PG County Council to Hear Applications For Rezoning Tidler, Smith-Ewing Tracts

by Elaine Skolnik

Six rezoning applications for the Tidler and Smith-Ewing tracts (see map) will be considered on June 24 by the Prince Georges County Council. The meeting is scheduled at 10 a.m. in the County Administration Building in Upper Marlboro. At the hearing the District Council will have to resolve differing judgments from various advisory bodies concerning whether or not to approve rezoning on the tracts.

On April 8 the County Zoning Hearing Examiner recommended that the commercial portions of the applications be denied but that the residential portions be approved. Earlier the staff of the Prince Georges Planning Board acted similarly. This board, however, reversed its staff and approved the commercial requests.

On the home front, the Greenbelt City Council unanimously opted for approval of all applications with the blessing of organizations representing Greenbriar, Windsor Green, Glen Ora, and Hunting Ridge developments. (These are all located near the Smith-Ewing and Tidler tracts.)

In giving the green light to all the applications, city council and the associations felt that the final agreement reached with the developers was the best compromise—one that (1) eliminated the possibility of high-rise apartments (R-10, 48 units per acre) on the already R-10 zoned Smith-Ewing tract, (2) gained single-family homes on the Tidler property, and (3) established covenants dealing with development and building height restrictions, buffers, and traffic studies.

Located in Greenbelt on the east side of Hanover Parkway, and south of Greenbelt Road, the properties total 105.19 acres — 21.82 acres on Smith-Ewing property and 83.37 on Tidler.

Proposed development on Smith-Ewing would include one mid-rise and two low-rise office buildings on 17 acres in the commercial office zone (C-O) and a 136-unit low-rise hotel — the Brooks Residence Inn — on four plus acres in the commercial shopping center zone (CSC).

On the drawing boards for the Tidler property are 109 detached single-family homes on 39.43 acres in the R-55 zoning category, which permits up to 4.2 units an acre. These homes would be constructed south of Windsor Green. About 232 townhouses would be located on 34.25 acres. The majority of the units would be situ-

Charrette, Holiday Inn, Farmgate, New Legislation, Keep Council Busy

by Leta Mach

On June 10, council zipped through a long list of agenda items pausing, however, for a lengthy discussion of the design charrette done on Roosevelt Center.

While the direction of the charrette — toward an improved center — was not in question, the future leadership role of charrette participants was questioned. Since each design had worthwhile elements and none was declared overall winner, it had been suggested that the areas of commonality among the designs be determined so that guidelines for the Center's improvement could be established. Norene Yoch, charrette leader, explained that charrette participants intended to meet to determine commonality and draft guidelines. Council member Thomas White, however, felt "It's premature for another group to draft guidelines without council seeing the raw data." Concerned about safety, walkways, etc., he added, "At an early time, I'd like to see council back in its role."

Mayor Pro-tem Richard Pilski agreed. He felt, "All the work that was done was well done, but council needs to move with staff's direction, not the charrette's". Councilmember Ed Putens agreed that staff should prepare a presentation. City Manager James Giese noted that staff would meet with county and state officials to explore sources of financing. Citizen Keith Chernenikoff reminded everyone to also consider an earlier study on the Center done by Park and Planning.

Perhaps councilmember Toni Bram best explained the charrette group's motivation, "It's obvious the charrette's been working all along and they want to bring it all together." Yoch explained that city staff would be present at the charrette group's meeting, but she noted succinctly, "Folks can meet with or without me." Bram concluded, "We shouldn't now turn our backs on this group."

Development

Consideration of other items dealing with development did not take as long. Council decided to hold discussion of a proposed addition to the Holiday Inn until a work session on highway improvements and their relationship to new development. Council agreed with developer Terry Coakley who said, "We believe the best time to discuss this matter is during a work session." As is traditional, council took no position on liquor licenses — a transfer from McDoogal's to Damon's and a new one for Martin's Crosswinds.

Farmgate

Council was pleased to approve the preliminary plan for subdivision for Farmgate parcel 3. The example set by this development would be "extremely helpful for the overall development of the city," explained White. The 2.9 acre parcel located on the northeast side of Research Road adjacent to the Agricultural Research Center is divided into six lots. The plan provides for dedication of a 10-12 foot wide strip of land at the back of the lots at

N.R. Campaign Committee Encouraged by Good Week

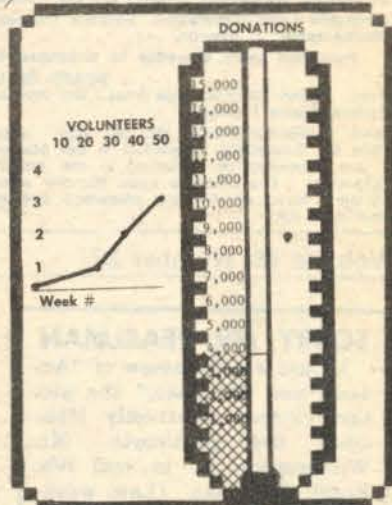

by David Lange

Wow! What a campaign week! Sixteen volunteers and over $2,000 in donations in one week! New advertisers are asking for rate cards and are sending in additional ads. People are sending complimentary letters with their donations that lift the spirit of the News Review staff! Thank you for your strong and continuing support!

Philip Schmitt, Greenbriar, said, "A tough informative, newsy paper—ESSENTIAL reading for ALL Greenbelters!" His donation was made in the memory of Charles Schwan. The Greenbelt Golden Age Club sent a large donation, including some collected at the monthly luncheon sponsored by the American Legion, Post 136. Sidney Brown, owner of Beltway Plaza, wrote, "Greenbelt has come a long way and so has your newspaper. Your dedicated volunteers have much to be proud of and it is proper that the Greenbelt citizens and property holders should rally to support your effort to keep up with the needs of our fast growing city." Margaret Rice, Green Ridge House, said, "I have lived in Greenbelt for six years. I think Greenbelt is great and so is the News Review! I look forward to receiving the paper every week."

One person wrote from New York. She is looking for a house in Greenbelt to rent or buy and subscribed to the News Review for 2 months to learn more about our town. She plans to volunteer once they find a home and move in!

Two new proofreaders, Walter Penney and Jack Brickman, helped with last week's paper. Two new writers, Laura Beall and Norman Scherstrom, are working on future articles. Other people on the list of volunteers (51 to date!) are being called and interviewed to find the most appropriate jobs for them. However, many positions are open and need to be filled. The advertising "department" needs a manager, sales people, and clerks. Most areas of Greenbelt need circulation monitors who will be called on only when their area has a problem. Springhill Lake needs a circulation manager. And more reporters are always needed. Call Mary Jo Amani, 474-7471, and a News Review staffer will be in touch with you about opportunities to help your community and to meet an enjoyable group of hard workers

Please keep the donations coming in too! The $2024 this week raised the total for the three weeks to $3499. However, last week's 12-page paper did not contain enough ads to pay its costs. If we can reach our goal of $15,000, the paper can be expanded in coverage and photos without always depending on each week's advertising revenues. Money will be available to improve circulation and possibly pay nominal salaries for key staffers. The antique equipment could be sent to the Smithsonian, when replaced by newer (electric!) gear.

Ten more days in the June campaign and many jobs need to be filled. We are $11,500 short of our goal to provide financial stability. Many have helped so far! Now we need the rest of you to help, too.

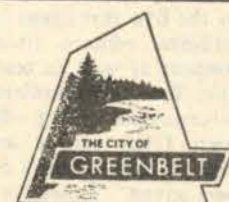

Green Line Funded; Glendening Responds

County Executive Parris Glendening issued a response Tuesday to the release of $24 million by the UrbanMass Transit Administration which will allow construction to begin on the Green Line in Prince Georges County. "We are very happy that UMTA Administrator Ralph Stanley has released these funds. The citizens of Prince Georges County have waited many years for Metrorail in North County. Many business and housing decisions have been made in expectation of this Metrorail line. We are very pleased that we will now be able to begin construction."

The $24 million being released by UMTA is part of a 1984 federal mass transit construction grant.

Glendening explained that the Prince Georges portion would be used for the first stage of the Green Line, the construction of tunnels leading to the West Hyattsville Station.

"The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority will immediately advertise for bids for this project," Glendening explained. See GREEN, page 3, col. 4

Meeting Set to Reorganize Teen Club at St. Hugh's

by Sandra Barnes

On Sunday, June 2, approximately 40 teenagers and their parents gathered in the bleachers at Braden Field to discuss the disbanding of the St. Hugh's Teen Club. Parents of Teen Club members had received a letter dated May 30 from the Reverend John Stack, their pastor, informing them that the "Teen Club would be disbanded for the summer and a new direction, more in keeping with a church sponsored organization," would be taken.

A participant in the Braden Field meeting described the group as quiet and orderly, not a demonstration. After discussing the matter, the teenagers and parents decided to go to St. Hugh's to request that the Rev. Stack meet with representatives of the group at a future time.

According to a spokesman for the Greenbelt City Police Department, a juvenile member of the Teen Club went to the police department to request that the police check on the welfare of the pastor. When the police officers arrived at St. Hugh's, they located the pastor in the rectory and no police assistance was required. The squad cars, which responded to the call stayed only about seven minutes, the police said.

Wayne Williams, one of the parents present, stated that after the police left the rectory, a list of five people was submitted to the Rev. Stack requesting a meeting. He further reported that Stack agreed to meet with a group of parents, including one of those on the list and four others of his choice. According to Mary Ann Eley, one of the parents present at two subsequent meetings with the Rev. Stack, her priorities were to obtain a deacon for the club and to assure that Rose Bistany would continue in her role.

Bistany, a former member of the Teen Club and its leader for the past several years told the News Review that the disbanding of the Teen Club resulted from a trip to King's Dominion during which two guests of teen club members are alleged to have drunk beer on the return trip, a violation of both the Teen Club code of conduct and State law. Other disturbances on the bus are also alleged to have occurred.

Following a written complaint by the bus company to the church, Rev. Stack disbanded the Teen Club.

In a subsequent letter to parents dated June 12, the Rev. Stack invited parents and teens to an organizational meeting on Sunday, June 30, in Grenoble Hall to discuss "a new program . . . under new leadership." He stated in the letter that he had obtained the services of Father Patrick O'Connell of the Legionaires of Christ, to be spiritual leader of the group.

On June 11, Bistany stated she met with Rev. Stack and was told she could no longer work with the teens of St. Hugh's because of her "confrontational" manner. Following a life-long association with the church and teen club, Bistany finds this very hard to accept. However, she stated pragmatically, "If I want to be involved in youth ministry I'll have to go somewhere else."

Bistany further commented that she advised teens and their parents to attend the June 30 meeting to find out what the new group is all about, and to approach the situation with an open mind. She does not want to be the cause of any divisiveness either within the church or within the Teen Club she said.

Eley said she looked forward to the reorganization of a new club under new leadership. Others, however were skeptical. This incident is one of a series of changes at St. Hugh's that have occurred since Rev. Stack came to the parish earlier this year and which have been reported in area newspapers.

Editor's Note: Rev. Stack declined to be interviewed, saying that the disbanding of the Teen Club was in internal church matter.

Greenbelters Speak At Metro Hearing

by Noreen Yoch

Greenbelters turned out in force for the Metro Bus hearing held at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on June 4.

Led by Mayor Gil Weidenfeld and Councilman Thomas X. White, residents expressed their concern about the planned elimination of one-half of the runs of Route R 11 and all but one morning run of the R 15. Both routes are express services to and from the New Carrollton Metro station; the R 11 starts in Springhill Lake and the R 15 from Greenbelt Center.

In his remarks Mayor Weidenfeld announced that the City Council of Greenbelt strongly opposes the curtailment of service. Citing lack of information to the public on these lines, Weidenfeld suggested promotion rather than elimination and even expansion of service to bring workers to Greenbelt offices from New Carrollton.

Councilman White expressed concern that Prince Georges County has often experienced curtailment of Metro Bus service during recent years. White has often testified in support of retention of service. Saying the service in Prince Georges County is moving backward, not forward, he too encouraged retention of the lines.

Other speakers included Karan True who initially brought the plight of Metro riders to the attention of Council in testimony on May 6. True visited the Metro information computer room she said, and learned that information to callers about the R 15 is unavailable unless the inquiry happens to occur when the buses are actually running. At all other hours, information is totally unavailable. Irene Hensel, Transportation Chair for Citizens for Greenbelt lent her support to True's request for a "stay of execution" for the lines. GHI President Margaret Ho-

plained. "We expect that bids will be awarded within 75 to 90 days and that construction will begin immediately thereafter."

The jurisdiction of the Washington metropolitan area reached agreement last year on funding for the Green Line from 1986 through 1989. The line will extend from Fort Totten in the District of Columbia to the West Hyattsville, Prince Georges Plaza, College Park, and Greenbelt Stations in Prince Georges County. Construction is expected to be completed in 1992.

GHI NOTES

The Greenbelt Development Corporation (GDC) annual stockholder's meeting will be held Thursday, June 20 at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room. Afterwards GHIDC and GHI Board meetings will be held. Items on the GHI agenda include street improvements on Ridge and Crescent Roads, parking in 11 court Ridge, replacement gutters for mineral-sided homes, and the paint contract.

gensen added her support, saying that the service is vital to those without autos and that the T 16 is not a reasonable alternative because of the time involved.

Chuck Hess expressed concern about lack of service of any type on Sundays and holidays and queried "Why are there no mini buses in PG County?"

Other speakers from the Springhill Lake area cited incidences of robbery and mugging at Deanwood Station, which would become the only transfer area should the R 11 be eliminated.

Another Greenbelt resident thought that elimination of service at a time when the city is considering expansion of service was inconsistent.

The group was dominated by Greenbelters who enthusiastically applauded each speaker, whether from Greenbelt or not.

Any changes in service will not occur until September 29.

Golden Age Club

by Mary Gardner

At the regular Club meeting on June 12, members voted unanimously for the Club to make a cash contribution to the Greenbelt News Review. Several members mentioned how much the News Review means to them.

On June 12, 132 Greenbelt Senior Citizens were the guests of American Legion Post No. 136 for the delicious monthly luncheon provided by the Post. The Senior Citizens appreciate this occasion very much and thank the American Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary for all their work. Also, thanks to the Auxiliary for the lovely door prizes.

We were saddened by the sudden death of one of our members, Richard Roland. He will be greatly missed by all.

The next scheduled trip is a tour of the Kennedy Center followed by lunch at Duff's restaurant in Lanham. Trip will be on June 26, with the bus leaving at 10:15 a.m. from Suburban Bank. There are still a few openings. For information, call Florence Holly at 474-6646.

Reverend and Mrs. Kenneth Buker will celebrate their 66th wedding anniversary on June 17. Congratulations!

Tidler, Swith-Ewing Rezoning Is Before County Council

ated south of Glen Ora with a strip also along Hanover Parkway across from the Hunting Ridge complex. Low-rise office buildings totalling 176,000 square feet would be constructed on 9.69 acres immediately south of the Smith-Ewing property and east of Hanover Parkway.

The Tidler property is currently zoned rural-residential (RR-1.83 units per acre). Applicants Harold and E. Burton Tidler are requesting changes to the single-family, townhouse, and commercial zones.

Conflicts with Master Plan
Final decision on the rezoning applications rests with the District Council. All six applications require a two-thirds vote (six members) to approve the rezoning requests because they conflict with the adopted 1970 College Park-Greenbelt and Vicinity Master Plan. (This plan is currently under review.)

The Planning Board staff and Zoning Hearing Examiner recommended denial of the commercial applications because of this conflict with the Master Plan.

The 1970 Master Plan recommends residential development east of Hanover Parkway. High-rise apartments were projected for the Smith-Ewing tract and a combination of medium-density garden apartments, townhouse and single-family uses for the Tidler tracts. The concept envisioned was a north-south transition in residential intensity — from high-density apartments at Greenbelt Road phasing down to low-density residential housing at Good Luck Road.

The Master Plan also limited commercial zoning to the area west of Hanover Parkway which is now the Greenway Shopping Center. According to the planning staff, there are "three isolated commercially zoned properties" to the east.

All parties agree there has been considerable change in the neighborhood of the Tidler and Smith-Ewing properties since the 1970 Plan. Zonings since that time — particularly the expansion of commercial development on the west side of Hanover Parkway adjacent to Greenway Center (Maryland Trade Center Park, Holiday Inn, Martin's) have considerably altered the Plan's recommendations.

In the other direction, the Windsor Green and Glen Ora townhouse developments (about 10 units per acre) are less dense than permitted by the existing R-30 zoning (12 units per acre) which is shown on the Master Plan.

Staff Recommendations
In lieu of commercial zoning and the already authorized high-rise use for the property, the planning staff and examiner recommended townhouses (R-T), which, they said, would conform to the Windsor Green townhouse development along Greenbelt Rd. and would also generate less traffic than the proposed commercial development or high-rise apartments. The staff also noted that the high and medium density apartments that the Master Plan envisioned at Greenbelt Rd. had never been developed.

Hanover Parkway, they also insisted, meets the criteria of being the logical physical barrier between the intense commercial uses to the west and the residential development to the east. They cited a previous decision by the District Council to grant townhouse zoning on the east side of Hanover Parkway as recognizing this street as the dividing line.

The examiner and staff found that the R-10 high rise and the R-30 garden apartment zones were "unrealistic" considering the real estate market, while "townhouses are the present wave of affordable housing." The applicants did not dispute this finding but, in fact, "support such a finding in general, as applied to the potential for 1,000 of such units on the (Smith-Ewing) properties."

Approves Commercial
The Prince Georges County Planning Board, in recommending that the commercial applications be approved determined (1) that the commercial zone "would satisfy the spirit of the Master Plan as it provides a transition from the high intensity retail/commercial development to the west of Hanover Parkway and residential development to the east; (2) that "there has been sufficient evidence of change in the character of the neighborhood to justify the C-O Zone," and (3) that a commercial use (C-O Zone) of the subject property would be appropriate considering the property's proximity to Hanover Parkway, an arterial highway."

The applicants—Smith-Ewing and Tidler—take issue with the examiner and staff that Hanover Parkway is the logical dividing line between residential and commercial development. They insist that the District Council and the Planning Board have never endorsed or adopted that view. The applicants argue that, when the physical characteristics of the land—"the marked rise in land elevation from Hanover Parkway up to the eastern border of the subject properties"—are taken into consideration, the proposed commercial uses for the Smith-Ewing property would provide a more appropriate and natural dividing line. This use, they claim, together with the preservation of existing vegetation agreed on in covenants with the city council, would afford more protection for the townhouse developments—in particular the Glen Ora townhouses that sit on the crest of the hill.

"Neighborhood"
Since rezonings can be justified because of changes in the neighborhood, the definition of what constitutes the neighborhood becomes crucial. In this case, the hearing examiner and the planning staff describe the neighborhood of the properties as the Beltway and Baltimore-Washington Parkway to the west, Greenbelt Rd. to the north, Cipriano Rd. to the east, and Good Luck Rd. to the south.

The applicants, however, claim that use of Greenbelt Rd. as the northern border omits the Greenbriar condominium development and other properties across Greenbelt Rd. The applicants argue that inclusion of these properties is logical, pointing out that the Greenbriar community, together with Glen Ora, Windsor Green, and Hunting Ridge, "participated actively in the numerous planning sessions which culminated in the Concept Plans and rezoning patterns proposed by the applicants."

Public Facilities
A concern of the District Council will be the availability of adequate public facilities to support development — road systems and sewage. If the council finds that the lack of adequate public facilities would adversely affect the health, safety and welfare of residents in the area, the rezoning applications could be designated premature and tabled. However, if the applications are given the green light, an in-depth public facilities test — particularly that of roads and traffic — will be conducted at the preliminary sub-division stage.

According to James Novak, Director of Public Works and Transportation for the county, construction of the extension of Hanover Parkway south of Good Luck Rd. is expected to begin in September. Widening of Greenbelt Rd. to six lanes between Mandan Rd. and the connection with the Kenilworth Ave. interchange is expected to begin in spring 1986. Design funds for the Greenbelt Road bridge over the Baltimore-Washington Parkway has been authorized but the construction date is uncertain.

This reconstruction as well as improvement to the Parkway ramps opposite Greenway Center cannot be started until Congress transfers jurisdiction of the Parkway back to the Federal government. The bill, which failed to pass during the last session, is still in the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

In its deliberations, the District Council is also likely to grapple with the major question of whether the granting of commercial zoning for the Tidler and Smith-Ewing properties sets a precedent for the remaining nearby undeveloped Tidler and Offen properties in creating a change in the neighborhood.

Another issue is whether Greenbelt East is developing into what is defined as an Activity Center (regional, local or somewhere in between the two). All parties apparently agree that the area contains all the elements. An Activity Center is described as a "community focal point" providing a combination of commercial shopping facilities and social, cultural and recreational activities. It also includes a diverse type of nearby housing and parkland.

Council Looks at Farmgate Plans

(Continued from page one) the North End School boundary. In reviewing the plan, the city's advisory planning board (APB) had recommended additional dedication at the front of three lots so that the Research Road dedicated right-of-way would match the actual road. Council approved the plans with the addition of APB's recommendation. Recalling the history of the tract and a request of the previous owner to rezone it for townhomes, White felt, "These individuals and those across the road have developed as desired."

In short order council handled several employee matters. In accordance with the 1985-86 budget, council passed a resolution providing for an average 5% pay raise. The classification plan for police officer candidate was changed to reflect the new pay grade. With a suspension of the rules, an ordinance was passed on first and second readings to allow part-time classified employees to participate in the city's life and health insurance programs. A resolution was introduced for first reading to increase the pay for the mayor and council members effective after the fall election.

State Legislation

Council could not readily come up with recommendations for the Maryland Municipal League (MML) for proposed state legislation. Council decided to resubmit a request that the Law Enforcement Officer's Bill of Rights permit the dismissal of a police officer convicted of a felony without the holding of a hearing board. Although MML wanted proposals by July 15, council decided to submit other suggestions later. Pilski explained facetiously, "If it's a day late and they don't want to take it, we'll take our dues out of the League."

In county legislation, council decided it could not recommend CB 3-1985 until it reflected a stronger provision, such as a super-majority, for the recommendations of a municipality. The purpose of the proposed bill is to establish provisions in older developed areas for parking and loading facilities. The redrafted bill would eliminate the role of the Zoning Hearing Examiner and special exceptions. This version would affect the Roosevelt Center in that a special exception procedure for additional uses in the Center would not be required. Instead the proposed bill has one standard, "Parking and loading areas of adjacent residential areas will not be infringed upon if the departure is granted."

Councilmember White brought up the problem Hunting Ridge was having in getting an abatement for Park and Planning taxes levied last year. He had discussed the problem with Senator Leo Green who had offered to seek the opinion of the Attorney General and explore the possibility of a bill to eliminate the problem, if necessary. Council directed city staff to supply Senator Green with information for this matter.

White also noted the removal of Joanna Norris from the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission to another position without any notice. He suggested a letter of protest. Council agreed to send a letter to County Executive Parris Glendening and the County Council noting that first, the city had enjoyed the good services of Norris, who had ably represented the interests of Northern Prince Georges County, and that second, the County Executive in making a replacement appointment did not take into account the interests of Northern Prince Georges County.

What's the best toothpaste?

There are many toothpastes on the market. Regardless of the claims each manufacturer makes, with few exceptions, most brand-name toothpastes have similar ingredients and do about the same thing.

Although you may find many toothpastes containing fluoride, not all are equally effective. The one factor to consider is acceptance by the American Dental Association Council on Dental Therapeutics. If the official seal is on the label, it indicates that the particular brand has been evaluated and found effective in preventing decay.

There are other types of toothpastes for specific conditions, such as sensitivity or smoker's stain. Never use these products without first consulting your family dentist. In no case should these products be substituted for a child's regular fluoride toothpaste.

The Greenbelt Senior Softball team played Forest Glen and lost 11 to 6. Rain cancelled the last inning. Greenbelt has found the key to wearing down the opposing team. Let them run around the bases a lot. Now if Greenbelt can just find the key to doing the same thing. There were highlights, though, and two were some fine plays by Greenbelt pitcher, Virginia Lammons, and shortstop, Jim McGann.

Some more ball players, 55 or older, male or female, are needed to come down Monday mornings at 9:30 with gloves, to practice on Braden Field. Call Burt Kerr, 474-9498 or Mike Burchick, 474-6587 for particulars.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" Continues at Utopia

Amid a round of very favorable reviews, "Arsenic and Old Lace" continues Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:15 p.m. at the Utopia Theater.

Of Director Marie Tousignant, the reviewer for the Prince Georges Post-Sentinel says that "her many years with local theater have proven to be fertile ground for her directing talent."

"Greenbelt Players offer a laughable and charged trick and treat thriller," comments Gerrie Kay in the Prince Georges Press.

The Post-Sentinel reviewer, Marriann Barnard-Ahmad, remarks that "Tom Schreiber's stage for this production is one of the most talented and well appointed I have seen at the Utopia."

Besides the 15-member cast, this last play by the Greenbelt Players in the 1984-85 season boasts a large production staff. Assistant director is Donalee Hill, and drama consultant is Freida Schwartz. Kelly Holl is technical director, and Tom Schreiber's set went up with the able help of Bill Shields, Bill Brandwein and James Boyle. Brandwein designed the lighting program which was managed by Susan Kleponis and Kathleen McCleary.

Kim Kash works as a sound technician under the direction of programmer Mark Bejerano, while Trix Whitehall is in charge of all the props.

Connie Walker was aided in her work as costume coordinator by the generous loan of uniforms from the Greenbelt City Police Department. Lori Paul, actress and director of numerous plays here, served as the interpreter for the hearing impaired at last Friday's performance.

Jay Henson's photographs of the production adorn a number of the reviews.

This play of madness and humor and affection plays weekends through June 29. Groups may still reserve blocks of tickets by calling 441-8770.

SOCCER NEWS

The Greenbelt Boys and Girls Soccer program is having a splash party at the Greenbelt pool on Friday, June 21, from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. All those who played Spring Soccer '85 are invited to attend this event. Anyone who has not yet returned his uniform now has a chance to do so. Refreshments will also be served—all compliments of Anne Herink from the Recreation Dept.

RLDP PROGRAM FOR GHI MEMBERS

As a service to members, GHI offers a Rehab Loan Deferral Program (RLDP). Under this program, eligible members can defer as much as $70 of their rehab payment each month. Thus these members have extra money available each month for other necessities. Many GHI members may be eligible to participate in this program. To find out more about income eligibility limits and how to apply, call Member Services Coordinator Maureen Osborne (474-6644).

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

- A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.
- B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.
- C) Your qualifications:
 - 1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
 - 2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
 - 3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

F. JOHNSON OF IN-HOME COLOR TV/VCR SERVICE
565-0001
I provide in-home service in this neighborhood 3 days each week as well as some evenings and weekends. I'm bonded, licensed and top rated for over 25 years. You can count on my estimates and prompt fair service. I always call before visiting, carry more than 5 times the normal inventory of parts, and can (almost) always repair your Color TV IN YOUR HOME, ON ONE TRIP. I repair HI FI'S and VCR's also. I buy broken color Zenith portables. Call with model and chassis no's. from back of set.
Thanks for reading my AD. Please save it.
