GHI Board Discusses Crime Watch and Parking Policy Changes

by Mavis Fletcher

Police Chief Frank Hutson addressed the meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. on July 24 at the board's invitation. Hutson, making some general remarks on the status of crime in Greenbelt, said that "Greenbelt has its share of crime" but it is fortunate in not having a great deal of serious crime. He said he would like to see an active crime watch program in every neighborhood. He pointed to Windsor Green, where a Neighborhood Crime Watch program had been instituted the previous evening, and to Lakewood/Woodland Hills, which has an active crime watch. In response to a question, Hutson affirmed that crime watches in one part of the city tend to push crime into adjacent areas and that the many Neighborhood Watch activities now operating in the city (Boxwood, Greenbriar and Springhill Lake also have crime watch/crime prevention efforts) might push crime into GHI neighborhoods.

President Margaret Hogensen recalled that efforts had been made two or three years ago to start a neighborhood watch in GHI but that the response had been insufficient to institute a program. She indicated that another attempt would be made. In reply to a question by Director Andrea Haslinger, Hutson said that 6-10 people would be enough to start a crime prevention program.

Hutson also said that Greenbelt has its share of narcotics violations. He hopes to have a new Selective Enforcement Unit in operation by October 1; it will be targeted in part against narcotics.

Hutson reminded those present of the National Night Out crime prevention program which will be observed this year on August 12. The program is a nationwide crime prevention effort which encourages residents to turn on all outside lights and to get outside with their neighbors to demonstrate an interest in preventing crime. He said he hoped to see everyone out on the street on August 12.

In a question and answer period, Hogensen said that one of the parking problems in GHI involves cars belonging to unknown persons which are parked in courts, sometimes for long periods of time. She said that GHI has trouble enforcing parking rules because it can't find out the identity of the owners of these vehicles. Hutson said that the police department is prohibited by law from identifying vehicle owners except for a law enforcement purpose. Since GHI courts are private property, the police cannot ticket cars in the courts unless they are parked illegally — in a fire lane, for example.

Member Don Volk asked about the possibility of putting officers on foot in the neighborhoods. Hutson outlined a recently instituted "Stop, Walk and Talk" program where the officers get out of their cars and talk to residents and look around the neighborhoods. However, he said foot patrols cannot be done regularly because they are not cost-effective.

Parking Policy

After Chief Hutson had fielded questions for almost half an hour, the board continued the discussion of a new parking policy which was started at the July 10 meeting. The aim of the policy is to make available, where possible, one reserved parking place (either a garage or a space) for each unit and to add parking spaces until each GHI neighborhood has approximately 1.85 spaces per unit (counting court and street parking) in the immediate neighborhood. In a rather lengthy discussion, the board made considerable progress toward settling several points in the proposed new policy.

Director Todd Amani suggested that the right to lease a specific garage should pass from one owner of a unit to the next. He maintained that this arrangement would ensure that a garage close to the unit would be available to the occupant and he felt strongly that convenience is very important. Haslinger, however, argued that such a policy would mean that a long-time court resident who wanted a garage might never have a chance to rent one, while newcomers would immediately have the garages which "belonged" to their units. She favored the use of a court waiting list where there are not enough garages to go around.

Director Wayne Williams urged that seniority of residence in the court should be the criterion instead of seniority on the court waiting list. He said that waiting lists might not be current and can be the subject of "endless" criticism of the staff by members. However, Rayetta Henson, the staff member now in charge of such lists, assured the board that waiting lists are in use currently and appear to work satisfactorily.

The board dealt with both these problems when, on a motion by Director Charles Hess, it voted 4-3 that in courts where there is a shortage of garages, the person at the top of the court waiting list will have priority over a new member who moves into a unit which previously had a garage. In addition to Amani and Williams, Director Mac Wirick opposed the motion. He was, he said, "against the whole thing." Instead of making a policy for the entire co-op, he said he would prefer to see the policy applied to the "two or three courts which have a problem."

Member Nathan Shinderman queried the intent of the board that persons renting garages outside their own courts will be forced to terminate their leases. He said that these leases should be allowed to remain in force until the present renters give them up because "ex post facto rules cause bad feelings." Hogensen, however, pointed out that the board can't make a policy counting garages as parking spaces unless the garages are freed up for reassignment to court members. Shinderman thought that in its policy paper the board ought to spell out its plan to bump some members out of the garages they currently rent.

Director Nancy Hutchins raised the question of financing construction of additional parking spaces where needed and feasible. She queried whether cost would be assessed to separate (masonry and frame) accounts, since the parking problems are concentrated in the

National Night Out

The Greenbelt Police Department urges all Greenbelters to participate in the Third Annual National Night Out, a nationwide crime prevention effort on August 12. Residents are asked to turn on all outside lights at dusk and then move outside onto their front porches, lawns, or front steps. The object of this program is to show that the citizens care about crime and want to help prevent it. City-wide participation will make August 12 the safest night in the year.

Police department officials, Crime Prevention Committee members, and Neighborhood Watch groups will be out patrolling the neighborhoods of Greenbelt. Police Chief Frank Hutson recently said that he hoped to see a large turnout this year. Working together, Greenbelt residents can make it a "tough night for criminals."

Outstanding Citizen Award -- A Part of Festival for Years

by Virginia Beauchamp

"Sometime in 1973 someone had an idea that this might be a nice thing to do, a way of recognizing what is special about this community" That sentence appeared in a recent article in this paper concerning the origin and history of Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen award. Unfortunately, two things were wrong with that statement: The idea occurred, in fact, in 1971, though the first award was not granted till two years later. And not one but two someones had something to do with how this project came about.

Katherine Keene says that the idea came to her because in the earlier years of the Labor Day Festival, most recognition went to whoever was chosen as Miss Greenbelt — always a young girl who, whatever her merit, had neither experience nor years enough to have made a real contribution to her community. On the other hand, Greenbelt was full of citizens whose volunteer work had made a difference to the town itself and to others here. It seemed important to find a way to recognize such contributions. Keene claims that the idea came from her, but she credits David Lange as the one who developed it.

Lange agrees. In sorting through old files from his years of work with the Labor Day Festival, he put together the following story:

As Vice-chairman of the Labor Day Festival Committee, Lange sent a letter to then retired former City Manager Charles McDonald, confirming McDonald's agreement to head an ad hoc committee to draw up guidelines for a process to choose the recipient of an Outstanding Citizen award. What criteria should be established, the letter asked, and on what basis should judges be chosen to grant the award? What form should the award itself take? The letter, which was dated July 27, 1971, named the other members to serve on the committee: Vincent Caruso, Sue Lange, Katherine Keene, and Leonie Penney. On August 14, the committee met to carry out its mission.

"Why we waited two more years to select the first winner, I don't recall," Lange now says.

"However, I suspect that time was really too limited in 1971 to solicit nominations and evaluate them." Certainly that reason seems likely. There would have been slightly under three weeks to bring the whole thing off.

Lange remembers very well, however, why no award was given in the following year. In 1972 the Festival Steering Committee decided to honor two of Greenbelt's very senior citizens—both in their nineties—"Pop" Cipriano and Jerry Goddin. (Jerry had worked for many decades as janitor for the commercial buildings in what was then called simply the Center; "Pop," a nearby farmer, had always taken an active role in all Greenbelt celebrations. The two men rode together as honorary marshals in the 1972 Labor Day parade.)

Criteria Established

Most of the criteria drawn up by the McDonald committee for selection of judges and as qualifications for nominees have continued through the years. Judges must be residents of Greenbelt, as must the nominees. (A special award might be made, the committee decided, for a former resident, if so desired.) Judges had to be at least 18 years old. (At one time the possibility of naming a junior award was considered. In such a case, a judge from that age group would be desirable, the committee thought. No such award has ever been given, however.)

One or two awards might be given, the committee report states, "for female and/or male adults (age 21 and over)." That flexibility made possible the joint award won by Al and Elaine Skolnik in 1974. In all other years the award has been won by a single recipient.

"A city or organizational employee may be a recipient only for activities for which the employee is not paid," the committee report states — a stipulation still in effect. Political candidates, as the committee recommended, have always been excluded from consideration.

The major criterion for the award has always remained the same: service to the entire community. The committee felt that particularly active members of individual organizations should receive special recognition within their respective groups.

This Year's Deadline Nears

All nominations for the 1986 Outstanding Citizen award must be received by Friday, August 15. On the following day the selection committee will begin its deliberations.

Nominations should be sent to committee chairman Thomas M. Renahan, 6956 Hanover Parkway, Greenbelt, on the nomination form appearing elsewhere on this page or available at various locations throughout the city. Nominations made in previous years may also be reaffirmed by calling 474-1505.

masonry home areas. Comptroller Don McGinn replied that improvements to common areas have in past been borne by the membership at large.

Porch Permit Refused

A member on Plateau Place had requested permission to construct a hip-type porch roof on the service side of the home and to use cedar shakes on the roof of the porch. Since the member was unable to obtain the consent of all neighbors, the matter was referred to the Aesthetics and Environment Committee and brought before the board. The A&E committee recommended denial of the request on the grounds that the design was incompatible with the main structure and the materials did not match the main structure. The board denied the request 7-0. (Director Debbie Hartwick was on vacation.)

Schedules

General Manager Ron Colton outlined the budget schedule for the board with the first presentation to the board on October 2 and a members' hearing set for October 15. He is aiming for board approval of the 1987 budget by November 20.

Only one board of directors meeting, on August 14, has been scheduled for this month.

Amani Resigns

At the end of the meeting, Amani announced that he was resigning as of August 1 to accept a teaching position in Iowa. Hogensen praised his work on the board and emphasized that he would be missed.

Melodrama at Utopia

"Ten Nights in a Barroom," by William W. Pratt and directed by Ginny Zanner, opens Friday for a 3-week-end run at the Greenbelt Arts Center's Utopia Theater.

The play, a classic American melodrama illustrating the evils of life at the local tavern, is filled with villains to boo, heroes to cheer, and songs to sing. The main character, played by Richard Mills, is reformed after the tragic death of his innocent daughter, played by Ashley Mendenhall, shows him the evil of his ways.

Performed in true 1890's style, the play features a line of can-can dancers, a barber shop quartet, and sing-a-long music as part of the between-acts diversions.

The songs, led by Cathy Benedetto, who last appeared with the Greenbelt Players in "A Company of Wayward Saints," include old favorites such as The Man on the Flying Trapeze, The Band Played On, Tavern in the Town and Clementine.

Ten Nights in a Barroom will be performed Fridays and Saturdays, August 8, 9, 15, 16, 22, and 23 at 8 pm. There will be a Sunday matinee on August 17 at 2 p.m.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, The Greenbelt Police Department and the Crime Prevention Unit of the Prince George's County Police Department are participating in a special, coast-to-coast "NATIONAL NIGHT OUT" on AUGUST 12, 1986 to heighten crime prevention awareness and to generate support for and participation in local police-community anti-crime efforts; and

WHEREAS, The Greenbelt Crime Prevention Committee and the Neighborhood Crime Watch, who are supporting and cosponsoring "NATIONAL NIGHT OUT" in Greenbelt, play an essential role assisting the Greenbelt Police Department through their cooperative crime prevention efforts in Greenbelt; and

WHEREAS, The theme for "NATIONAL NIGHT OUT" which is Neighborhood Spirit and Cooperation and which is also the key ingredient in helping the Greenbelt Police Department and the Neighborhood Crime Watch in fighting crime, can be demonstrated by neighborhood get-togethers and activities; and

WHEREAS, It is important that all citizens in Greenbelt be aware of the importance of crime prevention programs and the positive impact their participation can have on reducing crime in our neighborhoods, and of the opportunity provided by "NATIONAL NIGHT OUT" to share activities, to be aware of strangers and unusual occurrences, and to gain a better understanding and knowledge of neighbors and their activities;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Gil Weidenfeld, Mayor of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, by authority vested in me by the Council and the citizens of Greenbelt, hereby issue this proclamation to designate TUESDAY, AUGUST 12, 1986 as to express Council's support of "NATIONAL NIGHT OUT", and to urge the citizens of our community to express their support by joining with communities across the nation by turning on their house lights between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening as a visible sign of their support of our crime prevention programs and the Greenbelt Police Department, by spending time outdoors with friends and neighbors so as to send a message and warning to the criminal elements in the community and, by so doing, join with communities across the country in support of safer neighborhoods and in demonstration of the success of cooperative crime prevention efforts

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the City of Greenbelt, Maryland, to be affixed this 1st day of August, 1986.

Police Blotter

Based on Information
Released by the Greenbelt
Police Department

Greenbelt police have received many reports recently of overnight thefts of registration plates from parked autos. They are asking residents to be particularly alert to persons acting suspiciously near parked autos and urging them to call the Police Department promptly in such cases.

A 21-year-old male visitor from West Germany, hitch-hiking about 1:30 p.m., July 26 on Greenbelt Road near Kenilworth Avenue, was robbed after accepting a ride from three white males in a brown, 2-door, late 70's model General Motors auto, with possible tag number LW855, state unknown. The suspects threatened the victim with a knife and a baseball bat and robbed him of cash and travelers checks. They dropped him off on Kenilworth Avenue at I-95 and continued north on Kenilworth Avenue.

During a high speed chase following a traffic violation, officers pursued a car about 12:25 a.m. on August 1, north on Kenilworth Avenue into Beltsville where the car, driven with headlights off, crashed into a utility pole at Old Baltimore Pike and Muirkirk Road. The suspect fled on foot. It was then learned that this car had been used moments before the chase in an armed robbery in the 100 block of Hedgewood Drive, where a 27-year-old female resident, walking home, had been struck on the head with a handgun and her purse stolen. Investigators have identified a suspect and investigation is continuing.

About 9 p.m., July 29 a motorist seated in a car in Greenway Center, pretending to be lost, called to three women nearby asking directions. When they approached, he exposed himself and solicited them for a sex act. He was white, in his early 20's, operating a silver/gray or light blue Chevy Camaro with Maryland registration.

Investigating a report from an alert citizen about 3 a.m., July 31, Sgt. John Lann, Officer Leslie Hodge, Pfc. Jeff Riskin, Cpl. Greg Lynn and Officer Jim Donovan teamed up and arrested six persons who were stealing wheel covers and tires from autos in a parking lot of the Charlestowne Village apartments on Lakecrest Drive. Two 18-year-old non-residents were charged and released pending trial. The other four were juveniles from the Landover area. They were released to their parents.

"I Just Can't Cope."

Sometimes the stresses of day-to-day living build up to the point where you just can't cope. In today's fast-paced world this isn't at all unusual. If you're feeling confused about your life, and you think you need to talk to someone about it, you should - before a minor problem becomes a major one.

When you call the Crisis Center at The Psychiatric Institute of Washington, you'll talk to our psychiatric nurse specialists who are backed up by psychiatrists and the whole PIW treatment team. They'll work with you to help find out why you feel the way you do. And help you develop the coping skills you need to better handle stress.

Because the Crisis Center is here to meet your needs, its fees are very reasonable and its hours are flexible. We can usually offer same-day appointments. Services at the Crisis Center include giving information, performing assessments, crisis intervention and referrals to area mental health professionals when necessary. Take the first step and call the Crisis Center.
