Grand Opening Greenbelt Bowling Center Scheduled Saturday Night

By I. J. Parker

Interviewing someone in a bowling alley is like holding a conversation in a boiler factory. You shout at each other with polite determination. Last Sunday I was shouting along with Louis Andrews, co-owner of the new Greenbelt Bowling Alleys.

The place was crowded with youngsters, all the alleys were busy, and the pins were flying. For an enterprise that hadn't been opened "formally" as yet, it seemed assured of a busy and prosperous career.

Andrews is a pleasant, slim man, somewhere in his thirties, with the resonant voice of a radio announcer. He is employed by the Navy Department, is married and a resident of Takoma Park. He served a hitch in the Navy during World War II. With another Navy department employee, John C. Larsen of Washington, Andrews is a partner in ownership of the bowling alley.

$36,000 Investment

The alleys are ten in number, of regulation size, and occupy the basement of the Greenbelt Consumer Services supermarket. There are enough seats to hold 110 bowlers and spectators, and there is a snack bar (11 seats) that will serve soft drinks, sandwiches, and other refreshments. Heating and air-conditioning are connected to the food store's system; there is a giant ventilating fan behind the backstop that replaces all the air in the basement every two minutes. The equipment and fixtures represent a $36,000 investment by Andrews and Larsen.

There were quite a few young bowlers in their early teens scattering the duckpins with the vigor and abandon of reckless youth. Andrews expressed surprise at the skill of these apparent novices. They have been crowding the alleys in the afternoons and we wondered if it was just the appeal of something new that kept them coming.

The alleys have tentative hours of noon to midnight each day except Sunday when they open at three. The hours may be changed as conditions change, though. Games are 25c, or 3 for 65c before six o'clock, and 30c, or 3 for 80c in the evening. Bowlers rent bowling shoes for a dime. (Until a more complete stock of shoe sizes arrives, however, bowlers will be permitted to bowl in their stocking feet. The surface of the alleys is thus protected.) All shoes will be sterilized after each rental by a "Sanitizer" which utilizes an ultraviolet lamp device for this purpose.

Reservations Accepted

While we talked, several reservations were phoned in for various evenings of the week. This system is designed to assure available alleys to those bowlers planning a game in advance. Andrews is endeavoring to assure the transit, occasional, or unattached bowlers in Greenbelt alleys whenever they so desire. Several bowling leagues have already been formed locally, and a large segment of those Greenbelt bowling leagues using out-of-town alleys is anticipated next fall. This might result in a "split shift", Andrews indicated. Meanwhile, an amplifying system is being installed that will permit the management to inform bowlers that alleys are ready, and for other announcements.

Beginner classes are to be formed with instruction offered free. According to Andrews, the alley will cooperate with the schools and the community recreation program by setting aside several alleys for pre-junior high students, who will play "at cost". The Drop-Inn already has two leagues formed and is playing regularly scheduled games. Although not announced yet, bowl-

Represent City At State Meeting

Charles T. McDonald, city manager, and Frank Lastner, councilman, will represent Greenbelt at the Maryland Municipal League annual conference which is being held Friday and Saturday of this week at Cumberland, Maryland.

Mrs. Lastner will accompany her husband on the trip.

Council To Hold Public Hearings Monday On Next Year's Budget

Public hearing on the proposed budget for the coming year will be held in the council offices on Monday, November 13. The date was set by the council at its regular meeting last Monday, and is being held in accordance with the law of the city charter. All the department heads will be present, and the council expressed its willingness to stay as late as necessary to accommodate the citizens. A copy of the proposed budget, including comparisons to last year's budget, will be posted in the post office, the library and in the city administration offices for public perusal.

In a last-minute clearance of items important to the budget the council passed ordinances lowering annual and sick leave benefits of city employees and reducing the amount of leave accumulated each year. Annual leave was reduced from 24 days to 15 days a year, and sick leave from 15 to 9 days a year. Employees can now carry over only 10 days a year of annual leave, with a maximum accumulation of 30 days. Under the terms of the ordinance the city manager was authorized to reimburse employees for no more than 25 days annual leave excess accumulated. Accumulation of 60 days' sick leave is now permitted. Maternity leave will be granted, as well as military leave. Although Councilman Steve Comings expressed his disapproval of granting sick leave for temporary employees, he voted with the council to pass all the leave ordinances.

A basic work-week of 40 hours was established for the first time by the council; however, only the department of public safety had worked 48 hours heretofore, and will now follow the new work-week schedule.

Welfare Department

The new Welfare Department was added to the budget, with the sum of $2500 included to provide for salary and expenses for a part-time social welfare worker. Such a department had been part of the city's service some time ago, and it is now being re-created. Qualifications for the position will be set up by the city-manager and submitted to the council for approval in the future. Formation of the department of welfare is the result of numerous welfare cases coming to the attention of the public health nurse, the city-manager, and local clergy. The council intends to "fight" for approval of the department when conferences with PHA are held for consideration of the budget. (The federal government supplies the funds to run the city in the form of payments in lieu of taxes. The prerogative of participating in financing the various community services is exercised at these meetings.)

Personal Property Tax

Recommendations were made to the city manager for the wording of an ordinance to amend the personal property tax. It was voted to make the proposed ordinance read at the rate of one dollar per hundred valuation. This break in the long deadlock involving a change in the personal property tax rate was the result of Councilman James Wolfe voting with Mayor Elizabeth Harrington and Councilman Frank Lastner for the change in rate. Previously, Wolfe had voted with Comings and Councilman Thomas Canning against any change; however, Comings and Canning had indicated willingness to reduce the tax 50%, before voting on the proposal. The ordinance includes several pertinent tax provisions affecting intangible personal property held by local residents which is certified by the state tax commission as taxable.

Band Instruments

City Manager Charles T. McDonald informed the council that the federal government is disposing

Thanksgiving Essay Contest Closes This Week, Entries To Be Mailed No Later Than Nov. 13

This is the last week in which to submit entries for the Thanksgiving Essay Contest. No entry will be accepted postmarked later than November 13.

Theme of the essays will be "The Meaning of Thanksgiving." The contest is open to all Greenbelt students in the following divisions. Students through the sixth grade in the first division; junior high students in the second division; senior high students in the third division.

PRIZES

There will be three prizes in each division. First prize will be $5.00, second prize, $2.50; third prize, $1.00; for a total of nine prizes. Address entries to the Greenbelt Cooperator, Contest Editor, P.O. Box 68, Greenbelt, Md. All entries must be legibly written and signed with name, school and grade, and address.

JUDGES

Judges will be Mayor Elizabeth Harrington, Mrs. Marjorie Muir, Greenbelt's librarian, and Bill Gold, Washington Post columnist. Winners will be announced in the Thanksgiving issue of the Cooperator.

Armistice Day Parade Begins Saturday 9:45

The Armistice Day parade will begin at 9:45 a.m. Saturday, according to Austin R. Green, parade chairman.

The first division of the parade will proceed in the following order: Greenbelt Police Department, American Legion Band (Laurel), American Legion Post officials, city officials, government officials, members of city council, band, Third Infantry color guard (Fort Myer), company of troops (Fort Myer), Greenbelt unit color guard, Greenbelt marching unit, District National Guard unit.

Coop Nursery Holds Workshop For Dads

The Greenbelt Cooperative Nursery School is holding a workshop meeting for fathers at the nursery school at the basement of 14 Parkway Friday, November 10 at 8 p.m. The men are asked to wear their jeans and bring equipment to help improve the toys and equipment used by the children.

A similar workshop meeting for the mothers is to be held at the school Thursday, November 16, at 8:30 p.m. The mothers are asked to bring all necessary sewing supplies and any toys and dolls they can donate. Refreshments will be served at both workshop events.

Community Bldg. Closes On Armistice

City Manager Charles T. McDonald announces that the community building will be closed to all activities Armistice Day, Saturday, November 11. This includes the dance and acrobatic classes, the orchestra, and the Boys Club.

Sale Of Greenbelt Still Undetermined

Mike Salzman, president of the Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation, in a statement to the Cooperator said that no final determination has been made at the present time as to the final disposition of Greenbelt. As far as can be determined the question still remains, to sell or not to sell, depending on the state of world affairs.

Officers of GVHC are still working on the sale of Greenbelt and as soon as they have information will see that the members of the Corporation are notified.

North End PTA Meets Tuesday

The second meeting of the North End School P.T.A. will be held Tuesday, November 14 at 8:15. The meeting will be devoted to the Book Fair, and the guest speaker will be Miss Marie E. Bryan, a member of the Education Department of the University of Maryland. Book Fair hours will be from four to six, and during the social hour following the meeting.

Mrs. Lydalu Palmer, well known musician will present a musical program. Refreshments will be served by the Room Mothers. All Greenbelt parents are urged to attend so that they may take advantage of this opportunity to purchase selected books for their children.

Children's Book Week Starts Sunday At Library

Children's Book Week begins Sunday night, November 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Greenbelt Public Library. Mrs. Marjorie Muir, head librarian, announces that open house will be held at that time and the new books will be on display for the attention of parents and other adults.

St. Hugh's Youngsters Take On Phys. Ed.

Physical education classes have been added to the curriculum at St. Hugh's school, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Green.

At present the younger children are doing rhythm work, while the upper grade children are enjoying folk dancing, games and exercises.

Chest Sets Up Plan For Local Fund Drive

In accordance with the plan being used throughout the National Capital area, the 1950 Red Feather Campaign in Greenbelt will stress the slogan, "Give Where You Work". City Manager Charles T. McDonald, a captain in the campaign public service division, will direct the solicitation among city and federal employees.

Reverend Eric T. Braund is one of the army of volunteers now at work throughout the nation. He will seek support for the Community Chest among the clergy in Greenbelt. Doctors, dentists, and lawyers will be solicited by their own professional associations.

An innovation in the campaign this year is the convenient way in which workers can turn in all contributions at the nearest bank—any bank, anywhere in the county. Henry Brautigam, manager of the Greenbelt branch of the Prince Georges Bank and Trust Company, has announced that the local bank is ready to receive such contributions.

Home Nursing Classes Offered By Red Cross

Applications are now being received from prospective students in a Home Nursing class. The class will be held at the local chapter house and will be given by a Red Cross trained nurse. In the National Security Resources Board plan for Civil Defense the Red Cross has agreed to conduct classes in home nursing, nurse's aides, and to train persons to care for the sick and injured.

The Home Nursing Course consists of six lessons and is a short, accelerated course in the care of the sick. Certificates are issued at the end of the course to those satisfactorily completing. There is absolutely no charge for any Red Cross courses and the public should avail itself of this opportunity.

The classes will be formed in the order the applications are received. Telephone the local chapter house WA 4400 to register.

Retrospect

We know and have learned the hard way that we cannot ourselves be free if the rest of the world is in slavery. We have learned the hard way that we cannot ourselves be prosperous if the rest of mankind is prostrate.

If by our influence and our sacrifice we may be able to fortify and perpetuate the United Nations as a peace organization and preserve the peace of the world; if we let dictatorial and autocratic brutal nations know that mankind is organized against their brutality and their aggression, it will be worth all that it costs to bring about a world of peace, a world of friendship, a world of cooperation.

To accomplish this we need a united nation so that we may serve notice, not only on our enemies but on our friends as well, that our people are united in their efforts to preserve peace and to prevent a ruthless ideology from conquering the rest of the world.

That is why the recent celebration of the fifth birthday of the United Nations, which was so widely observed throughout the country, was significant. It demonstrated to the world our complete support of the prompt and decisive action taken by the United Nations to stop aggression. It demonstrated our complete support of the ideals and principles of the United Nations, and our determination to make it a living, working organization for peace—an organization that will insure the future of mankind.

But now that the birthday party is over, we must not, we dare not allow ourselves to forget these things. The motives which inspired our town council and several of our local organizations to officially proclaim United Nations Day are as real now as they were then. Let's keep them in mind.

Letters To The Editor

WHO'S AT FAULT

Maybe I've been critical of the wrong people; at least the board and management and executive committee are putting in lots of time and effort—albeit misguided.

Has it finally come to this: that one night of Arthur Godfrey is more important to G.C.S. members than their own two-million dollar business?

I know that there were other meetings, but I also know that there are many who have professed their interest or concern about G.C.S. I didn't see them at the meeting. Surely no one can claim, after official notice, a flyer, and an issue of the Cooperator practically devoted to G.C.S., that he didn't know about it.

The experimental idea of the small discussion groups reporting back to the larger meeting was an excellent idea proposed by the board to make the meeting more interesting, and to give even the most bashful individual an opportunity to express himself. Are they too bashful even to show themselves?

When the board implements a suggestion from that meeting—more membership participation—are they going to be too busy (with Godfrey)?

Of course, I suppose there is the danger that they might become so interested in co-op activities that they would clutter up the suggestion boxes, board and committee meeting; button-hole the manager and board and even the auditing committee; write letters to the editor; annoy the office staff for details and information (maybe even for co-op literature!); and generally make nuisances of themselves. If the staff, et cetera, could stand the first shock I think they could keep up with the demands.

If not they could always send them back to Arthur!

Personal Touch

Doris Asbell Mednick, 3518

This column is threatening to become a problem child. It thrives on the doings and sayings of the local citizenry. It's you, the residents of Greenbelt, who can make this column a source of interest and excitement to all. It takes quite a bit of gadding and gabbing to put it together every week, and yet I hear tell of many people who wonder why their activities have not appeared under this heading when I'm just scouring the scene for news of neighbors. For those of you who wonder what the secret is, there is none. Simply write your news item on a slip of paper and leave it at the cigar store in care of the Cooperator, or give me a call in the evening at the above number. I'd really love it. Don't be bashful—I'll appreciate any news you have to report! Don't forget, we have a date for the next issue—so be sure to keep me informed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bochert, Sr., 6-S Hillside, announce the marriage of their son Wayne, who was married to Barbara Perkins of Landover Hills, Md. at the Community Church at 4 p.m. on October 16. The Bocherts have resided in Greenbelt since its opening day and Wayne graduated from Greenbelt High School. The couple are living at 232 Eleventh St., N.E., Washington.

For new citizens of Greenbelt, there's Donna Ruth who weighed 7 lbs., 1 oz. last Saturday morning where she saw the first light of day at Garfield Memorial Hospital. She claims Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Dobbins, 1-A Westway, as her parents. . . Mr. and Mrs. Dan B. Branch, 13-H Ridge, have a new baby girl at their home. . . another girl, Viola Louise, weighing 8 lbs. 4 oz. was born to the Tom Sawyers of 73-B Ridge.

We have a new baby at our house too. (Can't tell whether it's a girl or boy, I'm ashamed to confess. Weighs about 800 lbs. Maybe some of you experts might know. It's a baby grand piano. And our house couldn't be in more of a whirl than a set of quadruplets would cause—or twins, for that matter—check with the Don Moyers. The only difference being the sounds it emits, which can be heavenly or horrible—depending upon who's handling our baby.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lehan, 7-A Hillside, and their children were visiting relatives in Pennsylvania over last week's long weekend.

Mrs. Algie Grace, 4-G Hillside, played hostess to her nephew Milton Bostock, of Burlington, Vermont who is stationed with the Navy at Norfolk and a friend of his and their two fiancées who flew down from Vermont for a weekend. They all stayed at Mrs. Grace's.

Debbie Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Webster of 11-S Ridge, celebrated her 13th birthday last Saturday with 18 guests present. Several out-of-town guests included Sally Berman of Chillum and Helen Høglund of College Park. The Websters were unexpectedly surprised by a visit from a friend of theirs, Dr. Lyle Morris of Huntington, Long Island that same day.

Allen Gerstel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerstel, 16-A Ridge, is in Prince Georges Hospital recovering from pneumonia and would certainly be pepped up with some notes or cards from his friends.

Marian and Frank Bartholf, 14-Q Laurel Hill, staged a giant barbecue in their backyard for their neighbors. They supplied the utensils and the guests brought the eats. This was on October 30 and the kiddies obliged with costumes. And the Bartholfs obliged with novelties for the kiddies. Not only does Marian know how to stage a party, but she's a whiz at make-up and represents a cosmetics firm here in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Friedman, 7-C Hillside, announce the engagement of their daughter Fay to Charles Messner of New York City. He taught chemistry at Greenbelt High School and at present is attending Columbia University. Fay is attending the Washington Musical Institute and has enjoyed much favorable comment about her lovely voice.

Drop-Inn Data

By Joanne Slaughter

The Drop-Inn hayride which was held last Saturday night was very successful, although there was quite a bit of rain. The group returned to the Drop-Inn early and enjoyed dancing to the juke box music.

The Drop-Inn bowling season was opened last Wednesday with the senior high group. The teams will continue bowling every other Wednesday.

The junior high league began last Saturday night and will continue every other Saturday for the coming year.

Drop-Inn Officers For This Season Elected

Voting for 1950-51 Drop-Inn officers came to a close Sunday night. Only those people who have purchased their new membership cards were eligible to vote, and 131 teenagers were in this category.

Although a few of last year's officers were nominated, only one was re-elected. Kenny Miller, who was president of the junior high group last year will be this year's treasurer.

Before going out of office, last year's officers decided to change the policy somewhat by having one group of officers to represent both the junior and senior high groups instead of having a set of officers from each group. The president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer were chosen from the 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades, and two representatives, one from the seventh grade and one from the eighth.

Newly-elected officers of the Youth Center are: president - Harry Fox, "Active Member"; vice-president - Judy Lewis, "Miss Greenbelt"; secretary - Patty Giersch, "Notre Dame Scholar"; treasurer - Kenny Miller, "Past Pres. Jr. High Group"; 7th grade representative - Paula Bibler, "Youngest Majorette"; 8th grade representative - Donald Miller, "Active Member".

Three Ladies Boost Red Feather Drive

The Red Feather Drive in Greenbelt received an extra and unexpected boost over the weekend when three Laurel Hill ladies (not yet old enough to be members of the Greenbelt Woman's Club) appointed themselves a Special Solicitation Unit "for poor children". Going from door-to-door with a fruit jar and a big red feather Ginny Nihart (8), Nicky Nihart (7), and Sandy Bowman (6) collected three dollars in pennies, nickles and dimes.

Though contrary to the announced policy of no door-to-door solicitation, the North End team claims that the idea started quite spontaneously with their own pennies and nickles. Besides—they can't read very well.

Prominent Educator To Speak At Community Church

Dr. Herbert Carleton Mayer, president of American Viewpoint, Inc. of New York; author of books in the field of religious education; former president of Parsons College, Fairfield, Iowa and on the Education Staff of the American Military Government in Germany will preach at 11 a.m. service in the Community Church on Sunday, November 12.

Dr. Mayer is an internationally-known leader of youth work. He has been director of camps of the International Council of Religious Education and of the American Youth Foundation, and has been director and teacher in Camp Kanastatake in Pennsylvania, which a number of our Greenbelt young people have attended. He is in the general vicinity of Washington for addresses to groups of educators and to high school student groups also.

ing trophies will be awarded to winning teams and their members, Andrews confided to me.

Local Help

At present, all the pin-sets are local boys of high school age, and younger. Their working time is divided into sections in an attempt to space their activities so that there is no interference with school hours and home study, and so that each pinsetter gets a fair share of work. Tax deductions and social security payments are taken from their salaries.

The pins are set by hand. There are notches in the bottom of each duck-pin and they are fitted over dowel rods protruding from the alley floor. When the pins are set properly, a foot-pedal is pressed, lowering the dowels, and the pins are free to fly (if struck by the ball, of course).

Although the bowlers, this Sunday, were predominantly young people, they seemed extraordinarily well-behaved. I asked Mr. Andrews whether he anticipated any rowdiness. He stated that he didn't have any so far, nor did he expect any. Those who become objectionable will be prohibited from entering the premises in the future. He indicated that the problem should not be serious and is mostly a public relations question. For obvious reason, children will not be permitted in the bowling alley after 7 p.m., unless accompanied by their parents.

Snack Bar Open

For the adults in Greenbelt, the bowling alley represents a new and much-needed source of recreation and entertainment. "Bowling is a sport for all ages", Andrews declared. Next to swimming, it requires more muscle coordination than any other sport. The fees for the games are reasonable and every effort will be made to maintain popular prices at the snack bar. Incidentally, a different brand of icecream will be sold at the bowling alley. (If we get an ad, I'll mention the name . . .). For afternoon shoppers, as well as bowlers, the bowling alley offers the glorious convenience of . . . just imagine . . . washrooms!

Prizes To Be Awarded

Officially, the grand opening of the bowling alley takes place on Saturday. Throughout the week, tickets will be issued to bowlers, and several wonderful prizes will be awarded to the lucky holders of drawn tickets.

The manager of the bowling alley is Dix C. Boone. I watched him running the alleys for a while and he looked like a capable, friendly guy. As soon as housing is available in Greenbelt, Boone will move here. Andrews and Larsen will assist during the evenings and weekends.

Without taking a few token pitches at the pins, I wished Andrews much success on behalf of the Cooperator and myself, and made reservations for Friday night at nine. O.K., editor, set 'em up in another galley!

THE FOUL LINE

(Notes and News on unlimited Basketball in Greenbelt)
By Paul Rummion

Saturday, November 18 in the Center auditorium the GCS and Greenbelt Lions Club Basketball teams will present the second in a series of basketball doubleheaders for the coming season. At 7:45 GCS will play the strong David Taylor Model Basin club. (DTMB was one of the finalists in the DC Recreation Dept. winter tournament and appears about equally matched with the GCS team.) At 8:45 the Greenbelt Old Timers, who defeated GCS in a close game last Saturday night, will play the Lions. Tickets for these games may be obtained from representatives of church organizations who are selling season tickets, or a single admission ticket may be purchased at the door.

Saturday, November 4, both teams lost their opening games: the Lions to the Washington Gas Co. and GCS to the Old Timers. Both Coach Bob Lindeman and Pete Cookson, although disappointed at the final results, were not too surprised. As the season is very young they believe that time and experience will enable their teams to reach top form and that these games furnished a good start for their teams.

FOULS: (Notes here and there)

Wayne Jernberg playing his first game in three years and looking very good. . . . Summer Cragin demonstrating his unusual ball handling. . . . Richie Lewis, Buddy Bauer, and Rene Ward all trying to get in playing condition. . . . The Littleton brothers—Mike and John—each trying to outplay the other. . . . Bill Wiley the smallest man on the GCS team leading both the defense and scoring. . . . Ronnie Bierwagen, Art Morin, and Jimmie Williams playing a fine game and looking better all tee time. . . . Teddy "Smoother" Fox, one of the finest ball players in the Washington area, again the sparkplug of the Lions team.

Next week I will try to bring you some interviews with the co-captains of both teams, along with their opinion as to what kind of a season their respective teams will have. Don't forget the doubleheader, Saturday, November 18.

Community Chorus Enjoys Social Hour

Members and friends of the Greenbelt Community Chorus enjoyed a social hour following their weekly practice in the Center school. Pictures of the early days of Greenbelt were shown by Mrs. Edna Jones and refreshments were served.

The chorus, which is under the auspices of the County Education Department, meets weekly at 8:30 p.m. in the home economics room, and is open to anyone living in Greenbelt or the county who is interested in singing with a group. This marks the fourth year for this popular group, which is under the direction of Gordon Finlay with Thelma Finlay as pianist.

New members are welcome. The chorus is composed of men and women, amateur and trained singers. Anyone who enjoys singing will find pleasant recreation in this group.

Child Care Center Is In Fifth Year Of Self Operation

The Greenbelt Child Care Center is now well on its fifth year of operating as a non-profit organization.

The Center was organized August 31, 1943, under the Lanham Act for the sole purpose of day care for children of working mothers. At the expiration of the Lanham funds March 1, 1946, there was still an acute need for these facilities. So, with the assistance of Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer, Supervisor, Community and Family Services, the parents formed a cooperative non-profit organization maintaining the same standards established for the Greenbelt Child Care Center by the Prince Georges County School Board during its operation of the Center as a war time child care project.

Any Child Can Enter

Under the new cooperative organization any child may be enrolled whether the mother is employed or not. Mothers who are going to be confined are urged to put the children in the school two weeks before and two weeks after their confinement for child birth.

The school is open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. for children 2 1/2 to 11 years. A well planned program is carried on every day. This includes mid-morning juice, a full course dinner at noon and milk and cookies after the children awake from their naps.

Has Good Quarters

The school now occupies eight bachelor type apartments at 14 Parkway Road. Three of these are used as sleeping rooms, three as dining rooms, and one each for a doll room, block room, and music room. It has a well equipped, fenced-in playground, 50x50 feet, for the small children and a large adjoining playground for the older children.

At the present there are three fulltime trained teachers, Mrs. Eva Mae Benson, Director, Mrs. Margaret Pluto, assistant, and Mrs. Barbara Bennett. The staff also consists of Mrs. Beatrice Jernberg, Dietitian, and Miss Edith Brooks, Housekeeper. As the enrollment increases the staff is enlarged.

Meets Rigid Standards

Rigid health requirements, not only for the staff but for the children as well, have always been a well enforced policy of the school. Mrs. Georgina Guppy, a registered nurse, examines the children when they arrive in the morning. The school meets all the health requirements of the Health Department of Prince Georges County and has been awarded a certificate of approval from the Maryland State Board of Education as a non-public kindergarten, and nursery school.

Community Church Plans Bazaar Wed.

The Women's Guilds of the Community Church will hold a bazaar on Wednesday, November 15, from 2 to 10 p.m. in the social room of the church. Booths will offer aprons, baked goods, baby and children's things, fish pond, needle work, plants, white elephants, and parcel post.

Ladies of the Evening Guild will serve dinners from 5 to 8 p.m.

A Gay Nineties theme will be carried out in the decorations with silhouettes on the walls, and the ladies helping with the booths and dinners will wear 1890 fashions.

of the band instruments it owns. The community band is unable to purchase the instruments for the $524 asked by the government and McDonald urged the council to buy the instruments. He stated that the price quoted was far below their actual value, and ownership of the instruments by the city would assure the band of equipment to carry on its work.

The probability of buying the instruments with the intention of selling them to the band at a reasonable loss was discussed, but the plan was held in abeyance. The council authorized the city manager to expend no more than $530 for the purchase. Funds for the instruments will be comprised of $250 from capital outlay in the music program and the remainder from library capital outlay. McDonald assured the mayor that the library would not be handicapped by the expenditures.

Bandage Rollers Need More Help

The Red Cross bandage-rolling group organized by the Truman Riddle Navy Wives Club of Greenbelt meets every Wednesday from 8:30 to 10 p.m. in the social room at the center school.

Mrs. Earl Wilkinson, president of the Truman Riddle Navy Wives Club, urges the women of Greenbelt to help in this emergency. The need for these bandages is urgent. The Red Cross has been unable to meet its quota to military hospitals since the increase in demand caused by the Korean War.

The Red Cross requests that the following instructions be followed: Wear a washable cotton dress; confine hair in a kerchief; remove all sharp articles of jewelry; remove all nail polish.

Greenbelt High Loses To Hyattsville, 24-19

By E. DonBullian

In a really exciting and well-played football game last Tuesday, Greenbelt High lost a heartbreaker to Hyattsville by a score of 24 to 19. The game started off with Greenbelt fumbling on its first line play and Hyattsville recovering. A long forward resulted in a Hyattsville touchdown. Before the end of the first quarter Hyattsville got another touchdown with another long pass making the score 12-0. It seemed as if Greenbelt was in for a bad time. Perhaps the boys were awed by the overwhelmingly heavier Hyattsville team. They had been outweighed in all their previous games but this team seemed to be just too much for them to handle, they were not only big but fast.

Up And Down

The second quarter began with Ancell's catch of a Brosmer heave, followed by a long Kratovil run which set up Greenbelt's first touchdown. The ease with which they scored seemed to put life in the boys and changed the complexion of the game. Greenbelt started to outplay the heavier Hyattsville team. Jim Goodman's coaching was very much in evidence in the way his charges were outwitting Hyattsville. There was no doubt that they could not gain through the line, so Greenbelt had to use deception. Hand-offs, laterals, forwards and every trick in the hands of a good quarterback were used, in forging ahead to a 19-18 lead in the fourth quarter.

The plague of fumbles that has been following Greenbelt, however, gave Hyattsville another opportunity that was turned into a touchdown, which proved to be the margin of victory.

Heroes All

To select an individual hero of the contest would do injustice to the Greenbelt linemen who really played their hearts out for victory. As usual the backfield catches the limelight, and this game was no exception. Kanns, Kratovil, and Quigley gave a marvelous exhibition of good ball-carrying. Brosmer's choice of plays was excellent, in addition to doing an exceptional job with his forward passing. For a while it looked as if John Maffey would be the hero of the game with the kick that he made for the point afre the second touchdown. But fame is fleeting; Ancell's playing at end stood out on the line; he really played stellar football. Even the substitutes had their share of glory. Cherry, a substitute guard, recovered a Hyattsville fumble of a kick off which put Greenbelt in scoring position scoring position. Briggs and Snoddy also did fine work in the line.

It seems surprising, but the number of students attending the game was so limited that it seemed as if there were more cheer leaders than spectators. This is a sad commentary on high school spirit, but you cannot cheer the boys on to victory if you are not there. Pioneer, please take notice!

Bowling Headlines

By Stan Huff

The GAC Men's Bowling League held their second match of the season last Friday evening in the new GCS alleys. Geo. Bauer's Credit Union team still holds the spotlight with 6 games won, none lost. Leo Bass's team moved from 7th place to 2nd place this week winning 3 games at 555-508-533. Individual leaders were: H-Average, Cautler 121.2; H-Spares, Thompson 15; H-Strikes, Morgan 8; H-Set, Cautler 365; and H-Game, Frank Bauer with 137.

Boys Club Lists Weeks Schedule

Last week's results: 90-lb. team beat Trinidad Boys Club, 9-0. Midgets lost to Trinidad Boys Club, 25-0. Juniors beat Riverdale, 15-0. Games scheduled this Saturday at Braden Field, Greenbelt: 90-lb team plays Merrick Boys Club at 11 a.m. Midgets play Berwyn Boys Club at 12 noon. Juniors play Berwyn Juniors at 1 p.m.

The Greenbelt Rescue Squad plans to pass the hat around at 1 o'clock to defray their expenses, particularly those involved in having their car available for all football games in Greenbelt. This is a worthy cause, and a few loose dollar bills would be appreciated.

There will be no basketball or boxing practice, this Saturday, November 11 holiday.

ONE WORLD

Ove 100 years ago, a group of weavers in Rochdale, England opened a retail food store to provide their own needs at reasonable prices. This was the first COOPERATIVE enterprise.

Today people are working together in COOPERATIVES in many parts of this country — and in most of the free countries of the world. Cooperatives working together — interchanging merchandise and ideas — can do much to promote better standards of living and more international understanding.

Under the Rochdale principles, each member of a Cooperative has only one vote, regardless of the amount of stock he holds. This means democratic control — one member, one vote.

Prices are set to be competitive with other stores in the area. At the end of each year after all expenses are paid (including interest on stock, and taxes) the surplus is returned to the patrons in proportion to their purchases.

Greenbelt Consumer Services, Inc. is a consumer cooperative operating in accordance with Rochdale principles. Two thirds of the families in town are members of this Co-op. Help your town and Help Yourself.
