Council Considers NPS Site for Shed, Reviews Schrom Hills Park 60% Plans

by Diane Oberg

At a special meeting on July 24, the Greenbelt City Council approved intermediate design plans for Schrom Hills Park and agreed to support the liquor license application for the Beijing of Greenbelt restaurant, which has been proposed for Roosevelt Center. Council also directed the city staff to seek an agreement with the National Park Service to construct a storage building at Greenbelt Park. Council approved the "60% progress plans" for the Schrom Hills Park, with several changes recommended by Planning Director Celia Wilson. These modifications included some changes to the path system recommended by both the Advisory Planning Board (APB) and the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board (PRAB). Since the final decision on whether there will be a lake, and if so of what size, has still not been made, plans for that section of the park cannot yet be completed.

60% Progress Plans

The city's condemnation suit for the last piece of the park has been delayed, with a decision not expected until December. As a result, the plan will probably not go to construction bid until 1991. Wilson said that she would like to have a final staff recommendation for council by the end of August.

In addition to the possible lake, a small stormwater management pond is planned for the site. Wilson said that current plans call for a wet pond, but that she is attempting to get approval instead for a dry pond. The dry pond would function as a drainage area to hold storm runoff for up to 48 hours.

The plan calls for 112 parking spaces. APB had questioned whether these were enough. Wilson said that the city's consultant believes so, and that providing additional spaces would require shifting the fields and increasing tree loss.

Two buildings will be constructed on the site. One will contain a meeting room, storage closet, restrooms and an office. The second will be a storage building with a picnic enclosure and fireplace. Mayor pro tem Thomas X. White asked whether any area could be used by teams or clubs to operate a concession during a special event.

URGENT REMINDER

Deadline for Outstanding Citizen nominations is this Sunday, August 12. Last-minute nominations may be hand-delivered to 6956 Hanover Parkway, #200, across from Hunting Ridge Clubhouse, until midnight Sunday. Nomination form is printed in this issue.

Earlier plans had included a small kitchen with sink and service window. This area had been deleted, City Manager James K. Giese said, to provide handicap access to the restrooms. He cautioned that more stringent health department regulations make it difficult to sell unpackaged food without "fairly elaborate facilities." Wilson said that the building would have to be enlarged to provide a concession area.

PRAB chair Thomas Renahan pointed out that the question of whether to light the ballfields had still not been resolved. The current plan does not include installing electrical conduit to the fields. He argued that it would be much less expensive to install the conduit during construction than to have to dig up the completed park if council later determines that lights are needed.

James Foy reminded council of the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee (GEAC) petition that the ballfields not be lighted. On behalf of GEAC, he urged approval of the plan and quick completion of the park.

J Davis complained that none of the "tree people" who had attended the meeting to protest the transfer of the North End School to the county had remained at the meeting to discuss the planning of the park. She spoke at 1:05 a.m. Wednesday morning. Davis charged that "they saved their trees. They didn't save anything of ours, did they?"

Beijing of Greenbelt

Council approved an agreement between the city and George Christacos, owner of the commercial buildings at the Roosevelt Center. The agreement will take effect only if the liquor license application for the Beijing of Greenbelt restaurant, to be located in the old High's location, is approved. In the pact, the city agrees to support the liquor license application. The agreement also calls for the city to support any parking waivers required for the restaurant. In return, the owner agrees to preserve and maintain the facades, to submit plans for all exterior modifications and signage to the city for review and approval and to make specified repairs and improvements to the buildings.

(On July 26, the county Board of License Commissioners denied the Beijing's liquor license application citing a state law saying that liquor licenses cannot be granted to establishments located within 1,000 feet of a school. The commission has established that the proposed restaurant site is 757 feet from Center School.)

Storage Shed

With the transfer of the North End School to the county, the city needs a place to store materials currently housed at the school. During the spring, Giese had proposed constructing a storage shed, and possibly a materials storage yard, on city-owned property on Hamilton Place, near the GHI storage yard. At the July 16 council meeting, city staff had reported that the National Park Service (NPS) might permit the city to construct a storage building at Greenbelt Park. Council deferred a decision on the proposed shed until this meeting, directing staff to explore this new possibility. The third option for the shed is to construct it at the current public works compound near Buddy Attick Park.

Giese said that the NPS attorney has advised the city that legal problems could arise with the proposal to build the shed at Greenbelt Park. The Public Works Director has met with park service officials, who are now proposing that the city build two additional bays for NPS use. After ten years, the building would become Park Service property and the city would have to vacate.

The Hamilton Place location, Giese said, remains his first choice, but he saw little chance of council support. He cautioned that there could also be legal problems with the site near Attick Park, as the land was obtained with Open Space funds. He said that if the shed were built at that location, it would be well screened from view, both from the park and nearby homes. He conceded it might be visible through the trees in winter.

Council members all supported use of the Park Service property but could not agree on a second choice. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld supported construction of the shed, but not the materials storage yard, at Hamilton Place. He said that locating the shed next to the GHI storage yard would not detract from the aesthetics of the area.

Council member Antoinette M. Bram supported the lake park. See COUNCIL, page 5

A Preview of Greenbelt's 36th Labor Day Festival

by Sandy Smith

The 36th Greenbelt Labor Day Festival will be held from August 31 through September 3. Although many Greenbelters have been working for months on this year's festival and more will join in before the weekend is over, there is still an opportunity for many residents to participate.

Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen for 1990 will be announced during the Opening Ceremonies. The Outstanding Citizen award recognizes the volunteer and community spirit for which Greenbelt is known. The Labor Day Festival celebrates that spirit in many ways. To volunteer or learn more about participating in any event contact the festival committee members listed at the end of this article.

Carnival

The Carnival area is a gathering place throughout the Labor Day Festival. It features booths with games, activities and food sponsored by Greenbelt organizations. This year there will be 28 booths sponsored by newcomers such as Greenbelt Swim Team and veteran associations such as the Boxwood Civic Association sponsoring its 20th successive booth. The Greenbelt Greens, the Vegetarian Society and the Greenbelt Baha'i Community are first-time booth sponsors as well. Many Greenbelters will work in one or more booths during the course of the weekend.

Shows and Exhibitions

The Photography Exhibition and Competition will be held September 1-3 at the Youth Center. There is no advance registration or fees and up to three prints per person are accepted. Awards will be given for best color and black and white prints and for the special categories of young photographer and community favorite. Advance registration is required for the Art Show which features a number of categories to capture the array of artistic expression. The Art Show will be held at the Municipal Building. In addition to artists, the Art Show needs volunteers to staff the show for an hour or two during the festival.

Festival goers can watch two talent shows featuring a variety of Greenbelt performers. The Children's Talent Show gives Greenbelt's talented youngsters and teens an opportunity to perform and offers the rest of the city a chance to see their skillful performances. An integral part of the Miss Greenbelt Pageant is the talent show.

Parade

Many traditional favorites as well as new groups will march in this year's parade, but there's still time for a community group or organization to sign up and plan its entry for the parade. "Macy's Parade" giant balloons will be making their first appearance along with popular past entries such as the Patomack River Jazz Club. As usual parade marshalls are needed to keep the parade moving and the Kazoo Band and the Irish Dancers in the right order.

Special Contests

Infants, toddlers, preschoolers and teens can participate in the special contests. The special contests kick-off with a diaper derby, continue with several toddler races, and feature contests for older kids to win prizes through dexterity, speed, skill or luck.

Entertainment

An audience is always before the festival stage where there is continuous entertainment during the festival weekend. The three (not so little) Pigs will entertain with a hilarious puppet show adapting the children's classic. Network comes to the celebration, combining top-40 pop and soul with a blend of classic rock. Network provides an energized performance. The eight-member band features local talent with Iris Halliburton as lead vocal. Mark Jaster, roving mime, is an agile, original and captivating performer who brings another form of entertainment to the festival. The Demma's are a husband and wife team in a song and dance act from the days of Vaudeville. Tracey McDonnell is a newcomer to the Labor Day Festival. She entertains by singing and playing acoustic guitar. Other entertainment planned for the Labor Day weekend includes Ray Owen with a singing and comedy routine, Mike Kushla with juggling visual and verbal humor, and perennial favorite, Christian the Magician.

Ticket Sellers and Drivers

The Labor Day Festival is recruiting mature teens for ticket sellers. For information call the Festival Treasurer listed below. Drivers are needed for the courtesy van which provides rides to and from festival events. To apply contact the Festival Vice President.

Compelled to Answer

I am writing in response to Mr. Douglas W. S. Sutherland's letter in the August 2 News Review. There are some statements in Mr. Sutherland's letter that I totally agree with, such as, "Our greenspace is a valuable resource. . . . We need to preserve as much as possible in its natural state." Yet there were many others I felt compelled to answer.

Mr. Sutherland states that "even a forest must be managed or it self destructs." A natural forest contains a greater diversity of both plant and animal life than does a "managed" forest. The Amazon has survived for over 16 million years without being "managed" by man and contains the greatest diversity of plant and animal life on Earth. Unfortunately, thanks to man, it is now disappearing at a rate of 27 million acres per year.

Mr. Sutherland also states that the woods are "not just for a select vocal minority to sit back and view in perpetuity." Who is this vocal minority? Would it be the nearly 1,400 people who signed a petition for a forest and wildlife preserve to protect the last of the green belt, or is it the 73% that favored natural open space for the Lake Park, according to the 1989 city council election questionnaire? Given the fact that our trees are the only thing standing between us and tons of toxic air pollutants generated by our surrounding highways, it is clear that every one of our trees is busy at this moment unselfishly serving each and every one of us.

How much of our remaining woodlands should we be willing to give up? The preliminary ballfield plans produced by the MNCPPC, based on the Recreation Department's "Capital Improvements Wish List," give us three choices, 16, 30, or 35 acres. Imagine for a moment that we were considering the Lake Park for this project. The least impacting plan of 16 acres would require the removal of every tree between Crescent Road and the lake from the Lake Park parking lot to just beyond Greenhill Rd. towards Saint Hugh's. Would this be acceptable to the residents of Boxwood Village, Lakeside, Lakewood, or anyone else for that matter?

Greenbelt can meet the recreational needs of its residents without the further loss of our valuable woodlands. However, Greenbelt can not and should not be expected to meet the needs of every nonresident who wishes to use Greenbelt facilities.

Rodney M. Roberts

Don't Manage Forests

A letter in the August 2 issue of the News Review argued that we should be flexible in allowing use of green space for reasonable recreational activities.

In principle, this appears to be a sound argument. In practice, unfortunately, things work differently. What is "reasonable" to one person will be "unreasonable" to another. For just one example, use of motorcycles, off-trail vehicles or all-terrain vehicles on parkland is a "reasonable" recreation activity for some, but is "unreasonable" to others; and there is absolutely no guarantee, based on past experience, that such machines can be effectively barred from parkland once trails are built.

This serious weakness in the operational definition of what is "reasonable," when coupled with the painfully verifiable fact that once woodlands disappear they are gone forever, says that we should think much more carefully and deeply about the whole issue.

Greenbelt neighborhoods which do not presently have recreational areas accessible to walking families, as old Greenbelt has, should certainly have them. But "flexibility" should not be interpreted to mean present expediency at the expense of future generations, or in this case that untouched greenspace is less important than "developed" fields and paths. Old Greenbelt is in fact one of the few existing examples of planning in which future generations have not been sacrificed to expediency.

In particular, the writer says that "Even a forest must be managed or it self-destructs." I could not disagree more with this statement. Let's put it in perspective by asking how forests should be managed. Should they be managed like our Northwest forests? Or like the Brazil or Borneo forests? These are only a few of society's more recent management achievements.

I don't doubt the writer's good intentions; but the events of the past decade surely should have taught us all something by now. I will personally rely on the forests to manage themselves, as they have done successfully for millennia.

S. O. Kastner

Police Patrol Needed

This weekend, somebody decided to make some major adjustments to the back-hoe in the Center. As of Tuesday, NZI Construction was still working to make it operational. Progress on the Center improvements has ceased.

There have been many requests to have the city patrol Roosevelt Center. The majority of the problems occur on the weekend, in the early morning hours. This latest incident clarifies the need for proper monitoring by the police. Any presence by uniformed officers would have a great deterrent effect. We hope that the city will take action before another, more serious demolition takes place.

Name withheld by request

Managed or Mangled?

Mr. Sutherland's letter in the August 2 News Review had me shaking my head in disbelief. "Even a forest must be managed or it self-destructs." One wonders how the Earth managed to forest itself for so many millions of years before man's benevolent intervention. In fact, it's only in the past century of intense "management" that our planet faces such deforestation and desertification. Maybe it was a typo. Maybe instead of managed, it should read mangled.

Greenbelt doesn't need more ballfields, the county does. They are the ones who will be using the fields as much as Greenbelters. We'll have more traffic and more litter where we once had the last of our green belt.

Fortunately Mr. Sutherland is in the minority. We must preserve the last of our town's namesake and not give it up to the use of non-residents. Once it's gone, it's gone forever.

Bill Rich

Under the Green Canopy

When I am free, I escape to the woods for peace of mind and quiet solitude. Under the canopy cool and green, life slows itself, the air is calm and I am refreshed and able to think more clearly. A quiet walk or a brisk hike winding about the miles of deer trails rejuvenates my spirits and invariably I feel better walking out of the woods than I did when I walked in.

The old, strong trees, the deer, the song of birds and the steady changing colors of painted sunlight all have a wonderful way of calming and clarifying what can often be a too hurried existence. They sit on the edge of our town, these old, proud trees. Their presence alone, an invitation to come in and relax. If you go there, walk softly, take a moment to be still, the deer are many and you'll see them.

It doesn't take much to realize the timeless beauty of mother nature's gifts to us. We are a fortunate few who have such a place, so close and so pure. Please allow yourself time to enjoy it.

What's Next?

It seems like every couple of weeks I open the paper or hear from friends another idea as to what to do with the green belt that is now ours. Boy, we sure haven't wasted any time. Let's see, first we can build a road through it for maintenance vehicles; gee, then why not throw up a storage compound; gosh, we could put a giant shed out there and then why not a salt dome, too? We don't want anything unsightly in public view so woods will solve that.

Oh, but wait there's more, why not log some of it. Gosh, yeah, we better log it cause if we manage it then it will self-destruct and we wouldn't want that to happen. Imagine 25 acres of woodland exploding!

Hmm, is there anything else? Well, how about a giant sports complex? There's plenty of useless woodland that we could scrub. Gee, I think they even call it scrub. Or was it Virginia Pine — Virginia Pine, Virginia Scrub, who cares. Hey, I got another idea. How about a 100-unit apartment building. That's a great idea; we could call it green belt garden apartments or how about green belt scrub apartments. Yeah! Anything else?

Lee Beall

Millard Leroy (Lee) Beall, Jr., 45 Ridge Road, died suddenly on Friday, July 27. He was 56.

He was graduated from Northwestern High School in 1952 and married Betty Matsudaira in 1955. Beall received a B.S. in Horticulture in 1960 and an M.S. in Botany in 1964, both from the University of Maryland. The Bealls moved to Greenbelt where they raised three children. He served as president of the Aquatic Boosters Club for several years.

Beall worked 27 years for the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. He was in the Pesticide Degradation Department. This year he received an award for his work and was voted the most trustworthy employee in his lab. Beall was active in the Toastmasters Club at BARC for a number of years and served as president.

During the past four years Lee became involved in the 12-step recovery program, helping first his own recovery and then many others as he remained actively involved in the functioning of that program. This past year he played a major role in establishing the Greenbelt Step Club.

He is survived by his three children Millard L. III (Buddy), Laura Beall Horstkamp and John R.; his mother Isabel E.; a brother Ronald S. and two sisters Carol Jean Ging and Rita J. Dickinson; his devoted friend Kay Lacey; and his former wife Betty Beall-Read.

The funeral service was held August 1 at the Greenbelt Community Church with interment at Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Police Blotter

Assaults

On July 26, the police were called to the 9100 block of Springhill Lane because a male resident had been attacked by seven or eight other men with baseball bats and metal pipes. The victim had a severe head wound and appeared to have been stabbed in the chest; he was still in intensive care in critical condition at a hospital the next morning.

On July 27, while an employee of Safeway was working parcel pickup, he was approached by a man who accused him of being involved in a stabbing at Springhill Lake Apartments the day before. The person denied involvement but was nevertheless attacked by five to eight more males, who began hitting and kicking him. He ran inside the store, was followed, and was pushed into a cash register and received a minor head injury. The group of males then left the area, possibly in a brown Ford truck, DC tags.

On July 28 a man came up to a car stopped at a traffic light at Greenbelt Shopping Center, cursed, hit and kicked the car, damaging it, and threatened the occupants. They drove away when the light turned green. The man is described as white, in his 20's, 6'0", 175 lbs., with shoulder length blond hair, and wearing faded blue jeans and a blue tank top. He had been driving an early 70s model blue Oldsmobile Cutlass with MD tags XZM-801.

On July 29 a resident girl was assaulted by two boys on Research Rd.: The boys shot "bottle rocket" fireworks at her from their vehicle, but missed. She fled. The boys followed and managed to spray chemical mace in her face. Then they fled but were apprehended by Pfc. Michael Lanier at the corner of Westway and Lakeside Dr. There were fireworks and chemical mace in their vehicle. Both were arrested and charged with assault with intent to maim, carrying a chemical weapon with intent to discharge. One was a resident and one was not. Both were released to the custody of their parents pending action by Juvenile Court. The girl was taken to a hospital and treated for chemical irritation to the eyes and face; she was released the next morning.

Breaking and Entering
On July 28 a storage trailer at the Metro construction site in Cherrywood Lane was broken into and power and hand tools were stolen.

On July 28 a house under construction on Research Rd. was entered and all of the electrical wiring leading to the circuit box was cut.

Council Debates Shed Sites

site, saying that Ridge Road could not handle the additional city traffic.

White rejected both options, as did council member Edward Putens. Putens said that although he understood the logic of the Hamilton Place proposal, he rejected the conclusion, fearing that a future council would expand the city's use of the site.

Council member Joseph Isaacs called for a reassessment of other possible sites. Between the two current alternatives, he would support the lake site in preference to Hamilton Place. While he supported use of NPS land, he argued that this choice "begs the question" of how the city will meet the storage needs when the building reverts to the NPS.

Werner Neupert was concerned about the effect the shed would have if built near the lake park. He argued that Crescent Road, off Kenilworth Avenue, is becoming a more prominent entrance to the city and that anything the city constructs at this site creates an impression of what the city is like. He argued that council should complete a lake park master plan before constructing anything more on the site.

JOE'S TIPS OF THE WEEK

Hello Again!!

As we all know from what's happening to gasoline prices in the last few days, it's very important to get the most out of your vehicle as far as gasoline economy goes. You need to try to squeeze the most miles per gallon out of your vehicle because pump gasoline could get close to $2 a gallon. So, first off, make sure that the engine is freshly tuned and adjusted as well as it can get. Make sure that all the emission control devices are functioning properly. These components can rob fuel miles from you and cause poor engine drivability. Make sure that all tires are properly inflated. This is one of the items that nobody listens to. Underinflated tires can steal 4 miles per gallon from your vehicle due to excessive road friction. It takes a greater amount of force to push against the road pavement with improperly inflated tires, thus using more fuel. And last, but certainly not least, drive within the speed limit. These seem like such little things to do, but if you add all the factors up, it's proven that you will save in the long run.

TILL NEXT TIME ! ! ! !
THINK PREVENTIVE MAINTENANCE ! ! ! !
JOE!!
