Council Opposes Triple Fast Food Restaurant Proposal

by Diane Oberg

The hot issue at the March 28 city council meeting was the proposed new use for the closed Kangaroo Katie's restaurant in Greenway Center. PepsiCola wants to use the site for an "All n' One" facility combining the menus of KFC (Kentucky Fried Chicken), Taco Bell and Pizza Hut. This would not be a food court type operation, but instead a 200-seat restaurant where customers can order from the combined menu of the three chains.

The Greenbelt City Council's role in the decision-making process is small. It has the right to comment on the company's site plan application to the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission (MNOP-PC). The commission's technical staff has already recommended approval of the plan, as has Greenbelt's Advisory Planning Board, Council, on the other hand, voted to oppose the application on a 3-1 vote with council member Rodney Roberts voting nay.

Legal Dispute

The most significant decision-making role could be played by the courts. Greenway Center's owner opposes the plan and charges that it violates covenants on the restaurant property. These covenants require a sit-down restaurant with at-table service that serves alcoholic beverages. The attorney for the owner, in a written brief, says that these covenants and additional lease restrictions prohibit the proposed facility. One question is whether a restaurant with a drive-in window can be considered a "sit-down restaurant." Both the county and city governments are staying out of that fight.

City Solicitor Robert Manzi told council that only site plan issues, such as traffic circulation within the shopping center, can be considered by the county in its review. It cannot consider issues such as traffic movements into and out of the shopping center.

Council Positions

The new facility is expected to attract more customers than did Kangaroo Katie's, although the size of the increase is in dispute. In opposing the application, the council majority was most concerned about potential traffic and parking problems. Like the attorney for the center, they emphasized that they liked the proposal, just not for that location.

Roberts urged his colleagues to remain neutral. He said that there were other allowable uses of the property that could cause more problems than the proposed facility. He also worried that the property might remain vacant for a prolonged period.

All present acknowledged that the recent improvements to Greenbelt Road have nearly eliminated the problems that customers had in getting out of the shopping center. Dario Agnolotto, the attorney for the shopping center, estimated that the new use would generate at least

by James Giese

The entrance road to the west parking lot at Roosevelt Center was closed over the Easter weekend as construction crews installed an ornamental paver block crosswalk. The entrance was expected to be reopened this week. However, the entrance to the east lot (Co-op parking lot) is to be closed so that an ornamental paver block crosswalk can be constructed there.

Two other ornamental crosswalks are to be built. One is next to the Co-op food store where a new ramped sidewalk from the mall will extend through the parking lot and connect to the existing sidewalk behind the apartments on Crescent Road. This work is being done in two phases with traffic being maintained at the crosswalk. The other crosswalk is between the professional building and the Aquatic and Fitness Center on the road connecting the west and rear center lots. This road may be closed during the crosswalk construction.

According to James Sterling, Construction Inspector for the city, the contractor probably has two more weeks of work on decorative paving and curb construction. It will take another two to three weeks to repair bad pavement sections in the three lots. Overlaying the three lots with a new asphalt surface course will probably take place about six weeks from now. It is planned to do one parking lot in one day. On that day, the parking lot will be closed to traffic and parking prohibited until the surface is laid and rolled.

Motorists who fail to remove their vehicles after the city gives notice by posting signs will have their vehicles towed at the owner's expense, if the vehicles interfere with paving the parking lots.

Crime in Greenbelt Update Presented at CFG Meeting

by Sandy Smith

Crime in Greenbelt was the topic of a wide-ranging panel discussion at a meeting of the Citizens for Greenbelt on March 22. Speakers were Mayor Toni Bram, Police Chief James Craze, and Trix Whitehall of the Public Defender's Office.

Tough on Crime

According to Chief Craze, violent crime was down 17 percent in 1993 locally, while property crime including burglary and auto theft rose 5%. During the same period in the Washington metropolitan region of Maryland, violent crime such as murder, rape and assault rose 5%, and property crime dropped slightly.

Council Pulls Out the Stops With Anti-Noise Ordinance

by Diane Oberg

Greenbelt city police will soon be able to take stronger action against noise complaints. On March 28, the Greenbelt City Council unanimously approved a new city noise control ordinance on a 4-0 vote with Councilmember Judith Davis absent.

Because the ordinance had been substantially changed from that introduced for first reading at the previous meeting, it was treated as a new ordinance. Council then suspended its normal rules to allow both first reading and final passage at this meeting, instead of requiring a second reading at a future meeting. Neither council nor the city staff offered any explanation of why the suspension of the rules was required.

In a telephone interview, Deputy City Manager Michael McLaughlin said that the reason this procedure was suggested was the staff's sense that council wanted it passed as quickly as possible. He noted that the subject matter was the same as that previously announced, so citizens were aware the issue was under consideration.

The approved ordinance goes beyond the more limited county ordinance previously introduced. The city law declares "it to be the public policy of the City that every person is entitled to an environment free of noise levels which are detrimental to life, health and enjoyment of property." It includes the county's prohibition on playing music or operating equipment between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. if the resulting sounds are audible more than 50 feet from the source.

Additional Restrictions

In addition, however, the new city law prohibits all unreasonably loud noise "which either annoys, disturbs, injures or endangers the comfort, repose, health, peace or safety of others." The restrictions would apply all day long. However, during daytime hours the police would first have to issue warnings before offenders would be considered in violation of the law. No warnings would be required between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Neither the county or the city law affects the operations of any government (including snowplows, emergency vehicles, the Labor Day festival, ballfields usage, swim meets at the city pool, etc.) or to farm equipment or aircraft. However, council removed the ban on excessively noisy "photographs" from the draft, preferring to restrict "phonographs" instead.

Motorists and Singers

The law will also prohibit motorist from blowing their horns when stuck in traffic, or for any purpose except to warn of danger. Motorists whose radios are played more loudly "than is necessary for convenient hearing" of "voluntary listeners" would also be violating the new law. Similarly, playing music in a public park, street or other space more loudly than is required for the convenient hearing of those immediately adjacent to the device is also prohibited.

Additional restrictions apply to "yelling, shouting, hooting, whistling or singing." It will also be illegal for property owners or lease holders to permit the creation of unreasonably loud noises on their property.

Penalties

Violators can be punished with fines of $100-$500 and/or up to five days in jail. The law became effective upon its passage on March 28. (Usually new laws become effective 10 days after passage, McLaughlin explained later, unless the law meets some emergency need and council waives the waiting period.)

According to City Solicitor Robert Manzi, much of the new language is modeled upon Ocean City's noise ordinance which has been challenged and upheld in court.

Discussion

Other than technical questions of how the ordinance would be enforced and how it would apply in specific situations, there was little council discussion of the measure. Only a few citizens were present at the meeting. Sheldon Goldberg got a clarification that homeowners' association snowplows would be exempt from the restrictions.

Doug Love joked that the ordinance could require closing the Beltway. More seriously, he said that "we'll all be awaiting this document so we can see where we're going to be penalized."

There were not enough copies of the law for everyone.

Mayor Antoinette Bram assured Love: "I don't think that it affects normal behavior."

What's the Rush?

We are very concerned about the Greenbelt City Council's recent willingness to pass legislation under suspension of the rules. Council's latest exercise of this provision put into place a noise control law that could affect many citizens, without providing any opportunity for citizens to become aware of the proposal or to comment.

Suspension of the rules allows council to enact legislation in a single meeting. The normal procedure is to introduce the law in one meeting and enact it the next, enabling citizens to learn of the proposal and express their views to council.

When legislation is passed under suspension of the rules, citizens do not have this opportunity. Even those who attend the council meeting have only a limited idea of what the law contains, since they have no time to review the text. This procedure is only appropriate for routine matters, or in an emergency.

But the present case does not meet these criteria. Giving no reason why rapid passage was essential, council suspended the rules and passed a broad-ranging noise control ordinance. Without public notice, council moved from an ordinance that merely restricted noise between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. to a law that restricts many daytime activities.

While many of the prohibited activities may be annoying, shouldn't citizens have a chance to comment on a law that seems to prohibit many common practices? These include the tooting of a horn, loudly enjoying a good song in our homes or cars during the daytime hours, and the dangerous practice of singing in public.

While it is too late to block, change or endorse the law in question, we do think council owes its constituents an explanation of why such an all-inclusive law had to be passed so hastily. We also hope council will evaluate future requests for suspension of the rules more carefully.

Speeding on Lakeside

Speeding problems on narrow, curving Lakeside Drive were discussed at a board meeting of the Lakeside Citizens Association on January 27. On hand was Corporal Berger of the Greenbelt Police Department, who had done a site review of the street and described traffic patterns and speeds. At his suggestion, the board has written to the City requesting two additional speed limit signs in the middle of Lakeside.

In future, Lakeside Drive will be patrolled, and tickets issued to speeders.

Correction

Due to an apparent typographical error, a word was changed near the end of my letter which altered its tone to address News Review readers in a way which I would not feel is appropriate. The sentence that begins, "People, let's . . ." should read "Please, let's leave the woods alone." I hope the News Review will make this small correction. Thank you.

Corrections

I am writing to correct two inaccuracies in your page one GHI Board article on March 31.

1. Near the top of the second column, and in the middle of a section on the N&E Committee, you have a paragraph on an outline regarding Conducting Effective GHI Meetings, etc. This has nothing to do with the N&E Committee, but rather is a document being developed and refined by the Board.

2. In the next paragraph the following appears: "President Freas noted that a member can request assistance from the President or the Parliamentarian at any time."

That is not correct. The Parliamentarian, and for that matter the attorney, are there to advise the Chair, and members may not ask for their assistance. Members can request assistance from "he Chair, and my cover letter to the Annual Meeting Notice will go into some detail on this to try to prevent some of the confusion that existed at this special meeting in December.

Keep the Trees

"Improvements" to Roosevelt Center? Why do these "improvements" always result in cutting down all of the trees? Enough is enough!

The mature pines behind the "Mother and Child" do not block the view, because their lower limbs are sparse. Perhaps the designer had that in mind when this species was chosen. In fact, they enhance the statue, making a nice green frame and setting it off, so that it isn't lost against a distant backdrop of the Aquatic Center.

As for the pear trees, last week's article acknowledged that they provide the shade which people often seek in the Center, and says that providing this shade once the trees are cut down will be "an interesting challenge." Does it make sense to cut down these attractive trees only to replace them with some artificial substitute at great expense? Provide them with water and drainage systems to improve their health; don't destroy them.

Removal of trees, as we see in far too many places in and around Greenbelt, gives an impression of barrenness more than of openness. This is unlikely to reduce the complaints of rowdiness and vandalism. I like and value the "Mother and Child" statue, but we are being asked to sacrifice too much, in aesthetics, money, and common sense, to "improve the view."

Now—can we stop this, or will the momentum of the "Master Plan" roll over us? Tina Rhea

Tough on Crime

I attended The Citizens for Greenbelt Forum "the Crime Situation in Greenbelt" the evening of March 22. I want to applaud Mayor Bram for taking a tough stand on crime. I also want to thank Police Chief Craze for reinforcing my confidence in the safety efforts in place and under consideration in Greenbelt. The potential installation of a police substation at Beltway Plaza sounds like an excellent idea.

I spent the last eight years living in Hyattsville and recently moved to Greenbelt in February. Greenbelt's safety record was a key consideration in my decision.

A representative from the Juvenile Service Bureau also spoke at the forum. Her opening response to the Mayor and the Chief's presentations was, "We should not have a wall up around Greenbelt." I believe the representative misses the point. First of all, federal law prohibits any such activity. Additionally, I have found Greenbelt to be open to all citizens, both as residents and visitors.

The problems facing this nation cannot be solved by our city alone. Unless a strong commitment against crime is consistently demonstrated within Greenbelt, it will not be long before personal freedoms become compromised beyond acceptable levels.

What is Magpie?

by Jeri Holloway

It was reported last week in the Greenbelt News Review that there had been sightings of Magpies at Greenbelt Lake! Two Magpies were seen circling near Roosevelt Center! Fortunately, these statements are somewhat true. "Magpie", the folk duo from Takoma Park will appear on the Greenbelt Arts Center's Music Series on Saturday, April 23 at 8 p.m. at the new theater adjacent to the Post Office.

Magpies are indeed songbirds and Terry Leonino and Greg Artzner comprise the folk duo "Magpie." They will provide listeners with a delightful eclectic mixture of music ranging from folk, blues, country, contemporary and other styles. We are assured that they will not play loud folk music as stated in last week's article.

Tickets are available at the Arts Center or Coop Supermarket. Call the Arts Center now at 441-8770 to reserve seats. Magpie is very popular in folk music circles and a sellout crowd is anticipated for this exciting duo's performance.

The P.J. Storytime for ages 4-6 will be held on Tuesday, April 12, at 7 p.m.

There will be a Babysitting Workshop for ages 12-19 on Wednesday, April 13, at 7 p.m. Registration is required. Call 345-5800.

OBITUARIES

Virginia Wilkinson

Long-time Greenbelt resident Virginia "Ginny" Wilkinson, 71, died Thursday, March 31 after a decade-long struggle with Inclusion Body Myositis, a rare, degenerative muscle disease. She is survived by her husband, Joseph; her children, Bob, Christa, Beth and Kevin; four grandchildren, J. C., Tina, Donald and Kelly; and several great-grandchildren.

Ginny moved to a Greenbelt apartment in 1950 with her husband and infant son Bob. Soon after they moved to a GHI townhouse in 15 court of Laurel Hill, where the family grew to four children. Ginny's love of Greenbelt started immediately with the parade of neighbors that came to welcome the new family and the babysitting cooperative which was quickly embraced. She enjoyed courtside living and established many lifelong friendships there.

When the family needed more room, there was no question they would remain here and in 1967 the family moved to Northway, where Ginny quickly went to work creating a beautiful home and shade garden.

Ginny was an active volunteer. She was a Cub Scout Den Mother, Brownie Troop Leader and teacher's aide at North End Elementary School. She was accomplished in ceramics, gardening, needlepoint, and bridge. She also loved the theater, traveling, camping, mystery novels and watching softball at Braden field.

Ginny was a people-person. She enjoyed conversation, visits with family and friends, the Labor Day festivals and was always interested in the goings-on around town.

Ginny applied her talents to creating a warm and comfortable home. Family was most important to her and she recently celebrated her 50th wedding anniversary with Joe and the family. She faced her illness with courage, grace and dignity while being an inspiration and source of strength to those around her. Her wit, generosity and love of life will be sorely missed.

Recycling Corner

The term "mixed paper" has lots of different meanings. For residents recycling mixed paper, specific materials include: magazines, catalogs, Sunday glossy inserts, junk mail, flyers and miscellaneous white paper, too. There is no need to remove staples or paper clips; the processing removes them. Please don't include window envelopes, paper with crayon, carbon paper or any plastic bags.

Volunteers Needed

The Mental Health Association of Prince Georges County in Largo has a number of unusually interesting jobs open to volunteers. One of these can be done on the phone: working as a part of "Careline" calls to children who are bored, lonely, need help with homework, or are fearful. Another task for volunteers is working as part of the "Safety Team," which meets with 3rd and 4th grades once a month about being safe when home alone. These are particularly rewarding jobs for they allow immediate assistance to young students.

For more information or to volunteer please call the Prince Georges Voluntary Action Center, Inc. at (301) 779-9444.

Greenbelt Gardener's Tips

by Rosie Rhubarb

It seems more like spring now that the days are longer, tiny hints of green are on many trees and lawns are getting greener. The flowering trees and shrubs are just gorgeous. Some of the best ones blooming now are: pink cherry, the pink, cuplike magnolia, the white Bradford pear, and the bright yellow forsythia.

The forsythia is a very useful plant for it is tough, carefree, and can be a bright accent or a hedge. Note the nice forsythia hedge next to the St. Hugh's rectory on Crescent Road.

Put your nose in the forsythia blossoms and smell the pleasant, subtle scent. Other sweet smelling flowers blooming now are daffodil and hyacinth.

All these spring flowers make a lot of people want to go out and buy summer flowering plants. It's still too cool for annual flowers, but is a good time to plant perennial flowers.

Annual Flowers

In a few weeks it will be warm enough to plant such annual flowering plants as impatiens, begonias, marigolds, zinnias and cosmos. Annuals are flowers that grow, flower and die all in one season.

Resist the temptation to plant annuals in the garden this early in April. A frost (32 degrees) or a windy night with low temperatures will kill them. The average date for the last frost in our area is in late April.

Even above killing temperatures, the nights are still too cold and the soil too cool for these plants to do well. Remember, the plants are out there 24 hours a day and since they like hot weather, and warm feet, you can imagine how chilly they feel.

If you do buy plants this early, place them temporarily in a very protected place, like next to the sunny side of the house. And put something over them on a very cool night, like a flower pot.

When you buy annual flower plants look for healthy leaves and no flowers on the plant. Look at the leaves and the roots closely. If a lot of roots are sticking out of the bottom of the pot then it is too bound by the pot. Look for another plant. The leaves of a plant you buy should be a healthy green color. Avoid plants with mold, webs, or yellow leaves.

A flower on the small sized plants in the small pots you mostly see in garden centers is a sign that the plant is stressed, such as the roots are cramped in too tight. It is most likely that the plant will not produce as well for you as it should if you buy it in such a condition. To rejuvenate the plant, however, you could pinch out the flower and this will produce a bushier, heavier blooming plant in the long run.

And finally, when the weather gets warmer, in late April and early May, plant your annual flower plants in a prepared flower bed or holes. Be sure to improve the soil by adding compost, manure, or fertilizer so your plants will be well fed.

Perennial Flowers

April and October are the best times for planting and transplanting most perennial flowers. Perennials are the kinds of flowers that come up year after year. Some old favorites are: daylily, hosta, phlox, iris, lily, columbine, aster, peony, daisy and black-eyed-susan.

It is a real advantage to have plants that will come back and flower every year. Another plus—some perennials bloom before and after most annual flowers are at their best. For example iris and columbines will give color to your garden in late April which is before the summer annuals are up to speed. Asters and boltonia which look like little daisies, bloom in September, at a time when many annuals look faded out or are dead.

Since perennials are going to be in place awhile, prepare a good planting hole for them. Make the hole a couple times bigger than the root ball, (the bunch of soil and roots you pull out of the pot), and add something good for the plant, such as decomposed manure or composted soil. If you are preparing a whole flower bed the same principles apply—prepare it deeply and feed the plants well.

You can break up a clump of perennials into several plants. It's best to dig up the whole clump. Breaking up the clump can be hard work, but try hard not to rip up the plant. Each new plant should have a good root system and at least one healthy shoot or set of leaves.

Beltsville Garden Club

To Sell Spring Plants

The Beltsville Garden Club will hold plant sales on Saturday, April 16 and Saturday, May 7 beginning at 8 a.m. (rain or shine) at High Point High School parking lot, Powder Mill Road (West of I-95), Beltsville. On sale will be azaleas, perennials, annuals, trees, shrubs, evergreens, vegetable plants and house plants. Quality plant material is available at reasonable prices and the growers are the vendors so they are available to answer questions regarding specific horticultural requirements. Most plants are sold by noon.

Soil testing will be provided by the BGC for a small fee. Instruction sheets on how to collect and prepare a proper sample for testing will be available at the April plant sale. Samples can be brought to the May plant sale as per the instruction sheet and results will be mailed within one week.

officers and citizens toward prevention, through programs such as the neighborhood watch and the Citizen's Academy.

Breaking down crime in Greenbelt by locality, Chief Craze stated that crime was about equal in the center city area, the Springhill Lake area, and Greenbelt East. Although numerically there are more crimes in the latter two sections, the crime rate (number of crimes per population) is about the same.

Most of those arrested in Greenbelt are adults. African-Americans make up 65%, and whites 34%. Most were county residents; city residents made up one-third. In the last five years there have been some changes statistically. More assaults involve the use of weapons, and there has been an 83% increase in crimes by juveniles (adult arrests are up only 2%). Last year the police department responded to 13,590 calls.

The department is divided into three divisions: patrol, special operations, and administrative services. Separate units focus on criminal investigations, narcotics, crime prevention, tactics, traffic, support services, and a canine corps. Chief Craze stated that the department has received good support from the public through City Council over the years, although "you will not find a Police Chief who will tell you that he or she has enough personnel or resources.

Special Programs

He stressed the currently popular trend toward community oriented policing as a strategy for the future, although commenting that municipal departments have always used these approaches. In Greenbelt, all officers receive training in so-called Problem Oriented Policing, a proactive, non-traditional police response that seeks to eliminate the root causes of problems.

Another program, the Citizens Academy, is a 12-week program for people who would like to experience the life of a police recruit. Classes are held one evening a week, and students are exposed to a small portion of the basic entry-level training given to all officers in the state of Maryland.

Prevention was stressed by Trix Whitehall, a lawyer with the Public Defender's Office who often works with juveniles. Many of these, she says, can still be

Cycle Across MD To Hold Bike Rally

Cycle Across Maryland Corporation will hold its 5th annual OAM Bike Rally on Saturday, April 16 at Southern Middle School in Anne Arundel County. Registration begins at 7:30 a.m. Helmets are required. The rain date is Sunday, April 17.

CAM Bike Rally is one of the earliest bicycling events in Maryland and helps new and experienced cyclists to review their skills and learn new techniques for efficient cycling.

This year's rally features new components. Workshops focusing on preparing for Multi-day Rides will teach how to pack for overnight road adventures; how and when to train; and nutrition for distance cyclists. A special endurance training workshop for athletes with disabilities will be lead by instructors from The League of Maryland.

Popular workshops such as "The 10-Minute Bike Mechanic" and "Fix a Flat Fast" will be offered again this year.

Training rides of 15, 25, and 45 miles will be led by experienced riders and held on a rotating schedule throughout the day. This will allow participants to get to all workshops and a ride of their choice.

A special demonstration area will feature riders on high wheelers (old fashioned high-wheel bikes), tandems (bicycles built for two riders), and recumbants (now bikes ridden while sitting back).

Cycle Across Maryland Corporation is a non-profit organization founded to promote cycling as a recreation and cycling safety in the State.

For further information or applications, call Cycle Across Maryland at (410) 653-8288. Applications are also available at most bicycle shops.

reached and turned around. In her job, part attorney and part social worker, she tries to prevent young offenders from graduating to an adult life of crime. She praised a new program, Choice, which matches college graduates with a small number of teens to monitor their activities and give them intensive support.

Greenbelt is "not an island," she said, agreeing with the other speakers that forces and trends in the metropolitan area will inevitably impinge on this community as well.

Explore Health Care

Beverly Hummel, Volunteer Outreach Coordinator with Citizen Action Coalition and the Gray Panthers, will be speaking on Friday, April 15, at "Explorations Unlimited".

Hummel will be giving an update on the national health care crises and proposed legislative remedies. Her talk will be focusing on the new developments in the legislature in regards to Health Care. The Health Care Bill is evolving now—Which direction will it go and how will it affect everyone? There will be National Health Care (August 15 is the target date for voting on the Health Care Bill); find out how people can influence it.

Hummel has spoken to over 186 local organizations in the past three years on the health care issue. She is a retired teacher and artist with a strong interest in the community. Even those who have heard her speak recently won't want to miss this talk because of the recent developments. It's important to stay as well informed as possible and Hummel will simplify this complicated problem and zero in on the real issues.

"Explorations Unlimited" is a speaker series held every Friday from 1-3 p.m. at the Youth Center. Everyone is welcome to attend and questions are always encouraged. For more information call 474-6878.

Council Tidbits

At its March 28 regular meeting the Greenbelt City Council: —Saw James Keller sworn in as the city's newest police officer.

—Learned that the International City Management Association plans to include excerpts from the city's budget presentations on management by objectives and performance measures in an upcoming book on city management.

—Passed, under a suspension of the rules, the optimistically titled "Resolution to Stop Crime and Violence in Our Towns and Cities," drafted by the National League of Cities. The resolution calls upon the federal Congress to "enact anti-crime legislation immediately" including direct anti-crime funds to be granted directly to cities.

—Unanimously recommended county approval of a site plan for a radiation treatment facility for patients with cancer. The free standing facility will be constructed on a pad site near the Riggs Bank building in the Maryland Trade Center Park. Richard Reid, attorney for the applicant, told council the facility will generate less traffic than other possible uses of the site.

—Unanimously voted to support state anti-hate crime legislation designed to replace the cross-burning statute that has been found unconstitutional.

1994 Labor Day Festival Committee Starts Work

by Sandy Smith

The Labor Day Festival Steering committee began its work on the 1994 Labor Day Festival, elected new officers and set a budget of $54,000 to operate this year's Festival at a recent meeting. Tom Renahan was elected president of the committee and J Davis will serve as vice president as well as continue her long-time position as Carnival chair.

Renahan, who takes over as president from Bobbi McCarthy, stressed the need for community support and community involvement. He said, "We are actively looking for new people and new ideas." He identified several areas where the committee is seeking assistance, which include help in raising donations, managing facilities, and conducting publicity. Virtually every area of the Festival from entertainment to parade can use more participants (see ad on page 3).

As outgoing president, Bobbi McCarthy spoke about the community spirit that is expressed in all aspects of the Festival. While it has grown and changed over the years, it is still a community celebration run by community volunteers. Not only is the Festival a fun event she said, planning and working on it is enjoyable and rewarding.

Co-treasurer Ed Cook presented the financial report of the Festival for 1993 (see accompanying table) and outlined the budget of $54,000 set for 1994. The Festival generally brings in just enough income to cover expenses, and must have sufficient funds in its account to start the work on the Festival each year. Income is raised through a commission on carnival rides, donations, and booth commissions.

Most of the income is generated during or after the Festival; many of the expenses are incurred much earlier. The expenses of the Festival include the groups which provide nearly constant entertainment on the Festival stage and which must be booked in advance, parade units such as marching bands which often come from some distance away, publicity and everything else from dial-a-ride to equipment rental. While the city supports the Festival in many ways, such as preparing the carnival area and setting up the booths, the Festival receives no direct city funding and depends upon its fundraisers and donations.

Businesses or organizations can sponsor an entire event in the Festival or contribute to the overall operations. The Festival Committee works closely with Greenbelt Rotary Club President Helen Svenson to communicate with the business committee as a whole, and contacts individual businesses as well.

The Festival Committee meets throughout the summer and the meetings are announced in the News Review. Everyone is welcome to attend. To find out more about participating in any of the Festival activities contact Tom Renahan, president, 345-5352, or any of the other Festival committee chairs: J. Davis, vice president and carnival, 345-3243; Lynn Lubey, facilities, 474-4718; Ed Cook, 345-2597 and Larry Hull, 474-2852, treasurers; Mary Ann Baker, secretary, 474-1706; Rick Ransom, 441-1597 and Barbara Barber, 220-0448, entertainment; Tony Fominaya, 474-1274 and Herta Dietrich, 552-1234, parade; Wayne Williams, historian, 474-1259; Barbara Simon, art show, 474-2192; Natasha Chavrid-Jewell, Miss Greenbelt, 345-0929; Cheri Gaimor, 317-9943 and Kathy DonBullian, 474-1014, Jr. and Little Miss Greenbelt; Steve Blais, outstanding citizen, 474-4283; Sandy and Ray Smith, publicity; 474-6127; photo exhibition, 345-9573; Konrad Herling, talent show, 345-9369; Leta Mach, schedule, 345-8105; Girl Scout Troop 3030, pet show, 474-2852; Ken Voigt, sound, 345-8395; and Karen Yoho, special contests 982-9626.

The View from Ridge Road

Courtly Music

by Christina O'Boyle

Spring awakens the abused earth. Ground that has been pummeled by sleet, snow and sub-zero temperatures is being massaged into life. The awakening is in its quiet stage: leaves push out, flowers poke up, bugs are born. Gradually it will get noisier out there. I am watching the weather through closed windows waiting to open the house and invite it all in—the smell, the breeze, the sounds, the warm audible air.

Spring days are filled with a soundtrack of the arrivals and departures of 58 Court—where I live—and life on Ridge Road. Some of the music can be so insistent and hard to ignore that it seems as if amplifiers are hidden behind our boxwood bushes. A woodpecker's new family can be as effective as an alarm clock, with three beaks jack hammering for bugs in hollow trees at 6:10 in the morning. Their rhythm synchronizes with the chirping robins, jays and cardinals. The Washington Post hits the deck with a thud after a long toss from the paper boy. Ears are up. Time to rouse the other four senses with a cup of coffee.

All winter I have felt Metro, university and public school buses shake the house as they pass by. With spring's open windows their wheezing and sputtering competes with the slam, honk and rattle of each off-to-work neighbor. Robert's station wagon coughs. Helen's car clanks. Jeff turns the key in his sexy red Camaro, it purrs warming up, then growls and zooms away.

Without needing a clock I know it's 3:30 because the metallic screeching of the school bus brakes announces the kindergartners' return. Their gleeful yells burst from its doors. Their chasing feet bound through the front door and race to the refrigerator. The soundtrack continues with the crunching of big wheel bikes along the sidewalk, the commands of dog owners on daily constitutionals, the buzzing of flies and bees against the screens. As evening approaches, sentence fragments from passing Volksmarchers float through the windows into my contented ears.

Living is easy with windows open. When I hear Eleanor's shoes clack along our common path I simply lean over, push my nose against the screen and get the latest report. I can belch at the children, doling out discipline without leaving the sink. But for now, life is contained. Sweet air and courtly music are locked out by thermal glass.

In a few weeks I hope to end this antiseptic existence by opening the house. But the music blowing through the rooms will be accompanied by the nagging knowledge that summer's pounding heat and humidity will force me to close doors, shut windows and live hermetically sealed in with the monotony of the air-conditioner.

Fifty Years Ago

A Woman's Town

by James Giese

March, 1944 — "It looks as though Greenbelt will be a woman's town for the immediate future," the Greenbelt Cooperator lamented in an editorial which took note of the latest round of 1-A draft reclassifications. Taken from Greenbelt were an older group of men, nearly all of whom held important positions in the community.

Most prominent of the group was Town Councilman Frank Lastner, who was inducted into the Army. Lastner, who had served on the council for four years, did not resign from the council pending determination as to where he would be stationed.

Drayton Hull, president of the Greenbelt Citizens Association, was inducted into the Navy and resigned his post with the association. Another Navy inductee was popular Recreation Director Ben Goldfaden. Greenbelt postal carrier Bill Shields was taken by the Army. Other men going off to war were Ed Turner to the Marines, and Joseph R. Howlin, Jack Cain, John Lehan, and Kenneth Arnold to the Army.

City Notes

Tree planting locations were marked at Roosevelt Center parking lot. Roses at Schrom Hills Park and pear trees on Mandan Road were pruned. Crepe Myrtle bushes were transported from their Croom, Md. nursery for planting at Roosevelt Center.

Trees and shrubs were installed on the Public Works facility concealment berm and four replacement trees were planted at Schrom Hills Park. Trees were planted in the parking lot near the Co-op store. Plant beds were mulched.

Soccer fields were prepared for weekend League play and softball and baseball fields were tended for daily use, weather permitting.

Cleaning of storm drains inlets continued and a clogged storm drain at 58 Court Ridge Road was cleaned. Pot holes were filled and underpasses were inspected for graffiti.

Curbs were painted yellow in designated no-parking areas in Greenbelt East.

Back-order road salt was delivered and the salt storage bunkers are again filled to capacity for next season.

Prince Georges County Executive Parris N. Glendening has announced Greenbelt as the winner of the County's Second Quarter Recycling Municipal Action Campaign with a participation rate of 80 percent. This is the highest in Group One, which consists of more than 1,500 single-family homes.

Greenbelt Boys & Girls Club Honors Stallworth & Fadli

by Jeff Keir

At the Prince Georges County Boys & Girls Club awards dinner on March 10, Edward (Eddie) Stallworth was honored as the Greenbelt Boys & Girls Club "Boy of the Year" and Sima Fadli as "Girl of the Year." Also, Ava Ramey and Dennis Lewis were honored at the awards dinner as the Club's Adult Volunteers of the Year; receiving the County's Boys & Girls Club's "Distinguished Service to Youth" award.

Eddie is 14½ years old and resides in Greenbelt with his parents and older sister. From age seven, Eddie has been active in a variety of sports, including: T-ball, track and field, football, baseball and basketball. He has competed in numerous tournaments and his impressive display of trophies attests to his teams' championship victories. To improve his skills, further, Eddie has attended several sports clinics every year. Last September, he showed off some of those skills in the "Hoop-It-Up" finals at George Mason University. Eddie shows a positive attitude towards his teammates, as well as, respect for his coaches.

He has always excelled academically in school. He is presently an honor roll freshman in the University School Program at Laurel High School. Upon graduation, Eddie plans to attend a university that specializes in math and has an excellent athletic program. He intends to pursue a career as an architect. Eddie's other hobbies include: chess, reading, and collecting comic books and basketball cards.

Sima Fadli

Sima was born and raised in Greenbelt and is involved in a host of activities. She has played on the Club's softball team, (where she was the team's most valuable player), on basketball team, and has played soccer from age 5. Sima is also on a swim

Sima is active with Greenbelt GATE cable-TV and, for the last couple years, has competed in the "Odyssey of the Mind." Sima is a consistent honor roll student at Greenbelt Middle School, where she had a 4.0 average last report card. What impresses everyone about Sima is the caring manner in which she interacts with her fellow students, teammates, and adults. She is always willing to take the time to help someone, to listen and to lend a caring hand. Sima plans to pursue a career as a lawyer and a teacher. A lawyer until she has children, then a teacher (like her mother) because teachers are able to be home more with their kids.

Ava Ramey

Ava Ramey got involved in the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club immediately after she and her family moved to Greenbelt in March, 1989. Ava became involved in the Club's cheerleader program as a co-commissioner and coach. Since Ava's involvement, the cheerleaders participate in approximately two competitions a year. They had never placed in a competition before, and third place, and in 1993, they but in 1992, they placed second placed first and second. Because of the positive emphasis Ava placed on the cheerleading program, interest in the program significantly increased. In 1992, there were only three cheerleading squads in Greenbelt; in 1993, there were five.

Ava also started basketball or winter cheerleading, something that had never been done in Greenbelt. Traditionally, cheerleading was only done during football season. Ava made cheerleading what it should be — a sport in its own right. She also started a cheerleading program for WPGC radio as an extension of the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club's cheerleading program.

Besides her involvement in the Cheerleading Program, Ava's involvement with the Club has grown and increased over time. She is currently the assistant to the Club's basketball commissioner, the Club's athletic director, a member of the Club's Board of Directors since 1991, chair of the Club's athletic committee, the Club's tournaments director, chair of the Club's Ways and Means committee and a member of the Club's equipment committee and rules committee. Her past activities included: co-coach for a Club intramural basketball team, an assistant little league coach, and a member of her condominium's social committee.

Dennis Lewis

Dennis Lewis is another individual whose volunteer activities are spread over many areas. Dennis is serving his third year as the Club's Softball Commissioner. Prior to taking on this role, Greenbelt did not have a girls softball team for nearly six years. In 1992, he formed one team; in 1993, two teams. This year three teams are expected. As softball coach, his 1992 12 and under team won only three games in the County's AA league. In 1993, this same 12 and under team played AAA ball and finished with a 7-7 record. Participation of the girls rose from none to 14 to 30, and this year, 50 are expected to participate. This will also be Dennis' fifth year coaching girls basketball. He also has two years in intramural, two years with the 12 and under team, and this year with a 14 and under AAA team.

As with softball, Dennis rejuvenated the girls program. In 1992, the Club fielded its first County girls' basketball team in five years. That team won two games. In 1993, this same team won the County AA league championship. Participation has risen from 10 girls in 1992 to 34 in 1994.

During the winter of 1993, football needed strong leadership. The previous football commissioner had left and there was fiscal and organizational turbulence. Dennis stepped up to fill this gap and is turning this sports program into one the entire Club can be proud of. In addition, Dennis is a very active Club Board member, serving on a number of committees. Dennis is an active member of the City of Greenbelt's Youth Advisory Board, along with his two children Jeff and Sarah. Dennis has a long list of other civic-volunteer involvement including president and member of the Civitan Club of Washington, D.C.

IS YOUR LIFE MISERABLE DUE TO PAIN?

Pain arising from your spine, back, neck, hips and head is NOT NORMAL. The first action taken by your body after conception is to form a primitive streak...this primitive streak developed your nervous system as its first primary action. This nervous system directs all future development. As an adult this vital mastermind is protected by the skull for your brain and by your spine for your nerves of the spine. Pain is often due to irritation on these spinal nerves by spinal misalignments. Only Chiropractic works with the body to aid these nerves to reduce pain and promote natural healing by alignment of the spine. Listed below are just a few of the many ailments that have been helped by Chiropractic:

- HEADACHES
- SCIATICA
- BACKACHE
- MIGRAINE
- ARTHRITIS
- SCOLIOSIS
- CHRONIC PAIN
- WHIPLASH

Chiropractic examinations may tell if your problem may be from a distorted spine causing nerve irritation. Only a Chiropractor can tell if you can be helped by Chiropractic.

Why suffer needlessly if you may not have to. Living with pain only allows the cause of the pain to worsen. Relying on medication only delays proper treatment when Chiropractic is indicated. If you or someone you know suffers from spinal related pain or disability, refer them to Chiropractic—it just might be the thing they have

The victim was walking toward a school bus when a vehicle pulled up near him. Two subjects got out and punched him several times. One of the suspects is described as white male, 16 years of age, 5'6", 150 lbs. with brown hair, wearing a black leather, bomber-type jacket. The vehicle is described as a mid-size black two-door car.

Around 8:30 p.m. on March 31, an officer responded to a report of children left alone in a vehicle in the Beltway Plaza parking lot. The officer found three children, ages 4 years, 15 months and four months old, alone inside an unlocked vehicle.

The mother, a nonresident, was later arrested and charged with leaving children unattended in a motor vehicle. She was released on citation pending trial.

An officer patrolling the area of Kenilworth Avenue and the Beltway around 3:30 a.m. on March 29 stopped a vehicle that was displaying registration plates issued to another vehicle. When the driver was unable to provide a license or identification he was arrested. He was later found to be in possession of suspected crack cocaine. The nonresident 21-year-old was charged with possession of cocaine and held on $1,500 bond pending trial.

While patrolling the 6000 block of Greenbelt Road around 11:15 on March 25, an officer stopped a vehicle for an equipment violation. The driver could not produce any identification. A computer check of the name given by the subject revealed an open warrant with the county Sheriff's Department. The driver was placed under arrest. Located in the suspect's purse was a hypodermic syringe. A 33-year-old nonresident woman was arrested and charged with possession of a syringe. She was released on citation pending trial.

Around 11 a.m. on March 25, an officer stopped a vehicle for an equipment violation in the 7500 block of Greenbelt Road. A computer check revealed that the motorist's driver's license was suspended. A search of the vehicle revealed a quantity of suspected marijuana and assorted drug paraphernalia. The driver and passenger were arrested. Both were nonresident males.

A breaking and entering was reported on March 27 at a residence in the 6200 block of Breezewood Court. Entry appeared to have been made by forcing open the front door. A single car speaker was taken.

On March 31 a breaking and entering was reported at an office building in the 9000 block of Edmonston Road. A briefcase and audiovisual equipment were taken.

A house under construction in the 8000 block of Greenbury Drive was broken into on March 25. Stove parts were taken.

An attempted breaking and entering was reported on March 27 at an office in the 7500 block of Greenway Center Drive.

A purse was stolen on March 29 from a shopper's grocery basket at the Giant Supermarket in Beltway Plaza.

Former Greenbelter Extra in "Cobb"

by Linda Savaryn
 Kimberlee Garland was chosen as an extra in Tommy Lee Jones' next movie, "Cobb," due for release in October. (Jones recently won an Academy Award for his role in "The Fugitive"). "Cobb" is directed and written by Ron Shelton of "Bull Durham" fame, and also stars Jimmy Buffett.

Set in the early 1900's, the film tells the story of baseball player Ty Cobb. Garland plays one of the spectators in the stands, rooting for the opposing team.
 The scene she was in took two days to shoot. Arriving on location at Rickwood Baseball Field in Birmingham, AL, at five in the morning, she would first have her hair styled, then film until six in the evening.
 Garland is a junior majoring in theater at the University of Montevallo, just 30 miles south of Birmingham. She graduated from Eleanor Roosevelt High School in 1991. It was in an acting class there that she decided she liked acting. She now attends the same university that her acting teacher attended.

 As for her involvement with this movie, she says she enjoyed it, and learned a lot just by observing.

Drs. McCarl, McCarl, McCarl and McCarl: Employee of the Week

Kim Rinehart

Kim has been a dental assistant in the McCarl Family dental office for almost four years. Originally from Brentwood, her parents moved to the Eastern Shore, so she now lives in Hyattsville with her coworker and friend, Shannon. While Kim feels her greatest area of expertise comes in shopping malls and the Bagel Bakery, we feel she is an extremely capable dental assistant. Her attention to detail and consistency in her work make her a very valuable member of our dental team.

We salute Kim as our Employee of the Week, and thank her for years of service and fun loving spirit.
