.m. a 5-mile run or walk will be held. Participants may run or walk at their own pace and everyone will receive a time certificate.

The first 200 who register will be eligible for a T-shirt commemorating this event. Early registration before race day is encouraged. Entry blanks are available at most Greenbelt Center stores and the Recreation Department. Registration will be available one hour before the race start. Call 345-8395 in the evenings for further information.

The first three men and women finishers in the 5-mile will receive special awards and there will be age group awards. There is an entry fee for the benefit of the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center.

Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

When does teething begin?

A child's deciduous ("baby") teeth usually begin to erupt at about 6 months of age. The first teeth to appear are the two lower front teeth (incisors). All twenty "baby" teeth normally are in place between age 2 and 2 1/2. Although these are average ages, and your child may vary by a few months, you should consult your dentist if there are less than 20 teeth by age three.

Teething may make your child uncomfortable and irritable, but, it has not been shown to cause any illness. If your child shows signs of illness, consult your physician for advice. To make your child more comfortable, have him bite on a cool clean teething ring or rub the gums with your finger. Baby aspirin or other pain reliever may be helpful, but is never to be placed on teeth or gums, only swallowed according to package directions.

There are three key elements to consider:

- A.) Your needs: things you positively have to have. B.) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need. C.) Your qualifications: 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in) 2) Your total income (gross yearly income) 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

New Markers at Lake Ready for June 1 Races

by Larry Noel

Greenbelt runners, joggers and walkers will have an opportunity to make use of the new distance markers around the Greenbelt lake path at two races Saturday morning, June 1. Everyone is invited to run, jog or walk at their own pace. Everyone will be timed and receive a ribbon on which to record this event. Other awards will be made by the Greenbelt Running Club. There is a small entry fee. The 1 1/4 mile will start at 9 a.m. and the 2 1/2 mile at 9:30. Sign up one-half hour before the race.

The 1.274 Attick Park trail around Greenbelt Lake has been marked with 12 white cylinders with black markings designating 1/8 mile (220 yard) points in either direction. Bruno Zanin of Lakeside Drive conceived the idea of using inconspicuous yet recognizable markers and obtained, painted and installed them. Larry Noel of the Prince Georges Running Club and Zanin measured the shortest distance around the main lake path.

People use both directions going around the lake so to avoid using two complete sets of markers, one for each direction, because the path is not an even 1 1/4 miles, two starting and finishing points were used 42 yards apart. To go counter clockwise (ccw) for 1 1/4 miles start at the refreshment stand and go toward the dam. The 1/8 mile point is at a pole near the center of the dam, conveniently already in place. The 1/4 mile point is a short distance into the woods. On the other side of this marker is the 1 mile point going the other way. Each 1/8 of a mile point is indicated on the marker for both directions. The finish of the 1 1/4 miles going counter clockwise is at the double set of markers 42 yards before reaching the refreshment stand. To go clockwise (cw) for 1 1/4 miles start 42 yards from the refreshment stand and go all way around the lake, cross the dam and finish at the refreshment stand.

Many runners simply turn around at the mile points, check their watch for their pace and run any distance they want without computing fractional distances. In hot weather, particularly, it is advisable to run clockwise as almost the entire distance for one mile is in the shade.

A map showing all the locations for 5 and 10 kilometers (3.1 and 6.2 miles), respectively, and 5 and 10 mile points and the distance for each lap up to 10 will be available soon at the city offices and the recreation department.

THANK YOU GREENBELT

The highest compliment I receive is the opportunity to treat a new patient who has been referred to our office by one of our family of patients. Over the past 16 years it has been my distinct pleasure to serve this community.

I am pleased to announce the expansion of our practice in ways we feel will better serve our growing family of patients. It has long been our desire to offer the best dental care we could provide, in a positive patient-oriented environment. At our new location, in the Greenway East Professional Center, we believe we have accomplished this.

Additionally, because many of our patients have busy work schedules, we now have available — evening and Saturday hours. After diligently searching for the right dentist to help maintain these additional hours I'm proud to introduce Dr. Dana Anthony Perno as the latest addition to our staff. Dr. Perno grew up in Uniontown, PA and graduated Cum Laude from West Virginia University, receiving his D.D.S. Degree in 1983. He and his wife Beth reside in Silver Spring. His hobbies and interests are varied with a strong affinity for sports.

We look forward to providing the type of patient care which gives us the opportunity to say "Thank You".

Sincerely,

Dr. Norman Mitchell
