Adding Four Community Police Forces Council to Raise Taxes

by James Giese

If everything goes as planned by the Greenbelt City Council at its final budget worksession on May 20, the city General Fund Budget for FY 99 will be $313,000 higher than that proposed by City Manager Michael McLaughlin and Greenbelt taxpayers will be faced with a three-percent increase in their property tax rate. The budget is scheduled for formal adoption at the regular council meeting held on Tuesday, May 28. In past years, the city council has pretty much ratified at adoption the decisions informally made in the last work session.

McLaughlin told the council that the tax increase would amount to four dollars on a house with a market value of $100,000. Even though the amount was small, it obviously pained the councilmembers to impose the increase. However, they were unwilling, as a group, to give up funding for the items added by them to the budget and were reluctant to fool with the manager's estimates of revenues, even though one member, Edward Putens, expressed the view that income tax revenues would be $50,000 to $70,000 higher. The council did agree to spend down $55,000 of the city's surplus funds for one-time capital purchases, noting that these funds are above the ten-percent-of-budget guideline set forth by the manager as needed for a potential emergency.

Left unfunded after the lengthy work session that went past 1:30 in the morning were an additional recreation coordinator for the Community Center and failed. Councilmember Rodney Roberts tried to get non-police costs eliminated from the tax increase by taking those expenses out of the budget changes, but failed to get support.

Finally, four members agreed to the three cent increase, but Roberts said he would not go over two cents. Davis said she four new police officers for community policing. With the budget out of balance and the hour late, the members of council grew testy as they tried to work out a solution.

Balancing Act

Chief Craze noted that it would take time to hire the four officers and suggested that for the first year, half of the $240,000 annual cost would be adequate. Councilmembers were reluctant to do this, however, recognizing that they would face another budget increase the next year if they did not pick up the full cost this year. Mayor Judith Davis tried to get consensus for budgeting only $180,000 this year and increasing the tax rate by two cents, but

Budget Adopted

At its May 26 meeting, the Greenbelt City Council adopted the FY 99 budget in the manner agreed to at its May 20 worksession. The General Fund budget calls for expenditures of $14,488,100 and will raise property taxes by three cents per $100 assessed value, making the new city rate $1.44.

Homeowners receiving city refuse collection services will have their tax increase offset somewhat by a $4 decrease in the annual service charge, which will be $168.80 next year.

Citizens Say Much on Green Ridge Parking, Zip on Budget

by Sandy Smith

With no one stepping up to comment or testify, Councilmember Ed Putens declared the May 11 budget hearing that began the Greenbelt City Council meeting, "the fastest budget session yet." However, that speed did not carry over to another item on the agenda, an update on Green Ridge House parking. When Mayor Judith Davis attempted to end discussion on that issue in favor of an upcoming work session where it would be dealt with in detail, she was persuaded by many Green Ridge House as well as Greenbelt Homes Inc. members in attendance to hear their comments and concerns at that time.

Council also heard from and approved the site plan for the Maryland Trade Center IV site plan. A resolution to extend the deadline to reach an agreement with Jones Communications for cable service in the city of Greenbelt was submitted for first reading.

Green Ridge/GHI Parking Problems

The parking-related item on the agenda was approval of a city contract with Greenman Pedersen, the city's consulting engineer, to study what is known as the Gardenway alternative to add more parking to the Green Ridge House complex. While this proposal was condemned outright by some councilmembers and far from endorsed by others, the study was approved by a 3 to 2 vote, with Davis, councilmembers Tom White and Ed Putens voting in favor, saying that more information is needed, and councilmembers Rodney Roberts and Alan Turnbull voting against.

Roberts thought the Gardenway alternative a no-starter because of the disruption he viewed its causing in the nearby community. Turnbull wanted to emphasize management solutions to the parking problem. He said that optimum management of existing space and other alternatives have not been adequately explored. The rest of the council agreed to a proposal that a management study be conducted and staff was directed to report back to council on the scope and cost of such a study.

Council then announced that it would hold a worksession on the parking problem on June 25 at Green Ridge House and that GHI members and other residents would be welcome. Rather than ending discussion, that seemed to urge those in attendance to describe their growing frustration with the escalating problem.

Green Ridge House Association President Thelma Massey presented council a petition signed by 91 people requesting an expansion of the Green Ridge House parking lot. She said that more parking is clearly needed and that the problem is getting worse. Nearby GHI residents agreed that the situation is getting worse, saying that parking of

by Al Geiger

This weekend the City of Greenbelt will mark the 61st anniversary of its incorporation as a municipality. On June 1, 1937, before any residents arrived, the Maryland State Legislature established the first council-manager form of government in the state for the new town of Greenbelt. In commemorating this history, festivities are planned beginning Friday evening, June 5 and continuing through Sunday, June 7.

Friday highlights include a family moonlight swim at the Aquatic and Fitness Center, food and entertainment at the New Deal Cafe featuring Ed Weglein singing maritime songs, and baseball and softball games.

Saturday will feature a "pedestrian safety fun walk" through the town's underpasses and overpasses and "survival skills for pedestrians" to raise awareness and to develop self-protection strategies. Greenbelt Intergenerational Volunteer Exchange Services (GIVES) will hold a meeting open to the general public, the Golden Age Club will sponsor a flea market and the Lions Club invites the public to participate in the Greenbelt Community Center grounds cleanup.

Also on Saturday, the Greenbelt Photography Club will hold a reception to commemorate its first annual Photo Exhibition. The exhibition will be open until June 21. The Greenbelt Arts Center will present its annual children/youth play. This year the play will be C.S. Lewis' "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe." It will be repeated on Sunday at 7 p.m. A family concert featuring "Blackberry," a five-piece Cajun/Creole band led by Paula Lucas will be preceded by dance instruction. There will be a pot luck lunch, more ball games, the Aquatic and Fitness Center and the outdoor pool will be open, and the New Deal Cafe will have live entertainment by folk-singer Michael Ball.

On Sunday the resident artists at the Community Center open their doors and invite all. The New Deal Cafe will be open with light fare and refreshments and the photo exhibit open house will continue.

At the Legion

On Sunday "Family Day" will take place at the Greenbelt American Legion Post #136 from 1 - 6 p.m. Starting at 1 p.m. the Legion will host a variety of activities. As usual, food and drink will be offered for sale.

Mayor Judith Davis and other members of the City Council will participate in the special Greenbelt Day program including a presentation honoring State Senator Leo Green and Delegates Joan Pitkin, James Hubbard and Mary Conroy for their work on Greenbelt's behalf in obtaining the grant for the Community Center window replacement and fire department facility renovation.

Further events will feature young entertainers from Talent Unlimited, musical selections by

Council Concerned by Beltway Plaza Signs, Speed Bumps

by Angela Noyes

(This is the second of two articles on the city council worksession with representatives of Beltway Plaza Mall management.)

Turning to the present appearance of Beltway Plaza and its future commercial expansion, the Greenbelt City Council raised concerns that the condition of the parking lot and surrounding grassy areas is not always good in its March 26 worksession with the center's manager, Quantum Management. Trash and litter are often visible, asphalt in some spots is in poor shape, and shopping carts are sometimes abandoned in remote parts of the property.

Fred Wine, president of Quantum Management, maintained that the upkeep of the 50 - 60 acre property is continuous. However, one problem presenting itself in winter months is difficulty in cleaning grassy areas. Since they are not mowed during that time, sometimes trash blown into the grass is not retrieved. He assured that management will work on cleaning up these areas.

Speed bumps, always a contentious subject, were brought up by Councilmember Alan Turnbull, who wondered why they were necessary in the parking lots. He contended that they are especially problematic for buses. Wine explained that the insurance carrier that covers Beltway Plaza has mandated bumps. Turnbull encouraged Quantum to look into the possibility of modifying the speed bumps into speed humps.

Sign Agreement

Several years ago, the City of Greenbelt drafted a letter of agreement concerning appropriate signage to be used at the mall. Store name signs on the outside of the building are to be red in color and of a moderate size. The agreement also states the City's preference for ground-mounted roadside signs versus free-standing signs on poles. Quantum Management has never signed the agreement.

Council voiced general satisfaction with the new CVS ground-mounted monument sign along Greenbelt Road, but councilmembers were not pleased the Greenbelt Concert Band under the direction of Tom Cherrix. Also children's games, a moon bounce, face painting, clowns and balloons will be on site to entertain the children. Horseshoe and dart tournaments, bingo, another variety show and D J music are also being planned.

The Recycling Advisory Committee and Greenbelt Adult Care Center will offer information about their programs.

Events are free at Family Day, which is co-sponsored by the Greenbelt American Legion post and by the Greenbelt Recreation Department. Proceeds from the sale of food will help provide new picnic tables and park benches for Schrom Hills park and Buddy Attick park. Those attending are encouraged to bring their own blankets or lawn chairs for seating.

Early History

Greenbelt was born in controversy, initially a federal experiment in social engineering designed to provide both low-cost housing in a well-planned community and construction jobs for hundreds of men in the Washington area dislocated by the Great Depression. Like other New Deal programs, it drew criticism as an unprecedented and costly incursion by the federal government into the private market. It was sneeringly referred to by a contemporary reporter for the Washington Post as "Tugwell Town" referring to Rexford G. Tugwell, the Roosevelt administration's chief policy architect of the "greenbelt township" program. At the same time it drew world-wide acclaim from city planners for its innovations in urban design. The Resettlement Administration carefully screened its first residents for good character and compatibility by requiring them to fill out lengthy questionnaires. The greenbelt township program floundered, however, and only three of the more than 20 cities originally envisioned were completed. The federal role in Greenbelt came to an end in 1954 with the sale of the housing stock to the housing cooperative, Greenbelt Homes, Incorporated.

Citizens to Present Walk Smart Program

As part of the celebration of Greenbelt's Pedestrian Safety Month, the Not-For-Seniors-Only series presents a program on "Survival Skills for Pedestrians." The program will take place on Saturday, June 6, from 1 - 3 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the Community Center. Videos and a slide presentation will highlight the various dangers lurking on the roadways and the counter-measures pedestrians should take to survive. A panel of experts will answer questions from the audience. Safety reflective strips that can be attached to clothing will be distributed free of charge. A potluck lunch will be served, starting at 12:15 p.m., in the Multipurpose Room. Please bring a main dish to share with others (fruits, cheese and crackers, desserts and drinks will be provided). The luncheon and program are sponsored by the Senior Citizens Advisory Committee.

Disheartening

It's disheartening to know that Council members voted to fund a $4,000 study to determine the feasibility of building a road from Gardenway to Green Ridge House. I consider this to be an extravagant use of taxpayers' money on what is not a viable option to Green Ridge House's parking predicament. The construction of this 900-foot drive, which would back two rows of GHI houses, would result in an irreversible loss of a large area of unspoiled land on the perimeter of GHI which protects us from surrounding congestion and from the Baltimore-Washington Parkway in particular.

I appreciate very much living beside Green Ridge House; it's an exceptionally well-maintained property and the grounds are lovely, but the area proposed for the road has a beauty of its own, an uncultivated, natural beauty that should not be disregarded. It's part of a stretch of land that includes community gardens, grassy spaces, trees, footpaths, and a playground all of which we at GHI value so highly. Moreover, it includes a section of Gardenway that is blocked off to cars and serves as a broad, pleasant walkway and recreational area leading to the footbridge over the Parkway. Many students, including my daughter, are able to avoid traffic by using this short cut to Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

I appeal to Green Ridge House residents to be sensitive to the needs of their neighbors and to be mindful of our environment. If construction is deemed necessary, I suggest that both the parking lot and drive be confined to Green Ridge House property itself. And I appeal to GHI members and Council members to please support all efforts to preserve our dwindling green spaces.

City Truck Scofflaws?

It seems to me that some of our city employees think that just because they work for the city, they can blatantly ignore the traffic laws. In the last two weeks I came across three incidents. The first one was at the intersection of Hillside Road and Northway. The recycle truck was parked on the wrong side of the road, facing oncoming traffic. The rear of the truck was sticking out into the intersection blocking half of Northway. The next incident was on Hillside Road at about 6 Court. The trash truck was literally in the middle of the road. The wheels on the driver's side were over the yellow line in the middle of the road. Just a few feet ahead the truck could have been pulled over to the curb. In both cases the driver was out of the truck and the engine was running. The third incident took place in front of the Mobil station. The city trash truck was parked at the curb in front of the stop sign. It was parked with the front half beyond the stop line. It was impossible to see what was coming up Centerway until you were a full car length into the intersection. And they were not there to pick up trash. I realize they perform an important service but I think that they can do so without the unsafe acts just to save a few steps.

It Takes a Village

Thanks to the many Greenbelters who are so important in the lives of children. You know who you are. You may have given a News Review carrier a tip, or a plate of cookies. You may have coached swimming or soccer, or helped out at meets. You may have looked out your window when it was time for kids to be coming and going and silently watched over them, making an emergency call when necessary. You may be a patient bank teller, or librarian, or store manager, who respectfully helped someone so short they could barely reach the counter.

You might invite a child to sew or saw or garden or sing or play with you. You know your home is a place kids feel comfortable.

You, who applaud the young musicians and artists, hire the aspiring entrepreneurs, kindly lend an ear, or simply return a mannerly greeting, we thank.

Our two are about launched now. Things have gone well for us. Greenbelt, neighbors, friends and a lot of people we don't even know, have nurtured them from swingsets to scholarships.

We offer our deep appreciation!

Mary and Mac Wirick

The Old Curmudgeon
by I.J. Parker

Last week, a pitcher for the New York Yankees baseball team pitched a "perfect game." He only faced 27 batters: the minimum. It is better than a shut-out, or a no-hitter. This was a perfect game. Although his teammates cheered and carried him on their shoulders, I felt uncomfortably ill at ease and despaired for his future.

In several cultures, it is dangerous to compliment a child by giving profuse praise of its beauty. It is the equivalent of giving the "evil eye" because God would be offended by perfection. I have experienced serious reprimands from close relatives shocked at my statements after I said that a baby was gorgeous, or beautiful. They explained that it would be calling undue attention to perfection.

Amish women make beautiful quilts. Their patterns of solid colors and square or triangular shapes are famous for their distinctive beauty and utility. The nine-patch, the Irish chain, the Log Cabin, are typical design patterns. However, these women are also mindful of the danger of perfection. So they often put the wrong color in one inconspicuous portion of the quilt.

When I was a young man, I recall, and preparing to go to the high school prom back in Chicago, I combed my hair, made a perfect knot in my tie, had a crease in my trousers, and a good shine on my shoes. When I left the house, my big brother chased me and when he caught up to me stepped all over my right shoe with his sneakers. "You shouldn't be perfect," he said. This notion of perfection as an affront to the guy upstairs has always been part of my conscience.

I also thought that the reason I am so fearful and full of anxiety is because I'm so perfect. I told this to my shrink, and he agreed. "You're a perfect idiot," he said.

David E. Moran
City Clerk, Honored

Greenbelt City Clerk David E. Moran has been awarded the designation of "Certified Municipal Clerk" (CMC) by the International Institute of Municipal Clerks (IIMC) by completing the Institute's educational, experience, and service requirements.

Moran has been employed with the City of Greenbelt since June 1995. He has been a member of the IIMC since August 1995. Moran's previous municipal service included two years with the Prince George's County government and eight years with the University of Maryland. He joins 18 other active municipal clerks from Maryland who are CMCs, following the Institute program conducted by the Center for Professional Training and Academic Government, College of Arts and Letters, Old Dominion University, Norfolk. The program requires 100 hours of courses in managerial and leadership skills, social and interpersonal concerns, and technical training to deal with changes now taking place in government.

Moran, whose professional affiliations include membership in the Maryland Municipal Clerks Association, holds a bachelor of science degree in government and politics from the University of Maryland University College and an associate of arts degree in general studies from Prince George's Community College.

Tag-Team Festival To Combat Cancer

Saturday, May 30 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, students will gather for a tag-team relay lasting until midmorning Sunday. Families, friends, and co-workers are now forming 10-member teams and making plans for a 24 hour festival to fight cancer. "We are thrilled to have finally turned the corner in our fight against cancer, but we must now redouble our efforts to ensure the gains are accelerated, and that all populations benefit," said American Cancer Society national capital chairman Dr. Walter R. Talbot. "That is what Relay for Life is all about. It's about being a community that takes up the fight," he added.

The relay raised more than half a million dollars in 1997 for Washington area communities. Money spent on research to improve cancer treatments, education programs empowering Washingtonians to lower their cancer risk, service programs helping those in need, and advocacy efforts guaranteeing all victims of cancer have a voice and the chance to move from victim to victor; Relay for Life is having a dramatic impact in the fight against cancer. OBITUARIES

Anna M. Link

Anna M. Link, 70, of Ridge Road, a longtime Greenbelt resident, died on May 17 at Fairfield Nursing Center in Crownsville.

Mrs. Link was a past president and lifetime member of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Unit #136. She was also an active member of the Greenbelt Community Church. Her volunteer efforts included working in the health room at Greenbelt Center Elementary School and various duties with the Salvation Army. As an orchestra parent at Parkdale High School, she helped staff their booth at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

Mrs. Link was born March 16, 1928 to Thomas Ward and Ethel Schaeffer Ward and was one of nine children. The daughter of a coal miner, she regarded Pennsylvania as her birth place, but Greenbelt as her home. She was honored as Miss Babe Ruth in the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival. Always proud of this special town, she once got a dozen "Greenbelt is Great" t-shirts to give to friends and family.

Mrs. Link is survived by sons Charles and Barry; five grandchildren, Jeremy, Matthew, Nicole, Joseph, and Daniel; sisters Elizabeth and Margaret (Peggy) and brothers Walter and Thomas.

No Walking Zone

A city spokesman has advised citizens that the bicycle lanes on roadways are not to be used by pedestrians. Recent observations reveal that several people have been observed walking, or pushing baby carriages in the bicycle lane. This practice, officials declared, is extremely dangerous and should be avoided.

BARC Field Day Offers Family Fun

Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) will hold an open house on Saturday, June 6, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. With more than 300 scientists and 6,500 acres BARC, which is part of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is the largest facility of its kind in the world.

The facility will be showing the latest in agricultural research and modern farm management. There will be displays of BARC research on sustainable agriculture, precision farming, plant and animal production, soil and water quality, and other aspects of agriculture. The Public Field Day will have fun activities for the entire family, along with an opportunity to learn what the BARC facility does and to see how agricultural research affects everyone, not just farmers. There will be tours of BARC's 175-cow modern dairy. Children will have a chance to climb aboard a tractor and find out what it feels like to be a farmer. There will also be face painting, a petting zoo, hay rides, and modern farm machinery.

Another highlight of the day will provide attendees a chance to "Ask the Experts," with Maryland Cooperative Extension experts on the Chesapeake Bay, lawn and garden problems, and human nutrition on hand to answer questions in those areas.

Signing for hearing impaired and handicapped access vans will be available. Parking is free. Picnic lunches and other light refreshments will be for sale at the event.

For more information call Kim Kaplan of the Agricultural Research Service, at 301-344-2446.

Teens Plan Sacred All-Nighter

On June 5 a group of students from Roosevelt, Bowie and Parkdale High Schools who are part of an extra-curricular seminary class will stage an all-nighter. The whole night will be spent reading scriptures. Additional church members will drop in throughout the night to assist in the reading. The program is part of a voluntary four-year intensive course of scripture study, known as seminary, offered by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Their regular study begins at 6 a.m. each school day morning. The course was established to help teenagers retain standards and values in the face of increasing social pressure. For further information contact Marina Crowder at 301-322-1189.

Greenbelt Volunteers Receive Awards

At the Volunteer Recognition Banquet held on April 30, at Israel Baptist Church in Brentwood, three Greenbelters were honored with the presentation of Governors' Volunteer Certificates of Appreciation. Lucille Howell, Ed Griffin, and Heraa Haj-Elsafi were among the volunteers who have contributed two or more years of service to Baptist Senior Adult Ministries.

Also recognized were several agencies/organizations including the City of Greenbelt Recreation Department. In addition, Eleanor Roosevelt High School was among the schools honored for participation in the BSAM volunteer program. Greenbriar resident Daryl Penning is BSAM's volunteer coordinator.

Lutherans Explore Senior Housing

Holy Cross Lutheran Church is home of the "LAFers" (Life After Fifty), led by Pastor Emeritus Ed Birner. LAF members hold monthly luncheon meetings, plan and carry out programs that feature speakers, study sessions, trips to museums, visits to retirement facilities, among other activities.

At a recent LAF meeting, Pastor Stephen Mentz, current Holy Cross pastor, reported on his meeting with the Lutheran Fellowship Square Foundation. LFSF is an organization which builds and manages apartment buildings for senior citizens. He wished to determine if LAF would be interested in exploring the possibility of providing housing for senior citizens on Holy Cross church property.

Pastor Birner has researched the matter to determine the advisability and practicability of such a movement. He reported at the follow-up meeting that, "senior citizens of Holy Cross Lutheran Church know that life doesn't end with retirement or at age 65... Most recently expressed an interest in housing for senior citizens. Since many of them have lived in the area most of their lives, they would like to stay in the area."

On Friday, May 22, they traveled to Reston, VA and visited Lake Anne and Hunters Woods Fellowship Houses, two homes managed by Lutheran Fellowship Square Foundation. Similar tours of other facilities are scheduled.

For further information, please call Pastor Birner at 301-474-9200 or Pastor Mentz at 301-345-5111.

Greenbelt Celebrates Pedestrian Safety
Pedestrian Safety Tip

If a motorist stops to let someone cross the street, that person may be "screened" from the view of overtaking traffic and may not be seen until the pedestrian suddenly appears in the traffic lane.

ADVICE:

- * If a car is stopped in traffic, slow down and approach it cautiously. Ask yourself why the car has stopped and assume that the car is hiding a pedestrian.
- * Never pass a car that has stopped to permit a pedestrian to cross the street.
- * Be especially alert if the stopped vehicle is a bus because, due to its size, it will be even harder for you to notice a pedestrian until the pedestrian appears in your traffic lane.
- * Remember that cars are much bigger and much easier to see than pedestrians. Always LOOK for pedestrians (and bicyclists too) and yield to them in the roadway.

"The Arts Beat"

by Konrad Herling and Paula Lucas

For almost a decade, the "Greenbelt Day Weekend" has included a special musical event co-sponsored by the Recreation Department and the Greenbelt Arts Center. The event has featured jazz, Afro-Cuban music, and steel bands. This year, on Saturday, June 6, 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center's gym, it's Cajun, starting with a 45-minute dance lesson. At 8:15 p.m., the concert begins. And this year, bring your dancing shoes as you listen and lift your feet to the beat of "Blackberry."

Paula Lucas, the band's organizer, was born and grew up in Washington, DC, where for many years she studied classical piano, ballet, and folk dancing. Her role with "Blackberry" has been varied: dancer, singer, songwriter, percussionist, and guitarist.

Jim Briley, another native Washingtonian, lives in Greenbelt and has studied and performed a variety of musical venues: jazz, rock and roll, folk, classical and, more recently, Cajun and Creole. He began his musical career in the 1960's in a local rock group. His interest in Cajun music and culture was sparked at a local Cajun dance.

Justin Briley lives with his dad in Greenbelt and is a proud third generation musician.

Miles Spencer, who grew up in the DC area, is an energetic musician who brings blues, jazz and soul influences to the band.

Finally, Joel Bailes began and first heard Cajun music on the Harry Smith Anthology of American Folk Music. In the 1970's, Joel enthusiastically followed the music of such legendary Cajun fiddlers as Canray Fontenot, Dewey Balfa, and especially Dennis McGee and Said Courville. He brings this influence to the band.

Golden Age Club

by Bernie Giese

The Wednesday, June 1, meeting of the Golden Age Club will be the monthly business meeting, which is scheduled for 11 a.m. in the Multi-purpose Room of the Greenbelt Community Center. The Board will meet earlier, at 10 a.m., in the Senior Classroom.

Hope this column's regular reporter, Dolores Capotosto, and her fellow travelers are enjoying the Golden Age Club's trip to Myrtle Beach and Charleston. It's a lovely area with much to see.

Don't forget the Golden Age Club's annual flea market or yard sale set for Saturday, June 6, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Roosevelt Center. Bring any donations to the Senior Lounge at the Community Center as soon as possible. Volunteers are still needed to price the goods beforehand and to offer assistance on the day of the sale. The profits will go toward camp scholarships, so why not pitch in and help a good cause?

New GAC Play Given In Sign Language

Greenbelt Arts Center (GAC) announced that the June 7 matinee at 2 p.m. of A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court will be interpreted for a deaf audience. Special thanks to volunteer, Gary Brick, who offered to arrange for a team of interpreters. GAC recommends that deaf patrons make reservations as far in advance as possible so the best seating can be provided for them to view the interpreters.

They apologize for the lack of TTY, but suggest that patrons use the service of Maryland Relay to make reservations. If interest and attendance for this service is encouraging, an attempt will be made to obtain funding to continue the service during next year's season. A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court will be performed Fridays and Saturdays May 29 - June 20 at 8 p.m. and Sundays June 7 and 14 at 2 p.m. To make reservations call 301-441-8770.

The officers of the Greenbelt Police Department, in conjunction with officers from across the country, will hit the streets with a simple but critical message: "Seat Belt Use Saves Lives." Adult seat belt use is a critical factor in child safety. Crash studies show that if an adult driver is unbelted, 70 percent of the time children riding in that vehicle will be unbelted too. If anyone has questions regarding the proper installation of child safety seats or the recommended seat guidelines for the size of the child, call the Traffic Unit at 301-507-6547.

In-person registration, first-come, first-served basis. All classes have a limit on enrollment. Early registration improves your chances of getting the class you want!! All registrants must sign up at the Greenbelt Aquatic & Fitness Center for aquatic & fitness classes.

CLASS FEES: All class fees are noted in the course list. A 10% discount will be given to all senior citizens, 60 years old and over, for non-senior classes.

REFUNDS: The Greenbelt Aquatic & Fitness Center reserves the right to cancel classes due to insufficient registrants or causes beyond its control. Refunds will be made if classes are canceled by the Center. Other refunds will be made according to the provisions in the City of Greenbelt Resolution No. 65, which also requires that refund requests, for valid reasons, are to be submitted immediately in writing to the GAFC.

CITY RESIDENCY: Greenbelt residents are those who pay taxes to the City of Greenbelt AND are eligible to vote in City elections. That is as it should be, as our residents pay taxes to support the Recreation Centers and the Aquatic & Fitness Center in our community. However, just because someone has a Greenbelt address does not necessarily mean they pay taxes to the City of Greenbelt and are able to vote in City elections. We want to be fair to the people whose tax money supports our programs. If you are not sure that you have a Greenbelt address, are able to vote in City elections, and pay City taxes, call 301-397-2204.

All registrants registering as resident non-passholders must show proof of address to receive Greenbelt resident status. Acceptable Proof: Valid license or current lease.

MAINSTREAMING: Anyone who is physically, mentally, and/or emotionally challenged is encouraged to participate in any of the Aquatic & Fitness Center's programs. If you need any special assistance, please call 301-397-2208 or TTY 301-474-1811 and ask for Karen Haseley.

COUNCIL

vendors, visitors and others going to Green Ridge House spilled out onto Ridge Road and other streets, making parking near their homes almost impossible.

Other GHI residents strongly opposed the Gardenway alternative, claiming that it would decrease their property value. They urged council to consider GHI and its needs as well as those of Green Ridge House in solving the problem. Councilmember White said that GHI's interests and concerns had been considered in each of the parking alternatives under review over the past several years and would continue to be.

A long-time GHI resident spoke of finding a mutually satisfying solution so that GHI and Green Ridge could continue to be good neighbors. Some spoke of aesthetics as well as function as important in determining the best solution. Others urged more creative thinking and that all types of alternatives should be explored, from underground parking to off-site satellite parking areas. Management strategies, such as a cap on vehicles in Green Ridge House, were also suggested.

The council worksession on Green Ridge parking will be held on June 25, at 7:30 p.m. Originally scheduled for Green Ridge House, council was urged to hold it or another hearing at GHI or at city facilities so that more people could attend. Some urged a neutral location; others simply wanted to be sure there was room for everyone who wanted to attend. One person said he felt it was important to hold one city-wide forum where everyone could hear opposing views.

Council agreed to consider locations for the hearing and to publicize it. They also agreed to explore transportation for Green Ridge House residents to an off-site hearing. In response to another request, the city promised to have sketches of the proposed plans for parking lot alternatives available for review prior to the meeting. Copies can be distributed through GHI and city offices.

Several speakers echoed Mayor Davis's desire to get as much information as needed to make the best decision possible. Mayor Davis also said that parking problems in the city are not limited to Green Ridge House but occur all over the city. She said an awful lot of cars are in the city and that parking space is at a premium in more than one area.

She added that Green Ridge House parking is not a simple problem with a simple solution. With practical problems of close proximity and limited land, councilmember Putens said he had long doubted that a solution could be found to please everyone; he now said he hoped for a solution to please anyone.

Maryland Trade Center IV

Council approved a revised site plan for the Maryland Trade Center IV, a 2.7 acre site located off Hanover Drive between Maryland Trade Center III and the Holiday Inn. The site is zoned for a 55,000 sq. ft. office building. The applicant, Dimensions Healthcare Systems, is proposing a 28,000 sq. ft., two-story ambulatory care facility with outpatient medical procedures to be performed on the lower level and offices on the upper level. City Director of Community Planning Terri Hruby spoke in favor of the site plan, stating that the applicant had incorporated all revisions recommended by the city. These included improved parking design, improved pedestrian access, and enhanced landscaping.

Advisory Planning Board recommendations had also been addressed by Dimensions. The city will still have approval of any signage. Benches and picnic tables will be provided on the property and the applicant agrees to plant Cleveland select pear trees along the access road, the city's recommended trees in lieu of Bradford pears. The property owner will also transfer the National Park outlot to the city prior to the issuance of a building permit for the site.

Cable Television Franchise

The Municipal/County Cable Coalition is pursuing both formal and informal negotiations with Jones Communications on the cable television franchise. However, these negotiations are not expected to be completed by May 31, when the current franchise agreement expires. The city submitted a resolution to council for first reading to extend the current agreement through the end of the year to allow sufficient time to negotiate a final agreement.

Waiver Approved

Brae Brooke Drive — a street just on paper — will remain so, as council approved the waiver to require construction of this potential new street in Greenbelt. Earlier, the city council had deferred the construction of this road, which would have run from Hanover Parkway to the PEPCO right-of-way. The builder of GreenSpring I, Richmond American, has now completed all of the requirements for construction in this development and a final decision must be made as to whether to construct the road. Since Brae Brooke Drive would not connect with any other street and given concerns about the potential for future, undesired street connections, city staff recommended and council agreed that the road should not be constructed. The land has been dedicated to the city and will serve as a buffer between GreenSpring I and II. Council discussed landscaping of this area, possible use for trails, benches and paths.

Greenwood Villagers Elect New Directors

At the Greenwood Village Homeowners Association annual homeowners' meeting held on April 15, elections to the Board of Directors took place. The following is a list of directors/officers for the association for the coming year: Warren C. Wilcox, president; Roy W. Dahl, vice president; Brent Moulton, treasurer; Leonard Nisenoff, secretary and Diann Howland, director.

Board meetings are held at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on the third Wednesday of the month, owners and residents are encouraged to attend.

Our Neighbors

Condolences to the family of longtime Greenbelter Anna M. Link on the death of their mother and grandmother.

Family, friends, and neighbors joined Ray Smith to celebrate his 65th birthday at a party in the Greenbelt Community Center Sunday evening. Some 90 guests attended the surprise party thrown for Ray by his wife, Sandy, and mother-in-law, Jane Surber. Among the guests were Ray's fellow members of the Central Maryland Antique Tractor Club. Many of the guests brought stuffed animals to give to the residents of the Villa Rosa Nursing Home, where Ray volunteers.

Bradley University student Parrish J. Morgan of Mandan Road recently was honored at the University's Henry Pindell Slane College of Communications and Fine Arts annual recognition event. # BELTWAY PLAZA with the Hollywood Video sign located close to Giant supermarket. The sign is "very obtrusive," said Mayor Judith Davis. "Size is the problem."

Fred Wine stated that when he was negotiating with Hollywood Video to come to Beltway Plaza, the sign was a sticking point. Hollywood Video insisted on constructing the enlarged sign, complete with their "mountain range" logo in the background. Without this concession, Wine claimed, they would not have brought a store to Beltway Plaza.

"Out" Clause

Wine is seeking "out" language in the letter of agreement, so that he does not have to face the dilemma either of losing a tenant or violating the agreement. Celia Craze, whose office oversees compliance of signage in Greenbelt, pointed out that Wine's "out" language would negate the agreement.

Negotiations over the sign agreement are ongoing between the City of Greenbelt and Quantum Management. Apparently acting on council's request to come to a better understanding on signage, Quantum Management's attorney, M. Kap Kapistan, said in an interview on April 14 that his company is "reviewing the proposed agreement internally," and intends to draft language "satisfactory to both parties."

Greenbelt has attempted to establish city standards for signage, though actual control exists only with Prince George's County. Many times companies with retail operations negotiate willingly to establish goodwill in the community. It is this type of goodwill agreement on signs that the city hopes to strike with Beltway Plaza management.

As councilmember Alan Turnbull pointed out, control of signage at Beltway Plaza can be especially challenging because the retail properties on the other side of Greenbelt Road are within Berwyn Heights' city limits, not Greenbelt's. "We need to de-escalate noise on both sides of the road," Turnbull said. "That way, vendors won't feel they have to proclaim themselves so brashly."

Indeed, efforts to improve the appearance of Greenbelt Road as a whole may be tackled by other entities besides the City of Greenbelt. This issue is appropriate for the Four Cities Coalition of Berwyn Heights, Greenbelt, College Park, and New Carrollton, and may be encompassed by the overall Greenbelt Metro Area Sector plan.

Future Plans for Beltway Plaza

The question on most minds concerning the future of the Plaza was, "What will replace Caldor?" According to Kap Kapistan, Quantum Management is in "active discussions with a number of credit-worthy tenants, who would provide quality merchandise and services for Greenbelt. It will be an improvement."

Quantum Management president Wine stated that he views Caldor's exit as a "golden opportunity to reshape the center." Quantum Management would like to secure two major tenants to encourage "cross shopping."

The main mall is "fully leased," according to Wine. Though management is trying gradually to upgrade its tenants, it is happy with the opening of some new stores and facilities. Among these are: Gold's Gym, occupying 19,000 square feet; JoAnn's Fabric and Crafts recently relocated from Capital Plaza; the new Japanese steak house, Musashi's, and the new refurbishment and 35,000 square-foot expansion of Burlington Coat Factory.

their School-To-Work Initiative, the school sponsored "Spotlight On Careers" March 23 through March 27. During this week, 40 speakers representing friends, relatives of students and staff, as well as public services, discussed their occupations. In over one hundred presentations, the speakers shared a variety of career opportunities and helped acquaint students with the world of work. Class, group, and grade level presentations were given to students in kindergarten through fifth grade.

"The support of our guests not only helped our students learn more about careers, but also made them more aware of the attitudes and skills needed for future success," Principal L. M. Sherwood stated.

Tracey Franks, businesswoman, and new Saturn owner, really appreciated being allowed to shop at her own pace. Not surprising, because normal people don't walk into a store and say to themselves, "I really wish they'd sell me something in here." We know that when you come in to see our new 1997 models, you want to look around, compare, maybe get a little information. But, if you need anything, like engine specifications, or a soda, just ask. # BUDGET WORK SESSION didn't want to go into the adoption meeting without all the councilmembers being in agreement. Putens and Davis chided Roberts, Putens saying that last year he had wanted four officers, and that this year he would be getting them, and Davis claiming that Roberts had wanted eight officers last year.

Finally Roberts said, "Let's put it this way. If you think we can go three cents and can get re-elected, I'll go with it. People told me they'll go for a tax rate increase if it is for public safety." To which, Councilmember Thomas White responded, "If you raise taxes three cents, you can get re-elected, but it will be more difficult."

Actually, taxpayer's wallets will see little effect from the tax increase, because the county tax rate will go down almost three cents. This is primarily due to the city benefitting from a readjustment in the tax differential formula, that will reduce the city tax rate as compared to the rate paid by residents of unincorporated areas. The tax differential is for the purpose of recognizing that the county provides services in unincorporated areas which are provided in Greenbelt by the city.

Impact of Tax Increase
House Market Value	Tax Increase
$50,000	$2/year
100,000	4/year
150,000	6/year
200,000	8/year

Police
When the police budget came up for review, Chief Craze announced that he was dropping his previous unfunded request for two additional patrol officers, a K-9 officer and a juvenile officer and instead was proposing four community police officers to be partially funded by a federal grant. Salary and benefit costs for the four officers for the first year would be $240,000 with the grant covering $100,000 of the costs. In the following year, squad cars and bicycles would have to be purchased for the new officers. They would not be needed this year because the officers would be either in school training or training with another officer. Craze said the grant is good for only three years and then the city will have to pick up the additional $100,000 in costs.

Councilmember Alan Turnbull wanted the new officers to be equipped just with bicycles. Craze responded that the officers needed to get wherever needed. Turnbull felt the city already had the basic coverage. Roberts felt it was important to keep the officers in their assigned areas, and not responding to crime incidents in Springhill Lake all the time. Craze called present coverage a bare minimum.

Earlier, Craze had told the council that the residents of Springhill Lake Apartments were the most apt to be victims of crime. A breakdown of crime statistics by area showed that four of every 100 residents in the central part of Greenbelt (old Greenbelt) were apt to be victims of crime in a year. In Greenbelt East, the ratio was between 6 and 8 crimes per 100. In Springhill Lake, the number of victims was double that of Greenbelt East. Craze expressed shock at the statistics and felt that there was a need to do more crime prevention in the giant apartment complex.

Councilmembers agreed that there was a need for more officers and greater visibility of the department on the streets. They pointed out that funding these positions would squeeze out some of the other things on the police wish list, including funding better retirement benefits for police officers. However, they also added $6,500 to fund the police turnkey telephone system and both a winter and summer parttime park ranger at $8,000. The rangers, who will not have arresting authority, are to patrol parks, prevent duck eggs from being stolen and alert police to other park crimes.

FOP Requests
Fraternal Order of Police President Michael Rogers put in an impassioned plea for the city to increase its match for deferred compensation. Presently, employees in the state pension plan, for which the city only contributes five percent of salary each year, can get both a five percent salary contribution to the employee's deferred compensation plan and a further contribution up to five percent of salary to match any employee's contribution. Police officers who contribute to the deferred compensation plan have their funds matched by the city up to five percent, but do not get the extra five percent contribution. This is because the city is contributing 16% to the police pension plan, which provides for retirement benefits after 25 years of service.

McLaughlin explained that the city provided the extra five percent to employees in the pension plan because they receive less benefits at retirement and cost the city in retirement contributions much less than employees in the police and other plans. White argued that pension plans and deferred compensation plans were separate issues, and that all employees should be treated the same on deferred compensation. Assistant Recreation Director Harry James reminded the council that when it last gave police officers equal benefits in deferred compensation with other employees plus a better pension plan, that the other employees got upset and had descended on council to get the extra five percent. He said that there were a lot of other differences between police officer benefits and those of other employees, and that while he didn't wish to make any threats, other employees were expressing concern.

Council agreed to put an extra $5,000 in the budget to do a study of pension benefits, but would not go along with proposals to put money in this year's budget for better police retirement benefits. Council also agreed not to include in the budget additional funds for the leave pool established to give FOP officers extra time off to conduct FOP business when McLaughlin advised them that the matter could be handled administratively upon council's direction.

Recreation
Barbara Simon urged the council to fund an additional recreation coordinator as well as an arts coordinator. Noting that the center was exceeding expectations for realizing revenues from the many programs and social activities scheduled there, Simon said that adequate staffing was necessary in order for the building to continue operating successfully.

Council agreed to fund the recreation coordinator and urged Recreation Director Harry Irving to hire someone with special background in the cultural arts. Also added, was a halftime custodian for the community center and funds to purchase a copy machine ($3,000) and curtains for the gym stage ($5,000).

At the Aquatic Center, tile to replace carpeting for the lobby and hallway was approved by the council at a cost of $12,000. It also agreed to give recreation groups all of the funds that they asked for ($3,000) plus $4,000 for a Youth Initiative Program proposed by the Greenbelt Arts Center.

Museum
The Museum budget was increased $2,500 to provide additional funding for two parttime curators. This increase was conditioned on the Friends of the Greenbelt Museum matching the increased city funds.

Public Works
When it came to this department's needs, some councilmembers expressed concern that some major projects were not being done fast enough. This includes a needed addition to the Public Works office building and improvements to Buddy Attick Park. The idea of a bond issue was proposed. However, the councilmembers agreed to wait to consider this until after their goal-setting strategic planning process, at White's suggestion.

Council did approve added funding for security cameras ($8,000), a computer with CD rom and modem ($2,000) and lighting for the mechanics workshop ($3,000).

Parks
For parks, council bit the bullet and OK'd buying a bullet. The bullet is a device that bores a 2" tunnel under streets and sidewalks, etc. through which water hoses can be run, or electrical cable laid. It will cost $3,700. Also a pack tank to spray-kill weeds growing in the gutter and pavement and sidewalk cracks was approved after Horticultural Supervisor William Phelan assured them that the new chemical to be used would replace the three currently used and that chemical removal was more efficient than hand pulling by summer help and no more harmful than the cleaning chemicals used in buildings.

COG Dues
Council is headed for a showdown with the county and the Washington Metropolitan Council of Governments (COG). The County was paying half of the city's share of dues on the basis that many metropolitan issues such as planning and water and sewer were county responsibilities and not the city's, but withdrew its support at County Executive Wayne Curry's urging. The city council has been lobbying to have county funding restored, but had no reading as to whether or not the county council would put the money back in the county budget. In the meantime, the city has refused to pay the other half of its dues for this year and the budget provided only half the cost for the next year even though COG has informed the city that it will be dropped as a member unless its dues are made current. Although Davis urged the council to add the needed $5,400 to pay the full dues, the majority did not support her and chose instead to see what happens at the county and COG levels. The members all agreed, however, that the city should be a member of COG.

Other Changes
Council agreed to budget a computer for Community Development ($1,300) and as a management objective, to accomplish a study of housing code fees for rental properties.

The budget for Reserves for Appropriations was cut by $27,000, leaving $30,000 available for use by council to meet goals it may set in its strategic planning process. Also deleted were $10,000 in budgeted costs for health insurance and another $10,000 for property and liability insurance, based upon revised estimates given by the city manager.

After the public worksession, the council decided in executive session what to do about the city manager's salary for the coming year. It was increased by $4,000 to $83,500.
