City Requests Public Input On Buddy Attick Master Plan

by Stephanie Quinn

Representatives of Mahan Rykiel Associates and PROS Consulting ask community members to provide input about Buddy Attick Park via live smartphone polls.

The city welcomed public input to plan for the future of Buddy Attick Park in a community meeting at the Municipal Building last Thursday evening, ahead of the launch this week of an online public survey. The output of the process will be an updated master plan for the park.

“This will be a roadmap to help staff manage the park well into the future,” said Greenbelt Recreation Director Greg Varda in a phone conversation on Friday.

Community members filled the council chamber, calling for greater accessibility, protection of the park’s biodiversity and enhanced infrastructure for

Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Kicks Off Friday, September 1

This year’s Labor Day Festival features most of the Greenbelt favorites, from the Outstanding Citizen award to carnival rides, booths, Bingo and more. Come for the spectacle, the community, the fun and the food. Here are highlights of the Festival for the first two days.

Friday Happenings

The Festival opens Friday, September 1 at 6 p.m. with Bingo on the Community Center lawn, midway rides by Rosedale Attractions along with food, game and information booths. Opening ceremonies take place from 6:30 to 7:15 p.m., with a color guard and the 2023 Outstanding Citizen presentation. The Rockabilly Rebels, a four-piece group with two members who grew up in Greenbelt, perform live onstage from 8 to 11 p.m. Their show features music from the likes of Elvis Presley, Carl Perkins, Chuck Berry and Johnny Cash that will have the audience dancing.

This week’s issue of the News Review contains the Festival pull-out schedule, cunningly contrived as a handy booklet (with a bit of scissoring and folding). The pullout includes information on the food booths, which include Gyro Queen falafels, Good To Da Bone BBQ, funnel cakes from Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt Democratic Club, waffle bowl with ice cream from the Tea Zone and many others. Plan the weekend’s menus accordingly.

A class act is the Greenbelt Elementary PTA book sale. Despite longstanding rumors that print is dead, the book sale is a big draw for the Greenbelt bookworm. Head there early and often as new layers of books are added.

Friday evening also offers the

Prince George’s County Schools Will Open Monday, August 28

Prince George’s County Public Schools (PGCPS) has a back-to-school guide available online at pgcps.org/about-pgcps/back-to-school. What follows is a collation of available information relevant to Greenbelt families.

New Superintendent

Millard House II was appointed superintendent of PGCPS, effective July 1, by Prince George’s County Executive Angela Alsobrooks. (The position was recently renamed superintendent at the end of Monica Goldson’s tenure as CEO, as it was prior to 2013.) House comes to PGCPS from the Houston Independent School District, where he served the largest school district in Texas and the eighth largest in the country for two years.

Backpack Requirements

In a change from the previously announced requirement regarding clear backpacks, the policy will now only apply to ninth through 12th graders and students in Non-Traditional Program North, South and Middle.

At present, clear backpacks are optional for sixth through eighth graders. PGCPS will evaluate the policy for middle school grades at the end of the first semester and communicate any modifications prior to the end of winter break. Mesh alternatives are not allowed. The school system is working with community partners to assist high school students in need.

No Shots? No School.

Back-to-school immunization clinics are available to serve students in need of vaccines. Immunization clinics are designed to support students and families that are underinsured or uninsured. Between August 28 and Friday, September 8, visit

Stronger Summer Storms Highlight Grid Vulnerability

by Stephanie Quinn

Last summer’s storm took out hundreds of trees and several utility poles. This fire truck blocks Crescent Road at Hillside where a tree brought down live wires.

Tornado warnings on August 7 led to early closures of federal offices, the University of Maryland and other workplaces in the metro area. But it was a series of summer storms the weekend of July 28 and 29 that interrupted moviegoers, swimmers and the postal service in Greenbelt. Pepco posted on July 30 on the social media platform X that 70,000 of its customers in Maryland and Washington experienced outages.

Summer power outages cause inconvenience and can be life-threatening. But they also highlight the vulnerability to severe weather of the electricity grid and the systems it powers.

Cynthia Brown, aquatic coordinator at the Greenbelt Aquatic & Fitness Center, said the Friday evening storm on July 28 shut down the motor to the outdoor pool’s filtration system overnight. Staff could not open the pool to the public until 1 p.m. the next day, after all 190,843 gallons cycled through the system.

“If you think about it the pool’s filtration system, it’s like the human heart,” Brown said. “The human heart pumps the blood through the body system so that it can function properly. It goes through our kidneys and it cleans everything out.”

Greenbelt’s indoor and outdoor pools have separate filtration systems that regulate the levels

A Wish List

Greenbelt roads are maintained by the City of Greenbelt, Prince George's County, Maryland State or the National Park Service. Consider this wish list when funds are available.

1) Ridge Road @ Laurel Hill Road. Replace the current stop signs with red flashing lights attached to stop signs like those installed at Lastner Lane @ Ivy Lane. Greenbelt Elementary School is next to the intersection and increased pedestrian traffic safety at this intersection is needed.

2) Northbound (NB) Hanover Parkway @ Greenway Center Drive. Install a left turn green arrow and synchronize with the southbound Hanover Parkway @ Ora Glen Drive left turn light. This would improve traffic flow and safety.

3) Ora Glen Drive and Greenway Center Drive @ Hanover Parkway. Replace the shared green light of Ora Glen Drive and Greenway Center Drive with separate green lights. This would improve safety and the flow of traffic. Greenway Center Drive has numerous drivers turning left to go NB on Hanover Parkway.

4) Baltimore-Washington Parkway @ Greenbelt Road. Both access ramps from the Parkway need additional yield signs, roadway markings or even rumble strips added. Access ramp drivers regularly fail to yield to other drivers heading east on Greenbelt Road at Greenway Center, and access ramp drivers at westbound Greenbelt Road fail to yield to drivers turning at Southway.

5) NB Southway @ Ridge Road. The right turn lane requires drivers to turn right at Ridge Road. Many do not. Increase the solid white line that separates the straight and turn lanes to at least the site of the telephone pole. Install an additional Right Turn Only sign at 7 Southway. Paint an additional white right turn only roadway marker.

6) Enforce existing traffic laws relating to bicyclists. Bicyclists are required to follow the rules, the laws of the road.

Harsh Vegetation Management

Earlier this summer, 13 Court Hillside was suddenly besieged by a number of GHI workers who showed up to clear a fire lane between units T and U. The problem was the abrupt and confrontational manner our trees and shrubbery were cleared.

Math has its place, but to rely on it to reconfigure yard after yard into identical units simply doesn't add up as improvement. Our quality of life suffers when each yard is systematically cut back to clearly visible chain link fencing.

Must every leaf be cleared away and eliminated? Is it necessary to enforce this utilitarian assault, for looks? This stripped-down institutional approach reeks of austerity gone mad. Our garden town was envisioned with shady trees and walking paths, gardens, meadows and playgrounds – appeals from the living world, not from industrial conveyor belts in factories.

What's to become of the blue jays, cardinals, luna moths, the butterflies and bees? What's to become of their homes and food? Surely they and we deserve more than chainsaws and unannounced raids. Moving forward, we hope GHI will cooperate with us to manage our green spaces, instead of using a power-mad, top-down approach in contrast to GHI's neighborhood ideals.

Golda

Golda is a ticking-clock thriller set during the tense 19 days of the Yom Kippur War in 1973. Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir (Helen Mirren), faced with the potential of Israel's complete destruction, must navigate overwhelming odds, a skeptical cabinet and a complex relationship with U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger (Liev Schreiber), with millions of lives in the balance. Her tough leadership and compassion would ultimately decide the fate of her nation and leave her with a controversial legacy around the world.

Jules

The film follows Milton (Ben Kingsley), who lives a quiet life of routine in a small western Pennsylvania town, but finds his day upended when a UFO and its extraterrestrial passenger crash-land in his backyard. Before long, Milton develops a close relationship with the extraterrestrial he calls "Jules." Things become complicated when two neighbors (Harriet Sansom Harris and Jane Curtin) discover Jules and the government quickly closes in. What follows is a funny, wildly inventive ride as the three neighbors find meaning and connection later in life – thanks to this unlikely stranger.

The Apartment

Insurance worker C.C. Baxter (Jack Lemmon) lends his Upper West Side apartment to company bosses to use for extramarital affairs. When his manager Mr. Sheldrake (Fred MacMurray) begins using Baxter's apartment in exchange for promoting him, Baxter is disappointed to learn that Sheldrake's mistress is Fran Kubelik (Shirley MacLaine), the elevator girl at work whom Baxter is interested in himself. Soon Baxter must decide between the girl he loves and the advancement of his career.

Prince: Sign o' the Times

Highlights from Prince's 1987 European concert tour, including selections from the rock star's album of the same title. Says critic Dave Kehr of the Chicago Tribune, "The utopian rocker, whose manner and music promise a blissful, dreamy union of the races and the sexes, doesn't need a story line to communicate his meanings, which remain by pop standards unusually complex and considered."

Floppiest ears? Most cuddly? Most energetic? What makes your pet special? Bring your dog, cat, hamster, rabbit, snake or other pet to the Labor Day Festival's Children and Teen Pet Show on Saturday, September 2 at 9:30 a.m. on the Community Center lawn. Rain or shine. Sponsored by Girl Scout Troop 23007.

Labor Day Festival Seeks Art and Photos

Adults and children are invited to enter their artwork and photos in the Labor Day Festival Art Show and Photo Show. Visit greenbeltlaborday.com to see categories and other information. Drop-off is at the Community Center gym on Wednesday, August 30 from 5 to 8 p.m.

At the Festival, the art and photos can be viewed in the gym on Saturday and Sunday between 1 and 6 p.m., and on Monday from noon to 4 p.m. Winning artwork will have ribbons displayed, and visitors can vote for their community favorites on Saturday and Sunday.

Information Day Seeks Participants

Greenbelt Labor Day Festival's annual Information Day is a great opportunity for clubs, businesses or organizations to showcase the heart and soul of each group without the pressure of making sales. It's all about building connections, fostering community spirit and sharing stories. Engage with festivalgoers, make new friends and let enthusiasm shine.

Information Day is on Saturday, September 2 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Roosevelt Center. There is a $35 registration fee. The focus should be on community engagement – sales are not permitted. For more information and to apply, visit bit.ly/sept2infoday.

Participants Sought For Labor Day Parade

The annual Labor Day Festival Parade will take place on Monday, September 4 from 10 a.m. to noon. Community, school and other groups, local businesses, political incumbents and candidates are invited to submit a Parade registration form, obtainable from greenbeltlaborday.com. Register no later than Saturday, August 26. Create a float, put together a performance, show off an antique or otherwise unique vehicle, or simply march together displaying signs advertising your group. There will be prizes.

Greenbelt Police Host Giveaway

Greenbelt Police Department will be hosting another steering wheel lock giveaway for Hyundai and Kia owners, on Saturday, August 26 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Police Station, 550 Crescent Rd.. Proof of Greenbelt residency is required. Must bring ID/vehicle registration.

Register for Monthly Free Produce

Starting September 21, all recipients of the free produce distribution will need to have a card to participate. How can people get a card? Attend one of the events below to pick up a card: Tuesday, August 29, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Springhill Lake Recreation Center, 6101 Cherrywood Lane;

Wednesday, September 6, noon to 6 p.m. at the Community Center, 15 Crescent Road, Ground Floor East;

Thursday, September 7, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Community Center, 15 Crescent Road, Ground Floor East.

For questions or more information, email Katherine Farzin at kfarzin@greenbeltmd.gov.

Chess Club Meets

The Greenbelt Chess Club will meet on Monday, August 28 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the New Deal Café. The group meets on the second, third and fourth Mondays of each month.

This group is for all ages and skill levels. For more information, call Effie at 443-415-1053.

Golden Age Schedule Change

There will be no meeting on August 30 due to all of the set-up activities for the Labor Day Festival that will be taking place in the building and surrounding parking lots.

Remember that there will be a bake sale on Saturday morning, September 2 on the Co-op Supermarket ramp. Remember to bake and bring some goodies.

New Deal Café Hosts Sixth Jazz Festival

The 6th Annual Greenbelt Jazz Festival will syncopate the Roosevelt Center and New Deal Café on Saturday, August 26 from noon to 11 p.m. This year's performers include Not 2 Cool Jazz Trio from noon to 1 p.m., the New Orleans Express from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., Seth Kibel from 3 to 4 p.m., Brother Bill Quintet from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m., Susan Jones Quartet from 6 to 7 p.m., Jan Knutson from 7 to 8 p.m. and Vibe Collective from 8 to 11 p.m. A great day of music for all.

Astronomical Society Meets on August 31

The Astronomical Society of Greenbelt will meet on Thursday, August 31, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 114 of the Community Center and online through Zoom. Kevin A. Wilson will present an Intro to Amateur Spectroscopy. He will discuss the theory behind studying the spectra of stars, describe what can be learned from such a study and demonstrate how amateurs can explore this field on their own. The link to the Zoom session for the meeting will be made available before the meeting on the calendar page of the Astronomical Society's website at greenbeltastro.org.

Senior Nutrition Program Luncheon

The Senior Nutrition Food and Friendship program provides lunch for seniors Monday through Friday at the Community Center beginning at 11 a.m. Meals must be reserved one week ahead so that enough food is ordered. Call 301-397-2208 ext. 4215.

Two menu options, one vegetarian, will be offered for each luncheon. All meals, which provide at least one-third of Recommended Dietary Allowances for older adults, include margarine, coffee or tea and skim milk.

Retro Town Fair Returns September 3

Consider sharing your lovely items with the community through the annual Retro Town Fair, to be held on the Greenbelt Museum grounds on Sunday, September 3. All the traditional categories that have been so popular over these many years will be included.

Entries will be accepted on the morning of the Fair at the Greenbelt Museum, as in years past. Judges are excited to taste, touch and inspect many amazing entries this year. After the judging is finished and ribbons affixed to winners, the public is invited to come view the entries from 1 to 4 p.m. The historic Museum house will be open for quick free tours from 1 to 4, and Museum board members will welcome visitors into the future Education and Visitor Center at 10-A Crescent Road to share plans and updates. Further details and entry forms will be coming in late August.

In Memoriam

Dawn Marie Arnold Payne

by Dee Vaughn

I learned only a couple of months ago of Dawn Payne's death on December 23, 2021, from lung cancer. In honor of her upcoming birthday, I put together the obituary below (her family was unable to write one at the time) and offer some fond memories of our time together over the years.

Dawn Marie Arnold Payne

Dawn Arnold was born on August 23, 1960, and grew up in Greenbelt on Ridge Road near Centerway. She went to Mary Bethune Junior High School and attended Massanutten Military Academy for her first year of high school. She then transferred to Parkdale High School for 10th grade (1975-76) before being shuttled to a different school, the newly-built Eleanor Roosevelt High School (1976-77), where she graduated in the summer of 1977, ahead of our class. Dawn married Steve Payne in 1979 and gave birth to daughter Michelle in 1980 and son Daniel in 1983.

She was predeceased by her parents, Frances and Gerald Arnold; daughter Michelle Lynn Payne-Jean; and husband Steve Payne. Dawn is survived by her son Daniel Stephen; granddaughter Brianna Lilly; sister Laura Seilhamer; son-in-law Rodney Jean; and Sarah Coole-Kneale.

I met Dawn in junior high school. We were best friends for about a decade. Our paths diverged a bit when she married and began a family but we still visited and kept in touch through phone calls. Dawn had an infectious smile and an artistic sensibility. She was an easy conversationalist and we enjoyed meeting at the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival or sharing a pizza at Joe's.

Although we kept in touch only sporadically in the last 10 to 20 years, she was always just an email, a text or a phone call away, until she wasn't. Our last texts were on her birthday in 2021. Had I reached out to her in 2022, I would have found out sooner that she had died.

I miss her. She was a good friend and I will always remember her wonderful smile and laugh.

Memorial Service For Past Residents

A brief service will be held on Saturday, September 2 at 6 p.m. near the grassy area behind the Mother and Child Statue by the Greenbelt Interfaith Leadership Association to commemorate Greenbelt residents who died from September 1, 2022 to August 15, 2023. Bring a chair or blanket to sit on.

Our thoughts and best wishes for a smooth recovery are with Kathleen Gallagher of 6 Court Ridge Road, a longtime News Review reporter, who is currently receiving inpatient rehabilitation at Hillhaven Nursing & Rehabilitation Center on Powder Mill Road, Adelphi, as she recovers from breaking her hip.

Sorry to learn of the death of Dawn Marie Arnold Payne who died on December 23, 2021.

Enduring Change
with Worship Associate Jacqui Walpole

"The only lasting truth is change," wrote the prophet Octavia Butler thirty years ago. We might offer additional lasting truths, but these days the unceasing change in our world and our lives often seems to be both increasingly obvious and harder to bear. What does it mean to be Unitarian Universalists, and people of this church, in such a time?"

School News

Fairmont Heights High School at 6501 Columbia Park Road, Landover, or Oxon Hill High School at 6701 Leyte Drive, Oxon Hill, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Space is on a first-come, first-served basis, limited to 100 students a day per site. Learn more at pgcps.org/immunizations.

Transportation

In light of the continued shortage of bus drivers regionally and nationally, PGCPs is asking for patience during the first weeks of school. They also ask families to update phone numbers, emails and emergency contact info in SchoolMax. To view your bus stop, use their Infofinder tool. Transportation questions can be submitted online. This school year, students can also ride The-Bus operated by Prince George's County to school for free with their school ID. No registration is required. View school routes here pgcps.org/transportation.

Free and Reduced Lunches

For information about eligibility and applications for free and reduced lunches click the School Meals button on the back-to-school guide webpage.

Orientation Day

For the safety of students and staff, parents should not expect to be able to accompany students inside schools on the first day of class. They will have an opportunity to meet with teachers and staff and visit classrooms during orientations, which are held on Friday, August 25.

Calendar

The calendar for the school year can be found in various formats at go.activecalendar.com/pgcps.

Boundary Changes

Some students will be impacted by boundary changes this year. Sixty-four students currently attending Greenbelt Elementary School will be reassigned to Magnolia Elementary School, impacting students who reside in the area east of the Beltway between Greenbelt Road and Good Luck Road. Meanwhile, 204 students currently attending Greenbelt

Middle School will be reassigned – 200 will go to Buck Lodge Middle School and four will be within a new catchment area for William Wirt Middle School. Areas of Hollywood and College Park will no longer be zoned for Greenbelt Middle. To check if one's zoning has changed under the new proposed boundaries, visit wxyplanning.com/pgcps-boundary-tool-phase2 and enter an address. For more on the boundary changes, see School Boundary Changes Impact Greenbelt Elementary and Middle, in the October 27, 2022, issue of the News Review.

Greenbelt Elementary

School hours are 9 a.m. to 3:20 p.m. Greenbelt Elementary has no uniform policy.

The principal is Joel Nelson and the vice principal is Tynetta Dempsey. This will be Dempsey's first year at Greenbelt Elementary. She was previously special education program coordinator at High Bridge Elementary School.

Magnolia Elementary

School hours are 9:15 a.m. to 3:25 p.m. Magnolia Elementary School has a new principal, Sharelle Stagg, who was formerly assistant principal at Greenbelt Elementary, and new assistant principal, Jasmine Giddings, who was instructional lead teacher at Greenbelt Elementary. Magnolia has a mandatory uniform policy. Prekindergarten through fifth-grade students wear navy bottoms, yellow shirts and navy sweaters. In sixth grade students wear khaki skorts, pants or shorts and navy shirts and sweaters. The school supply list can be found at pgcps.org/schools/magnolia-elementary/school--supply-list.

Springhill Lake Elementary

School hours are 7:45 a.m. to 1:55 p.m. The principal is Trena Wilson, assistant principal is Andrew Karnes and special education coordinator is Chris Wichtendahl. Springhill Lake Elementary has a mandatory uniform policy.

Students wear navy bottoms and white shirts. one can find out about more about the required uniform and the supply lists at the school's website: pgcps.org/springhilllake.

Dora Kennedy French Immersion

School hours are 9:15 a.m. to 3:55 p.m. The principal is James Spence and vice principal is Sandrine Boukabara. There is no uniform policy.

Dora Kennedy's beloved third-grade teacher, Mariame Sylla, is still missing from her Greenbelt home. The school sincerely thanks everyone who has communicated their concerns and prayers for the safe return of their colleague. On August 29, the second day of school, there will be a crisis team on site to assist any students and/or staff with processing this matter.

Dora Kennedy will implement a new intervention/incentive system for the purpose of setting the standard for community culture, called Cardinal Culture. The primary goal is to establish an adopted school culture characterized by monthly character attributes. Respectful language, respectful actions and effective communications are a few examples of attributes that will be the focus this year.

The school's supply lists can be found by clicking the School Supplies on the school's website, pgcps.org/dorakennedy.

Greenbelt Middle

School hours are 9 a.m. to 3:40 p.m. The principal is Marcellus Clement and assistant principal for student services is Donovan Colding. Students can find their schedules on SchoolMax. In addition to the Talented and Gifted (TAG), ESOL, Creative Arts, World Language, Special Education and General Education Programs, Greenbelt Middle is going into its third year of the Chinese Immersion Program. The school will also continue with Arts Integration and to focus on writing across all content areas. The school is committed to set a foundation of learning with and without technology, with a goal to have 60 percent of their learning through technology, while 40 percent is geared to hands-on learning. The theme for this year is Decades: Reverting Back to our Best Educational Self.

"We are embracing the theme of reboots where we are going back to the instructional foundations to be our best educational self," said Principal Clement in a welcome back letter to families. Their Back to School Nights will be September 18-21, from 6 to 7:45 p.m.; this will be in-person with a virtual option.

For the school's uniform policy and a list of school supplies, click the appropriate buttons on pgcps.org/schools/greenbelt-middle.

Eleanor Roosevelt High

School hours are 8:45 a.m. to 3:25 p.m. The principal is Portia Barnes. There is no mandatory uniform for the school. Eleanor Roosevelt is impacted by the new backpack policy. Students must have a clear backpack for school. Mesh is not allowed.

CALL for POETS and VISUAL ARTISTS:
Ekphrastic Fantastic Art Show

FONDCA (Friends of New Deal Café Arts) is seeking submissions for the show Ekphrastic Fantastic, which is scheduled to be displayed from October 30, 2023, to January 8, 2024, at New Deal Café!

Have you written a poem that lends itself to interpretation in a painting or drawing? Have you created a painting or drawing that would inspire a poet to write a companion piece? This might be the show for you!

We are seeking 15 artists and 15 poets to create pieces for this show.

Here's how it works: poets and artists interested in participating submit a poem or a drawing or painting. We'll select 15 poems and 15 paintings or drawings from the submissions. Each poem will be assigned to a visual artist and each piece of visual art will be assigned to a poet for creation of a new piece in response. Identities of the poets and artists will be secret until the show is hung.

Please send submissions to julieawinters@verizon.net by Friday, September 1. Poems should be sent as Word documents. For visual art, please send a good-quality photograph of the piece, along with title, dimensions, and description (mixed media, watercolor, pencil, etc.). Participants will receive confirmation of selection and assignment of pieces for creation of new art/poetry by September 11; the deadline for the new pieces is October 23.

Dear Festival-Visitor:

Welcome to the 69th Annual Greenbelt Labor Day Festival! The City of Greenbelt is honored to host this unique community celebration, which is one of the largest events of its kind in the State of Maryland and provides so much enjoyment to all its citizens. Many family and friend reunions occur during this special weekend. The festival also provides a great opportunity for many of our City's non-profit, service and religious organizations to participate and make themselves known to our residents and visitors.

This festival is organized and conducted by an independent volunteer group, the Greenbelt Labor Day Festival Committee. These generous and dedicated citizens have worked long hours over the past year to ensure that we all have a wonderful time. We are grateful for their efforts and those of all the other community volunteers and City employees who make this event possible.

We hope you enjoy this weekend's festivities. Plan to come all four days and take full advantage of the wide range of activities being offered, from the Opening Ceremony and Concert on Friday evening to the Labor Day Parade on Monday. If you have any questions about the City of Greenbelt, please visit www.greenbeltmd.gov.

Best wishes for a great weekend!

Greenbelt Middle Selected For Future Engineer Program

by Joan Jackson Lewis

In May, Greenbelt Middle School was notified that the school was selected to participate in a three-year pilot program, the Amazon Future Engineer program. BCauseCan is a local STEM community-based organization and is the program administrator. This program is supported by the Maryland Center for Computing Education and Project STEM, an Amazon partnership.

In addition, Patriot Technology Training Center, under the direction of Thurmont Jones, will conduct after-school programming in the areas of cybersecurity and aerospace engineering. Through this program, students will learn STEM skills and applications that can be used in local scholarship competitions.

Greenbelt Middle School community is vibrant, and strives to expose students and their families to opportunities that can enhance their academic success and their futures.

Joan Jackson Lewis is the Community Schools coordinator at Greenbelt Middle School.

County Schools Spent Over $87,596 at Three Brothers

Some county public schools' expenditures are surprising.

In Prince George's County, the public school district spent $87,596.83 at Three Brothers Italian Restaurants between Fiscal Years 2019 and 2022. To be more specific, the district spent $55,321.53 at Three Brothers in Greenbelt during the 2018 to 2019 school year and another $32,275.30 at the restaurant's Hyattsville location in the 2021 to 2022 school year.

The district appears to have a longstanding relationship with Three Brothers. While most school districts in the state didn't start reporting their vendor expenses to the state until 2019, Prince George's County has been doing so since 2012. Those older figures show the school district spent $82,505.60 at Three Brothers in 2017 and 2018.

Asked for an explanation, Raven Hill, the district's associate superintendent for communications and community engagement, indicated that Three Brothers is a go-to caterer for school events.

"The catering expenses were spent across many schools, generally for student celebrations and staff/family meetings," Hill said. "For context, schools often provide food at parent meetings to encourage attendance. Meals were also provided to students at several community schools (low-income population, wraparound services) as incentives."

Information in this story was drawn from an article by Local News Network Director Jerry Zremski which he compiled based on reporting by Capital News Service reporters Sarah Mekler, Christine Folivi and Zachary Intrater.

A local news network report released on Monday shows PGCPSS spent $55,321.53 at this Three Brothers pizza restaurant in Greenbelt during the 2018-2019 school year.

Alan Morales of ERHS Chosen For SADD National Council

Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD) announced today that Alan Morales, of Greenbelt, has been named to the SADD National Student Leadership Council for the 2023- 2024 school year.

Chosen from a nationwide pool of highly qualified applicants, Morales joins 16 other students who will represent thousands of active SADD students from across the country. He has been a member of the SADD chapter at Eleanor Roosevelt High School.

"Alan's passion and commitment to the safety and well-being of his peers will make him a contributing representative for SADD's National Student Leadership Council," said Jessica Hug-dahl, SADD interim executive. "Drawing from his experiences on the state and local levels, Alan will be instrumental in providing insight to help create national strategies that address the emerging and ever-changing health and safety issues facing our students."

The Council advises the SADD National Board of Directors on policies, programs and plans for the implementation of state and national strategies focused on youth health and safety. Morales will provide strategic support to the organization on health and safety priorities and will serve as a national and regional representative of the SADD network. He will serve as the chair of the Student Leadership Council's Leadership Development committee and prioritize a focus on student training and community engagement. He began his term on August 1.

ERHS Student Attends Science and Tech Institute

Vanessa Gray, a student at Eleanor Roosevelt High School, was one of 43 high school students attending the Joint Science and Technology Institute (JSTI) East, an educational opportunity to expand their knowledge and experience in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM). The Institute is a two-week residential program in Maryland for current high school students, teachers and alumni of the JSTI program that exposes them to scientific research through hands-on projects.

Gray collaborated with scientists and was mentored by Department of Defense scientists and experts in STEM fields. They worked with their peers to complete a hands-on research project in a professional lab setting. Project topics included: electronic and military packaging design, the science and art of storytelling, design engineering in the era of AI, cycling smarter not harder: a study in experimental design, flight design and dynamics, and mathematics and modeling mania.

The educational program, held July 15 to 28, was a fully-funded research opportunity for high school students from the U.S. and from U.S. Department of Defense schools around the world. It was sponsored by the Defense Threat Reduction Agency and managed by Oak Ridge Institute for Science and Education. The program encouraged students to gain and distribution of chemicals in each pool, protecting swimmers' health.

Storm-related power surges on Saturday, July 29 triggered back-to-back cooldowns of the projector in the Old Greenbelt Theatre's main auditorium, during the second weekend of Barbenheimer, according to Lucy Cortez, operations manager and rental coordinator. Each cooldown, which prevents the bulb in the projector from exploding, takes about 10 minutes, so surges at 4:55 p.m. and 6:05 p.m. caused a half-hour of interruptions.

"It's always funny to me," said Cortez. "Whenever it's predicted that there's going to be rain is when we get more people."

The U.S. Post Office on Ora Glen Drive lost power and was without internet for three days, according to Postmaster C. Tillery, after a power surge broke the internet service box. Staff were unable to make transactions until USPS IT personnel ordered and installed the part.

Brown, Cortez and Tillery each said outages are uncommon and highly dependent on weather.

But master electrician Steve Skolnik, of Greenbelt, said grid reliability "the consistent supply of electricity to meet demand" will become a "huge issue."

The Maryland Department of the Environment identified "grid stability," alongside reduced fossil fuel use, as a top priority in its June 2023 Maryland Climate Pathways Report and flagged intense storms as a particular threat climate change poses to the state.

Skolnik said that high winds and lightning strikes are the biggest threats to local electricity infrastructure. "As storms intensify, we're seeing the kind of damage that you never used to see - but transition to cleaner energy, while necessary, will present additional challenges to grid reliability." Large-scale use of electric vehicles and all-electric buildings increase electricity demand, which requires electric utilities to increase their capacity.

"If you park a hundred electric school buses in a parking lot ... then the infrastructure you need to charge them all at the same time every day is going to be huge," said Skolnik.

Because electric motors run more efficiently than gas and diesel engines, Skolnik believes that the transition is worth the cost of expanding grid capacity - even running on Pepco's 2022 mix of less than 7 percent renewable energy sources in Maryland. According to the federal Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy, EVs run at more than 77 percent efficiency, while gas-powered vehicles run at 12 to 30 percent. Heating buildings with electricity rather than oil and natural gas will also present challenges, according to Skolnik.

"What that really means is that we're going to need bigger electric services for our buildings and more capacity integrated in order to feed all these heat pumps that we're going to be putting in," Skolnik said. "Well, that's a challenge for the future for sure." He went on to say that "keeping the power on will require planning and policymaking and the fact that we've all grown up completely taking for granted that the power is [always] going to be on is a mistake I think we need to correct."

sustainability while praising the park as a bulwark of the Greenbelt community.

"We're here to listen," said Tom McGilloway, planning director of the Baltimore-based landscape architecture and urban planning firm Mahan Rykiel Associates, whom the city has contracted to undertake the process.

McGilloway and Brian Trusty of PROS Consulting, the subcontractor on the project, asked attendees to provide input verbally and through live polls on their smartphones.

Attendees noted that the coarse gravel and rocks covering the lake trail exclude people using wheelchairs, the elderly and some with disabilities but that benches make the park more accessible to those with limited mobility.

Varda said Friday that the city will search for a material to make paths safe and accessible, while resisting erosion and maintaining stormwater permeability.

"We certainly don't want to put stone that's large enough that you can twist an ankle," said Varda. "Nor do we want stones that move under your feet and could really cause somebody to get hurt. That's something we really need to figure out."

Attendees called for improved signage to mark the park's multiple entrances, highlight side trails to access the park, such as the one linking Crescent Road and the parking lot from Boxwood Village and label entrances closed to cars.

One attendee noted that the park lacks signage in Spanish, and that all notices for the community meeting appeared to be in English.

Another attendee suggested signage to clarify rules of conduct on trails, such as right of way between pedestrians and cyclists.

After the meeting, Trusty echoed a need for "a consistent, more complete regimen for signage," including wayfinding signs and "rules of the road."

Community members voiced concern about the lake's water quality, but Varda said the master plan will not address water quality directly. "This master plan is not specifically geared toward water quality of the lake," he said, and told residents they'd need a different study for that. "Water quality will need to be studied separately and at this time there is no plan to do so," Varda told the News Review.

Several community members noted repeated flooding on the south side of the lake, near Lakecrest Drive, after heavy rains, adding that the stagnant water attracts mosquitoes.

Larry Hilliard of Greenbelt, said that placing a recycling bin next to each trash can would encourage people to recycle.

Hilliard said of the lone trash cans, "You see them fill up with bottles and cans. People want to do the right thing."

The online survey, which will be available in English and Spanish by the end of this week, will be open through the month of September. McGilloway and Trusty said they will report back on survey results, present draft concepts and invite more feedback during a second community meeting later this year.

In a poll asking what's missing in the park, an "accessible surface," "more benches" and a "food forest" were among the popular responses. "Nothing" was also popular.

McGilloway voiced a commitment to preserving the park's best qualities.

"A master plan isn't always a framework for adding facilities," he said. "Sometimes it's a guide to keep you from doing the wrong thing."

Police Blotter

Incidents reported here occurred August 14 - 20, 2023. Readers are encouraged to contact the police if they have information that may aid in an enquiry. Call the non-emergency number 301-474-7200 or email pd@greenbeltmd.gov. Times provided are when the incidents were reported.

Greenbelt Police Department reported four domestic disputes and three mental health diversions.

Vehicular Assault

On August 20 at 3:39 p.m. near 5510 Cherrywood Lane, a vehicle struck a building. A witness saw two Hispanic men get into a blue Toyota Corolla and drive into a salon, which suffered a broken window and damage to the window frame. The men fled in the vehicle. The fire department determined that the building structure was not compromised.

Gang-related Vandalism/ Graffiti

On August 20 at 6:20 p.m. near 5900 Cherrywood Terrace, someone spray painted MS13 on the interior wall of a building.

Disorderly Conduct

On August 18 at 5:59 p.m. near 10 Crescent Road, a man, apparently upset over a family dispute, yelled at a resident and clenched both fists attempting to instigate a fight, which caused an officer present to push him back. The man was advised multiple times to go home and leave the area. He told officers that he was not afraid to fight and would go to jail. He was then arrested for disorderly conduct and taken to the Greenbelt Police Station for processing, then transported to Upper Marlboro Department of Corrections.

Trespassing

On August 17 at 2:16 a.m. near 7800 Hanover Parkway, a woman saw her closed but unlocked balcony door open and a hand reach through the door. She screamed and the suspect fled by jumping off the balcony and into an awaiting gray four-door sedan. Nothing was taken.

DUI

On August 19 at 1:58 a.m. near Greenbelt Road and Hanover Parkway, officers conducted a traffic stop on a vehicle operating without tags; the temporary tag taped to the rear window had no results in the system. The driver's eyes were bloodshot, glassy and watery. The driver failed to produce registration. His speech was slurred and he had an odor of alcohol on his breath. The officer administered a standardized field sobriety test; the driver displayed multiple signs of impairment and was arrested on the suspicion of DUI.

On August 20 at 2:11 a.m. near 20 Southway, a vehicle had a suspended registration and a pick-up tag order. The driver had the odor of alcohol on his breath but said he had not been drinking. An open container of alcohol was found behind his seat. The officer then administered a standardized field sobriety test; the driver displayed multiple signs of impairment and was arrested on the suspicion of DUI.

Fraud

On August 19 at 8:32 p.m. near 7400 Greenbelt Road, a woman reported that someone used her Cash-App card to purchase food at a local restaurant. She called the restaurant and the person was still there waiting for the food. The police recovered the card, returned it and arrested the suspect, who said he had found the card on the ground in the parking lot.

Missing Person Located

On August 18 at 2:09 p.m. near 5900 Cherrywood Terrace, a missing juvenile was later found safe by a family member.

Theft

Successful ERHS Girls Soccer Program Grows and Gears up for a New Season

by Patrick Gleason

A record-breaking 71 girls registered for the Eleanor Roosevelt High School girls soccer program this summer. Perhaps the excitement of two FIFA World Cups in eight months energized interest in local soccer or maybe the enthusiasm of last season's league and county championships for the Raiders caused the staggering turnout this season. Therefore, the Raiders will have 25 players on both their junior varsity and varsity squads, which began their pre-season with two scrimmages last week. The opening contest against Southern High School on August 15 served as an opportunity for new players to earn their spots on the talented rosters, while the August 17 victories over the Albert Einstein Titans allowed both teams to tinker with their lineups.

Longtime assistant coach AJ Sesay will guide the junior varsity this season and has 17 freshmen joining the program. They didn't disappoint in the 2-1 comeback victory over Einstein, with ninth-graders Alima Kargbo and Treasure Wogu scoring, while classmate Ariana Cruz tallied an assist. The team sports an eclectic roster with players from middle schools including Greenbelt, Thomas Johnson, Hyattsville, Kettering, Dora Kennedy, Samuel Ogle and Martin Luther King. Sophomore Zeala Tantoh will mind the Raider goal this season, while sophomores Iris Gaycken and Yadira Reyes Carranza have ascended into leadership roles. The Raiders host Elizabeth Seton for their final scrimmage on August 24.

Meanwhile, the varsity squad returns its entire backline and center midfield on a team ready to earn its first region championship since 2019. Junior Jada Savage found the back of the net in the first 10 minutes of the second half against the Titans, while sophomore Sofia Zuniga volleyed home a free kick from senior Victoria Obisesan minutes later. The Raiders remained dangerous all evening with sophomore Claudia van der Have tallying the final goal after pestering the Einstein backline all game. Junior Nicole Lilja will replace graduated senior Mia Hamilton in goal for the Raiders, while freshman Clair Alolga is the lone freshman to earn a roster spot this year. Centerback Autumn Freeman joins Obisesan to form a Raider defense that will hunt for regular clean sheets, with no game more anticipated than the September 28 matchup with the Bowie Bulldogs. Until then, the Raiders will condition and train amid the late summer heat, looking to best last season's already impressive accomplishments and continue playing deep into fall where the team will look to produce its own warmth and excitement.

Sofia Zuniga and Autumn Freeman look on as Jada Savage and Claudia van der Have fight for the ball in a 3-0 pre-season victory against the Einstein Titans.

Corson's Sculptures Featured In Two D.C. Gallery Shows

Figurative ceramic sculptures by Greenbelt artist Chris Corson are featured in two exhibitions opening this month in Washington, D.C.

The Joan Hisaoka Healing Arts Gallery at the Smith Center for Healing and the Arts is presenting Not Limited to the Human Condition. In addition to Corson, the show features work in a variety of media by Mary Annella Frank, Marcel Deolazo, Rose Jaffe, Candice Tavares and Nami Oshiro. Their work challenges the notion that the form of an animal or human can be viewed as purely corporeal, while confronting archaic portrayals of physical form. An opening reception will be held on Friday, August 25 from 6 to 9 p.m. The Smith Center is located at 1632 U Street, N.W. Due to the sensitive nature of the work, this exhibit will be open by appointment only through Sunday, September 17. Appointments can be made online at bit.ly/444TJqE.

Corson's second exhibition,

Sculpture from Chris Corson's Not Limited to the Human Condition exhibit

Figure and Ground, will be on view from Wednesday, August 30 through Friday, September 29 at Studio Gallery. Pairing Corson's work with figurative photography by Gary Anthes, the show strives to find humanity in unexpected places and ways – in evocative imagery; hinting at secrets; opening doors to interior life. An opening reception will be held on Saturday, September 9 from 4 to 6 p.m. The gallery is located at 2108 R St., N.W. Learn more about the exhibit here at bit.ly/3qy2YIL.

Corson is a Greenbelt Recreation arts program instructor and artist in residence at the Community Center. For information about Greenbelt Recreation arts programs, visit greenbeltmd.gov/arts.

Ill Met By Moonlight Show Promises a Darker Dream

"Fairies were not always wee Tinkerbells," according to Joshua Engel, director of the Rude Mechanicals production of Ill Met By Moonlight, which will run weekends from August 25 through September 9 at the Greenbelt Arts Center.

Fairies were once seen as dark and dangerous, Engel notes, arguing that William Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream was part of the shift toward the friendly fairies of today. But the play "still contains echoes of these older, more terrifying fairies," a notion Engel said he explores in his adaptation.

"Shakespeare's rendition is lighthearted and its consequences easily forgotten, but the Rude Mechanicals (who draw their name from this play) have a talent for finding the play within the play," said Engel. "My goal for Rudes productions has always been to strip off the varnish of centuries of tradition and find the story that was always there."

"I can confidently say that, no matter how familiar you are with Midsummer, you are in for some cool surprises," said Kate Medwar-Vanderlinden, who plays Nick Bottom. Some of those surprises come from the innovative set designed by Erin Nealer.

"We're using a deceptively simple black-box construction for the stage, but with some tricks and some creative lighting effects the actors get to redesign the space as they're using it, turning a black room into a magical forest," said Nealer. "The audience will be surprised right alongside the mortal characters as the magical fairies manipulate the world around them."

Engel has been planning this production for seven years with the Greenbelt Arts Center's black box in mind. The production was originally scheduled for 2020 but was postponed due to the coronavirus pandemic.

"This is my first experience with the Rudes and I love the camaraderie, the incredible talent pool and the warmth with which the troupe welcomed me into the fold," said Aparna Sri, who plays Titania. "This particular adaptation promises a gloriously dark, magical, glowing experience for all."

The Rude Mechanicals troupe was founded in 1999 and has been a Greenbelt Arts Center resident theater troupe since 2019.

MDOT Launches Greenbelt East Trail Feasibility Study

The Maryland Department of Transportation/State Highway Administration (MDOT/SHA) launched a feasibility study of the Greenbelt East Trail (greenbeltnasatrail.org) on August 17.

To kick off the study, MDOT/SHA engineering contractors walked along parts of the proposed trail route with Greenbelt and county officials, volunteers from Friends of the Greenbelt East Trail and designers from the Neighborhood Design Center (NDC). NDC's work is funded in part by the Anacostia Trails Heritage Area and Maryland Heritage Areas Authority.

The design and engineering consultants walked from Eleanor Roosevelt High School past Goddard Space Flight Center to the commercial district between Good Luck Road and Lanham Severn Road. The trail would ultimately continue past Lanham Severn Road to the WB&A trailhead at the Glenn Dale Splash Park, thereby connecting the WB&A trail system that runs between Baltimore and Annapolis with the Anacostia River Trail System toward Washington via Greenbelt. The trail would thus fill a key missing link for people walking and biking locally, regionally and even nationally along the East Coast Greenway.

MDOT's feasibility study is scheduled to be completed in December. Friends of the Greenbelt East Trail want MDOT/SHA to install a two-way protected shared-use trail on the existing Greenbelt Road (Md. 193) right-of-way. The goal is to improve safety and access all along the route, as well as to connect two of Maryland's major trail systems via Greenbelt.

A Greenbelt Museum exhibition in the Community Center, The Knowing Hands That Carve This Stone: The New Deal Art of Lenore Thomas Straus, runs from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day of the Festival.

Events on Saturday

The fun starts early on Saturday with Greenbelt Museum walking tours from 9 to 11 a.m. The midway opens at 11 a.m. and is in full swing until 10 p.m. All-you-can-ride tickets are available at the Festival, and discount vouchers are available at the Co-op through Thursday, August 31 – ask at any register. Lots of food and drink choices will slake thirst and fill tummies.

At Roosevelt Center, visit Information Day and community exhibits set up by local groups, including your favorite paper, the News Review, and learn about your community.

The ever-popular children and teens Pet Show has registration at 9:30 a.m. with awards presented at 10 a.m. Maybe Fido has what it takes to be this year's Most Enthusiastic Tail Wagger – every pet's a winner at this show.

At the Art and Photo Show in the Community Center gym, view entries submitted by local artists and photographers and vote for Community Favorites.

Fun events on Braden Field for the small fry start at 10 a.m. and include a water balloon toss, sack race, a pie-eating contest and a diaper derby.

Saturday Music

Katy Gaughan's family-friendly Drumming for Wellness percussively kicks off Saturday's rhythmic offerings at the stage from noon to 1:30 p.m. After that, three bands are on the schedule. Proverbs Reggae Band delivers their original, socially conscious reggae music and popular classics such as Bob Marley from 2 to 4:30 p.m. From 5 to 7:30 p.m., Granny and the Boys, D.C.'s #1 house band – four middle-aged men on bass guitar, drums and vocals ... and one granny on keys – are on stage. Finishing the lineup is Johnny Seaton, who will wow audiences from 8 to 11 p.m. with his electrifying performance of the music of Elvis Presley.

Next week's newspaper will give the rundown for Sunday and Monday's activities.

There's something for everyone in this year's Festival.

The Proverbs Reggae Band will perform at the Labor Day Festival on Saturday afternoon.
