

Beltway Plaza and City Council Discuss Security and Bus Stop

by Angela Noyes

(This is the first of two articles on the city council worksession with representatives of Beltway Plaza Mall management.)

As the first in a projected series of worksessions with area businesses, the Greenbelt City Council met on March 26 with Quantum Management, managers of Beltway Plaza Mall. At the top of the agenda was a series of new developments to improve mall security.

Police Substation

The city and Beltway Plaza share the cost of staffing the Greenbelt Police substation in the mall with a full time - 40 hour per week officer, plus an additional 20 hours of overtime staffing. City Police Chief James Craze reported that since the opening of the substation, crime has decreased in the mall.

Chief Craze, who believes Beltway Plaza has a "largely undeserved reputation" for crime, says that Greenbelt crime statistics show that of 64 robberies occurring in Greenbelt during 1997, six took place at Beltway Plaza. Most crimes there involve theft and shoplifting.

Thirty percent of those apprehended for crimes at Beltway Plaza were Greenbelt residents. An additional 46% claimed residence in Prince George's County outside of the city, and the remaining 24% were from other areas. This distribution is consistent with crime in other parts of Greenbelt.

Fred Wine, president of Quantum Management, expects to install a buzzer system at the substation for public use. Since the officer assigned is sometimes patrolling the mall and not always in the substation, concerns have been raised that the public does not detect a police presence in the substation. When the buzzer system is installed, shoppers could call for assistance even when the officer is not physically present in the substation.

management plans to install a 21-camera surveillance system to enhance security in the mall.

Beltway Plaza also has its own security officers who work independently. They have no arrest powers, however, and rely on the substation officer or other Greenbelt police officers called in to handle crime situations.

Video Surveillance

Beltway Plaza management plans to install a 21-camera surveillance system to enhance security in the mall. The cameras will record activity in the parking lots, at all entrances, and throughout the mall's command area. Three display monitors will be staffed 24 hours a day, with those in charge of the monitors having the ability to directly control six of the cameras. These six will be able to zoom in on areas within their range, closely following situations where a security issue has come up.

Mall Director Fred Wine plans to "get the word out" regarding the new cameras, with hopes of deterring crime. Chief Craze stated that he is impressed with the coverage the cameras could provide. The principal advantage for police is the record of activity they can provide. Craze said the cameras would give "documentary evidence of Person X being at the scene of a crime."

Quantum has asked the city to share the cost of the system, on the basis that it would benefit from the safer environment the video system would promote. The city has been asked to pay $550 per month for five years, representing 50% of the cost.

Two Public Hearings Set For CB-35, Sector Plan

by Elaine Skolnik

Two public hearings dealing with development of the Greenbelt Metro Station area will be held later this month. On Tuesday, May 19, the Prince George's County Council will hold a hearing on Council Bill (CB) 35 at 1:30 p.m. in the County Administration Building in Upper Marlboro.

The Prince George's County Planning Board will hold a public hearing on the Sector Plan and a concurrent Sectional Map Amendment (SMA) on Thursday, May 28 at 7 p.m. at the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission's (MNCPPC) Parks and Recreation Building, 6600 Kenilworth Ave., in Riverdale.

CB-35

A Zoning Text Amendment (ZTA), CB-35 defines a Metro Planned Community (MPC), a use which is permitted in the Heavy Industrial (I-2) and Mixed Transportation Zones (M-X-T) in accordance with certain requirements. The MPC is described as "A contiguous land assemblage, no less than one hundred fifty (150) acres, abutting an existing mass transit rail station site operated by the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority, and planned to be developed with an array of commercial, lodging, recreational, residential, entertainment, retail, social, cultural or similar uses which are interrelated by one or more themes."

Since the bill's presentation to County Council, there have been four drafts with amendments. Initiated by representatives of the A.H. Smith Limited Partnership and introduced by County Councilmember Thomas Hendershot, CB-35: (1) amends and creates new uses within the I-2 zoning category and (2) would be applicable only to the A.H. Smith and Greenbelt Metro/Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) tracts, and not to the properties surrounding them (see map).

Fire & Rescue Recognize Their Outstanding Workers

by Julie Winters

Members of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire and Rescue Squad, Inc., and Ladies Auxiliary honored their own in their 43rd Anniversary Banquet and Awards Ceremony on Saturday, March 21, at the fire station.

President Jay Remenick kicked off the ceremony by introducing the evening's guests, among whom were Mayor Judith Davis, City Clerk David Moran, and Little Miss Greenbelt, Kimberly Wynkoop. He then noted the department's accomplishments this past year. The department conducted a food drive which raised more than $6,000, leading to the decision to make the drive an annual event. In addition, the city of Greenbelt gave $75,000 to the department for renovation of the station. Work on the communication room has begun, and volunteers have painted various parts of the station, but the department still needs to make improvements in the sleep room and to update its own fire alarm and sprinkler system.

Remenick presented the combined Chief's and President's Award to Ted Sacra in recognition of outstanding service; the President's Award was given to Wayne L. Lewis in recognition of excellent service. Todd West and Matthew Palmerton received certificates of appreciation for their help with the department's computer system.

After these awards were presented, Remenick announced that the communication room would be dedicated to J. Paul Williams, who was the department's first fire chief and who served the department for more than 50 years. This announcement was met with a standing ovation.

Dunn Recognized

Dennis Dunn was recognized for his 40 years of service, and Trisha Bayles, Rick Gammage, Richard Mason and Chris Rawley were recognized for their five years of service.

The administrative officers and trustees were recognized and are as follows: president, Jay Remenick; vice president, Kenneth L. Stair; secretary, Wayne L. Lewis; treasurer, Margaret P. Dutton; and trustees, Gene Davis, Lawrence E. Hughes, Jack R. Krob, Wayne L. Lewis, Jay Remenick, John E. Snoddy and Kenneth L. Stair. Past trustees Tommy Holland and Dickie Wynkoop were also recognized.

Chief Gene Davis recognized for their service line officers of 1997, including Deputy Chief Brian Rudy, Assistant Chief Jack R. Krob, Captain Tommy Ray, Captain Ted Sacra, Lieutenant Matthew Palmerton, and Rescue Sergeants Jack Krob and Jason Morgal. Lieutenant Gregory Gigliotti, technician Harold Baker, and firefighter Matt Ludy, all career personnel, were also recognized.

Fifteen volunteers were honored for responding to the largest numbers of calls, and they are as follows (from the largest to the smallest number of calls): Brian Tayman, Gene Davis, Ted Sacra, Brian Rudy, Chris Rawley, Chris Ransom, Todd West, Tommy Ray, Matthew Palmerton, Tony Sluder, Jason Morgal, Greg Mangum, Jack Krob, Ronald Walter and Michael Burt. ## "Sewing with Style" Exhibit at Museum

by Genevieve Palmer

Do you remember when your mother or grandmother used to sew clothing regularly? For Greenbelt families in the 1930s and 1940s, sewing and mending were a part of daily life.

The Friends of the Greenbelt Museum will open a new exhibition, "Sewing with Style in Early Greenbelt," on Sunday, May 3, in the historic house museum at 10-B Crescent Road. The exhibit will display hand sewn clothing, furnishings and sewing equipment that original Greenbelt residents made and used during the 1930s and 1940s. The exhibition explores issues such as sewing skills, typical sewing projects and sewing for fashion.

As a supplement to this exhibit, Dr. Jo Paoletti, a professor in the American Studies department at the University of Maryland will present a public lecture on home-sewn clothes from the Greenbelt Museum's collection. Dr. Paoletti specializes in sewing and textile history and is in the initial phases of a large research project on sewing in the 1930s and 1940s. She is interested in meeting with people with memories to share about sewing in this period. The lecture will be held at the Greenbelt

Community Center on Tuesday, May 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room. The lecture is free, and a discussion will follow.

In the Museum's collection most of the articles of clothing and furnishings, such as table cloths, dish towels and napkins, were made at home. Children were taught to hand sew in elementary school with simple projects, such as tea towels. Later, girls learned more advanced sewing in home economics classes in middle school and high school. The tailored clothing styles of this period required a high level of skill.

For many women in early Greenbelt sewing could be a constant task, between creating new clothing and furnishings for a family, and hand mending clothes at home in the evening. This exhibit reveals some major changes that have occurred in the clothing industry, and thus in people's lifestyles and skills. Come and reminisce, or learn about sewing in this period, and reflect upon our ever-changing world.

The Greenbelt Museum historic house is open every Sunday from 1-5 p.m. For more information about the sewing exhibit or the museum, please call 301-474-1936.

Greenbelt East Advisory Committee's News Briefs

by Dennis Jelalian

Representatives of the Eleanor Roosevelt High School (ERHS) athletic lighting committee attended the March 5 meeting of the Greenbelt East Advisory Committee (GEAC) to inform them of plans for lighting the ERHS track and football field. The lighting, which will be privately funded, is expected to cost $75,000. GEAC members had expressed concern about the impact of traffic, parking, security and light spill on the surrounding communities.

The ERHS committee addressed these issues, but stressed that plans for the lighting are just beginning. The main reason for coming to GEAC and other Greenbelt East Associations is that they want the communities' support and plan to keep the communities informed as plans proceed.

Other Issues

From minutes of the March 5 meeting provided by acting GEAC secretary, Charlene MacAdams, the News Review has learned of several pieces of news presented to members: NYLCARE plans to move in two years, PEPCO is completing plans for completing the lighting for Hanover Parkway, and the city is drawing up plans for a path in Schrom Hills Park. Greenbelt Road will be resurfaced as far as Lanham Severn Road.

April 2 Meeting

Edward Putens, city council member, suggested that Greenbriar, Windsor Green and Greenwood Village should take the lead on the issue of lighting for ERHS, since these communities would be affected most directly.

Memorials

The city currently has no plan to provide memorials for honored Greenbelt citizens. GEAC feels that, regardless of what other arrangements the city chooses to make, GEAC would like the city to fund an area of Schrom Hills Park to be set aside for this purpose. GEAC members will go to the city council in person to make the request.

Police Issues

Putens reported there will soon be increased police patrols for DWI. (Driving While Intoxicated).

The police report from Eleanor Roosevelt High School (ERHS) shows there has been a spurt of recent serious incidents (fights, weapons, drugs). There are ongoing discussions with ERHS principal, Dr. Boarman, as to how a second police officer will be used in the school system.

Alarms

While the city licenses alarm systems at commercial businesses, Putens believes there should be no license requirement for residential use.

Road Extension

According to Putens, Director of Planning and Community Development Celia Craze believes that the Greystone Drive extension of Mandan Road will probably never be built. The contractor, Richmond America, was required to put up money to guarantee the construction. Since the road is not to be built, Richmond America wants its money back.

Pot Holes

There have been complaints about the bumps and pot holes in Greenway Center. It is not clear whether the individual businesses are responsible for correcting the condition or whether it's the property owner's responsibility. Craze is checking with the lawyers to determine who is responsible.

Post Office

One property the post office may be interested in for their new Greenbelt facility is the five-acre parcel called Commerce Center II. They might use only two or three of the five acres, in which case the remaining land might be left as

Thanks

The Greenbelt Lions Club thanks the citizens of the Greenbelt area for their support of our spring "White Cane" fund raiser. Your generosity enables us to help the blind and visually impaired. Your donations also help us to provide eye examinations and eye glasses, free of charge, to needy persons. It also assists the Lions in sending visually impaired children to summer camp, provides dogs and training to the leader dog program, and to other vision and research activities. Also, a reminder: a box for donated eye glasses can be found in the Co-op grocery window.

a buffer, or used for parking or some other purpose.

GEAC treasurer Charlene MacAdams felt that having 100 trucks a day going in and out of that lot would create noise and congestion and would be a worse use of the land than a hotel or three restaurants.

Greenbelt Lake Village

Putens reported that after a deck fell in Greenbelt Lake Village, which is under construction, there was a public meeting to complain of the poor quality of construction. Forty eight out of 54 homeowners came to the meeting. Craze issued a stop work order. It was "the worst [construction] I've ever seen." The stop work order was lifted this week.

Other issues

There will be a work session on June 1 to work on traffic calming, neighborhood by neighborhood.

Putens reported that, like the county, the city budget will hold the line on expenses this year.

The city will repair Hanover Parkway and Mandan Road. There will be plantings in the median, and the last seven street lights will be installed as soon as PEPCO approves the plans.

The next GEAC meeting will be at Greenbriar May 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Applications are available at the city's Community Center and the Youth Center. The deadline for submission is May 19. It doesn't matter if a program has started or tuition has already been paid.

Funds for these first grants by the year-old foundation will be awarded out of the Dial Silvers Memorial Founders Fund.

The arts foundation is a not-for-profit fund-raising group formed to promote art awareness, appreciation and expression in the city, with a strong focus on children's arts programs.

Watch Pet Demonstration at Greenbelt Lake

In celebration of National Pet Week a dog show, Obedience Demonstration, will be given at "Buddy" Attick Lake Park on Sunday, May 3, at 2 p.m.

Greenbelter Allie W. Lee, who has over 28 years teaching experience as a professional obedience instructor, will have dogs from his intermediate and advanced classes.

Allie has close ties with Greenbelt and has given generously to the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad in appreciation for the continued support of the community toward dog training. He and his wife Adele participated in six parades last year including Greenbelt's Labor Day parade. He has won many awards in parades in the metropolitan area and has also given demonstrations in schools.

Allie has trained dogs in all three levels of American Kennel Club (AKC) competition (novice, open and utility). He has judged in dog obedience shows. In parades he shows drill teams with owners and their dogs. He is well-known in the surrounding area for his expertise and deep concern for animal owners and their pets. ## GHI Holds House And Garden Tour

by Sylvia J. Lewis

From noon until 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 9, people will have the opportunity to visit 14 outstanding homes and gardens in historic old Greenbelt. Starting at the Community Center, where participants will receive a map and brochure, they may proceed to the museum to see a typical house as it appeared when built in 1937. From there, touring at their own pace, they will see examples of the ingenuity shown by owners in adapting the houses to changing lifestyles. Making improvements to the homes while maintaining the vision of those who planned and built the community has been a challenge to their owners.

Brick, block and frame homes are included in the tour, some for the first time. There are alterations to accommodate wheelchairs, additions of all kinds, and renovated kitchens and bathrooms. Innovations extend to the outside with examples of landscaping features such as a pond, a bird and butterfly garden, sun decks, ornaments and specimen plants. Included in the tour is one of the larger homes, built 30 years after the original houses, which will show the evolution of house design during this period.

The tour will end where it began, at the Community Center. There the GHI Member and Community Relations Committee, which has planned the tour, will provide refreshments and the opportunity to vote on one's choice for House of the Year.

David Michael Boswell, a resident of Crescent Road, died March 20. He was 23. David lived in Greenbelt as a small child with his family. Later he moved to Florida with his mother, Debra Marshall. Later, after his mother died, David returned to Greenbelt.

He was last seen on March 20 when a co-worker dropped him at the Ft. Totten Metro station after work. The Virginia Sheriff's Department identified his body after it was found in a wooded area near Sterling.

David is survived by his father David Anthony Boswell, two brothers, Jeremy Boswell and Billy Scott, and grandparents Floy Boswell and Charley and Pat Kinzie.

A memorial service was held on Friday, April 24, at the Greenbelt Community Church.

Marie Boisvert

She and her late husband, Dr. Gerald Boisvert, who died in December 1997, resided in Greenbelt around 1953 - 1965 at 7 Court of Crescent Road, then in Bowie, until 1985, when they moved to Cape Coral, Florida. She is survived by four children, Janet Monroe of VA, Lynette Pirochta of MI, sons Jon Boisvert of Columbia, and Leo of Ft. Myers, FL, 9 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren. Leadbetter; brother Karl DeRooy, 13 grandchildren, 2 great-grandchildren, and dear friend Andrew Coverston. ## PUBLIC HEARING including both the focus tracts and the area surrounding them. Composed of representatives of community organizations, property owners and the municipalities of Berwyn Heights, College Park, and Greenbelt and led by the planning staff of the MNCPPC, the group's final report recommended the Sector Plan/SMA as the most effective planning tool in carrying out the umbrella vision for development of the Greenbelt Metro Station Area. The report concluded that a Zoning Text Amendment was the least effective planning tool.

The Greenbelt City Council in March supported the Sector Plan/SMA as the best way to achieve comprehensive development of the Greenbelt Metro/A.H. Smith sites to protect "the sensitive environmental features and redevelopment/integration of the surrounding inner-Beltway communities." It is also seen as the best way to obtain "a significant" amount of public input. However, recognizing that CB-35 had gained much support among county officials, the city council, its planning staff and Councilmember Audrey Scott (Greenbelt's representative) recommended various amendments to the bill that would require the "minimum standards, requirements and findings reflected in the Mixed-Use-Development (MXT)."

Discussions involving the city, WMATA and the developers (including five executive sessions have been held — the last on April 28) are still occurring with emphasis on controls — the adequacy of public facilities and compliance with minimum development standards. Concerns, such as language permitting rather than requiring amenities associated with high quality mixed development, have been resolved to the city's satisfaction. So far, negotiations have produced four drafts of CB-35.

The city's planning staff still has some concerns about the bill. These deal with the optional methods of development which staff wants deleted, and with the language dealing with the environment, which the staff wants strengthened.

Currently the city council officially supports the Sector Plan/SMA vehicle to develop the Greenbelt Metro Area. A final decision will be made by council at its regular meeting on Monday, May 11.

Sector Plan

The Sector Plan/SMA planning process is expected to be completed by September 1999. Intensive analysis of issues dealing with land use, development concepts, transportation and the environment, including several charrette sessions, will be ongoing. The public will be involved throughout the process.

Proponents of CB-35 complain that the Sector Plan/SMA process will take too long. Richard Reed, representing Greenbelt Metro Park LLC, a partnership proposing to develop the A.H. Smith/Wmata properties, stresses that if the county council adopts CB-35, the Metro Planned Community "immediately becomes a permitted use allowing us to capture the current expression of market interest relating to the site, to invite, to talk to potential users and to obtain letters Outer heavy line delineates study area. Metro/Wmata/Smith property outlined within is focus area. The sector Plan is generally bounded on the north by Sunside Ave., on the east by Kenilworth Ave., and on the south by Greenbelt Road; also included is all commercially zoned property on the south side of Greenbelt Road from Rhode Island Ave., east to the CSX railroad track and then to Kenilworth Ave.

of intent..." Reed believes that at the end of the Sector Plan/SMA process, it is likely that the group's recommendation would be to develop the focus areas in the M-X-T zone, which he said is already written into CB-35.

He also noted that the 1989 Master Plan for the Langley Park-College Park-Greenbelt area recommended mixed use development for the focus area's Smith/Wmata Metro properties including retail, office, residential and employment uses. At the time, this mixed use proposal did not factor in the environmental constraints such as wetlands and floodplains. Noted only in the Master Plan was the extensive floodplain in the focus area.

1997 PRINCE GEORGE'S BOARD OF TRADE SMALL BUSINESS OF THE YEAR

Local Photographer Is Featured in Exhibit

by Dennis Jelalian

Greenbelt photographer Tim Edberg, who lives in Greenwood Village, will be the featured artist this month at the Laurel Lakes art gallery in the middle of the Laurel Lakes Centre Mall on Route 1.

Edberg's exhibit, entitled Nature Photography - Recent Works, features about 25 photographs. Most are Ilfochrome prints, which give deep rich colors. Only two photos are in black and white, but the show hasn't been hung yet, and Edberg said he'd try to have a few more in black and white by show time. The exhibit opens Friday, May 1 at 11 a.m.

Edberg became more passionate about his camping trips and his photography than about his career as a research physicist. "I decided it was time to change [my] career ... to freelance photographer. Now I love what I do."

Edberg travels to wherever he can get a good picture and sets up his tripod and camera. Then he waits for the picture to happen and captures it at the precise optimum moment. Not an easy process, but the results are spectacular. I'll mention a few of the many outstanding ones. It must be stressed that Edberg's photographs are not doctored, with the exception of one photo that was color corrected, and the Ilfochrome process itself adds some contrast.

Edberg has two photographs of Crescent Lake.

The first is of a fiery gold sunrise as the sun just peeks over the crest of the hill. Above, the clouds are a brilliant scarlet with touches of lavender. The whole sunrise is perfectly reflected in the still waters of the lake. The hills and trees appear as a pitch black band across the middle of an explosively lit canvas. The picture is breathtaking.

The other photo of Crescent Lake, taken only minutes later, is a very different photo. Here the subject is the mist rising off the lake with the trees on the far shore mostly obscured by the mist. Well and good so far, but in the near foreground there is a perfectly clear reflection of the sunrise over the hill, with all the trees seen in silhouette upside down. It looks like an impossible picture. It looks as though the photo is upside down. We turned the picture 180 degrees and it really looks right side up. An astonishing photo. And very playful.

Edberg has a playful eye, and he admits to enjoying visual ambiguity. There's plenty of it to ponder in his work.

While most of his work features fairly high contrast and bright, sometimes eye-popping colors, there are interesting contrasts. "Wildflowers on the Continental Divide" is a subtle group of pink flowers with green stems seen against grey rocks. Simple and lovely.

"Rainbow Over Moskey Basin" is a sunset in pastel gold and lavender with the rainbow cutting through the middle. This work has a light, romantic feel, very different from most of Edberg's other work.

the picture is deceptive. There are star streaks; the unmistakable giveaway of a timed exposure. Look again at the brilliantly lit rock cliffs. The picture was taken by moonlight! The light on the rocks and the trees is bright and the color rendition is perfect. You'd never guess it was taken by moonlight, except for those star streaks. And, yes, you can recognize Orion and a number of other stars.

Go see all the other photos that there's not room to discuss here. A bonus is that, while Edberg is the featured artist, a number of other artists will have work on display.

The exhibit runs through May 31. It's open Wednesday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. For information, call 301-317-7993, or 301-725-0386.

The Greenbelt Photography Club will present its first annual Photo Exhibition June 6 through 21, to coincide with Greenbelt Day celebrations. The theme of the show is "Hidden Greenbelt" and will showcase Greenbelt from a different angle, people and places off the beaten track, the little known and seldom seen.

This is a juried exhibition. The community is invited to submit photographs to be exhibited alongside the work of Photo Club members. Photos should illustrate the theme of the show and be available to exhibit for the length of the show. Prints can be color or black and white, any format; minimum size 5 x 7, maximum size 11 x 14. To submit photos for consideration, bring all unmatted, unframed prints to the Photo Club meeting on Tuesday, May 12, between 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. at the Community Center. Entrants will need to provide information about the photo topic. No wrong-sized prints or slides will be accepted. Entrants will be notified within a few days if their print is chosen for exhibition. To receive detailed exhibition instructions, send an e-mail request to LisaTG@hotmail.com, or pick up an information sheet at the Community Center office. For information about the Greenbelt Photo Club, call 301-474-6425.

GHI Approves Contracts, Plans for Annual Meeting

by Dennis Jelalian

At the April 23 meeting, the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) Board of Directors discussed an addition to a member's house, cleaning and repair contracts, and the annual meeting.

Member Addition

GHI member Sherril Lilly requested permission to erect a second-floor screened porch on the end of her home on Hillside. She presented plans and photographs in support of her request. The board granted her request, subject to staff approval. Director Bill Phelan commented that the most attractive units are the ones that don't fit the guidelines.

Landscaping

The board had previously approved planting 20 willow oaks along Hamilton Place. Sharon Bradley-Papp later suggested smaller "Winter King" Hawthorns which will be planted every 20 feet apart, instead of the 40 feet apart planned for the oaks. This will require 31 trees, which will cost $3,100. The trees are to be placed in the city's right of way. The city has offered to plant and maintain the trees if GHI purchases them under their Adopt-A-Tree program.

John Shorb Landscaping, which was recommended by Bradley-Papp, had the low bid of $3,775 for the remaining landscaping. Several trees and stumps must be removed at an additional cost of $2,600. Thus, the total cost for all planned landscaping will be $9,475 which is within the $10,000 budget. The Board approved both the plan and the budget.

Gutter Cleaning

The Board approved a contract with Hall's Tree Service to clean the gutters of up to 1,591 GHI homes at a cost not to exceed $6,808. Phelan questioned how Hall's could do the work for so little. (The only other bid was from Metro Gutter Cleaning for $22,304.)

Roof Contract

The 1998 budget includes $165,000 for replacement of flat roofs on 24 block homes. Capital Roofing had the low bid of $140,000. Since the crew who worked for the now-defunct Browne and Merry Construction (who did this work for GHI in the past) now work for Capital Roofing, the staff recommended Capital. The Board approved the first reading of the contract with Capital Roofing to replace the 24 roofs at a cost not to exceed $141,000. The new roofs will carry a 15-year system warranty and a 20-year membrane warranty.

Concrete Work

Twenty-five locations in GHI need concrete sidewalks, steps, and porches replaced. NZI Construction had the low bid. Management proposed giving NZI the contract for a cost not to exceed $30,000. The Board approved the first reading.

Phelan expressed concern that the concrete work would damage existing trees. Staff engineer Jay Freedman assured Phelan that, while a few trees are scheduled for removal, in most cases the concrete work will be done in ways that will not damage trees.

Annual Meeting

Director Dorothy Lauber presented a draft agenda for the annual meeting to be held in the Community Center May 16 at 7:30 p.m. The Board agreed to offer the same door prizes as last year at the meeting.

The Nominations and Elections Committee (N&E) has proposed a change to the bylaws of GHI. It would require that any member of

by Dennis Jelalian

Greenbelt Homes, Inc. (GHI) member Ken Ebisawa finds himself in a "Catch - 22." He cannot both comply with Prince George's County and City of Greenbelt requirements and have a Primestar satellite dish installed in his yard. (Primestar refuses to get the permits, contending that the requirement is outside the FCC rules and is not enforceable. Since only licensed professionals can obtain permits, Ebisawa cannot apply for it himself.)

Having deja vu?

At the GHI Board of Directors meeting April 9, after long discussion and several failed motions, the board finally agreed to write to the FCC to ask for a declaratory ruling to make clear whether or not the four required city and county permits are legal. GHI general manager Gretchen Overdurff said that, "There's no cost [to request the ruling] and it's not a big deal." Meanwhile current rules remain in effect; i.e., permits are required.

the N&E who wishes to run for the Audit Committee or the Board of Directors must resign from the N&E at least three months before the election. This proposed change will be voted on at the annual meeting.

are already installed, it is not clear how the permits would work retroactively.

The GHI board also rescinded its motion to write to the FCC and request a declaratory ruling on the permit requirements, leaving Ebisawa to write to the FCC himself. He remains dishless and deprived of his only source of Japanese language programming, his native tongue. His son is forgetting how to speak Japanese, he said.

CITY OF GREENBELT NOTICE OF A PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The City of Greenbelt proposes to increase property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 1998, the estimated assessable base will increase by 0.7%, from $534,861,008 to $538,831,562.
2. If the City of Greenbelt maintains the current tax rate of $1.44 per $100 of assessment, property tax revenues will increase by 0.7% resulting in $57,176 of new property tax revenues.
3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the property tax rate should be reduced to $1.43, the constant yield tax rate.
4. The City is considering not reducing its property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The City proposes to adopt a tax rate of $1.44 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 0.7% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $57,176 in additional tax revenues.

A Public Hearing on the proposed property tax increase will be held at 8:00 p.m. on Monday, May 11, 1998 in the Council Room of the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770.

The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged.

Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call 301-474-8000 for further information.

FIRE

 department received 1,313 rescue calls and 1,338 fire calls.

Jay Remenick received an award for outstanding service as president, and he and his wife, Nancy (president of the Ladies Auxiliary), were honored for their service to the department.

New Officers

Mayor Judith Davis installed the new officers, including the administrative officers and trustees listed above as well as the following line officers: Chiefs Ted Sacra and Michael Burt; Lieutenants Jason Morgal, Tony Sluder and Brian Tayman; and EMS Sergeants Brian Roberts, Amy Thomas and Todd West.

Ladies Auxiliary

The ceremony was then turned over to the Ladies Auxiliary. Past president Peggy Pergola installed the new officers, who are as follows: president, Nancy Remenick; vice president, Teresa Crisman; secretary, Tina Krob; treasurer, Theresa Wynkoop; historian, Pauline Bordas; chaplain, Margaret McKenney; and guard, Joan Jett.

Jane Stack and Theresa Wynkoop were recognized for their 15 years of service, and Faith Hines and Staci Mims were recognized for their 10 and five years of service, respectively. In addition, Theresa Wynkoop was made a life member and received a standing ovation.

The Ladies Auxiliary presented to Gene Davis and Jay Remenick a check for $2,000, which will be used for equipment and other needs.

After the Ladies Auxiliary finished their presentations, Gene Davis was given an award for his service to the department from the volunteers for all his efforts, and his words captured the spirit of camaraderie that marked the evening: "It's not hard work when you like doing it; it's fun." Clearly the volunteers enjoy working together for the community.

And they enjoy sharing special moments with each other. Near the close of the ceremony, Deputy Chief Brian Rudy proposed to his sweetheart, Stacy Hall, on bended knee in front of the entire crowd. Perhaps years down the road another generation of Rudys will be honored at a ceremony like this one. (Carolyn Hammett also contributed to this story.)

BELTWAY PLAZA

Councilmember Edward Putens favored installation of the mall cameras, describing himself as surprised by the low cost for such a system. He hesitated, however, to have the city establish a precedent of helping to fund security systems in shopping areas. "Very frequently these tapes will help later down the road," he said. "I just don't know where we will fit in yet."

Wine assured council that he was convinced the new system would save the city at least $500 a month by reducing emergency calls to the police. "Money isn't the biggest thing, though; honestly, it's partnership," he said.

Councilmember Rodney Roberts was concerned that the mall might be prompted to cut back on security personnel after the new cameras were in place, but Wine assured him that personnel would definitely not be decreased. In fact, he said, management plans to increase the payroll for security. The focus will be on hiring more full-time, trained personnel and less part-time help, and providing better opportunities for staff to enhance their professional training.

Mayor Judith Davis wondered if the new system could be viewed as abusing the civil rights of those being monitored. But Dave Sullivan, project manager at Beltway Plaza, assured council that the security staff will be given thorough training including clear guidelines on the kinds of situations to zoom in on closely. Fred Wine noted that staff already has experience in this area, as they deal daily with appropriate times to follow closely a person suspected of criminal activity.

Chief Craze stated that from a legal standpoint, monitoring by camera is not an infringement. Numerous other malls in the area, including Laurel Centre and Towson Town Center, have video surveillance systems in place. They are considered standard in the industry.

Bus Stop

Since the aesthetic appearance of the bus stop on Cherrywood Lane, the closest bus stop to Giant Food in Beltway Plaza, has drawn criticism from council, the worksession also dealt with how to share the job of maintaining the stop. According to City Manager Michael McLaughlin, the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) installs bus stops, but looks to the locality to maintain them. Generally the city maintains stops within the city limits, but because of higher use, the Cherrywood Lane stop is a heavier burden.

Mayor Davis pointed out that the stop is, in effect, one of the entrances to Beltway Plaza. She suggested that the mall should pursue a more active role in maintaining it. Davis indicated that perhaps the city could continue its role in doing major repairs and maintenance at the stop, but asked that Beltway Plaza management arrange to empty the trash on a regular basis and to clean any minor graffiti from the bus shelter.

Quantum's Fred Wine agreed to take on responsibility for the bus stop. He promised as well to add some attractive landscaping to the area.

Relationships with Springhill Lake

The City of Greenbelt and Quantum Management were both concerned about how to deal with Springhill Lake. The apartment complex, which houses 10,000 residents within the Greenbelt city limits, meets the Beltway Plaza property along Breezewood Drive at the rear of the mall. They expressed frustration with that community stemming not only from crime problems associated with the area but also from difficulty in contacting and working with Springhill Lake management.

The property recently changed ownership from Winthrop Corporation to Insignia. According to McLaughlin, Insignia is the largest residential apartment management company in the country. A new property manager, Chris Beckett, was hired by Insignia a few days after the council worksession.

Springhill Lake consists only of rental apartments and townhouses with no individual ownership of units. Reputed as very transient, the community's 10,000 residents are protected by no independent security but rely on the Greenbelt police force. With few long-term ties to their neighborhood, residents and may be cutting back on maintenance in order to gain maximum leverage on incoming rental monies.

Councilmember Thomas White noted that he gets no sense of organization or community from residents there. Comparing them to Greenbriar residents, he noted that residents from Greenbriar "would be all over the council," if they were confronted with crime and maintenance problems like those occurring at Springhill Lake.

Celia Craze, Greenbelt Director of Planning and Community Development, who attended the meeting, stated that as far as the maintenance code is concerned, Springhill Lake meets all necessary requirements. Councilmembers Rodney Roberts and Putens, however, expressed their impressions from visiting the area that the complex was becoming run-down. Putens contended that Springhill Lake meets only minimum code requirements, and may be cutting back on maintenance in order to gain maximum leverage on incoming rental monies.

Fred Wine of Quantum Management stated that Beltway Plaza has a big stake in Springhill Lake because it composes a large part of its client base. His company plans to make the Breezewood Drive area more hospitable perhaps by adding streetscapes, more lighting, and bike lanes. Wine also supports private ownership of Springhill Lake apartments and general revitalization of units.

Employers interested in establishing or expanding a telework program can obtain valuable advice and assistance at a free, one-day seminar sponsored by the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments (COG) Commuter Connections program. The seminar will be conducted at the Greenbelt Marriott on Ivy Lane on Thursday, May 14. Seminar hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Speakers representing area telework centers and organizations with existing telework programs will explore the variety of telework options, as well as offer their insights on utilizing teleworking as a business advantage. Telework experts will also guide participants through the process of planning and implementing a successful telework program.

Telework is the use of information technology to reduce work-related travel. Surveys conducted by COG show that most employees who telework from home or from one of the 17 local telework centers do so one or two days a week. ### Doctor's Hospital Honored by AHA

The American Heart Association (AHA), Prince George's Division, has selected Doctors Community Hospital (DCH) as its 1998 honoree for outstanding and positive contributions to the community in the field of cardiovascular health.

Organizations with telework programs in place report higher employee productivity and an increased ability to attract and retain skilled workers. COG reports that (1) some organizations are able to significantly reduce costs through the reduction of office space and (2) nationwide, the number of telecommuters rose from 8 million in 1995 to 11.1 million in 1997, an increase of nearly 30 percent. COG estimates that there are approximately 151,000 teleworkers in the Washington metropolitan area.

Seminar registration is being handled by ARCCA, Inc. To register for one of the seminars, call Sandi Sykes at 301-947-1709, extension 2.

Hospital president Phillip Down accepted the award at the 1998 Heart Gala on Friday, March 27 at Martin's Crosswinds.

In notifying the hospital that it was this year's recipient, the American Heart Association expressed gratitude for many years of generous financial and volunteer support to the Association's programs and events. It also applauded DCH's leadership in improving the health of all peoples and all communities.

Among the hospital's recent efforts that were recognized at the gala were the hospital's encouragement of employees to participate in AHA's annual Heart Walk, the implementation of AHA programs for its heart patients, and programs educating employees about reducing heart disease and stroke risk factors. In addition, hospital vice president Paula Bruning serves on the Board of Directors of the American Heart Association.

Albert J. Nuzzo

Al Nuzzo Honored By Greenbelt FOP

The Greenbelt Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge #32 recently recognized a former Greenbelt police officer, Albert J. Nuzzo, as an honorary member to the Lodge.

In 1948, some 50 years ago, Albert Nuzzo became a member of the police department, which was comprised of four officers. At that time, there was no Fraternal Order of Police. When asked what he enjoyed most about his job at that time, Nuzzo replied, "I enjoyed helping citizens and keeping law and order." He went on to say that things were very different then. In those days, City ordinances proclaimed that no one could wear shorts at the Center and Greenbelt residents were not permitted to hang their clothes outdoors after 4 p.m.

Nuzzo eventually left the department in 1952 when he took a position with the telephone company. With a wife and two children, he said that his new job would provide better for him and his family. The Nuzzo family has resided at the same Ridge Road address for over 50 years.

A Lesson in Music At New Deal Cafe

By Andrew Nitz

Amazing things happen at the New Deal Cafe. Recently I was taught a lesson in music by someone 30 years younger than I. Toward the end of her set, Rebecca Davis, 11, demonstrated on her guitar an early example of the American fingerpicking style with the song "Freight Train" written by Elizabeth Cotton at the turn of the century. It was wonderful, hearing a young artist with a beautiful voice perform. She covers folk songs, as well as those by her favorites, Alison Kraus and Jewel. She even sang one of her own songs about the experience of the early American settlers. Nick Mena, another guitarist and singer, started the evening with songs by the likes of Bob Dylan, Tom Petty, Lucinda Williams, and the Talking Heads. He returned for a later solo set. He and Rebecca also did a few duets. One of the highlights of the evening was their rendition of "Somewhere Over the Rainbow", when Mr. Mena's brother, Jesse, joined them on piccolo.

We are approaching the turn of this century. One of the things Rebecca taught me is this. Without young people like her, we may lose the songs and the stories they tell about the previous turn of the century. Whatever she does with her life, I would hope that Rebecca continues to sing the old songs, and write more of her own. End of lesson, or as Rebecca would put it, "Whoopie Ti Yi Ye, Get Along Little Dogies."

Heel-ing Screening Offered By Giant

On May 11, bone density screenings will be offered at the Greenbelt Giant pharmacy store. The screening program is an integral part of an osteoporosis educational program developed by the Partners for Osteoporosis Awareness.

The screenings involve a DEXA bone density measurement of the heel. This quick, non-invasive and painless procedure provides information about an individual's risk of developing osteoporosis. The results of the

by Konrad Herling

"Fences" enters its third week and Mark Twain's "Connecticut Yankee" is deep into rehearsal. For Greenbelt Day, Saturday evening, June 6, the Music Committee has scheduled a cajun dance/concert featuring a local group, "Blackberry," to be held at the pool. For those unfamiliar with cajun music, and for those who can use the reinforcement, there will be dance lessons from 8 - 8:30 p.m., followed by the dance/concert. As usual, the event is co-sponsored along with the City's Recreation Department as Greenbelt celebrates its 61st anniversary.

"Fences" continues to perform before warm, enthusiastic audiences. It is the Arts Center's first effort to produce a play written by an African American (August Wilson) and is a valuable insight for all Greenbelters into what has changed and what remains unchanged in the 40 years since Wilson composed this drama.

Twain also, through his "Connecticut Yankee" has his own perspective on society, though he contrasts the sixth century and his nineteenth century. Ginny Zanner, the play's set designer, says his theme is timeless. He superimposes the technology of his time to Sir Lancelot and his crew to show how far "advanced" man has come, man's lesser instincts still seem to prevail over "Yankee ingenuity." Master of the GAC interpretation of Twain's insights is Mary Lou Fisher, the show's director. The production opens Friday evening, May 27 and concludes Saturday, June 9.

measurement are then mailed to the doctor designated by the customer who furnishes the name and address of the doctor. Area doctors have been sent information about the screenings so that they can be prepared to receive the reports and answer their patient's questions. A copy of the report also is given to the customer immediately after the screening is complete. There is a fee for the screening.

Customers should call 1-800-449-3611 to set up an appointment.

Golden Age Club

by Dolores Capotosto

The Golden Age Club's monthly business meeting scheduled for Wednesday, May 6, will be preceded by a board meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the first floor Senior Classroom. Regular meetings are held in the Multipurpose Room in the Greenbelt Community Center every Wednesday from 11 a.m. - noon.

Thanks to Bill Phelan, who spoke at the April 22 meeting. Golden Agers greatly appreciate the many beautiful horticultural displays around the City for which he's responsible. Remember the Garden Club plant sale on Saturday, May 2.

Come to the meetings to hear what the travel committee is planning for the future. Hopefully enough members will have signed up for the Myrtle Beach trip scheduled May 25 - 29.

The Richmond, VA trip proved to be very interesting and covered many sights.

The big event coming up for the Golden Agers is the annual yard sale on Saturday, June 6, at Roosevelt Center, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Donations are needed as are volunteers to help before hand and on the day of the sale.

Happy Mothers' Day to all mothers, grandmothers and great grandmothers.

Peace and Justice Conference Held

The 13th annual Maryland Peace and Justice Conference will be held on Saturday, May 2, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Berwyn Presbyterian Church, Greenbelt Road and 63rd Avenue. The theme this year is "Economic Justice: Challenging Corporate Power." Five simultaneous workshops will elaborate on the theme. These will be preceded by a panel consisting of the five workshop leaders. The conference provides an opportunity for people concerned about peace and justice to meet with others having similar interests.

For anyone interested in learning how to get a grip on anger and violence, at 7:30 p.m. on Friday night, May 1, before the conference, there will be a forum on "Conflict Resolution and Defusing Violence." The presentation uses short skits illustrating ways to prevent small disputes from growing into major conflicts, and ways intended victims have reacted to immediate threats of violence and turned them around. Discussions of what took place in the skits will help bring out their lessons.

There is a registration fee for the conference, but no charge for the forum. Both events will take place in the Fellowship Hall of the church. For additional information call 301-474-1353.
