

The City Desk

The meetings of the City Council are conducted according to an established set of regulations approved and amended by the council then sitting, immediately after their assumption of office. The meetings are presided over by the Mayor, and are called to order promptly at eight o'clock.

The posted agenda is followed very closely except by action of council, and such action is generally taken only for the convenience of interested citizens present. Early on the agenda is an item, "Petitions and Requests," where citizens present any request or item they feel should come before Council for action or consideration, and quite often, if the matter appears later on the agenda, the mayor will ask fellow councilmen to advance the item for earlier consideration; and if it then does not appear on the agenda it may be discussed at the time it is presented, with the proper consent of Council.

Dog Bites Child; Then Disappears

The two-year old son of Morton Beroza, 2-G Plateau, was bitten or scratched on the lip by a dog on February 28. Police placed the animal under observation and custody of the owner, a local resident. Several days ago the dog disappeared from the home. A search was begun, and sound trucks were used last Sunday to broadcast its description: medium-sided black with several white spots.

In order to determine whether anti-rabies shots were necessary for the child, the condition of the dog had to be watched carefully for ten days. With the dog missing, no such determination could be made. The shots are painful, given daily for 14 days, and may inflict encephalitis (sleeping-sickness), according to Beroza.

A dog, answering to the description of the missing animal, was picked up dead by the maintenance department on Southway several days ago and was disposed of in the incinerator before any examination was made. Meanwhile Beroza consulted with several physicians including one specialist at the University of Maryland, state health authorities, and a veterinarian who had treated the dog a few days before the biting incident. After considering all the information, including the fact that the child's injury had been treated almost immediately, it was recommended that shots were unnecessary.

Legion Petition Shows 97% Vs. City Sale

According to a recent canvass made of the 215 members of the American Legion, Frank Dudley, Legion Commander, reports that "97% of the membership are against the sale of Greenbelt and would prefer to rent rather than buy."

Since Public Law 65 which authorized the sale of Greenbelt contained the words "may be sold," Dudley expressed the opinion that Greenbelt "doesn't have to be sold." He hesitated giving the reason for the Legion's canvass, and the purpose to which it would be put. He felt that the apartment houses in Greenbelt presented a problem that did not affect the Greendale project which operated duplex residences only. Greendale was sold successfully on a cooperative basis. Green Hills, the third of the sister "green" towns, was also sold, but was later turned back to the federal government.

Boys Club Activities

By Lee

The only score we have available as the paper goes to press is the victory of our 85 lb (Midget) team in the Prince Georges Recreational Tournament. They defeated Green Meadows in the finals 46 to 27, thereby taking the Championship in their weight class. Both teams entered in this tournament by Greenbelt Boy's Club came through undefeated. County league second-half scores will be published in net week's issue for all teams.

The program of activities for the annual "All Boy's Club Night", Saturday evening, March 29 has not been completed but will be published in the Cooperator before that date. Be sure and keep this date open as we are sure you will enjoy yourself. More information later also on the coming Boxing Show which will take place during the first half of April. See you next week.

GVHC Prepares Lower Charge Schedule; OPTION DEADLINE Extended 28 Days

By Ralph and Carolyn Miller

Members of Greenbelt Veterans' Housing Corporation will act March 26 on the terms of the perpetual use contracts for Greenbelt units and adopt by-laws for the corporation. The decision to hold a membership meeting on this date was made Monday at a special meeting of the board of directors.

The board also approved a plan that may lower monthly payments, voted to rent a trailer for office use, agreed to supply speakers for meetings of local groups, approved the formation of a personnel committee, and devoted a major part of the evening to details of the contract and the by-laws.

At the same time it was made clear that the deadline for fulfilling the conditions of the option to purchase Greenbelt had been extended from April 2, 1952 to April 30, 1952. To qualify, GVHC must have a deposit of $100 from each of 800 members, not all of whom need be Greenbelt residents, according to Mike Salzman, GVHC president. Following adoption of the contract and by-laws, it is believed the corporation will be ready to receive deposits.

Minimum Maintenance

Concerned with public reaction to the high monthly payments released two weeks ago, the board approved the proposal of the finance committee, headed by Adelbert C. Long, that figures be prepared based on minimum maintenance provided by the housing corporation. Under this plan the member would assume the responsibility for maximum maintenance of his unit. This proposal will provide a comparison with data based on present operating and maintenance costs which are being readied for mailing to residents.

Mr. Long told the Cooperator Tuesday night that if the estimates were complete, the membership could decide at the March 26 meeting which set-up was preferable: maximum service by GVHC at higher monthly charges or minimum service by GVHC at lower monthly payments.

In a companion recommendation, Long suggested to the Board a "self-help plan," whereby member-owners could secure from the corporation building supplies and paints at cost, and borrow or rent tools, ladders and other equipment from GVHC to enable them to maintain their homes in top condition.

Supplementing this suggestion were others from the finance committee: that residents with special skills in carpentry or painting be employed in their free time on the Greenbelt units; that adult education in home maintenance and improvement be set in motion; and that supervision and leadership in this direction be provided.

Trailer Office

GVHC's own housing problem has been solved by the rental of a trailer to be brought in to the Center early next week. The trailer will serve as an office and as an information center, with board members present to answer questions during evening hours and on weekends, according to the plan approved by the board. Bruce Bowman, chairman of the public relations committee, expressed the hope that a telephone might be installed to provide some relief for the board members and their families.

Senior Song Recital This Sunday at Center

Lydalu Palmer will present senior pupils in her second student voice recital of the season at 4 p.m., Sunday, March 16, in the Center school auditorium.

Performers will include Jean Flanigan, Daniel Johnson and Norma Knauer of Beltsville, John Fogarty, Lee Clark, Janice Anzulovic, Lewis Clark and Lydia Cicchetti of Berwyn, Carol Hackley and Nancy Lord of Washington, and Mike Littleton, Tony Salvan and Mrs. Frieda Bell of Greenbelt. Mrs. Hans Jorgensen is the accompanist. The public is cordially invited.

Pressing for an intensified public relations program, Earl Thomas presented a motion, adopted unanimously, whereby speakers from the board would be provided for meetings of local groups to explain the purpose and progress of GVHC. He announced that the Community Church has planned a meeting next Monday evening to discuss mutual housing and that he had agreed to chair the meeting.

GVHC Manager

Qualifications for the manager of GVHC are being lined up by a personnel committee composed of the board members on the finance committee, Long, Elliott A. Bukzin, Thomas Ritchie, plus 10 residents: Charles M. Cormack, Joseph P. Loftus, Martin Bickford, Jack Fruchtmann, Rev. E. T. Braund, Allen Morrison, J. Walsh Barcus, Mrs. Thomas Callanan, Nathan Shinderman, and Mrs. Oscar Zoellner. Announcement of this committee and its function was made by Mr. Long and approved by the board.

Changes in the perpetual use contract suggested by Bernard J. Bordenet were acted upon. He explained that a clause covering prepayment of charges by the member could not be drawn until the contract between PHA and GVHC is completed, as conditions in that contract would affect arrangements with the member making prepayment. It was unanimously agreed, however, that careful provision should be made for the protection of prepayments.

Correction

Last week's Cooperator stated that members could not sublet their units at a profit to themselves. Such profit is not prohibited under the proposed perpetual use contract. (The Board's approval of subletting is required and in the event the board refuses the application for subletting, the member may appeal to the membership at its next meeting.)

The board has scheduled a second meeting for this week to be held Friday, March 14, in the city council office.

Vital Statistics

All registered nurses, practical nurses, women who have had home nursing courses, and all those who hold current (issued in the last 3 years) Red Cross First Aid Certificates, please send your names and addresses to Miss Cyrilla O'Connor, Civil Defense Chairman for the Greenbelt Woman's Club, for use in the Civilian Defense Program. Names should be sent to Miss Cyrilla O'Connor, 15-B Parkway, or to the Town Office marked for her attention.

Vol. 16 Thursday, March 13, 1952 No. 30

Leases and Leashes

When a young child was bitten by a dog recently a series of unfortunate incidents occurred that focused everyone's attention on prevailing laws concerning pets in our community. Many of us are aware that our leases prohibit keeping pets in our households, but few know that a city ordinance provides that dogs within the city must be muzzled, kept on a leash and in the custody of a responsible person.

The strong desire of some citizens to keep pets has caused them to overlook the lease provision. Our landlord has been obviously lax in enforcement of this part of the lease. Several years ago citizens voted in a referendum to prohibit pets in Greenbelt. Nevertheless pets have been kept in homes and permitted to roam the community unmolested.

Now a local family must endure anxiety and anguish because of an inconsiderate citizen. During the next few months a child's life may hang in the balance.

Unless pets are controlled strictly in the future the welfare of every child in Greenbelt is endangered. This is a City of children. Much planning was done to protect them from traffic, to provide adequate play areas, to safeguard their health and to foster their growth in natural surroundings. Permitting uncontrolled animals to mingle with children is criminal. Those harboring pets at present are undertaking a profound responsibility.

We urge PHA to begin a program to enforce that part of the lease which prohibits pets. We insist that the police take into custody any stray dogs in Greenbelt and provide for their disposal as defined in the city ordinance. We beseech those citizens who persist in violating the law to inoculate their dogs with anti-rabies shots, available at any veterinarian's or at the University of Maryland.

Babies Need Mothers

The most important period in the world, to a mother, is the time when her baby is growing up—all the years from just a little toddler on up.

These "growing up" years with mother are just as necessary to the baby. That is why Family Income insurance is so important. If the bread-winner dies, the widow receives money every month so she will not have to be away at work—she and the toddler can enjoy the growing-up years together. Ask about it . . . just call

It's a good thing we've done so much in six years!

YOU can't imagine how busy telephone lines are these days! . . . They're speeding production on bombs and bazookas . . . tanks and tourniquets . . . rushing raw materials . . . giving people in the Armed Forces a chance to go home by Long Distance. And, of course, they're handling thousands of other personal and business calls every day.

Fortunately, we—like the rest of the Bell System—have been getting ready for today's rush job. Expanding, improving telephone service. Here in Maryland, we have spent more than $128,000,000 in the past six years and added more than 286,000 telephones.

But we can't stop here. We must continue to build an even stronger telephone system to meet the nation's growing defense demands. This, of course, will require additional capital. That's why a financially strong telephone company is so important today.
