Joe Isaacs Is "Outstanding Young Man" After Youth of Hard Lessons Learned

by Andrea Edie

The life of Joseph C. Isaacs reads like a Horatio Alger story. "I had to prove to my parents that America was the land of opportunity," Isaacs said during an interview at his home. Isaacs has made the most of his opportunities.

On February 8, the Jaycees recognized Isaacs as one of the ten most outstanding young Marylanders for "his constant demonstration of civic leadership by volunteering his time and experience in an unselfish and effective manner."

"I felt like Cinderella at the ball," Isaacs said, describing the awards banquet held in Hagerstown. The Jaycees provided the tuxedo and the prime rib.

Governor Harry Hughes presented each honoree with a plaque after an audio-visual presentation highlighted the honoree's accomplishments.

"I felt awkward, humbled during the slide show," he said. "I looked up in time to see a picture of me kissing a child on the street — ever the politician."

Isaacs and his wife, Deborah, live comfortably in a split-level home in Boxwood Village. Potted plants frame the window in the livingroom, where the first of two interviews took place.

Isaacs' parents, survivors of the Nazi holocaust, emigrated from Germany to America, "the land of opportunity," in 1949. In 1951 Joe was born.

"My birth was so important to my parents," Isaacs said, "that my father went out and bought my mother a washing machine. They had me on purpose to celebrate their new life in America."

From the start, his parents were open about their ordeal in Germany.

His father would say, "I don't want you to forget my brother. He was the one to whom the Germans offered lunch in exchange for shoveling the snow. The railroad tracks needed to be cleared so a German supply train could get through. He started shoveling at 7 a.m. and shoveled until 3:30, when he asked for lunch. Instead of giving him lunch, they tied him to the tracks and buried him in three pieces." Isaacs voice was low as he retold the story.

"How could I forget?" Isaacs said. "I been hearing these stories at bedtime since I was three year old. Out of the 12 members in the family, my father was the only survivor."

Not all the stories Isaacs heard were bad. His parents often spoke of their home towns called "shtetels" in Poland and Romania. The small towns, situated in the countryside, had local governments and wide-spread community involvement. The Isaacs never lost their special feeling for their home towns and passed on their love and sense of community to their son.

"It was a beautiful story, idyllic, until they took all their possessions away and locked them up," he said.

Isaacs often pondered his parents memories of their village life, but did not live in a shtetel-like environment in the South Bronx. "It was tough enough finding personal space, let alone green space that was safe to use freely," he said.

The main characters in Horatio Alger's success stories usually moved from the country to the city to make their fortunes. Isaacs, on the other hand, started in the inner city.

As a white minority in the Bronx, Isaacs either had to fit or was beaten up. "So I learned to fit in," he said. "I learned to put on a Spanish accent at will."

The street gangs fought each other for what little they did have, their "turf." Before the boys brought out the chains and knives, Isaacs would try to talk everyone out of a rumble.

"Let's have our two best men fight it out rather than everybody getting hurt," he would suggest. But it didn't always work.

When his family moved to a better neighborhood, Isaacs quickly gave up fighting in the streets to capitalize on public education.

"Imagine growing up hearing these stories every night about people who never had the opportunity to live out their lives," he said. "Here I had all this opportunity to succeed and received constant encouragement from my

Castaldi Inaugurates Re-Election Campaign

Prince Georges County Councilman Richard Castaldi announced that he will seek a second term in this year's general election. After serving as Mayor of Greenbelt, Castaldi was elected in 1982 to represent the fourth district (Greenbelt, Bowie, Lanham, Mitchellville and Marlboro Meadows). He is an expert in the field of transportation as well as in land use matters. He has been chairman of the Board of the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, and is currently on Metro's Board of Directors. Castaldi is also a member of the County's Transportation Oversight Committee and the Transportation Steering Committee of the National Association of Counties. His expertise on zoning and development derive from his twenty years previous experience in this field at the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Speaking to a crowd of supporters gathered at Chef's Secret restaurant in Greenbelt, Castaldi proclaimed the opening of what he said would be an "upbeat" campaign patterned after his commitment to all constituents: "We aren't taking anything for granted in this campaign."

Mellon Set to Buy Community S&L

by Mary Lou Williamson

Mellon Bank of Pittsburgh will take over the insured deposits of Community Savings and Loan, Governor Harry Hughes announced Monday in Annapolis. The Governor began his news conference with the words, "I have some good news for the depositors of Community..." The Bethesda-based S&L's offices, including the Twin Pines Branch in Greenbelt, could open as early as the first week in May, giving its 20,000 depositors full access to their nearly $324 million in insured funds, said Mellon's chief executive officer David Barnes who shared the podium with Hughes at the press conference.

The agreement must be approved by State regulators, the courts and the FDIC (Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation). The legislature will have 21 days to review the deal, but their approval is not needed since there is no effect on the budget. Two technical bills, which the Maryland House of Delegates has already approved, must now make their way through the Senate.

Negotiations completed Sunday include a payment by Mellon "of a $14,000,000 premium for Community's depositor base and the right to do business in Maryland," said the Governor. Mellon will also invest $23.5 million to capitalize the new bank. In turn, the State will guarantee certain of Community's assets. Mellon takes over $179 million in assets and the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund (MDIF) will provide $131 million in assistance. Community will guarantee Mellon against losses in the transferred assets and MDIF will provide support for Community's guarantee. According to Hughes the net cost to the State is estimated at $75 to 80 million, depending in large part on the resolution of EPIC, Community's failed real estate mortgage venture.

Asked why Mellon wanted to come into Maryland, Barnes responded, "Maryland is a great State, growing and healthy. Mellon Bank has long been interested in building a Central Atlantic Banking franchise... so it's a happy marriage."

A Commentary

Museum Is Gift to Future

by Sandra Barnes

Chairperson, 50th Anniversary Committee

The Greenbelt Museum Committee and the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum have much to do over the next year in preparation for the city's 50th Anniversary in 1987. Establishing a museum is a huge undertaking for the several dozen committed Greenbelt volunteers. However, they are undaunted by the challenge. Indeed, the volunteers seem to be touched with the pioneer spirit of those "First Families" who came here to establish a new community in 1937. It is this community spirit that formed the essence of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's New Deal town.

What makes Greenbelt special? What makes us different from other subdivisions built in Arlington or Bowie or Laurel? The plan. The concept of separating vehicular and pedestrian traffic with underpasses and inner walkways. The concept of integrating commercial, recreational and residential areas. The idea of building a community for ordinary people that had garden areas, a lake, a swimming pool and community facilities made us different in 1937 just as it does today.

We are unique. And hundreds have come to the Tugwell Room of the Greenbelt Library to learn about us. Hundreds have visited GHI over the years to study us. Hundreds of newspaper articles, books and theses have been written analyzing us. On April 26 and May 3 of this year, the National Building Museum is offering a bus tour of public buildings erected during the administration of FDR. Naturally it will include Greenbelt. It seems fitting that this community should want to establish a museum, a museum that would be our grateful reminder of our past and our gift to the future generations of Greenbelters so that all can learn of and take pride in our heritage.

Yes, there are questions to be addressed regarding the operation of the museum and its long-term funding. The solutions will be critical to the museum's success. The Friends of the Greenbelt Museum has been established for the specific purpose of raising funds. An endowment fund will most likely be needed. So far, more than 170 people have joined FOGM and they represent all segments of the community from Hanover Parkway to Lakeside Drive. Nearly one half come from GHI. That there is much to decide in establishing a museum is certain. That a museum should be established there is no doubt.

Letters to the Editor

It Could Be Worse

Many people in Greenbelt are celebrating this week — after seven months, they may regain access to their money in Community Savings & Loan. Before the deal with Mellon Bank is final, it must be approved by Judge Kaplan, reviewed (not approved) by the legislature, and approved by FDIC. Also House Bill 905 must be approved by the Maryland Senate. The Governor is optimistic about accomplishing these in a few weeks. I hope the Governor's optimism is justified this time.

While many Community depositors have had severe hardships and most of us have lost interest earnings, the Old Court depositors have been hit even harder. Their accounts were frozen 10 months ago and, last November, their interest rate was reduced to zero. Although the holders of small Old Court accounts will be regaining access in May, those with their life savings locked away will receive only $5000. They will receive the rest of their principal every three months for four years, according to the Governor.

The Old Court depositors who expected to retire on interest earned on their savings, now face spending their principal, bit by bit, and having little left after nearly five years of financial hardship. The uncertainty and loss of independence that Community depositors have experienced is even more pronounced for those in Old Court. The Governor's "plan" for them is only a public announcement by a lame duck governor, with no guarantee.

The tragedy is that these personal hardships and the expected $450 million cost to the State could have been avoided if the regulatory process in MSSIC and the State government had stopped the cancer when it was first detected. It is also clear that Governor Hughes failed to stop the crisis when warned and has cost the citizens of Maryland dearly for his failure to solve the crisis promptly and effectively.

At 4:45 p.m., March 17 Officer David Buerger arrested a 19-year-old Adelphi man and a 17 year old male juvenile resident of Northwest Washington for shoplifting at the Eye Works at Beltway Plaza. The man was incarcerated in lieu of $1000 bond and the juvenile was released to his parents pending juvenile court action.

A 1983 Toyota Corolla with Md. license plate GZP757 was stolen from Beltway Plaza about 3 p.m., March 15.

On March 17 a 1986 Chevy Camaro was stolen from the 400 block of Ridge Road and later recovered by Prince Georges County police in Capitol Heights with three arrests.

A 1986 Mazda, stolen from 7710 Hanover Parkway on March 19, was recovered on March 20 in Baltimore City. While taking the stolen auto report, Officer Parker located a 1982 Toyota Cressida nearby which had been stolen from Takoma Park.

Two vehicles were broken into in the 400 block of Ridge Road on March 17. AM/FM radio cassette players were stolen from each.

On March 20 an attempt was made to steal a 1973 Dodge van at 7507 Mandan Road. The theft was prevented by a safety lock bar attached to the steering wheel and brake pedal.

GHI Board Discusses Possible Sale Of GDC Site for Police Station

by Mavis Fletcher

An inquiry from the city of Greenbelt about the possibility of buying acreage at Parkway and Crescent Road for use as the location for the police station occupied the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. at its regular meeting on March 20. The letter from City Manager James K. Giese states that, while the site is being considered, it "doesn't appear to be the 'first choice' of anyone at this time." He also stated that if the board were opposed to the sale of the property to the city for this use, the site would probably be eliminated from further consideration.

The GHI membership voted in 1978 to sell 1.39 acres of the tract to the Postal Service for relocation of the old Greenbelt post office (which later was moved to its present location). However, the board apparently felt that the previous membership vote would not apply to the present case since a different use for the parcel would be planned. Giese's letter said that the city would need slightly more than 1.39 acres for the police station but not so much that the buffer between the apartments and the station would be eliminated. The apartments are owned by the Greenbelt Development Corporation, a subsidiary of GHI.

In his comments to the board, GHI General Manager Ron Colton pointed out that sale of this tract would have some impact on the GDC tenants. The garages now on the tract, which would have to be razed, are rented by tenants, some for parking vehicles and others for storage. He said that it would be extremely difficult to add replacement parking without destroying the buffer. Pointing out that a police station on this site would affect the GHI units across Crescent on Hillside, he recommended that the board refuse to sell the land.

Director Wayne Williams, however, said that he felt the board could not reject the proposal without knowing how the membership feels about the idea. Director Andrea Haslinger, who said she was a former tenant of GDC in this area, expressed mixed emotions; she said she had liked the trees on the site but also felt that protection afforded by a police station might be welcome in that vicinity. President Margaret Hogensen conveyed the opinion of Don Volk, chairman of the Aesthetics and Environment Committee, that the station should be placed on the GDC site only if the city could find no other site and then only if the site would be suitably landscaped.

After considerable discussion, the board voted 5-2 to inform the city that the board would take the question of selling the parcel to the membership if the city's preferred sites could not be utilized. Directors Nancy Hutchins and Mac Wirick opposed the motion. (Hogensen had announced earlier that Director Debbie Hartwick was unavoidably absent.)

Several of the board members indicated that they would prefer to see the police station remain in old Greenbelt although not necessarily on the GDC site. Williams framed a motion (seconded and amended by Haslinger) to send a letter to the city council expressing the wish that the police station will be sited in old Greenbelt. This motion passed unanimously.

Agenda for Annual Meeting

Because of an impending deadline for printing material for the annual meeting, the board worked on the wording of two proposals which will be on the agenda under New Business. Members will be asked to approve a change in the occupancy criteria for GHI and to allow the use of one or more GHI units as a museum. On a unanimous vote the board officially adopted that agenda for the May 14 meeting.

During the discussion of the museum proposal, the date of the members' hearing, which had been scheduled for April 9, was changed because all suitable locations were unavailable. A new date will be announced when a location large enough to accommodate the expected crowd is found.

Personnel Policy Review

The board began a review of the corporation's personnel policies but bogged down about half way through the 38 pages. They decided to postpone the remainder until the next meeting. The board rejected a proposal to increase the amount of leave earned by the general manager and the assistant general manager from 20 to 25 days after five years of service. However, the board voted to allow these two employees to accrue 45 days of annual leave (up from 30 days at present). Several board members expressed support of this change by pointing out that these employees often are prevented by the press of business from taking all their leave. The vote was 6-1, with Director Todd Amani opposed because, he said, the accrued leave would amount to severance pay since the corporation pays the employee for accumulated leave when the employee resigns.

The board also voted to remove the present 60-day limit on accrual of sick leave for all employees. The vote on this issue was 4 to 3 with Williams, Amani and Hutchins opposed. Director Janet Cantwell, who made the motion, argued that only older employees would accrue significant amounts of sick leave above the present cap and that it would be unfair to penalize a long-time employee (who might have been forfeiting sick leave for years because of the cap) to be forced off the payroll if struck by a long illness. Williams, on the other hand, argued that such cases should be left to the manager's discretion as they are in most private sector corporations.

The board also discussed liberalizing maternity leave policy.

Information and Meetings

Colton reported that the board had been wired for cable TV broadcasting. The board, however, decided not to buy video equipment for cablecasting.

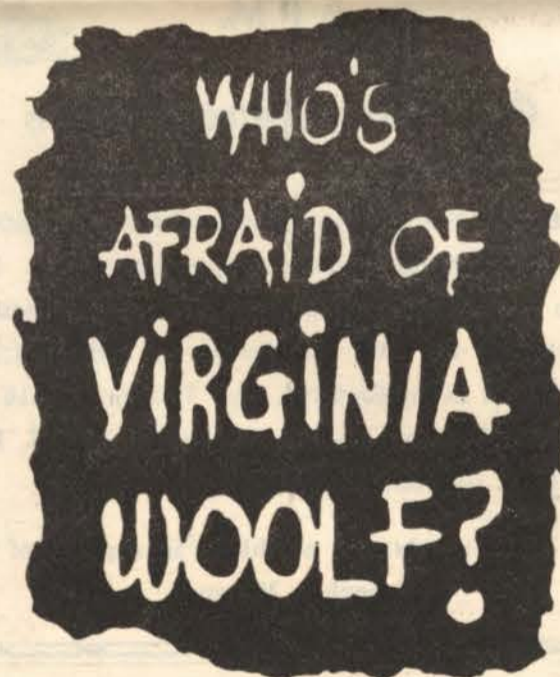

In response to a question, Joe Whelan, Superintendent of Maintenance, said that the marked trees on Ridge Road near Hamilton Place were flagged for tree trimming service. The two red-banded trees were dead and would be removed; the three white-banded ones would be trimmed.

In April, regular board meetings will be removed from the usual dates to the first and third Thursdays (April 3 and 17). The date of the hearing on the museum proposal will be announced at the April 3 board meeting.

folks to work hard to improve my lot in life."

In college Isaacs oriented himself toward psychology because he could not think of any group more needy than those suffering mental illness. In 1972 Isaacs graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the City College of New York with a bachelor's degree in psychology.

"I've always liked helping people," he said.

After earning his Master's degree at the University of Missouri, he was recruited by a consulting firm in Washington, D.C.

"I looked everywhere in Maryland and Virginia, but Greenbelt felt good," he said. "Greenbelt is small enough to put your arms around."

After attending a Boxwood Civic Association meeting, Isaacs became very involved in serving the Boxwood community. As president of the group from 1982 through 1985, he initiated several projects, which included a welcome wagon, a mobile crime watch and a greeting card service.

"I started the greeting card service to let people know they had neighbors who cared," he said. "As soon as we saw an announcement in the News Review, we would shoot them off a card offering congratulations or condolences."

"From the greeting card service I saw that the group could do more for the community," he said. An assault on a family in a nearby neighborhood prompted him to start a mobile crime watch.

"We even prevented a break-in," Isaacs said. "One night the patrol alerted the Greenbelt police when they saw a man peeping into a house on Lastner Lane. The police picked up the man, who had an outstanding warrant for his arrest for breaking and entering."

Next Isaacs instituted a welcome wagon to introduce new residents of Boxwood to the community. Isaacs, his wife and some of the association officers paid a visit to the new residents at their homes. They offered friendship as well as a basket containing a bottle of champagne, some danish, a map of the county and a cover letter explaining the history of Greenbelt to the newcomers.

Isaacs also planned block parties for the neighborhood. "At the first party I saw David Moran standing around. I asked him to help me and he's been hanging around ever since," Isaacs said. "I'm glad to see he now is president of the Boxwood Civic Association."

Leaning forward in his chair, Isaacs talked excitedly about the two bus shelters erected at either end of Boxwood. "I lobbied everybody to get those bus shelters," he said. "I went to the state, the general assembly, the governor, the University of Maryland, even Metro, ultimately succeeding with the city."

Isaacs' plunge into the political limelight came in 1983 when he applied for Richard Castaldi's vacated city council position after Castaldi won a county council seat. Robert Zugby was appointed instead.

Undaunted, Isaacs ran for city Council in the fall of 1985. "I really expected to succeed in the last city council election by going door-to-door," Isaacs said. And he did.

Isaacs sees politics as the culmination of serving people. "Maybe there's gratification in being asked to help, but I'd just as soon offer," he said.

Isaacs heavy involvement in the community often over-extends him. Because he realizes this, and his wife is expecting a baby in May, Isaacs is limiting himself to serving on the city council.

During the election campaign a lot of people told Isaacs he was "all right."

"Now," he said, "I have the opportunity to prove them right."

Congratulations to Joan and Dennis Murphy of Greenbelt Road on the birth of Amy Michelle Murphy on February 25. Amy Michelle, born at Holy Cross Hospital, weighed 8 lbs. 10 oz. She has a big brother Joshua, age 4, and a sister Lauren, age 22 months.

Laura and Bill Walker came in first at the duplicate bridge game at the Youth Center on Friday.

Our Neighbors

Martha Kaufman 474-9359

March 21, Ruth Schutzle and Peg Wainscott finished second. No game will be held on March 28 because of its being Good Friday.

Louise Kramer of Ridge Road a News Review staff member, has her arm in a cast because of a major break at the wrist of her left hand. She says that with time and patience, she will be as good as new.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Gloria Gleason of Lakecrest Drive, who had surgery on Tuesday, March 25, in Washington Hospital Center. Gleason is a court reporter in Maryland Superior Court.

Congratulations to the Eleanor Roosevelt Pom Pom Squad for winning third place in the Prince Georges County Championship Competition on March 22. The squad has also won four other trophies this year, including first place at the Charles County competitions. Local girls on the squad are Sharon Griff, Kecus Posey and Normie Rupard. Sue Reitzig of Boxwood is their co-sponsor.

After her first semester at the University of Baltimore School of Law, Barbara Dunning of Ridge Rd. was placed in the top 5% of her class with a 3.3 grade point average. Congratulations, Barbara!

Doris Brower of Springhill Lake was welcomed back with a round of applause when she returned to her senior citizen class, where she made an appearance on Monday, March 24. Brower had had surgery and was quite ill. Hope you stay well now, Doris.

We wish Al Sarni of Hanover Parkway a speedy recovery from his illness. His friends at Springhill Lake are anxiously looking forward to his return.

Russ Maffay and Charlie Havekost send greetings from Peru to their Greenbelt friends. The two young men departed March 6 for a month-long back-packing tour of Peru and Bolivia. In Lima, Peru, they were guests of the Graziani family (Russ' brother Jonathan, is married to Isabel Graziani of Lima). Following their Lima visit, they headed for the Amazon jungle. Proceeding toward their ultimate goal — Arequipa, Peru, for a close-up view of Halley's Comet — the two adventurous Greenbelters headed for Bolivia. In addition, Russ and Charlie will undertake a hiking tour to Cusco and Machu Picchu, Peru, to visit the world famous ruins of the Incas. On their return agenda is a two-day stop-over at Montego Bay, Jamaica. Charlie is the son of Barbara Havekost; Russ is the son of John and Elizabeth Maffay.

A get-well-quick to Magdalene Fuchs of Lakeview Circle. She is laid up with a broken foot.

Several Greenbelters performed recently at the Post Office Pavilion in a special show presented by the Eleanor Pernia Dancers. Beth Tafoya, Susan Dambrauskas, Dawn High and Pam and Ellen White danced exuberantly before a shoulder to shoulder crowd of 800 people. Bravo!

Welcome to Greenbelt Xavier Ducournau of Les Vlis, France. Xavier is an exchange student who is being hosted by David Barnes and his family, Alexander and Sandra Barnes of Maplewood Court. While in the United States, Xavier is sightseeing, attending classes with David at Eleanor Roosevelt High School and practicing his English. When asked what he wanted to see and do during his three-week visit, Xavier replied, "Everything! I'm here to have fun," he added. In June David will visit Xavier and his family in France for three weeks.

Helen F. Webb, daughter of June and Ralph Webb of Ridge Rd., sang with the Worcester Polytechnic Institute's Women's Chorale as it performed its way to a silver medal in the Intercollegiate Women's Glee Club Association competition recently. Webb is a sophomore at WPI, majoring in mathematics. She is a graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School and a former News Review staff member.
