Greenbelt Organizes Bang-up July 4 Bash: Drums, Concert and Fireworks

The City of Greenbelt will hold special Independence Day commemorations for all ages on Thursday, July 4 at Buddy Attick Lake Park. Everyone is welcome to spend the day at the park with family and friends and enjoy the fireworks display, slated for dusk.

For this year's firework festivities, the City of Greenbelt is using ACE Pyro LLC at a cost of $12,000. The city typically allots $10,000 to purchase fireworks but Public Works employees have traditionally set off the displays, incurring overtime labor costs. ACE Pyro's proposal includes labor costs and permit fees along with the standard number of fireworks, which will significantly reduce the overall cost.

The display will begin at dark (about 9 p.m.) and last 20 to 30 minutes. Those planning to watch at the park are advised to come early to claim a viewing spot and enjoy a variety of free programs and activities during the afternoon and evening, including using the playground or walking around the park's 1.25-mile wooded trail. Refreshments will be sold by Greenbelt's Babe Ruth Baseball, which will offer a variety of summer outdoor food for sale.

Drum Circle

There will be a drum circle for all ages at the bandstand from 5:30 to 6:45 p.m. People are invited to bring a percussion instrument of their own or use one provided, to join in celebrating freedom and the interweaving of individual rhythms in this community drum circle. It will be facilitated again this year by Katy Gaughan, a certified drum circle facilitator, a member of the Rhythm Workers Union, who also drums in the bands Firewheel and Djesben.

Concert

The Greenbelt Concert Band will take the bandstand from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. for a rousing performance of patriotic selections.

Participants are reminded to observe all posted parking regulations and to cooperate with the Greenbelt Police Department, which will staff the events at the park. For everyone's safety, attendees may not bring fireworks (including sparklers) or alcohol into the park. All are asked to recycle using containers available in the park or by taking recyclables home with them.

Buddy Attick Park is on Crescent Road near Kenilworth Avenue. In case of inclement weather call the Greenbelt Recreation Department Weather and Information Hotline at 301-474-0646 for schedule adjustments.

Police Guidelines

The Greenbelt Police Department issues guidelines to ensure safety during the holiday celebration. A tent with Police Department employees will be set up in the grassy area by the main parking lot to provide first aid and to help with lost and missing children.

No Alcohol/Fireworks

Do not bring alcoholic beverages to the park. Alcohol is strictly prohibited in all city-owned parks and violators will be subject to arrest.

All pets must be on a leash, although it is strongly recommended that pets be left at home. In the past, dogs, frightened by the fireworks, have panicked, bitten people and even run away.

The guidelines note that fireworks are deadly, dangerous and illegal. All forms, including firecrackers, snakes, sparklers and bottle rockets are prohibited by law in Greenbelt and throughout Prince George's County. Those found in possession of fireworks will be subject to arrest with penalties including fines up to $1,000 and/or six months in jail.

For safety and security reasons, people carrying coolers and packages into the park may be

Council Closes Out Year 2013, Suggests Projects

by Barbara Hopkins

As usual at this time of year, at the June 17 meeting the Greenbelt City Council introduced and passed ordinances to close the fiscal year with a balanced budget. Later council approved replacing the gym floor in the Youth Center and discussed Program Open Space and legislative action requests for the Maryland Municipal League.

Playground Petition

Early in the meeting Thea Scarato addressed council to say she had 50 signatures on a petition to finish the new playground at Hillside and Laurel Hill roads using wood chips instead of recycled tires. She requested action as well on standing water there, which she said is harboring mosquito larvae. She said parents want the playground reopened soon.

Mayor Judith Davis, however, reminded her that the playground there had not yet been officially opened, so it could not be considered closed for repairs. City Manager Michael McLaughlin told Scarato that Public Works had been scheduled to be there the next day to address the water issue.

Budget Adjustments

Two ordinances on budget adjustments were introduced at the meeting for first reading, the rules suspended and the ordinances read a second time and adopted. In one ordinance $450,000 was added to the General Fund.

In the other, $100,000 was added to the Replacement Fund to cover the cost of the street sweeper Greenbelt had purchased for the Four Cities Coalition. Later, the three other cities contributed a total of 75 percent of the cost and this amount needed to be added to the Replacement Fund to cover the cost of the sweeper.

New Gym Floor

Council approved the purchase of new flooring for the Youth Center gym from Miller Flooring for $62,178. This amount also includes installation of a ventilation system and the refinishing of existing wood benches. Another vendor had proposed replacing the gym floor only at a cost of $61,740.

The purchase price from Miller is based on a contract they have with Keystone Purchasing Network (KPN), which develops cooperative purchasing opportunities. The city joined KPN last February at no cost.

Councilmember Rodney Roberts asked that the contract be amended so that the old wood is not thrown away but rather

Van Schoonhoven Plaque Unveiled on School Lawn

by Dea Zugby

On Saturday, June 15 a plaque was unveiled on the front lawn of Greenbelt Elementary School to honor the memory of Dr. John Van Schoonhoven, who was the principal of Greenbelt Center School from 1975 to 1992.

In April 1992, a Japanese dogwood tree was planted to commemorate Dr. Van's 17 years as principal of Center School during the groundbreaking ceremony at the old North End School where the new Greenbelt Elementary School would be built.

For whatever reason a commemorative plaque was overlooked. The effort to correct this oversight was spearheaded by Mary Ann Baker, who lives near the school. Baker had attended the groundbreaking ceremony

GIVES Volunteers Embody The Spirit of Giving Back

by Jim Link

"GIVES" . . . one delicate syllable, a minuscule exhalation, a gentle plosive – an acronym which, pronounced, unfolds a huge mouthful – Greenbelt Intergenerational Volunteer Exchange Service.

GIVES is a volunteer organization comprised of Greenbelters willing to perform various tasks to help each other in times of need. Since 1995 its members have given and received assistance like local transportation, meal preparation, shopping errands, light housework, yard work – even friendly visitations.

"We really want to see people stay in their homes and remain independent with the help we give," says Jean Cook, president of GIVES. "Our help empowers the receiver and enriches the giver, I am convinced."

But a new concern is pressing slightly on GIVES volunteers. More and more, it seems, those who assist are as elderly as those who receive assistance. Instead of younger members shouldering most of the work, it seems as if "the hale elderly are caring for the frail elderly," as Barbara Rondeau, longtime volunteer, nicely puts it. "We need fresh blood."

"It would be good to see more people able to provide service as well as receive service; we would welcome young newcomers but we don't intend to step down," Cook smiled.

GIVES has 211 members who give and/or get help. Some 30 or 40 seniors get service on a regular basis, according to Cook.

Few Expenses

Since GIVES is a volunteer organization, "we don't have many expenses," Cook said. "We are under the financial umbrella of the city; it gives us a small space in the senior lounge of the Greenbelt Community Center and a phone. There are no salaries, of course," Cook explained.

Cook is grateful to Christal Batey, president of GAIL (Greenbelt Assistance In Living), another volunteer organization, for writing a grant which brought funding to GIVES as well as to GAIL. "We got a new transport

Kudos to Greenbelt For GIVES, GAIL

GIVES, the all-volunteer, no-fee service, has been good to me. I am wholeheartedly looking forward to giving back.

Six months ago, as I was waiting for Dorry, my partner, to come home after her ankle surgery, I frantically googled to find local support for whatever I might need when she came home. I didn't know what it would be, but as caregiver, I knew I could not do it alone, without support of some kind. Even though we had lived in Greenbelt for 20 years, I had never heard of GIVES or GAIL.

I approached the GIVES "office" and signed up as a member, explaining that I was "in need" (of what to be determined) and couldn't reciprocate for awhile. That was fine I was told. Over the next few months I managed fairly well – appreciated the two appointments with the social worker at GAIL – but there came a time when I needed a ride to a routine colonoscopy.

GIVES hooked me up with a wonderful member who brought me there and later in the day brought me home. Imagine, a total stranger! I called on GIVES again to help get Dorry's wheelchair in and out of my car so she could go with me to the Kale Festival. As it turns out, the GIVES member lives in my court, had planned to go to the festival and, fortunately, was able to do the heavy lifting. I had a great time, thanks to GIVES.

Now that Dorry's out of her cast and has started physical therapy, I can imagine, in the not too distant future, having more time to do things and one of them is to give back.

Thanks, GIVES, for your help and support when I needed it. Looking forward to giving back!

Thanks also to the City of Greenbelt for their support of GIVES and GAIL.

Co-ops Are Not Charities

Co-ops are businesses, not charities. We should endeavor to pay salaries to the people who put in time and work for the co-op. The cashiers at the Greenbelt Co-op Supermarket are all paid. The cashiers at the cooperative café bar should be paid. (The minimum wage for bar workers and others who work for tips is under $4 per hour in Maryland.) When I suggested this at the general meeting, there was strong applause.

It is weird for a co-op not to pay its cashiers. Five years ago, the New Deal Café was in big debt; doing weird things was crucial for survival. That was five years ago. Now both the bar and the food service appear to be successful. We should be able to pay $4 per hour to the cashiers at the bar.

We should also be able to pay $4 per hour to the musicians. It would be a modest and appropriate addition to tips. Some of the bands receive modest amounts in tips; others receive little. It is the bands that bring in many customers both for drinks and for food.

Sound men operate the sound equipment for the music. They should be paid for their work. The organizer for the monthly art exhibit on the walls should be paid for her work. Co-ops are not charities. The organizer for the monthly art exhibit and the sound men should not be treated as philanthropists.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Fair Labor Standards Act 75 years ago this week. Roosevelt offered a simple framework, both moral and patriotic. "A self-supporting and self-respecting democracy can plead no justification for the existence of child labor, no economic reason for chiseling workers' wages or stretching workers' hours."

This should hold double for co-ops. Pay all workers.

Hopefully, these issues will be discussed at a special membership meeting

On Screen

These Magicians Dig Deep

Opening at Old Greenbelt Theatre on Friday, June 28 is "Now You See Me," wherein a quartet of big-time illusionists seek to reward their audience with far more than evanescent action. An FBI agent and Interpol detective track these self-dubbed Four Horsemen as the pivotal scene shifts swiftly from a Las Vegas stage to a Paris bank and back. Leading roles are played by Jesse Eisenberg, Mark Ruffalo, Woody Harrelson, Isla Fisher and Morgan Freeman. Director Louis Leterrier strives to put a fierce focus on the hocus-pocus.

Running time: 116 minutes. PG-13, for strong language, action and sexual content.

John Lee Performs At New Deal Café

Next Friday, July 5 from 8 to 11 p.m., Washington, D.C. area guitarist-composer John Lee will perform at the New Deal Café.

In Philadelphia, Lee's old band Caveman was a mainstay of experimental rock circles in that city through the first decade of the 2000s. He has now established himself as an area jazz and blues-scene guitarist. He has toured worldwide with percussionists Cyro Baptista and Baye Kouyanté with a style ranging from Dick Dale surf tremolo to Jimi Hendrix, while keeping an ear to West African approaches to melody and harmony.

For more information or to stream Lee's music, go to www.chineseirishman.com.

Star Party Is Planned At City Observatory

Weather permitting, on Saturday, June 29 the Astronomical Society of Greenbelt (ASG) will sponsor a star party at the City of Greenbelt Observatory at Northway Fields. In addition to the observatory telescope, several members will set up their personal telescopes and binoculars for the enjoyment of all.

Observing will begin as soon as it is dark, probably around 9:30 p.m., although telescopes may be set up earlier. In addition to the planet Saturn and its spectacular rings, objects to be observed include several star clusters and nebulae.

The star party will be canceled without notice if it is hopelessly cloudy. Attendees are asked to park in the ball field lot, not up on the hill unless bringing a telescope. All are welcome. There is no admission charge.

Toastmasters to Meet Next on Wed., July 3

The next meeting of the Greenbelt Toastmasters will be on Wednesday, July 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Toastmasters Club in the Social Hall of Greenbelt Community Church at Hillside and Crescent Roads. The Social Hall is at the rear of the church on the lower level of the main building.

Toastmasters offers professionals, students, stay-at-home parents and retirees a supportive environment to improve skills in communication and leadership. Members learn to lose the fear of public speaking, become better listeners and build skills for success.

Visitors are welcome at Toastmasters meetings, which are held every two weeks. ## Arab-Jewish Equality, Bedouin Women

On Friday, June 28 at 8 p.m. at Mishkan Torah's evening Shabbat service, Amal Elsana Alh'jooj, director of North American Relations for the Arab Jewish Center for Equality, Empowerment and Cooperation and the Negev Institute for Strategies of Peace and Development will speak on Bedouin Women's Rights and Arab-Jewish Equality in Israel. The program is followed by refreshments and fellowship. Mishkan Torah is at 10 Ridge Road. People of all faiths are welcome.

FONDCA Call for Art For October Tour

Before artists and craftspeople go away or into summer mode, the Friends of the New Deal Café (FONDCA) is issuing a call for applications for the second Greenbelt artists' studio tour in early October.

The first tour, on a Sunday in April 2012, was a success with the 13 exhibiting artists and the public and will be repeated with a second, longer two-day tour planned for 2 to 5 p.m. the weekend of October 5 and 6.

Artists or craftspeople at least 18 years old with a studio in Greenbelt are invited to participate, whether they live here or not. They may participate one or both days and will be asked to contribute one piece of art for display at the Café from September 9 through October.

For more information email Julia Wade, art show coordinator, at newdealcafeart@yahoo.com or visit www.newdealcafe.com.

recycled through a salvaging business.

The new flooring will be AACER maple wood flooring. Assistant Director of Recreation Joe McNeal said the plan is to have the work done in the fall. He said pieces of the old floor might be offered for sale as souvenirs.

Program Open Space

Greenbelt will receive $125,987 in Program Open Space (POS) funds from the county in Fiscal Year 2014. This brings the city's balance of unencumbered funds to $385,235. It has already designated projects for another $826,096 in previously acquired funds.

Staff has proposed three development projects, including Youth Center gym improvements; facility upgrades, such as for the HVAC system to the Community Center; and improvements to the Aquatic and Fitness Center, such as adding a sliding board, considering a splash pool and installing a new roof on the indoor pool. To provide sufficient funding for these projects, staff also proposed transferring some funds from the Springhill Lake Recreation Center Renovation and Expansion and the Buddy Attick Park Master Plan Improvement projects, both on hold at this time.

Roberts objected to shifting funds away from these projects, especially that for Springhill Lake. He also expressed concern about the increased destruction to the state's forests and wetlands, which he said were being destroyed "like never before."

He said years ago the state spent POS money on real open space but that now it is usually spent on construction projects, which he opposes. He said the city is supporting the state's policy by indulging it and that money for the suggested projects should come from city revenue, not POS funds. Councilmember Ed Putens reminded Roberts that the city has used POS funds to acquire land for the city. He thought taking care of recreational facilities now is a good use of the funds. Councilmember Leta Mach noted that the state likes construction projects because they create jobs.

McLaughlin explained that the city could ask for reprogramming of encumbered funds so they could be used for land acquisition, should an opportunity arise.

The county requires that FY14 money be split evenly between acquisition and development projects and the city staff has also suggested one generally stated acquisition project.

When the mayor called for a vote, Roberts was the only one to vote against the motion to approve the staff recommendations.

MML Requests

Council discussed items of statewide interest to submit for action by the Maryland Municipal League (MML) in 2014. Staff thought limiting the number of submissions to two would bring a better chance of having MML's Legislative Committee select them. Ideas included renewing a fund to support installation of electric charging stations, support for other alternative fuels and alternative revenue sources such as an internet sales tax.

After some discussion, Mach made a motion to submit solar energy incentives and to renew the fund to support electric charging stations, which could be tied to tourism, she said, to make it more appealing to state officials. The motion carried with a unanimous vote.

asked to have contents of their packages inspected.

Greenbelters who can should plan to walk to the lake. Bring coolers with wheels, use wagons to make hauling picnics, chairs, blankets to the festivities easier. Joining the throng as it grows the closer one gets to the lake is a delightful experience.

Restricted Parking

The parking lot at the lake is reserved primarily for handicapped and elderly individuals. Vehicles must have handicapped or elderly persons on board. Handicapped tags and/or placards will not necessarily be required nor will they guarantee a parking space.

Temporary "No Parking" signs will be posted on streets surrounding the park. Vehicles parked in these areas will be towed.

Because of ongoing construction and loose soil, motorists should not plan to park alongside Kenilworth Avenue to watch the fireworks. Those parking adjacent to Kenilworth should make sure the car is completely off the roadway or risk being required to move. The roadway must remain clear for passage of emergency vehicles.

Traffic Regulations

When the fireworks are over, exiting traffic will be redirected outbound on Crescent Road toward Kenilworth Avenue. Traffic from Kenilworth Avenue will not be allowed onto Crescent Road until most cars have left the area.

Motorists exiting the Beltway will not be allowed to proceed north on Kenilworth Avenue. I-95 traffic will be directed onto southbound Kenilworth Avenue. Motorists heading for the Old Greenbelt area can take Greenbelt Road.

If the fireworks begin on time and no problems develop, these temporary changes in traffic patterns should last no longer than from about 9:45 to 10:30 p.m.

For safety reasons registered boaters on the lake will need to remain behind the temporary buoys that will be in place. Boats not registered with the city will not be allowed on the lake.

Calls for Information

Residents are asked not to call the police dispatcher to inquire "What time are the fireworks?" or the effect any inclement weather might have. Police telephone lines must be kept open for those with emergencies or for other police-related concerns.

Those needing additional information for any recreational event should call the Greenbelt Recreation Department at 301-474-0646.

and the planting of the tree to commemorate Dr. Van's leadership at Center School. Ironically, she had never met Dr. Van even though he was at the groundbreaking and tree-planting ceremony. Of course she knew of him and admired him. Dr. Van died last year in Oregon where he had retired in 1992.

Baker and Councilmember Leta Mach wrote a letter to the News Review to solicit funding for the plaque. More than enough was raised to cover the cost for the plaque (the surplus is being donated to Greenbelt Elementary School PTA).

On a beautiful afternoon with clear blue sky under the Japanese dogwood tree the plaque was unveiled with these words:

In memory of
Dr. John Van Schoonhoven
A gifted and caring educator
Principal of Greenbelt
Center Elementary School
From 1975 to 1992

The unveiling ceremony was followed by a reception attended by many of Dr. Van's colleagues, friends and neighbors. Mayor Judith Davis, Councilmembers Mach, Emmett Jordan and Konrad Herling paid tribute to Dr. Van at the unveiling.

chair – light, portable, it folds up," Cook beamed.

Cook has a regular client, a woman with arthritis whose laundry she picks up, does and returns. Another temporary client is a gentleman with a broken leg. "Tonight I'll clean his apartment; when he gets his cast off, he won't need me," she said.

"I'm going to receive my first service, too, soon! I know a woman who is getting her PhD in horticulture or ecology – and she is going to teach me how to garden ecologically. She's the kind of person who doesn't 'plant grass' – she 'creates a meadow,'" Cook laughed.

Volunteer Spirit

Worried that "more and more newcomers to Greenbelt are not getting the Greenbelt spirit of volunteering," Cook is convinced that "GIVES is what Greenbelt stands for." She remembers vividly the night she and her family "learned what Greenbelt is about."

In January of 1972, her home in Boxwood was gutted by fire. Jean, her husband Ed, their two sons Ed and Frank, scurried out in the middle of the night and took asylum across the street in the home of then-mayor Dick Pilski.

Call it what you want – being a good Samaritan, being a mensch, learning what Greenbelt is about – "call the GIVES office at 301-507-6580 and join up," advises Cook.

Dan Hamlin's Vietnam Talk Saturday to Focus on Peace

In March former Community Church pastor Dan Hamlin journeyed to Vietnam with a few Vietnam veterans and anti-war activists to learn from that war-torn country various ways for reconciliation, healing and peace. As part of Greenbelt's Peace Month commemorations,

Dan Hamlin

Hamlin will show slides and tell stories as he seeks answers to the question of how Vietnam is doing now. The program will take place on Saturday, June 29 from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room at the Greenbelt Community Center.

How can the Vietnamese set aside old hostilities and embrace former enemies if Americans can still debate the long-ago Civil War? Hamlin's trip was sponsored by a group called Core Viet Nam. The trauma generated by the Vietnam war exacted a toll on families, communities and the entire population. Wherever the group traveled, however, the Vietnamese welcomed them warmly, showing virtually no bitterness or resentment.

Core Vietnam attempts to intervene in the trauma of the late war through small guided tours, believing it important for veterans and civilians to travel together in acknowledgement that wars are waged by entire nations, not just by their soldiers. The group visited cultural and historic sites and battlefields from Ho Chi Minh City to Hanoi, meeting with many Vietnamese veterans.

Hamlin retired in June 2012 as pastor of Greenbelt Community Church, United Church of Christ after 28 years. Far from new to peace-making activities, he has been involved in such work since his arrival in Greenbelt through activities with The Greenbelt Interfaith Leadership Association, the Rumi Forum in DC and the Advisory Board of the Institute of Islamic and Turkish Studies in Fairfax, Va. (The latter two are Muslim organizations inspired by Fethullah Gülen.)

Hamlin is also a volunteer with Church World Service, an interdenominational relief and development agency, whose programs he visited in Kenya in 2010.

UM Grad Student Ennis Barbery To Collect Museum Oral Histories

This summer Ennis Barbery, a University of Maryland graduate student, will partner with the Greenbelt Museum to collect oral histories from Greenbelt residents. The oral histories will be archived at the Greenbelt Museum and Barbery will use them in the creation of content for the museum about Greenbelt's "cultural landscape."

Ennis Barbery will be collecting oral histories.

A "cultural landscape" includes not just the ecology and architectural structures of a place, but also covers how people choose to move through, use and change the spaces around them. The project focuses on how Greenbelt's landscape shapes residents' activities, how residents shape Greenbelt's landscape and how all this has changed as the community has evolved – from before Greenbelt existed, to its construction and history up to the present. She will want to know when participants moved to Greenbelt, why and which places in Greenbelt are most important to the participant.

Barbery is looking for people who would like to be included and have a Greenbelt address – Old Town, Greenbelt East and Greenbelt West. Those interested should email Barbery at ebarbery@umd.edu or call her at 304-920-2379. Since her time is limited to what is available this summer, Barbery may not be able to collect information from everyone interested. Oral histories will be arranged in a room at the Community Center, though other arrangements may be possible.

For those who cannot be accommodated or are away for Barbery's summer collection time, the museum plans to continue collecting oral histories in the future and will keep a list of those interested in sharing their stories for that purpose.

Applications Now Available For the Jim Cassels Award

by Leta Mach

For each of the past seven years, the Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative has given a check of $1,000 to an organization to carry out a project that will positively impact the lives of the people who live in Greenbelt. This year the recipient of the Jim Cassels Community Service Award will receive a check of $1,200.

Since its creation in 2006, the Jim Cassels Community Service Award has funded a variety of projects. The increased monetary award for 2014 will continue honoring the legacy of Jim Cassels, Greenbelt's Outstanding Citizen of 1978 and organizer of the Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative in 1984.

Organizations, cooperatives and local groups are encouraged to begin thinking of a project to implement next year that would benefit Greenbelt and then to apply for the $1,200 award by the October 15 deadline. Past awardees have undertaken a wide range of activities, all of them fitting tributes to the memory of Jim Cassels and his legacy of community involvement.

Recent Awardees

The Friends of Still Creek, the most recent Jim Cassels Community Service Awardee, developed an educational project in partnership with Greenbelt Elementary School. The multi-dimensional project included hands-on activities for the students to help educate them about the natural environment and their local watershed. Activities included a field trip to Indian Creek, planting and harvesting a vegetable garden at the school and encouraging recycling.

Last year the Chesapeake Education, Arts and Research Society (CHEARS) used its grant to purchase equipment to provide outdoor classrooms and raised handicapped gardening tables at the Three Sisters Demonstration Gardens project outside Greenbelt Community Center.

The 2010 Jim Cassels Community Service Award funded a Greenbelt Association for the Visual Arts/Greenbelt Access Television (GAVA/GATE) art and animation project, which later received grants as well from the county and the Greenbelt Community Foundation. In their project, young people ages 10 to 15 created an animated video that was screened as part of the city's 75th Anniversary celebration.

Friends of New Deal Café Arts (FONDCA) used its grant to fund the first year of the Eileen Peterson Youth Music Series, which offers young musicians from local schools the opportunity to perform in Roosevelt Center.

Tennis Lessons

The Greenbelt Tennis Association provided tennis lessons for young people with its grant. The Greenbelt Climate Action Network and the Beaverdam Watershed Watch Group used their grants for programs and equipment that encourage people to be environmentally responsible.

The recipient of the 2014 Jim Cassels Community Service award will be announced at the cooperative's annual meeting on November 3.

Application forms are available at the Co-op main office or online at http://fd2.formdesk.com/coop/cassels\_award. Applications should be returned to the cooperative's main office by October 15, 2013. ## Silver Diner Program Gives Back to Elementary Schools

by Amanda Salvucci

Wouldn't it alleviate some of the guilt about having dessert if part of the price of that double chocolate triple-layer cake would be donated to Springhill Lake Elementary or Greenbelt Elementary School? Sure it would!

Greenbelt's Silver Diner is giving back to local elementary schools through a rewards program for its diners.

Customers can sign up for a rewards card which they can link to a sponsored school of their choice. With the card, five percent of the check will be donated to the school.

The program, called Eat Well, Do Well, partners with several local schools and focuses on health and fitness education.

For the 2011-2012 school year, the program donated an average of $1,000 to each of the sponsored Greenbelt schools, said Joe Howell, the corporate director for the program.

Springhill Lake Elementary received $1,500 last year and $1,100 went to Greenbelt Elementary School, Howell said.

This school year's fundraiser ends at the end of June, so a figure has not yet been released.

Schools can use the money for health and fitness programs, such as for funding physical education equipment and pedometers, according to Howell.

The program has enrolled schools in Maryland, New Jersey and Virginia and has been around for 10 years. Howell said Silver Diner has raised $350,000 for schools since 2010.

The next fundraiser will be started in the fall. Schools can apply for grants for a bigger, more expensive project, such as money to help build a track.

Local schools can enroll for the program online.

Customers can get an Eat Well, Do Well rewards card by asking at the diner and can link it to their school online at silverdiner.com/eatwelldowell or by calling Silver Diner's customer service department at 866-561-0518.

Md. State Arts Council 2014 Artist's Awards

The Maryland State Arts Council is holding a state-wide competition for awards of $1,000 to $6,000 in seven of 18 total artistic disciplines being awarded in 2014. It is necessary for applying artists to attend a program on one of two remaining dates: Wednesday, July 10 and Saturday, July 13.

The webinars provide step-by-step instructions on how to submit a complete online IAA entry with the required materials. Registration is required; webinar details for submission will be emailed once registration is complete.

Each year, the award recognizes the value of artists and their work to the cultural vitality of Maryland through this Individual Artist Award (IAA) program. The Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation administers the state awards of $1,000, $3,000 or $6,000 to artists who apply and are selected by an out-of-state jury that reviews anonymous submissions on the basis of artistic merit.

The IAA program reviews three competition groups from a total of 18 artistic disciplines, awarding each in a yearly cycle once every three years. Artistic disciplines eligible for a 2014 IAA award include choreography, classical music composition, classical music solo performance, sculpture, solo dance performance and world music composition.

Next year's 2014 category awards winners will be announced by March 2014.
