

GCS Meets Wed. Picks Audit Comm.

The next membership meeting of Greenbelt Consumers Services, in the Center school auditorium on Wednesday, May 2, promises several interesting features in addition to the regular business conducted at a quarterly meeting.

Emphasis in the planning of this meeting has been centered on speediness, as well as the presentation of highlights designed to attract a large membership showing. Election of the audit committee has been timed for 9:05 p.m., to permit those who arrive late and those who leave early to participate in the election. The audit committee election will interrupt other business if it is not completed at the election time.

The group-discussion method which was tried at the November membership meeting will be in use again. It is felt that this type of small discussion group encourages more people to express opinions and stimulates better discussion. Suggested subjects for discussion are the variety store operation, our food stores and rising food prices, service station and garage operation, and planning and promotion for both Greenbelt and Takoma areas. Plans are under way to have at least two people well versed in the subject under discussion present in each group in order to answer all questions that may arise and to provide pertinent facts. Many questions which have been put to the officers and manager at various times will be answered in special reports that are being planned.

The meeting will open at 8 p.m. with the prize-winning movie "Closed Book", telling about a doctor who learned through personal tragedy to dramatize safety practices with the light touch.

Drawing for a door prize will take place immediately before the group-discussion period. Those members who have registered by 8:30 p.m. and who remain through completion of the reports will be eligible for the door prize.

BAE Adds Up Prices To Farmer, Consumer

According to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, the farmer gets only a small share of the total retail price of some commodities. Using last December's prices as a basis:

If the farmer gave away the wool in a $50 suit of men's clothing, the suit would still cost $40.50.

If he'd give away the wheat in a 16-cent loaf of bread, the loaf would still cost the consumer 13.4 cents.

If the dairy producer furnished the milk in a 22-cent to 23-cent quart of milk absolutely free, it would still cost the housewife 11.5 cents.

If the farmer would give away the beans in a 16-cent can of pork and beans, the can would still cost you 14 cents at the grocery store.

For cigarette smokers—if the tobacco grower gave away the tobacco in a 20-cent pack of cigarettes, the girl behind the counter would still ask you for 17 cents for the pack.

The spread between what the farmer gets for his product and what the consumer pays for it at retail is accounted for by the price increases that take place at each step which the commodity goes through in its trip from the producer to the consumer.

The raw material may go through as many as a dozen hands before it reaches its final form. It can be sold to a distributor, a processor, a packer, a wholesaler, another

Camping, Hillbilly Night Occupy Scouts

All mothers of Girl Scouts or Brownies who are interested in the established camp or the day camp are invited to attend "camp night", to be held on Monday, April 30, 7:30 p.m., in the social room of the community building.

Slides will be shown of Camp Misty Mount, and Mrs. Walker will give additional information on both the day and established camps.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 129 were entertained at a "hillbilly" party by the girls of Troop 88, at the Center school, Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. "Hillbilly" decorations carried out the theme of the party. It was the first joint party of the organizations in Greenbelt.

Troop 88 and Senior Troop 85, Girl Scouts, have just completed a standard and junior first aid course under the direction of Mr. Groves of Glenn Dale. All 37 girls passed with high grades.

Proceeds are to go into the building fund for the Youth Center.

St. Hugh's Bazaar Raffles Bicycle

A Columbian bicycle, guaranteed for life, will be raffled at the annual St. Hugh's bazaar, on Tuesday, May 15, in the parish hall. Chances are now being sold on the bicycle by children of the school, and the room selling the most books will be given an outing at the lake. The bike will be either for a boy or for a girl, depending upon the winner.

The bazaar will be held from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m. and will have fifteen main features for both adults and children. Especially attractive for children will be movies, darts and balloons, and a shooting gallery. Refreshments will be served, and all Greenbelters are welcome, according to chairman Mike Burchick.

Another novel feature of the bazaar is a "parcel post sale". Postcards are being mailed to friends and relatives "from afar" requesting a parcel from them which may be sold as a surprise feature.

Purpose of the bazaar this year is to raise money to buy equipment including desks for the sixth grade, which will be added next fall.

Junior High Gets New Principal

Reorganization of principals, vice-principals and other school officials in Prince Georges County has taken place due to the addition of newly-built high schools and the changing-over of some of the high schools.

Greenbelt High School, which will become Greenbelt Junior High in the fall, will lose its present popular principal, Michael E. Hernick, who will become principal of Oxon Hill High School. Mr. Hernick, whose home is located quite a distance away from his present post, is very much pleased with his new assignment as it is situated much more conveniently to his home. James E. Lauer, who at the present time is principal of Mt. Rainier High School, will become Greenbelt Junior High School's new principal.

Students and parents of students of Greenbelt High School who will attend Northwestern High School in the fall, will be pleased to learn that a former principal of Greenbelt High, John Speicher, will be their new principal. Mr. Speicher is at present a supervisor in the county.

Robert King, at present vice-principal of Greenbelt High, will become vice-principal of the new Bladensburg High School.

Mr. Hernick reports that there will be no overcrowding in the junior high school and that there will be ample room for a good club program.

New Registration Hours

Parents who did not register their children for kindergarten for the Center school last Friday, April 20, may do so Tuesday, May 1, from 2-4 p.m. in room 121. All parents who did not register their children for both kindergarten and first grade for the North End school may do so on Tuesday, May 1 from 11:30 to noon in room 105 and from 2:40 to 3:15 p.m. in room 104. Those who have obtained the necessary immunization records since registering on April 20, may bring them to the school office for recording any school day from 11:30 to 12 a.m.

Local Midgets Win Championship In Baseball, Football, Basketball

By Lee

Our Midget basketball team brought the basketball season to a very successful close last Wednesday evening by defeating Bladensburg Boys Club for the Prince Georges County Boy's Club Midget Basketball Championship. This was the final game of a three game play-off. Score, Greenbelt 24 - Bladensburg 22. Melloy was hi-scorer for Greenbelt with 11 points.

The Greenbelt Boys Club Midget teams in the three major sports came through with flying colors, winning county championships in baseball, football and now basketball. The 115-lb. basketball team won the three-team tournament between the YMCA, County recreation and County Boys Clubs. The Greenbelt Boys Club boxing team sent four boxers to the finals in the Washington Junior Golden Gloves and won two championships, 110-lb and 60-lb open. We feel that the boys are doing excellent work in the various sporting competitions while learning good sportsmanship and character building.

A new season is now opening up. Our baseball season will probably get underway about the middle of May. All teams are practicing now and looking pretty good. We plan to have our usual Midget team and probably two Junior teams due to the number of boys out, and a senior team. We plan to enter two junior teams in the county league in the two sections. Our main difficulty will be transportation for the boys to their out of town games, as we have to depend on parents who are willing and able to take the boys. The games will usually start at six p.m. Any parents of boys who feel they can help out on our transportation problem, please get in touch with Mr. Lee, 4067. The boys will have new white uniforms this season due to the generosity of various business organizations and the diligent work of Mr. Baker in obtaining advertising donations. Be sure to come out and see the boys in action this year.

First Aid Class Shows Civil Defense Film

The film "Pattern For Survival" will be shown Friday night, April 27 at 7:30 in the Home Economics room of the Center school. The public is urged to attend the showing of this film which gives an idea of what to expect in the event of an atom bomb attack and how to cope with the situation.

Immediately following the showing of the film the Red Cross first aid class, taught by Dick Bates and sponsored by the Woman's Club, will meet in its final session.

P. G. Hospital Holds Open House May 12

Prince George's General Hospital will have Open House in their new, modern, 125-bed addition on National Hospital Day, May 12.

Present plans are to open the doors of the new hospital at 2 p.m. All the residents of Prince George's County are invited to inspect their new hospital. Plans are now in the making for having displays of certain work that is contributed to the hospital; equipment will also be displayed.

CALL FOR DISCARDS

The Goodwill Industries are in need of used clothing, rugs, furniture, etc. They employ the crippled who otherwise would not have any means of self-support. Call Metropolitan 5940, and a Goodwill truck will pick up discarded things on the specified day.

GAC Sponsors Golf Tournament May 27

The Greenbelt Athletic Club is sponsoring a golf tournament to be held at the Allview Country Club at Ellicott City, on Sunday, May 27. All Greenbelt golfers are invited to participate in the contest in which the first and second place winners will be awarded trophies. The tournament fee, which includes the greens charges, will be $2.50.

Further details on handicaps, application forms, and arrangements for transportation can be obtained from the Tournament Committee Chairman Jack Swisher, 38-E Ridge, 4471, or from committee members Ladimir Alexander, 9-A Southway, 6819; Frank J. Galvin, 1-C Woodlandway, 4957; Arnold Prada, 23-B Ridge, 4736; and Harry C. Riley, 10-C Plateau, 6819.

North End Pupils Will Present Study Program

The pupils and teachers of North End school will present a program for the PBA on May 2 and 4 at 1:45 p.m. each day. The program, an outgrowth of social studies work during the school year, will be called a "Parade of Health." Invitations for the event are being made by the children for distribution to their parents.

Inasmuch as the auditorium is not large enough to accommodate those parents who usually attend a program by the entire school, children whose last names begin with the letters A-K will invite their parents for the performance on Thursday, May 3. Children whose last names begin with the letters L through Z will invite their parents for the program on Wednesday, May 4.

Cub Scouts Meet, Present Skit, Display

The April meeting of the Cub Scout Pack 202 was held Friday in the Community Church, with Mrs. Callanan (Den 4) in charge of the opening ceremonies. The Cubs studied "Railroading" in April. ## Letters To The Editor

THANK YOU

I want to thank the kind gentleman who lives in 45 or 54 Court of Ridge Road for giving my sister-in-law and niece, who came to see me Saturday and Sunday, a ride from the dairy of College Park to my home at 34 Court, Ridge Road, last Saturday at about 5 o'clock.

CLEAN UP THE CITY

Dear Editor:

I note that the present week is "Clean-up Week" in Greenbelt. That is a good thing. I have been noticing for some time how much in need of a real, good cleaning up some parts of Greenbelt are. The papers and other trash that are scattered around in some places are an eye-sore. I have noticed especially the grassy area near the Center parking lot, and the section covered with bushes just above the Drop-Inn Youth Center. All in amongst those bushes it is a mess. I hope that a really thorough clean-up job will be done not only in those places but throughout Greenbelt. Everyone should try to help in this clean-up drive.

Another thing that I have noticed is the amount of broken glass that is lying around nearly everywhere. That is very bad for any children who may go barefoot during the summer. Before the grass grew so long as it is now, the glass was plain to see, especially near the walks, where it would be broken and then pushed off. I think a special effort should be made to pick up as much broken glass as possible. And people should stop being so careless about breaking it and strewing it about. I am sure that most of the glass breakage outdoors was quite avoidable. If anyone breaks some glass accidentally, he should pick it up.

We people of Greenbelt have a very lovely and unique town, which is like a park all through. We should be proud of it and should think enough of it to keep it neat and clean and attractive at all times, not only in our home areas but in the public areas as well. I think it is a shame how careless and messy many people have been. Let us try to "turn over a new leaf" in this respect. But since I suppose there is not really much chance of any great improvement in the habits of the people, I wonder if it wouldn't be possible to have more frequent and thorough picking up of trash in the public areas by persons employed by the city for that purpose.

Elsie B. Reeves.

Spring Cleaning for Motors

Want to save critical materials? Make sure your car radiator gets a spring cleaning, advises the American Automobile Association. In 1950 some 35 million pounds of critical materials were used in repairing damage to automobile radiators. This damage was "caused in large part by neglect on the part of motorists," says AAA, which adds that some 700,000 radiator replacements were necessary

CALLING ALL PROVOLONE
LOVERS

The GCS price for Provolone cheese is double the price you could get it for elsewhere. At GCS Provolone is sold at $1.10 a pound. At the A&P the price is 55 cents a pound. They are both domestic cheeses, I am told. There is an independent supermarket in Kensington that also sells Provolone at 55 cents a pound. It looks like someone is taking GCS for a ride. At the cheaper price, Provolone is an inexpensive way of putting a little zest between two slices of bread.

CAR REPAIR - A BOOBY TRAP FOR CONSUMERS

Most of us know very little about a car. Fixing a car is a tricky business. This puts the driver at the mercy of the mechanic. A minor thing can be messing up the works, but too often you end up with a large bill involving unnecessary work.

As an illustration of what you can run into, I might tell of a personal experience. Some time ago I took my car in for a brake adjustment. It was a large outfit with an "excellent" reputation. In fact, it was an official brake adjustment station of the AAA. The fellow who was to adjust my brakes claimed that it was impossible to adjust them. "You need a new master cylinder", he said. I told him to make the best adjustment possible. He shook his head, worked on it for a while and refused to take my AAA card when he finished. Curiously enough my brakes worked well except for a slight imbalance. I then took the car to my regular mechanic who assured me that my master cylinder couldn't be defective. I took the car to another AAA station and had the brakes adjusted evenly. This was a half year ago. The brakes are in perfect working order (without a new master cylinder).

WHAT A CO-OP GARAGE COULD DO FOR YOU

A repair garage expertly manned, well organized and RUN HONESTLY can do wonders for a car owner. It can keep repair bills at a minimum in two ways. It saves the car owner from paying for unnecessary work; in addition it insures that he won't be skinned. To have such a garage in Greenbelt would give the owner the additional important advantage of convenience. It would be so nice if all you had to do was to drive or be pushed to the Greenbelt garage and you knew that your car would be taken care of.

Oh yes, another possible source of saving is the avoidance of a "swap shop" method of operation. Too often a mechanic puts in a new unit when the old unit is fine except for one small part.

GCS GARAGE - A GOOD REPUTATION FOR A LIMITED AMOUNT OF WORK

The repair garage in Greenbelt is run by Paul. He has a reputation for being a first-class mechanic. The other three employees are trainees. When I mentioned this to a mechanic friend of mine, he couldn't understand why one mechanic would want 3 helpers. Later on I shall discuss why this ratio is especially bad in Greenbelt.

The prices charged, from all I have been able to gather, are "regular book prices". I have heard nothing but favorable comments about the honesty and competence of work turned out.

The big shortcoming of the GCS Garage is that prompt regular service is the exception rather than the rule.

My space for this week has run out. Next Week: The facts on how and why the GCS Garage does not meet the needs of car owners. Concrete suggestions will be made on how GCS can perform maximum service to Greenbelt car owners.

distributor, and finally to the retailer, with other detours possible depending on the nature of the product. Each of the steps adds on a certain amount to the original selling price, counting in the costs of handling plus the customary profit.

Co-op Commentary

G.C.S. membership hit a new high this month. As the last of the stock was issued for last year's patronage refunds the total reached 3,009, a new record.

The total amount of stock outstanding is around $296,000, which is also a new high. The major increase in membership is from Greenbelt residents.

Only by a policy of rigorous prosecution of bad check cases can we keep out losses to a minimum.

There was a beef shortage in the Washington area the first part of this week. There is no prospect of drastic shortages of any type of meat, but it is quite possible that there will be short periods when certain items are unavailable.

Recent negotiations with our builders seem to indicate that we may have a meeting room available on the mezzanine floor in the new Takoma Superdrug building.

This would be of great advantage in holding various group meetings of employees, members, and area residents. There would also be a big advantage in having such a room to make available to civic organizations and clubs in the area.

MENTAL ILLNESS

Recent years have witnessed great popular as well as medical interest in the mental health problems of this nation. Federal and state legislation, books and magazine articles, and motion picture, radio, and television dramas dealing with mental abnormalities reflect this awareness.

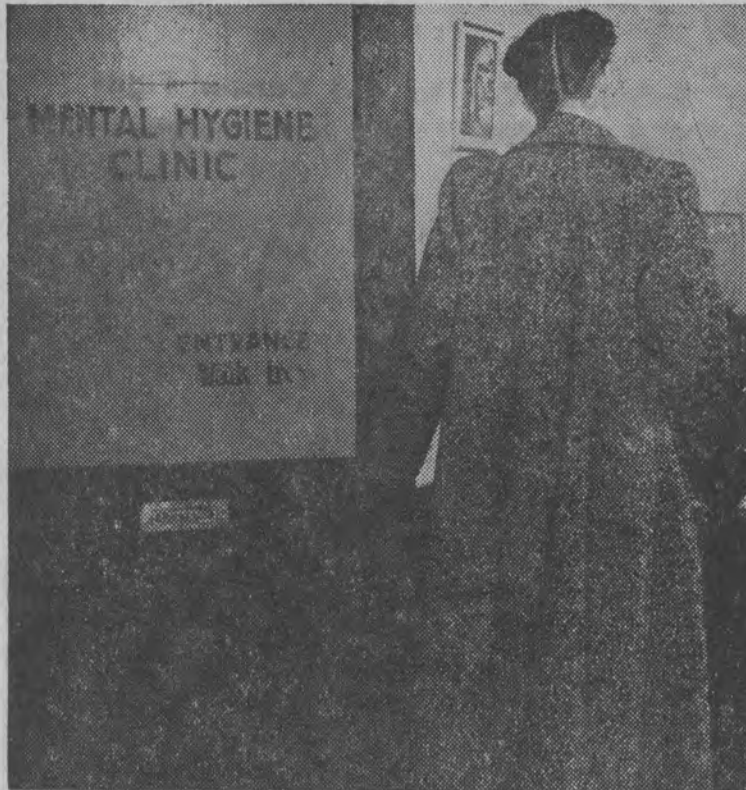

The number of persons suffering from mental ailments seems to justify concern. Nearly 700,000 mentally ill people are in hospitals, occupying half the total of all hospital beds in this country. In addition, it is estimated that there are eight to ten million people, not now hospitalized, who need treatment for mental ills of one kind or another.

These high figures do not necessarily indicate that mental illnesses are on the increase in this country. It may be that we are more aware of the problem because more attention is being paid to mental health than ever before. Moreover, increased medical knowledge of the human mind and its ills has helped doctors detect and treat more cases of mental illness.

Of course, all the mentally ill are not suffering from hopeless insanity. There are various kinds and degrees of mental illness, ranging from the simple and harmless to the more complex and dangerous. But the main thing for people to realize is that any mental or emotional disturbance is an illness like any physical disability and that it can be corrected in the majority of cases with proper medical treatment. And like physical illness, the earlier mental ailments are detected and treated, the easier the cure.

Mild mental and emotional troubles can frequently be treated by the family doctor, or by a specialist whom he recommends. Even in cases of severe mental illnesses, excellent work is being done by doctors, nurses, and medical social workers in hospitals and clinics. At least 65 per cent of patients cared for in mental hospitals today are discharged as cured or improved.

Social problems such as juvenile delinquency, sex crimes, alcoholism and high divorce rate, all of which concern community welfare, are believed to have their roots in mental illness. Since most adult mental ills can be traced back to childhood, preventive measures should begin early. Parents should do all they can to make a child feel loved and secure and to help him overcome early emotional difficulties.

Mental Health

The doors of Maryland's mental health clinics are open to troubled and emotionally disturbed people of all ages—men and women, little children or adolescent boys and girls. Within these clinics they will be welcomed by a psychiatrist, a psychiatric social worker and a psychologist. This professional team is ready to help them discover the nature and cause of their difficulties, provide treatment and lead them to an understanding of their problems.

Many patients become aware of their own needs and seek help of their own accord. Many others are referred to the clinics by the family physicians, public health nurses, schools or social agencies.

The function of mental health clinics is largely preventive. They treat mild mental and emotional disorders on an outpatient basis, usually seeing a patient for a half hour to an hour every week for several weeks and then less frequently.

In many instances early treatment or take steps to get him under medical care if he shows signs of serious mental disorders.

In most cases, mental illness develops slowly and gives warning signs before the more serious stages. As with most physical illnesses, it calls for prompt medical treatment so that the person afflicted can recover and lead a normal, happy life.

can prevent the development of more severe problems that might require hospitalization at some later date.

The present clinic program began in Maryland in 1947, when funds became available from the United States Public Health Service under the National Mental Health Act. Mental health clinics are carried on by the state and county health departments as an integral part of the public health program. Public health nurses in local health departments are active in mental health work.

Mental health clinics are now operating in 13 communities in 12 counties of Maryland. A clinic is held regularly in College Park, Prince Georges County, which is supported largely by the United States Public Health Service.

Mental Health Week, which is being observed throughout the United States during the week beginning May 2 and ending May 8, is an excellent time for residents of our county to acquaint themselves with the mental health clinic pro-

Veterans News

Veterans have only three months in which to complete arrangements for starting or resuming GI Bill training before the July 25, 1951 cut-off date.

To receive GI Bill education or training benefits after July 25, veterans must actually be in training on that date unless they have temporarily interrupted their courses for summer vacations or other reasons beyond their control, such as re-entry into military service.

The forthcoming summer school session will be virtually the last chance for veterans to enter or re-enter training before the deadline.

Veterans Administration pointed out that it takes time to process application for original or supplemental certificates of training eligibility and there may be a last-minute flood of applications for training if veterans delay their applications.

Those who have previously been in training and who desire to make a second change of course will be required to undergo advisement and guidance before VA can approve their applications.

After the deadline date:

1. Veterans will be expected to train "continuously until completion except for conditions which normally would cause interruption by any student."

2. Once a veteran completes or discontinues his course of GI Bill training he may not start another course and he may change his educational objective "only while in training and then for reasons satisfactory to the administrator."

The July 25 deadline applies to WW II veterans who were discharged before July 25 1947. For those who were released from service later, the cut-off date is four years from date of discharge.
