Penney Group Wins Apologies Despite Views of Council Majority

by Diane Oberg

The Greenbelt city council, at its regular meeting on January 12, refused a citizen's request for a public apology, then renewed leases for the lake park concession stand and Jaycee's clubhouse, and agreed to meet with the Coalition of Citizens for the North End Center to discuss the group's proposal for renovation of the former North End School.

Request for Apology

At the December 15 council meeting, Leonie Penney requested a public apology from the council for inaccurate statements concerning those opposing the city's purchase of a building for the museum. The comments had been made during the November 5 special council meeting seeking citizen input on the museum purchase.

The statements, based on information provided by the city staff, included claims that names listed on a petition were in part those of persons too young to vote, people who were not registered voters, and people who had written to the city supporting the museum. Penney has conceded in past meetings that one underage citizen was included but that this person will be a registered voter by the next election. Eunice Coxon noted that the ad did not claim to contain only the names of voters, but that all of these people are citizens. The claim that persons who wrote supporting the museum were listed has been withdrawn by the city staff.

City Manager James K. Giese said that he had apologized, in public, to the council for the providing by city staff of erroneous information. Since the council took no action on this information, Giese did not feel a public apology from council was necessary.

Mayor pro tem Thomas X. White said that although the city manager had apologized to the council, the wrong was not done to the council. He said that the misinformation coupled with council's lack of inquiry or review of it created a situation where the integrity of people signing the petition was brought into question. On this basis he felt that council action was necessary.

White proposed a council statement saying, in part, "An unfortunate characterization regarding the authenticity of a listing of citizens expressing opposition to the City Council proposed action, . . . occurred at a special meeting of the Council on November 5, 1986. This was, in part, the result of an erroneous city staff report.

"The Council of Greenbelt regrets that this occurred and publicly apologizes to the sponsors and signers of the News Review Ad of October 23, 1986."

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld disagreed. He said the council had taken no action to apologize for, that he never considered anyone's integrity to be impugned. Having collected lists of names himself, Weidenfeld said he was sure that, if the ad contained invalid names, it was an honest error. While he regretted that the incident had occurred, Weidenfeld did not feel he could apologize because he did not feel he had done anything wrong.

Council member Edward Putens seconded White's motion of apology. He said that when he questioned Penney about the reports that people's names had been put on the petition against their will, he was asking about the authenticity of those reports. But he said he recognized that he had put people in an embarrassing situation, including himself.

Council member Joseph Isaacs said that three members of the council had not commented on these false reports, and that the source of the misinformation, not the council, should be the source of the apology.

Committee Plans Target Date for Map Release

William C. Brown, Chairman of the Citizens for Greenbelt 50th Anniversary Map Committee, has announced a target date of April for the release of their two-color, 17x22, folding street map of Greenbelt. The fourth meeting of the committee will be Tuesday, January 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the library.

Douglas L. Love is the Chairperson of the Technical and Drafting Committees assisted by Gudrun Christenson, Eli Crupain, Steve Curtis, Michael Esancy, Jane Love, Tom Stutzman, and Herb Jones.

Eunice E. Coxon is the Chairperson of the Marketing and Sales Subcommittee, assisted by Solange Hess, Joyce Martin and Larry Noel, Jr.

The Committee welcomes suggestions both from members of CFG, and other members of the residential and business community. Brown may be reached at his business number 286-7581.

Bram said the issue had become political and was being used to embarrass others. She said she would not vote for the public apology, that she had apologized to the people involved and would not continue to apologize for "an error that may or may not have been made several meetings ago." Penney pointed out that it is council's own procedures that dragged out the process.

Giese said that White's comments had convinced him that the extent of his apology had been limited to the council and the hurt had not been to the council. He then apologized to the circulators of the petition and said he would follow up that apology with a letter to the circulators.

The council, on a 3-2 vote, defeated White's motion of apology, with White and Putens voting for and Weidenfeld, Bram and Isaacs voting against.

North End Center

Betty Timer, speaking for the Coalition of Citizens for the North End Center, about 20 of whose members were present, asked council to meet with the coalition's steering committee to discuss their proposal for the North End School. She also requested that council make a timely decision. Timer said the coalition.

Suspect in 1985 City Murder is Arrested

by Mavis Fletcher

A suspect has been arrested in the murder case of a Springhill Lake woman who was killed almost 18 months ago. According to information released by the Greenbelt police department, Daniel Jay Welsh, 27, currently residing at 12031 Twin Cedar Lane in Bowie, was arrested on January 16 and charged with first-degree murder in the death of Judith Ellen Blank. The victim was found strangled in her apartment on Edmonston Road on August 9, 1985.

The police report notes that the arrest came as a result of a lengthy investigation which led investigators to the Chicago, Illinois area. Welsh's legal address is given as Lake Forest, Illinois. The suspect is identified as a graduate student at the University of Maryland. He was engaged to the victim at the time of her death.

Blank was working on her Master's Degree in Engineering at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore when she died. She was an honor student there. Her death occurred just a week before she was to have been married. She was 25 years old at the time.

According to the police, Welsh was taken into custody on the College Park campus and appeared before the District Court Commissioner at Hyattsville. He was held on no bond.

Zugby Appointed To Appeals Board

Robert C. Zugby, former Greenbelt city council member, has been appointed to the Board of Appeals by the Prince Georges County Council. The Board of Appeals is a new entity formed by merging the former Board of Zoning Appeals and the Administrative Appeal Board which handled business licensing. The appointment is for a four-year term.

Zugby, a life-long resident of Prince Georges County, has long been active in city affairs, particularly in Greenbelt East. He served as president of the Greenbriar Community Association for five years. He is currently chair of the Coalition of Greenbelt East Communities, an umbrella organization of condominiums and community associations. He also serves as a member of the board of directors of the Greenbelt Arts Trust Corporation and as president of the Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt Democratic Club.

Zugby is president of Greenbelt Access Television, Inc., a non-profit corporation which encourages and regulates citizen participation and programming on the local CATV public access channel. He is owner of Elpro Associates, a firm which provides audio-visual production services and equipment to religious, educational institutional and commercial markets.

Sunrise Village Apartments Plans Set Aside for Study

by Elaine Skolnik

The proposed Sunrise Village Apartments, a 478-unit rental high-rise complex, slated for construction in Greenbelt East, appears to be in limbo while new owners, Sunrise Development Limited Partnership (SDLP), restudy the project in light of the Federal tax reform law.

Since the 1960's, high-rise apartments have been on the drawing board for the 10-acre former Freda Bell property next to the Beltway and the Goddard Space Village Apartments (now called Greenway Village Apartments). Rezoning is not required for the property since it has long been zoned R-10 (up to 48 residential units per acre of high-density high-rise). Nor will there be any opportunity for county officials to determine whether adequate public facilities now exist because this test for adequate roads, water and sewer occurs at the subdivision stage. Subdivision of this property was done in the 1960's.

Over the years ownership of the tract has changed many times. In late 1985 it appeared that then-owner John Bednarik was ready to construct wing-shaped, twin 11-story luxury apartment buildings after the county agreed to sell mortgage revenue bonds to finance the project. Earlier that year the Greenbelt city council had expressed anger at not being informed of the county's intentions to offer such bonds. In a letter to County Executive Parris Glendening, council questioned the appropriateness of the county's assisting the project when serious traffic problems in Greenbelt East had not been resolved and when there was already a large stock of rental apartments in the county, particularly in Greenbelt.

Glendening responded that Sunrise Village would be a luxury development with many amenities and that without the special bonds, the developer might build a lower quality development. Sharing this concern was the Greenbelt East Coalition of Homeowner Associations.

After many months of work sessions, proposals and letters of understanding between the city and Glendening dealing with issues of county-city relations, roads, parkland and surplus land, the county council gave its approval

Memorial Service

for Howard Laster

A memorial service in honor of Dr. Howard Laster will be held Sunday, February 1, at 3 p.m. in the West Chapel at the University of Maryland. Dr. Laster, a former chairman of the Department of Physics and Astronomy at the University of Maryland, had been a resident of Greenbelt from 1956 until 1977. He moved to Iowa to become Dean of the College of Liberal Arts at the University of Iowa.

Greenbelter Dr. Joseph Sucher will officiate at the service, which will include Dr. John Toll, President of the University of Maryland, and Greenbelter Dr. David Falk, Assistant Vice-Chancellor for Administrative Affairs, as speakers. Music will be provided by Dr. Richard Berg.

More information is available by calling the office of the chairman for the Dept. of Physics and Astronomy, 454-7483.

B. Bremerman V. Bremerman

Benjamin J. Bremerman, 90, and Veronica T. (Vera) Bremerman, 84, both died of heart ailments the week of January 5 at Gady Grove Adventist Hospital in Gaithersburg. They had been longtime residents of Greenbelt before moving to Gaithersburg in 1984. The couple had been married for 66 years.

Mr. Bremerman, who served in the Navy during World War I, was a retired artist and picture ramer. In the course of his professional life he had done restoration on some of the art at the White House and Mount Vernon. Mrs. Bremerman was a legal secretary at several Washington law firms through the 1940s and 1950s.

Both will be remembered as good members of the Golden Age Club. Mrs. Bremerman was a generous contributor to their potluck and party dinners.

Survivors include two daughters, Gloria M. Forehand of College Park and Phyllis R. Vogel of Silver Spring, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Goldstein-Kaplan

The invitation read: "Mrs. Judith Goldstein of Greenbelt, invites you to dance at the wedding of her daughter Karen Ann to Edward Harris Kaplan of Saskatoon, Canada."

Since most of the guests, like Karen and Ed, are ardent and expert folkdancers, this invitation was taken literally. After a traditionally formal ceremony at Kehillath Israel Synagogue in Brookline, Massachusetts, the festivities moved to the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston.

"I've worked here for years but I've never seen anything like this," one hotel employee was heard to say to another.

"I saw 'Fiddler on the Roof,' but this is better," replied the other man. "If it was on a stage I'd pay $30 to go to see it."

The non-folkdancing guests, some of them standing on chairs in order not to miss any of the action, applauded the colorful and sometimes athletic dance exhibitions, until they were irresistibly drawn into the routines.

The head caterer approached the bride. "Young lady, you stop dancing this minute and eat some supper before it gets cold." Fortunately, at this point the dance floor was cleared as a number of the couple's friends presented a hilarious play, the principals being costumed as camel dealers and their animals. We doubt if the stately Copley Plaza had ever before catered to a full-sized camel wearing sun glasses and four running shoes, and dancing to some very spirited music.

At the height of the festivities it was hard to remember that the groom, a graduate of McGill University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is an Assistant Professor at the University of Massachusetts' Boston campus. The bride is an educational software editor at the D.C. Heath Company. A Greenbelter from birth until she moved to Boston in 1982, she graduated from Parkdale High, the University of Maryland, and Johns Hopkins University.

Surely, the city of Boston has never seen so many Greenbelters at one time. Among others there were Tillie Wetter, Vera and Gil Wiser, Dorothea Leslie and son Jack, Solange Hess, Carol Bergmann Croft, Steven Gigliotti, Jan Schoenberg and the Leo Gertons.

Earman-Smith

Saint James Church, Falls Church, Va. was the setting December 5 at 8 p.m. for the marriage of Margaret Claire Earman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson F. Earman, Jr. of Falls Church to Gregory Lynn Smith, son of Maxine Smith and the late Burl Smith of Greenbelt. The Reverend James Noto, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Mary Anne Glitz served her sister as matron-of-honor and Steven R. Smith, brother of the groom, was best man. The flower girl was Katie Reynolds, a friend of the bride and Jason L. Smith served as ring bearer for his uncle. Shera Fitzsimmons was the lector, James Earman and Gary B. Smith were ushers.

A four-tier wedding cake, made by the mother of the groom, was served at the reception after the ceremony. After a brief honeymoon, the couple will reside in Falls Church.

Museum Issue Cleared

To the Editor:

On behalf of all Greenbelters who contacted fellow citizens to ask for their support of the News Review ad opposing the purchase and continuing maintenance of the house on Crescent Road by the city for a museum, I express our appreciation to (the following):

• Councilman Thomas X. White for submitting during the council meeting of January 12 a recommended statement which, after introductory remarks, reads:

"An unfortunate characterization regarding the authenticity of a listing of citizens expressing opposition to the City Council proposed action, which appeared in the News Review edition of October 23, 1986, occurred at a special meeting of the Council on November 5, 1986. This was, in part, the result of an erroneous city staff report. The Council of Greenbelt regrets that this occurred and publicly apologizes to the sponsors and signers of the News Review ad of October 23, 1986."

• Councilman Edward V. Putens, for his apology during the January 12 Council meeting and for his subsequent support for Councilman White's statement.

• City Manager James K. Giese who, during the January council meeting, apologized for any embarrassment caused by questions which were based in part upon misinformation provided to the council by the city staff, and who followed this up by sending a more detailed letter to the persons who had carried the brunt of the work, i.e. Mr. and Mrs. A. Pisano, Mrs. Eunice Coxon, Mrs. Elizabeth Maffay and Mrs. Penney.

We feel relieved that the air has been cleared so that the process of exchanging thoughts and taking actions on all matters pertaining to our city can continue in an atmosphere of productive cooperation.

Leonie Penney

Open Letter

To the Mayor and Council, City of Greenbelt, Editor, News Review:

We, the members of the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee, object to the persistent use of the phrase "East Greenbelt" to describe the section of the city east of the Spellman (Baltimore-Washington) Parkway. This type of grammatical construction, as commonly used in this area (e.g. East Riverdale, West Hyattsville), ordinarily denotes a separation which does not exist between Greenbelt and its eastern section. Indeed, from our inception as a coalition, we have worked hard to overcome the perception (admittedly found on both sides of the Parkway) that we on the eastern side of town are somehow not part of the "real" Greenbelt.

To emphasize our essential unity as a city, we prefer the use of the designation "Greenbelt East" to describe our neighborhoods. We strongly recommend that our municipal government and its agencies, as well as our city newspaper, adopt this phrasing as standard usage.

Robert C. Zugby, Chair
Greenbelt East Advisory Committee

(Editor's Note—The Advisory Committee is a part of the Greenbelt East Coalition of Communities, representing Greenbriar, Green Wood Village, Hunting Ridge, and Windsor Green.)

Customers Baffled

To the Editor:

We read with interest the response by our Postmaster. We have lived in Boxwood Village for over 20 years and our mail has always been delivered in the afternoon, except for several periods when experienced mail carriers were assigned and our mail was delivered earlier in the afternoon.

The Postmaster's solution to early mail delivery is a box at the Post Office. We tried a box at one time and it wasn't that great! Besides, a box costs $2.00 per month in addition to the already excessive postal charges and places the burden of delivery on the customer and relieves the carrier of this problem.

The Boxwood Village route is extremely hilly and as a result it is not the most coveted by the mail carriers. During the last several years our mail service has continued to deteriorate. This has been evidenced by mishandled mail and other errors.

We have attempted to complain many, many times to our Postmaster. He was either not available or on vacation. However, several other people in Boxwood have complained about our mail service to him with little improvement. Some of them have been referred by their Congressman to the Consumer Division of the Postal Service, but the result has been the same, little or no results. It is very apparent to us that the more we pay for mail service, the less service we get.

We do not intend to accept our Postmaster's response as final. Please stay tuned in as there is more to come.

The open door meeting is a tradition in the 23rd District and the legislators invite all citizens of the district to attend and express their views and concerns on legislative matters.

Re-examine Service

To the Editor:

I would like to add my support to the several who have decried the poor postal service in Boxwood Village.

Previous Letters to the Editor mentioned late and undependable delivery times, and the frequency with which we receive one another's mail. I second these complaints.

And I would like to add to this litany the haphazard forwarding of mail to former residents. The previous occupants of my house moved 15 months ago; nevertheless, I receive a steady flow of first-class mail addressed to those people.

This may or may not be a direct result of not assigning a steady carrier to the route. Either way, it is another manifestation of poor service.

In general, the U.S. Postal Service is excellent. I hope that these letters will point out the need for re-examination of the service to Boxwood Village, and that we can all enjoy a return to the expected level of service.

East or West: Marvelous

To the Editor

You would think that a woman who is awakened every morning by the noise of the Beltway roaring across the water would know that the west end of Greenbelt Lake has few trees. Well, I do. But the presence on my Greenbelt calendar of a red, glowing dot in the right-hand sky made me instantly think it was a western view.

In truth, it was a view of a sunrise over the east shore, taken from the dam by Bill Cornett after he was awakened very early by a phone call and couldn't get back to sleep. It's a marvelous picture, especially with the golden reflection in the lake. But my Greenbelt calendar—and yours—and a few others had only a printer's flaw, not a real-life light in the picture.

My apologies to Bill Cornett, with whom I should have checked anyway for the story behind the picture. And my thanks to the person who called him so early.

tion's purpose is to create an "imaginative, intergenerational, multipurpose center" that would be a "vital, alive asset to our community."

The coalition, according to Timer, has developed a proposal for use of the school as a walk-in activity center for senior citizens, a senior citizen day care center, studios for artists, a photography lab, a pottery workshop, recreation programs and a non-profit child day care center. She noted that past election questionnaires showed citizen support for these activities.

Four of the seven proposed activities, the senior and child day care centers, the studios and the photography lab, would cost the city nothing to operate, Timer said. In addition, she said the coalition has information on state and county funds available for the proposal.

Council scheduled a work session on the proposal for Monday, February 2.

City Leases

Council, on two 4-1 votes with White opposed, agreed to extend for one year the Gunner's Mate lease for the lake park concession stand and to extend the Jaycee's clubhouse lease for one year. The latter lease would be changed to make the Jaycee's responsible for utility costs (water, sewer and electricity). A work session to review the leases, along with the pool concession lease, was scheduled for Tuesday, January 27.

Giese said the staff recommended that council consider two areas of concern in the Gunner's Mate lease. Although the staff found that Gunner's Mate is in compliance with the landscaping requirements in the lease, there is still concern that the boathouse is not adequately screened from the lake. Giese suggested a partial evergreen screen between the stand and the lake, possibly through the adopt-a-tree program.

The other concern is with compensation paid to the city. Since the lease was first granted, water and sewer service have both been brought to the stand and a fairly large number of electric appliances added. Because these utilities are not separately metered, Giese doubts that the city is now receiving any real compensation above the cost of utilities.

Having the stand at the lake does provide some other benefits, said Giese, including the opportunity for Greenbelters to go boating, increased security to the park, and a reduction in the risk of drowning accidents. The concession does, however, draw some nonresidents to the park, Giese said.

Bram urged council to renew the lease unchanged for a year. She said the owners of the stand need time to plan for the season and that their presence is a deterrent to vandalism.

White wanted to defer action on both leases to a work session. He requested more information on utilities and landscaping. Putens was concerned that the various city leases were inconsistent in matters such as billing for utilities, but along with Bram, Weidenfeld and Isaacs he voted to extend the lease for an additional year and to review all city leases during the interim.

The same 4-1 split prevailed on the vote to renew the Jaycee's lease on the clubhouse. Since the last lease renewal, separate meters have been installed for utility services to the clubhouse, so it is now possible to establish these costs and hold the Jaycee's responsible for them. The Jaycee's have notified the city that the change is acceptable.

White again voted against the motion, saying that the leases should be reviewed before being extended. The remaining councilmembers voted to renew the lease and to review it before the next extension. Among the concerns is one raised by Eunice Coxon concerning the amount of rental charged to other Greenbelt groups using the clubhouse. Coxon told the council that the nightly rental is $50. She questioned whether that amount is appropriate since the Jaycee's pay only utility costs to the city.

Putens requested that the motion to extend the lease be modified to strike the provision allowing the Jaycee's to charge an unspecified rent. Isaacs, who made the motion to extend the lease, said that since the Jaycee's have maintenance responsibilities for the clubhouse, they should be allowed to charge some rent. The issue of the rental fee was deferred until the work session.

Other Actions

In other actions the city council:

- Heard a request from J Davis, representing the Greenbelt East Coalition of Communities, that the eastern part of Greenbelt including Greenbriar, Green Wood Village, Hunting Ridge and Windsor Green be referred to as Greenbelt East, rather than East Greenbelt. The coalition's position is that this designation includes them as part of the city, rather than as a separate entity.

- Saw Mark Lagerwerff and Robert Mustermann sworn in as Greenbelt police officers by Mayor Weidenfeld.

- Authorized the mayor to execute the deed for the dedication of approximately 6.5 acres of land in the Greenbrook development for park and recreation purposes.

- Accepted the resignation of Suzanne Plogman from the city's Advisory Planning Board. Plogman resigned because of her recent election to the county Board of Education.

Children's Developmental Clinic Offered by PGCC

Miss Jean Brodie: a Delightful Show

by Barbara Likowski

The Greenbelt Players have done it again: given us an entertaining evening with their latest offering, "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," adapted by Jay Presson Allen from the novel by Muriel Sparks. There are many a chuckle and some inner twinges now and then as we half-remember how it was when we were 10 and 12 or 16 and were trying to grasp the realities of life, and, especially, sex without the knowledge that comes with age.

The story is about a middle-aged teacher at a conservative girls' day school in Edinburgh in the thirties. Miss Brodie, who is in her "prime," says she has dedicated her life to teaching her girls. Her ways are unorthodox and she does not follow the school curricula. The girls learn instead art, drama, music and hear love stories, including Miss Brodie's own. "Give me a girl at an impressionable age and she is mine for life," she would announce.

She is loved by two men, the school's art and music teachers. Teddy Lloyd, the art teacher, a married man, appears to be the man Miss Brodie loves, although, because he is married, she can only love him vicariously. Miss Brodie's unorthodox ways contribute to a plot to remove her from the school. Her girls are loyal. Finally one does betray her. To say more would be to give too much away.

Phyllis Conroy is a believable Miss Brodie most of the time. When she says in her most positive, audacious way . . ." all my girls are the creme de la creme." we in the audience find ourselves believing in her. But other times we look for the sparkle and it's not quite there. She does, however, do a good job with this very difficult, long role of a woman who is at the same time loving, giving, deceiving, selfish, naive, worldly; indeed there are so many facets to her character that each of us can choose which is the real Miss Jean Brodie for us.

It is Jackie Krim as Mary MacGregor, one of Miss Brodie's girls, who astonishes us with her ability to portray a gawky, stammering child of 10 so well that there is no doubt in our minds that she is anything but just that. This can be no small task—making a stammer sound believable and not exaggerated. Her gestures, tone and walk tell us that this is one of the forgotten, a tagger-along.

All of the schoolgirls, including those who had little to say, played their parts well—their giggles, contortions, whispers etc., made them seem to be what they were—pre-teens, and later, teenagers. Their rapt attention to Miss Brodie in the school scenes was commendable.

Sandy (Ayala Sherbow) had one of the most difficult parts to play. As a young schoolgirl she was Miss Brodie's confidante. As a teen-ager she had a more sophisticated role to portray. We think she did well with both.

Other cast members have to be mentioned—there's Marty Parker who was a gentle, bumbling music teacher while Steve Zeisel played the art teacher with somewhat more vigor. As for the strict, conservative headmistress, Marie Tousignant was perfect for the part. We didn't like her. She was great.

Tying the story together, the nun and the journalist, Cheryl Stepanek and Carlton Ray, gave us much to ponder. By using flashbacks the meat of the story was delivered up to us. At first we could not hear Stepanek well but she corrected this early in the play. In asking Sister Helena to tell who had influenced her life, Perry helped her and the audience also to see and perhaps understand Miss Brodie.

Director Kevin Kneisley can be proud of his efforts. His placing of the youngest member of the school girls in the front of the schoolroom nearest to the audience helped to create the feeling these were young girls—no easy feat—when later on some of these same girls played the parts of older girls. Lighting and costumes further helped to make us feel that we really were in the classroom. The entire production staff can be congratulated for the quick, efficient way props and scenery changes were made.

The scenery, costumes and props all helped add authenticity to the play.

It's a delightful show—a little slow at times but the humor and good acting make up for this.

The play will be repeated Fridays and Saturdays, January 23, 24, 30, 31, February 6, 7 and a matinee on January 25.

Police Blotter

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

A 17-year-old female was the victim of a first-degree rape which occurred in a room at the Hilton Hotel, 6400 block of Ivy Lane, on January 11. The victim was treated at the Prince Georges County Sexual Assault Center and released. A suspect has been identified and investigation is continuing.

At 8:35 p.m. on January 11, a woman returned to her residence in the 9100 block of Springhill Lane and found that her residence had been entered and the man was still inside. The suspect fled through the patio door as the woman entered. The suspect was described as a black male, age unknown, 6'2", 180 lbs. with short cropped hair and wearing a short black leather jacket. Entry had been made through an unlocked sliding glass door.

After a fight at Beltway Plaza, two Greenbelt residents were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. Both were released pending court hearings. The incident occurred at 9:22 p.m. on January 9.

The Greenbelt police warn that thefts of purses left unattended by their owners are increasing, especially in restaurants. On January 11, a woman reported that her purse was stolen the previous evening while she was visiting the bar at T.G.I. Fridays Restaurant on Capital Drive. At 12:38 a.m. on January 11, a woman reported that her purse was stolen while she was at Kangaroo Katie's in the Greenway Shopping Center. The purse was apparently taken as it was left unattended while the woman was dancing. The purse, less cash, was found the next day in the parking lot of the shopping center. On January 11, a woman patron at the AMC 6 Theatres in Beltway Plaza reported that her purse was stolen from an adjacent seat as she was watching a movie. The purse was later recovered but the wallet and cash were gone. The police are encouraging women to pay close attention to their purses and not to leave them unattended for any reason.

On January 7 the vacant, North End School was burglarized by two men who were arrested inside the building by Officer James Parker. The men were charged with breaking and entering. One of the men was released on personal recognizance, pending trial; the other, a Greenbelt resident, was incarcerated with no bond because he had an open warrant on file with the Prince Georges County Sheriff's Department.

During the afternoon of January 12, a ground-level residence in the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway was entered through an unlocked patio door. Valuable property was reported missing.

The following reports of stolen vehicles were made during the period January 9-16: a 1985 Buick Electra T-Type, Md. registration JAY 445, from the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway on January 11. A 20-gauge shotgun was reportedly inside the vehicle when it was stolen. A brown 1975 Mercedes Benz 3000D four-door car, Va. registration LTW 117, was reported stolen from the 6000 block of Springhill Drive on January 12. An auto was reported stolen from in front of the High's Store, 100 block of Centerway, on January 9. The operator said that he had left the motor running while he went into the store and when he returned the auto was gone. It was located a short time later on Odell Road in Beltsville.

The theft of a Md. registration plate from an auto parked at 17 Parkway was reported on January 9 at 8:20 a.m.

On January 12, an apartment in the 6100 block of Springhill Terrace was entered by unknown means and property was removed.

A trailer parked in the Greenway Shopping Center was broken into during the night of January 8-9 and property was removed.

On January 11, Officer Jim Donovan located an auto which in November 1985 for the sale of bonds.

However, ground has not yet been broken for Sunrise Village. James McCaig, SDLP partner, told the News Review: "We are taking a whole new look at the property given the more favorable economic climate. Since the time of our purchase, there have been changes in the tax law." He observed, "The usefulness of these revenue bonds is now in question. . . . Tax-exempt financing does not mean so much because of the current favorable conventional financing. . . . We want to do the right thing for ourselves and the community."

A spokesperson for the county Department of Housing noted, "We are on a total standstill as far as tax-exempt mortgage revenue bonds because there is a volume cap included in the Tax Reform Act of 1986." The state, he said, will be permitted a maximum bond issuance of $250 million with the county share only about $29 million for both residential and industrial development.

County Commitments

Among the commitments made to the city by Glendening at the conclusion of their 1985 discussions were: (1) The county's intention to adhere to timetables previously given to the city on road improvements "except where had been reported stolen from the District of Columbia in the 7700 block of Hanover Parkway.

Incidents of thefts from or vandalism to autos were reported as follows: On January 10 in the 9100 block of Edmonston Court, in the 6400 block of Ivy Lane, and the 400 block of Ridge Road; on January 11, in the Beltway Plaza; on January 13, in the 7700 block of Lakecrest Drive and the 7800 block of Walker Drive.

circumstances were beyond their control or where the city requested delay, and to keep the city informed on the progress of road improvements; (2) The county's intention to see that state funding for the bridge widening over the Baltimore-Washington Parkway is available at the time the county widens Greenbelt Road; (3) Glendening's willingness to submit to the county council a resolution declaring surplus the 72-acre former Board of Education land between the B-W Parkway and Greenbelt Homes, Inc. property, with the intention of transferring the parcel to the city; and (4) his promise to seek additional Program Open Space funds for park development for Greenbelt's new Schrom Hills

Park. Glendening also promised that the county will not agree, without the approval of the city council, to any special concessions such as revenue bonds, financial or special benefits or fast-track promotions (expediting construction of priority projects) until county road improvements are completed. He further agreed to request the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission to conduct an additional traffic study in the Greenbelt area to include all proposed development. The city council was charged that traffic studies by developers on proposed development in the Greenbelt East area did not include the 478-unit Sunrise Village development.

Citizens for Greenbelt Study Bond Money Use

by Betsy Likowski

Discussion about how the $6 million of the city bond issue would be spent was the order of the evening at the January 15 Citizens for Greenbelt (CFG) meeting. A motion was passed urging city council to promptly implement all categories of projects of the bond issue, which was passed in May 1985, since every day delayed costs money.

A motion proposing specific recommendations was tabled so that it could be presented to the members at the CFG annual meeting in March.

CFG also decided to prepare a map of the city of Greenbelt as part of the 50th anniversary of Greenbelt and as a revenue-raising effort. Committees for the production and marketing of the map were formed.

The main part of the evening was a presentation by CFG president Keith Chernikoff of the current status of the $6 million bond issue, and questions in response from the audience.

The city bond issue passed by the voters of Greenbelt in May 1985 is to be divided into three parts of $2 million each: bricks and mortar projects, an indoor swimming pool and renovation of the outdoor pool, and parkland development and acquisition.

Of the $2 million proposed for bricks and mortar projects, the new police station is estimated to cost $1.8 million. Completion is slated for December 1988. The site has also been chosen — in the slice of land between Kenilworth Avenue, Ridge Road, Crescent Road and the Lakeside North Apartments.

For the swimming pool projects, a consultant has been employed.

On the issue of park development, the city council's Parks and Recreation Advisory Board is currently conducting a survey on park needs. The city has acquired the land for Schrom Hills Park in Greenbelt East, which will need to be developed.

It was pointed out by several persons, however, that council has specifically outlined how the money from the bond issue will be spent.

Individuals asked questions and expressed concerns on a whole range of questions raised by the bond issue. Tony Pisano asked about plans to repair the pool. Steve Curtis noted that it was critical for the proposed North End Center to get revenue-generating enterprises. Ruth Bond and Eunice Coxon asked about the specifics of the police station.

Earlier in the evening the point was brought out that most of the bricks and mortar part of the bond issue has been committed for the police station, not much is left over for other possible projects such as North End.

Fishing Show at Armory

Anglers Unlimited Fishing Club's 12th Annual Fishing Show will be held on Sunday, February 1 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Greenbelt National Guard Armory. The show will feature boats, films, seminars, and a variety of fresh and saltwater tackle. Gene Mueller, outdoor writer for the Washington Times, is Master of Ceremonies.

There is a fee. Twenty-five percent of proceeds will be donated to Children's Hospital. For more information call 855-5188.

Adopt-A-Tree Program Focuses on Attick Park

The adopt-a-tree program which thus far has resulted in 62 new trees being planted in the city, is being continued this year. However, this year there is a special need for three specific trees, the Red Oak, White Pine and Sourwood.

In the spring of 1987, the area along the dam at Attick Park will be planted with Red Oak, White Pine and Sourwood. This area was originally planted with Sugar Maple, Red Maple and Dogwood, but these trees will be relocated in other parts of the park due to concern that their wide ranging roots could penetrate the earthen dam. The new planting contains trees whose root systems are not so wide ranging and it will be set back further from the dam.

As the oaks grow and begin to provide shade, this area will no doubt become a popular picnic area with a wonderful view of the lake. The White Pines at the rear of the planting will help to screen out views of things outside the park area, as well as creating an area sheltered from the wind.

The Sourwood trees will add beauty to the planting. This tree is native to the eastern United States and although not as commonly planted as the Dogwood, it is considered by many to be the Dogwood's equal or better in beauty. This is a small tree and its slow growth may account for its less frequent use. This slowness to become established is more than offset by its multi-seasonal beauty. In the spring, the new leaves are a translucent red as they unfurl. In the summer, big pendulous clusters of fragrant flowers similar to those of lily of the valley are produced. In the fall, its leaves turn a brilliant scarlet that forms a background to the chains of greenish seed capsules that hang late into the winter.

Donors are needed for these three tree varieties which will be planted this coming spring as part of the adopt-a-tree program. This particular project will create a beautiful area in the lake park which will be enjoyed for generations.

Anyone interested in donating trees for this project or to be planted elsewhere as part of the adopt-a-tree program, can pick up an application form for the adopt-a-tree program at the city office or the Co-op Supermarket or complete the form in this newspaper. For further information about the program or trees, contact either Mike Burchick, Chairman, Adopt-A-Tree—474-6587 or Bill Phelan, City Horticulturist — 345-1131 (home), 474-8004 (work).

Ceramics Workshop To Be Held at SHL

"Artistic Works in Ceramics" will be Springhill Lake's Wednesday Workshop, Jan. 28, 7-8:30 p.m., at the Fountain Lodge. Participants will make decorative ornaments using clay materials. Luisa Caviedes, a Greenbelt resident, will be the instructor. "This is an activity that the entire family can enjoy," Richelle Jackson, the Activities Coordinator, noted. Admission is free.

Gray Panthers

Carol Douglas, Director of Nursing Department, Kaiser Permanente Health Plan, will speak on "How to Get the Most From Your Later Years," on Saturday, January 31 at a Gray Panther meeting, beginning 1:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Library. Also featured will be the short Greenbelt 50th Anniversary slide show.

Carol Douglas, who has a specialty in Geriatric Medicine, will emphasize the psychological aspects of aging and how to maintain emotional wellness in later years. Time will be allowed for questions. Refreshments will be served. For information or transportation phone 474-6890.

Bloodmobile

Greater Laurel Beltsville Hospital and the American Red Cross will hold a blood drive at the hospital, 7100 Contee Road in Laurel, on Tuesday, February 10, from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. The public is invited.

There is a desperate need for all types of blood. Anyone who can spare a little time and a little blood, please walk-in between those hours or call 725-4300, ext 1202 for an appointment.

Greenbelt East Coalition Elected Officers on Jan. 8

On January 8, the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee, governing body of the Coalition of Greenbelt East Communities, chose its officers for the 1987 term. Re-elected were chair Robert Zugby, vice chair Sue Malone and secretary Jim Coleman. Mike Vaccaro was elected treasurer.

Coalition membership is comprised of all organized communities in Greenbelt east of the Baltimore - Washington Parkway; Greenbriar/Glen Oaks, Greenwood Village, Hunting Ridge and Windsor Green/Glen Ora. Established over a year ago, the organization addresses mutual problems in the areas of development and security, and tries to strengthen the relationship between Greenbelt East and other city neighborhoods.

GHI NOTES

The GHI Board of Directors will meet Thursday, January 22 at 8 p.m. Agenda items include reserves policies, parking policy implementation, deck regulations and fourth-quarter staff reports.

GHI staff will present tips on energy conservation at a workshop Wednesday, January 28 at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room.

Recently, members received new pages for their GHI Handbooks with the December Newsletter. The pages should be inserted into the Handbook.

Members are reminded that GHI is responsible for exterminations, i.e., roaches, fleas, mice, termites. For this service or if you have questions, call the Maintenance Department (474-6011).

NOTICE

Permit parking ONLY is allowed behind the Greenbelt Youth Center. Permits are issued to senior citizens, handicapped and program personnel with special needs. Please note that all others will be ticketed by the Greenbelt Police Department. Permit parking information may be obtained by contacting the Greenbelt Recreation Department, 474-6878.

OSTEOPOROSIS SUBJECT OF HOSPITAL LECTURE

Dr. Norman Koval will speak on the subject of "Osteoporosis" on Monday, January 26 at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Washington Adventist Hospital in Takoma Park. The lecture is free and open to the public.

There are ways to both prevent and treat osteoporosis and Dr. Koval will discuss these and take time for questions. For further information call the Community

In the Beginning

1987 marks Greenbelt's 50th anniversary. From time to time during the year we will print pictures from Greenbelt's past. We start 1987 with some scenes of Greenbelt's beginning mostly from the collection of the Library of Congress photographs.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt visits the Greenbelt site and views a model of the planned city, while press reporters (left) and officials (right) look on and citizens watch both groups. This was probably in November, 1936, the first of two visits by Roosevelt. Both trips received heavy press coverage.

Manpower, not bulldozers, cleared much of the heavy forest covering some areas of the Greenbelt site. Other areas were already farm land.

A worker shoulders a load of wet cement which has been mixed on site. All materials and workers came out to the "country" site of Greenbelt by truck and train.

An army of wheelbarrows stand at attention, ready to cart away or rearrange tons of trees, turf and soil from the 217 acres of the original city site.

Greenbelt rises with the help of hundreds of workers who found post-Depression work in the planned community, built by the U. S. Resettlement Administration.

A gleaming white theater flanks one side of the nearly complete city center. Out Southway where today stand the Co-op Service Station and Greenbelt Road, supply depots and a parking lot serve construction crews. Center School is at upper right. Nearby cluster of low buildings were construction sheds.

Summer Jobs Available

The Maryland Transportation Authority, the public agency which manages and operates the State's toll facilities, has announced that a limited number of summer job positions are being offered to high school seniors and college students.

The positions are in the clerical, engineering and maintenance areas at the State's four toll bridges, two toll tunnels, and the John F. Kennedy Memorial Highway.

Applications for the student summer employment program are available from the Transportation Authority's personnel office, P.O. Box 9088, Dundalk, Md. 21222. Applications and further information may also be obtained by calling 563-7158 in the Baltimore metro area. Applications must be postmarked no later than January 30.

FREE SMOKE DETECTOR

Single family residential property owners who own and occupy their own homes in Prince Georges County whose homes are not equipped with smoke detectors are encouraged to call the Prince Georges County Fire Department at 699-2935 and obtain a free smoke detector.

The free smoke detectors are available to county homeowner occupants from the Fire Department as a result of a grant from the Prince Georges County Board of Realtors.

Our Neighbors

Congratulations to Alan Amberg, formerly of Hillside Road, who was selected as one of the 1986 Outstanding Young Men of America. He received his Master of Science Degree in Educational Technology in Media Product Development from Gallaudet University. Alan is also Artistic Director of Theater for the Jewish Community Center of Greater Washington in Rockville and in March of '87 he will direct a musical called Kuni-Leml. His parents are Rose and Mat Amberg.

CITY NOTES
The city has been notified of receiving the Award for Distinguished Budget Presentation from the Government Finance Officers Association. The award is the highest form of recognition in governmental budgeting, and it represents a significant accomplishment by the City. The award is valid for one year only and the city will re-apply for the next year.

David Fredenburgh has joined the city staff as the city's accountant. He replaced Zoltan Bottykos who retired December 31.

Fredenburgh comes to the city with extensive experience in accounting and computers gained from his work with two municipalities in New York state and one in Pennsylvania. He earned his bachelor's degree from Grove City College and has taken additional courses at the State University of New York and at Cornell University.
