

Four Designs for Redeveloping Middle School Are Explored

Three members of the city staff—City Manager Michael McLaughlin, Kristen Ward of the Planning Department, and Joe McNeal of the Recreation Department—met with members of the Prince George’s County school system’s Capital Projects Office on March 4 to receive the results of the feasibility study for the rebuilding of Greenbelt Middle school. Greenbelt’s School Board representative, James Henderson, also attended the meeting. The school was originally built in 1937 as a high school for Greenbelt. Since then, six additions have been added to the building.

Four schemes were presented. Scheme A would renovate the existing building with little additional construction or demolition. Scheme B would demolish less than 25 percent of the building and construct new space to replace it including a new media center. Scheme C would demolish and replace the 1957, 1962 and 1969 wings, additions to the building located behind the original 1937 building. This scheme also includes constructing 74,000 square feet of space to replace the 86,000 to be demolished. Scheme D would construct an entirely new school. All schemes include improving the ballfields. Schemes A, B, and C are estimated to cost around $20 million; Scheme D would cost $16 to 17 million.

According to a memo to the Greenbelt City Council from McLaughlin, the School Board is “apparently required to preserve any school buildings that are over 50 years old.” Although the school system would prefer to build a new building (Scheme D), they do not yet have a plan for how to handle the historic preservation requirements under this scheme. However, currently the choice is Scheme C because it preserves the 1937 and 1945 sections of the building.

All the schemes were based on a projected student population of 882 students, even though there are currently over 1,000 students in the school. Henderson expressed concern that the projected student population was too low for the possible ultimate population of the school.

According to McLaughlin, the school system is interested in proceeding quickly since it has a fairly tight schedule. They contemplate beginning construction in 2004 for completion and use by students by September 2006.

Work would be phased to provide a place for the students to go to school under Scheme C. On this project, it is planned that students will remain on site. The school system does not have the opportunity to put them in another location, as with Bladensburg High School in Bowie. New construction would not have this constraint, however. For this reason new construction could be done in a year and a half.

School officials have agreed to make a presentation to the Advisory Committee on Education (ACE) on Tuesday, March 26.

BARC Reiterates Position On Soil Conservation Road

Goddard Space Flight Center plans to re-route the portion of Soil Conservation Road that bisects the Goddard campus. This road is presently under the jurisdiction of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center. Alignment options were presented at various community meetings in the area including Greenbelt in late July. The most recent public meeting occurred last week in Glenn Dale. A letter from a U. S. Department of Agriculture official to the director of Goddard and copied to the News Review is printed here.

The Greenbelt City Council has scheduled a meeting with Goddard officials for Wednesday, March 20, at 8 p.m. on this subject.

Mr. A. B. Diaz
Director, Goddard Space Flight Center
National Aeronautics and Space Admin.
Building 8, Room 600, Code 100
Greenbelt, Maryland 20770

Dear Mr. Diaz:

On February 27, one of my staff, Claudette Joyner, attended a public meeting at the Glenn Dale Golf Club where Goddard’s proposed Master Plan, especially the proposal to reroute Soil Conservation Service (SCS) Road, was discussed. I understand that Mr. Frederick M. Heider, of Athavale, Lystad & Associates, conducted the presentation for the public forum. According to Ms. Joyner, this appeared to be the same presentation that Mr. Heider provided to the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC) on January 31.

Several questions apparently came up about what needed to be done to use BARC land, and about BARC’s opinion of the three proposed routes for SCS Road. Ms. Joyner reported that Mr. Kim Toufexis of your Facilities Management Division indicated that BARC would still own the land, but that there would be no cost to NASA and that no money would change hands. This is not correct. BARC has the authority to charge for

by Sandy Smith

The annual city council worksession with the Greenbelt Homes Inc. board of directors on February 27, dealt quickly with the issue of historic district designation – more research and study needed – and then turned its attention to other items, ranging from traffic calming to housing code violations. There was a general consensus that more work needed to be done to determine the benefits, drawbacks and implications for the entire community of designating some of the city as an historic district. The established time frame calls for the additional research and evaluation by city staff and others and wider community input, to be completed with recommendations by early next year.

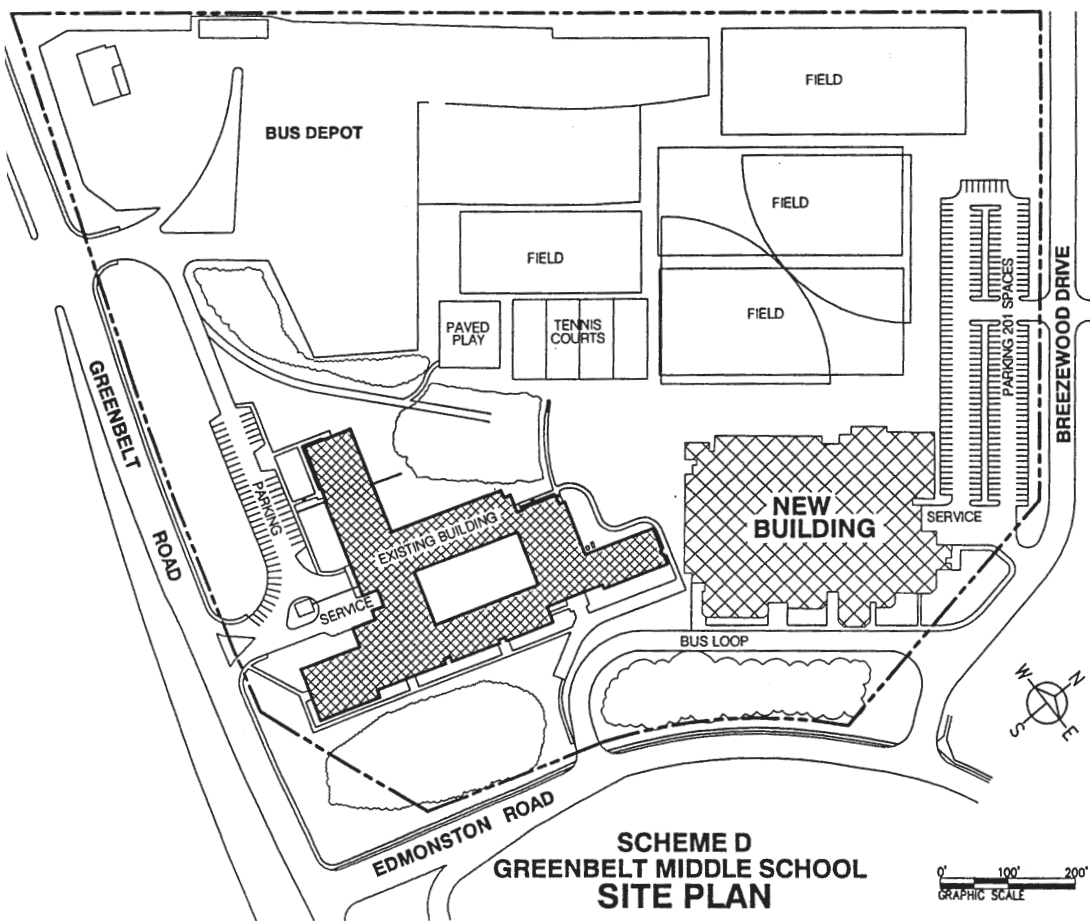

Traffic

The council and board discussed various problem intersections and crosswalks, different proposals and approaches for traffic calming and improving pedestrian safety. Everyone agreed that drivers frequently did not stop for pedestrians in crosswalks and pointed to the crosswalk at St. Hugh’s on Crescent Road as a prime example. A number of solutions were suggested: raised crosswalks, pedestrian-operated traffic lights, strengthened hatching, sandwich board signs, safety islands, and lights embedded in the road to alert drivers to the upcoming crosswalk. The latter was suggested by GHI Board Member Joyce Abel who had seen this successfully used in other cities. Opinions varied. Several thought that signs were useless unless, as Councilmember Alan Turnbull stated, they were backed up by police. A greater or different police role in traffic safety has budget and resource implications, Greenbelt Mayor Judith Davis said that concern needed to be considered in any overall plan. Board Member Bill Phelan said that there are more pedestrians in old Greenbelt than in other parts of the city and therefore the issue is important to GHI. He thought that less attention had been placed on traffic calming in the historic part of the community. Davis countered with the fact that there are speed bumps on Northway and cited other examples. She said that for every approach, some residents feel it’s too much and others not enough.

City Manager Michael McLaughlin and others thought that this issue could be taken up as part of the budget process, since there are cost implications for most of the suggested approaches. Hearings and studies could delineate the best options that could then be considered when the budget is debated and adopted.

Letters to the Editor

Bad Implication

I wish to voice my objection to the statement in the article "Center Area a 'Public Forum' City Attorney Advises Council" reported in the News Review (March 7) that implies that the Springhill Lake Recreation Center (and Springhill Lake by association) is a place of unruly behavior. [March 7 issue: A councilmember, seeking information from the city attorney, asked about the difference between dealing with unruly behavior in the Center and dealing with it at the Springhill Lake Youth Center.] My objection to the statement is that it reinforces the stereotype that Springhill Lake is full of crime and is to be avoided by residents of Old Greenbelt.

I am one of the three volunteers at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center homework and tutoring club on Tuesdays and at the Greenbelt Moving Ahead Program (GMA) on Saturdays and have never experienced any unruly or criminal behavior. Most of the students at these programs are residents of the Springhill Lake Apartment complex.

It would have been more appropriate for the questioner to have asked for a comparison of the Youth Center (in Old Greenbelt) with the Roosevelt Center problem. After all, the problem exists in Old Greenbelt not in Springhill Lake.

The Joys of Walking

This week I celebrate hiking and walking 1,000 miles on my artificial hip! After hip surgery I started, again, walking Greenbelt Lake just two years ago this week. About 650 miles of my walking has been around and around Greenbelt Lake. I want to recommend it for all of you readers, with a special invitation for senior citizens and busy workers. It is a wonderful daily or tri-weekly routine. Yes, it has permitted me the joy of returning to hiking in the North Cascades in late summer/fall and more than 100 miles in New Zealand last month. I do not wish to emphasize my hiking trips. Instead, it is the fitness I experience and the beauty and joy afforded me in walking Greenbelt Lake.

I walk the lake in wind, rain, snow and sunshine. This permits me to watch the seasons change from spring to summer to fall and to winter. Each season offers different types of beauty on and surrounding the pathway. I love, for example, watching the ducks mate, produce their young and guard and protect them throughout the spring/summer. Even the geese are interesting in their patterns of flight and settling on the water. Seeing the birds in flight and hearing them singing while watching them leave each fall and return each spring is exciting, as are observing the plants and flowers bloom and die and reappear the next spring. The trees, too, offer enjoyment as they change the views, the reflections, the water movement and their green costumes. Even a blue heron has graced our lake while the Canada geese stop over in December as they move south. The homeowners around the lake offer an interesting variety of natural and artificial surroundings, although I am most often busy watching in and around the water. Those who fish offer special entertainment as I check their "catch" that day.

I find walking provides me at least three important benefits. First, I meet and briefly speak to friendly folks who are runners, joggers, fast and slow walkers, or strollers, who use a variety of patterns in their movement. I am always mindful of the quiet surroundings at different hours of the day, often choosing hours when others do not walk because I can quietly reflect. My second benefit, therefore, is reflecting on my writing, daily problems or just talking with God about difficulties and gifts of life, health, family and friends. My third reason for walking is, perhaps, most important for my lifestyle. I walk for fitness and weight control that I might do all the other things I love to do.

We invite you to come join all of us who are walking, running, strolling, playing, pausing to chat or sitting while enjoying the beauty. It is all available to you free, except buying good walking shoes. Give yourself the gift of time it takes to be a walker around the lake. If a beginner, start slow, perhaps walking one-fourth around, followed by one-half around and gradually adding the distance to go around the entire lake and more.

Spring is the time to begin your journey when all of nature renews itself. May you too experience self renewal by this simple activity, walking. As many of us already know, Greenbelt Lake is the place!

(Editors note: Dr. Hult is a sport history professor emerita who taught in the University of Maryland's Kinesiology Department and coached women's tennis in the seventies. She was featured last year in a story in the Anderson Orthopaedic Institute Joint Journal for her past athletic and hiking career and her successful continuance as a hiker following hip surgery.)

easements. In addition, I indicated in my letter to you of November 9, 2000, that even if BARC provided you an easement, that GSFC would be responsible for all costs of road construction, forest and wetland mitigation, and anything else that might impact BARC property.

In our written comments on September 6, 2001, to Alison McNally, Goddard's Director of Management Operations, we raised the issue that your plan indicates that the west and central alternative routes would require reforestation due to the loss of about 19 acres of forest, and that GFSC appeared to be making the assumption that this could be accomplished on BARC property. This had not been discussed with BARC at the time, and we have still not had a response from you on this issue.

I am most concerned about Mr. Heider's response when asked if BARC "had any problems with these routes." Mr. Heider replied no, and said that "BARC will issue a revocable permit regardless if the route is east or west." We specifically told Mr. Heider on January 31 that BARC much preferred the two eastern routes over the western route. We also told him that we would not agree to any proposal that the community had problems with, since we see no benefit to BARC in any of these proposals.

I want to remind you that when Dr. Ron Korcak and I met with you on October 29, 2001, that I told you specifically that we preferred the eastern routes and that we would not agree to any proposal that the community objected to. Also, in a letter on August 1, 2001, I told you that we are not willing to discard the good will that BARC has in the surrounding community merely to satisfy NASA's desires in this matter.

We are willing to continue these issues with you, but I must insist that BARC's position on these matters not be misrepresented to the public or other third parties.

Sincerely,
Phyllis E. Johnson

Celtic Weekend Returns to GAC

by Beatrix Whitehall

If it's March, the Arts Center's annual Celtic Weekend can't be far away. Once again, a gathering of varied and exciting groups returns to the stage to present two evenings of music, song, and surprises.

On Friday, March 22, audiences will enjoy performances by Circle of Friends and the Homespun Ceilidh Band. Circle of Friends is a six-piece Scottish ensemble made up of members of the Potomac Valley Scottish Fiddle Club. The group had its Arts Center debut at the last March concert; since then, they have played for Scottish festivals, dances, and dinners in the Washington metro area.

The Homespun Ceilidh Band, nine members strong, are no strangers to GAC, having played for every Arts Center Celtic Weekend since the concerts began. They play instruments from the familiar to the exotic, performing music from all the Celtic countries. The band is unusual in that it has two percussion players: Trix Whitehall also sings and Jennifer Silverman is an award-winning Irish step dancer. The Ceilidh Band is looking forward to the release of its first CD, "Spinning Reels." If production is finished by the concert date, March 22 will also be the CD release concert. Look forward to a few surprises and a high-energy performance.

Saturday, March 23 brings a number of different performers to the stage. Mac-talla, the Scottish Gaelic singing group that has made many local appearances, went to Scotland last fall to compete in the Royal National Mod (a Gaelic competition and festival) on the Isle of Lewis in the Outer Hebrides, and returns with a pocketful of new music and some new additions to the group.

Skye Gathering, the Celtic quartet, also returns with a quieter, lyrical brand of music from Ireland, Scotland, Cornwall, Wales, Galicia, the Isle of Man, Brittany – and perhaps a Scandinavian tune or two.

The rest of the evening will be filled with smaller groupings of musicians from the other groups, with special guest Francine Krasowska on piano. Francine frequently plays for local English and contra dances, and is well known in the local area.

Don't miss this opportunity to celebrate Celtic music. Reservations are recommended; these concerts have been frequent sell-outs. Call 301-441-8770.

Festival Meeting

The planning for this year's Labor Day Festival is well underway. The committee will hold its first meeting on Thursday, March 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Center in the Senior Classroom. Volunteers are needed for various positions. Volunteering for the festival does not involve a lot of time, but it is extremely rewarding. Be part of this great committee and the largest happening in Greenbelt all year. Call Patti Brothers at 301-982-2312 for more information, or come to the March 21 meeting.

Astronomy Club Meets Saturday

Come explore the universe! The Greenbelt Astronomy Club is holding a star gazing party on Saturday, March 16 and everyone is invited. The event begins at dusk and is scheduled to last until at least 11 p.m. Club members will be on hand with a variety of telescopes and binoculars to share views of the planet Jupiter with its moons, Saturn with its rings, star clusters, nebula, constellations and more. The location will be Northway Ball Fields, at the end of Northway. The event is free and open to the public. In the event of hopelessly cloudy skies, this event will be cancelled.

For information, directions and map visit the Club's website at: <http://1heawww.gsfc.nasa.gov/docs/outreach/gac/GAC.html>.

Greenbelt organizations are invited to send us their meeting notices for publication.

Obituaries

Donald Noel Tucker

Donald Noel Tucker, 54, of Lakecrest Drive, died March 7, 2002 at the Veterans' Administration Hospital in Washington, D.C.

He was born December 25, 1947 in Niagara Falls, N.Y. and as a teenager moved to Marietta, Ohio. He graduated from Marietta High School and enlisted in the U.S. Navy Reserve, spending two years on active duty. He settled in Greenbelt in 1971. While working at the Naval Research Laboratory, he graduated with a B.S. from the University of Maryland, University College. Sometime later, he began working at the Government Printing Office, from which he recently retired. An active member of the American Legion, Mr. Tucker was a past commander of Greenbelt Post #136.

He is survived by a daughter, Lynne, of Pinecrest Court; two sisters, Shirley Radebaugh, of Seattle, Wash., and Susan Simpson, of Clarksville, Ohio; and two brothers, Fred and Bruce Tucker of Marietta.

A memorial service will be held in late May.

Irma Majer

Former Greenbelter Irma Majer died on Saturday, February 23, 2002 in Ann Arbor, Mich. Born Irma Linhartova on August 22, 1918 in Vienna, Austria, to Josef Linhart and Marie (Reslova) Linhartova, she grew up in Sobeslav in the new Czechoslovak Republic. She planned to be a teacher. As a young woman in Prague during World War II, she was active in resistance to the Nazi occupation of Czechoslovakia. After the war she became executive secretary to the director of the Social Democratic Party. Forced to flee Czechoslovakia following the Communist coup in 1948, she immigrated to England.

In London she married Vaclav Majer, former Social Democratic Minister in the post-war Czechoslovak governments of Jan Masaryk and Eduard Benes. Formally stateless, in 1951 she and her husband found asylum in the United States. They were active in Czechoslovak exile organizations working to return Czechoslovakia to democratic government.

They lived in the 13 Court of Hillside Road from 1958 to 1968. Mrs. Majer was employed as a bookkeeper for Greenbelt Consumer Services from 1958 to 1983 and later for Scan International, grocery and furniture co-operatives.

In her retirement years she lived with her daughters, Jana in Scarborough, Me. and Ledyard, Conn., and Irma S. in Ann Arbor.

Her family remembers her as a loving person who met the great challenges of her life with courage, strength and wisdom.

Her husband preceded her in death. She is survived by her son, Vaclav Majer, and grandson, Jan, of Annapolis; daughter, Irma S. Majer, son-in-law, John Godfrey, and grandchildren, Pavel and Johana Godfrey of Ann Arbor; daughter, Jana Majer Newman, son-in-law, George Newman, and granddaughter, Dana Newman, of Wellington, Fla.; nephew Rudolf Linhart of Benesov u Prahy, Czech Republic; and grandniece, Stana Kralova, of Slany, Czech Republic.

She will be inurned at the Masaryk Mausoleum of the Bohemian National Cemetery in Chicago.

The family requests that memorials be sent to a charity of one's choice.

Greenbelters were saddened to hear of the death of former Greenbelter Irma Majer, who lived at 13 Court Hillside Road. Mrs. Majer had worked for Greenbelt Consumer Services.

Our sympathy to Karen Haseley, supervisor of the city's Therapeutic Recreation program, on the death of her father, Edward Haseley.

Condolences to Lynne Tucker of Pinecrest Court upon the death of her father, Donald Noel Tucker, a Lakecrest Drive resident.

Kudos to Greenbelt resident Tessa Hauptman, who is a cast member in "42nd Street" being presented March 15 to 23 at Gonzaga Theatre. Tessa is a senior at Elizabeth Seton High School.

Mayor Judith Davis received national publicity by making a cameo appearance on the NBC Today Show on March 2. Former Greenbelter Deanne Lange wrote from Clearwater, Fla., "Saw J Davis on TV this morning. She was . . . standing outside the theater when I heard them announce, 'This is the mayor of Greenbelt . . .' What a surprise!"

Besides being seen by many Greenbelters, Davis reports being seen by her sister in Egypt and by a friend on a ski trip in Canada.

A Beautiful Mind Brings Bumper Crowd to Theatre

by Jacqueline Miller Byrd

Moviegoers by the hundreds came to see "A Beautiful Mind" on Saturday and Sunday, March 9 and 10, at P & G's Old Greenbelt Theatre in Roosevelt Center.

Many waiting in line reminisced about watching the film's now famous director, Ron Howard, as little Opie Taylor in television's The Andy Griffith Show. A Beautiful Mind received eight Academy Award Nominations, including Best Director, Best Picture, Best Actor, Best Actress and Best Screenplay. Story characters and intense thematic scenes fascinated moviegoers for 135 minutes of vivid cinematography and Dolby Surround Sound.

Oscar winner Russell Crowe is brilliant in his role as Dr. John Nash, the mathematical genius who struggles with paranoid schizophrenia, lives an unusually challenging life and ultimately wins a Nobel Peace Prize. Co-star Jennifer Connelly plays Alicia, Nash's strikingly beautiful, brilliant and compassionate wife and mother to their one son. The witty "Mind" characters intrigued moviegoers with real or un-real portrayals. Agent William Parcher (Ed Harris) convincingly engages Dr. Nash in Cold War code cracking.

"A Beautiful Mind" lives up to the pre-Oscar buzz. The emotional screenplay of this fictionalized version of Nash's biography certainly kept the audience's attention. Some watched quietly as others made slight gasping sounds in response to the many evolutions of Dr. Nash. Ticket holders wiped away tears in between scenes as they leaned forward and back in comfortable chairs to feel the emotional depth of his life story.

The ambience of the Old Greenbelt Theatre's big-screened, 300-seat capacity house plays well to the "Mind" moviegoer. Freshly-popped popcorn, soda-fountain drinks, and candy concessions are available at prices below the multi-plex theaters around the Beltway. The manager and staffers extended an old-fashioned welcome with courtesousness and professionalism. They will do a great job preparing for moviegoers throughout the March 21 run-date.

Classic Saturday Matinees, sponsored by the Prince Georges County Library System and the Old Greenbelt Theatre are coming in April.

Drought Watch Alert Issued by COG

The Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments (COG) has announced that the Washington metropolitan region remains under the drought "watch" condition issued February 20.

The "watch" level is the first notification stage of the region's water supply and drought plan, triggered by at least moderate drought conditions in the Potomac River basin. The drought "watch" applies to the entire region, including the ninety-five percent of the Washington area obtaining water from the Potomac River system. The Potomac River system consists of the free-flowing Potomac River above Chain Bridge, the Occoquan Reservoir, and the Patuxent River reservoirs, further supplemented during extreme low flow by the Jennings Randolph and Little Seneca reservoirs.

While the recent rain is welcomed, it will take considerably more rain to bring the water tables back to normal levels.

Gateway Signs

There was universal support from the council and boardmembers to complete the project to install signs to uniquely identify the Greenbelt community. Signs would be placed at Crescent and Kenilworth, Southway and Hanover Parkway at Good Luck Road. The signs have been designed and the City is looking for a fabricator to construct and install them. McLaughlin said that there was a good chance that some grant funding would come through for the project, but if not, there would be time to add $10,000 to next year's budget. Others discussed the signs for various organizations and hoped that they would be grouped and organized in some fashion. In response to a question from GHI Board Member Sylvia Lewis, McLaughlin replied that the signs would keep their distinctive look and color but would be of uniform size.

Code Violations

The board and council agreed that there needs to be close coordination in inspecting homes and issuing violations where necessary. Gretchen Overdurff, GHI general manager, explained that sometimes GHI gets a notice from the city and sometimes it goes directly to the occupant. She said that there had been some inconsistencies but that GHI and City staff were trying to work together on the same goal: encouraging residents to fix whatever the problem is. Since GHI is the owner, it is appropriate that GHI be notified along with the occupant; everyone felt that this was essential to get a timely resolution of the problem. Several mentioned that GHI worked very patiently with the member to remedy a problem, sometimes too patiently someone noted, and that, consistent action on the part of the city and GHI might emphasize the serious nature of a violation and encourage faster action.

Playground Agreement

An agreement between the city and GHI governs the maintenance of the playgrounds located within GHI. It is being reviewed and revisions may be recommended. A first draft of a plan which would cover other areas of the city has been drafted and should be completed this month, McLaughlin said. Drought and squirrels appear to be the culprits in some of the deterioration of the condition of the grounds in the playgrounds as well as local parks, according to Davis.

Assistance Program

Julia Eichhorst, president of the GHI board, told council how well the new assistance-in-living program has been working to date. She also thanked David Moran, Assistant to the City Manager, for his assistance with the program. She said that GHI planned to enlist the aid of volunteers to seek additional grant funding.

Car Sharing

Sylvia Lewis described the Volkswagen Beetle, available under the car sharing program, as a "cute car." The program has two cars, a Beetle and a Jetta, for use by those participating in the program. One car will be located on Ridge Road near Green Ridge House and the other at the Municipal Building. The program is ready to go, McLaughlin announced, and the next steps is to hold an orientation and begin the marketing program to acquaint potential users of the program.

Joint Hearing Scheduled On County General Plan

The Prince George's County Council and the Prince George's County Planning Board of The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission (M-NCPPC) will hold a joint public hearing on the Preliminary General Plan for Prince George's County.

The public hearing will take place at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 26 in the first floor council hearing room at the County Administration Building in Upper Marlboro. Project staff will be available to answer questions in the hearing room lobby, beginning at 6 p.m.

The Preliminary General Plan provides broad guidance for the future growth and development of Prince George's County. It emphasizes mixed use, pedestrian-oriented development around 25 designated centers, most of which are served by rail transit, either Metrorail or MARC lines. Other designated centers can be served by bus feeder routes or future extensions of rail systems. The plan also recognizes different goals and policies for three different parts of the county: Developed, Developing and Rural Tiers. The plan will provide guidance to future, more detailed area and sector plans. The plan also recommends that two functional plans be prepared: a Master Plan of Transportation for roads, transit and trails, and a Green Infrastructure Plan which will identify environmental features that should be protected as the county develops. The plan establishes long-range policies for public facilities, economic development, housing, urban design and historic preservation. Finally, the plan outlines implementation steps that emphasize intergovernmental cooperation, preparation of future plans, regulatory revisions and a regular review of county development in relation to its objectives.

The March 26 joint public hearing is a final step in a formal process aimed at amending the General Plan, the overall planning framework that guides future growth and development policies in Prince George's County. The joint hearing is the last in a series of public forums, town meetings and special dialogues on the General Plan that have been held throughout the County since last fall. The final amended General Plan is expected to be approved by the County Council in July 2002.

Individuals who wish to speak at the March 26 public hearing should contact the M-NCPPC Public Affairs Office at 301-952-4584, TTY, 301-952-3796, to register in advance. Written comments will be accepted until April 5, and should be addressed to Elizabeth M. Hewlett, Chairman, Prince George's County Planning Board, 14741 Governor Oden Bowie Drive, Upper Marlboro, Maryland 20772.

Copies of the General Plan are available at no charge at Greenbelt Library. Information about the General Plan amendment process may be obtained at www.mncppc.org or from the M-NCPPC Countywide Planning Division at 301-952-3680, TTY 301-952-3796.

NAMI to Hold Workshop

The Prince George's County office of the National Association of the Mentally Ill (NAMI) will hold a free workshop on services provided by the crisis response system. The workshop will be held at the NAMI office at Landover Mall on Thursday, March 21 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The speaker will be Barbara Heller, director of the Prince George's crisis response system.

For information, call Jane Kelley at 301-577-6026.

OFFICIAL NOTICE Resolutions to Revise the City Charter Related to Employee Appeals and Grievances

At its February 25, 2002, regular meeting, the City Council adopted two resolutions to amend the City Charter. As required by state law, these resolutions will be posted in their entirety for forty (40) days, until April 6, 2002, at the Municipal Building. They can also be found on the City's Web site at <http://www.ci.greenbelt.md.us>. Copies may also be requested from the City Clerk. The charter amendment resolutions will become effective on April 16, 2002, unless a proper petition to submit the amendment(s) to the voters on a referendum is filed by April 6, as permitted by law. This notice is to provide a fair summary of both resolutions.

At its February 11, 2002, regular meeting, Council introduced for first reading an ordinance to revise the process described in Article VI, Chapt. 13, of the City Code for appeals and grievances by employees of the City of Greenbelt. This ordinance will be considered for adoption at the meeting of April 22, 2002, following the effective date of the charter resolutions. The draft ordinance is posted at the Municipal Building and on the City's Web site. Copies may also be requested from the City Clerk.

Charter Amendment Resolution No. 2002-3

A Resolution of the City of Greenbelt, Adopted Pursuant to the Authority of Article XI-E of the Constitution of Maryland and Section 13 of Article 23a of the Annotated Code of Maryland, (2001 Replacement Volume as Amended), Title, "Corporations-Municipal," Subtitle "Charter Amendments," to Amend the Charter of the City of Greenbelt Found, in Whole or in Part, in the Compilation of Municipal Charters of Maryland (1983 Edition as Amended), as Prepared by the Department of Legislative Reference Pursuant to Chapter 77 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1983, by Repealing and Re-enacting with Amendments Employee Relations Board Section 12(d), Titled "Powers"

Charter Amendment Resolution No. 2002-4

A Resolution of the City of Greenbelt, Adopted Pursuant to the Authority of Article XI-E of the Constitution of Maryland and Section 13 of Article 23a of the Annotated Code of Maryland, (2001 Replacement Volume as Amended), Title, "Corporations-Municipal," Subtitle "Charter Amendments," to Amend the Charter of the City of Greenbelt Found, in Whole or in Part, in the Compilation of Municipal Charters of Maryland (1983 Edition as Amended), as Prepared by the Department of Legislative Reference Pursuant to Chapter 77 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1983, by Repealing and Re-enacting with Amendments Section 36, Related to the City Manager, Titled "Same-Powers"

The charter resolutions are necessary to amend the Charter to be consistent with the amendment proposed by ordinance to the City Code. The primary purpose of the two above-titled resolutions is to clarify the distinctions between appeals and grievances and to clearly establish that appeals are only for cases of dismissal, suspension or demotion.
