Flight From the Facts

As the day of decision on the purchase of Greenbelt approaches, several facts are taking shape through the rather hysterical atmosphere which has characterized the public reaction.

For one thing, we have grown soft. Having lived for so long in a planned community, protected more fully than we have realized from housing hazards outside our little "Eden", we have been trying to stall off our inevitable fate. But we cannot evade the fact that the tenor of the times has shifted in the 15 years since the start of the experiment we have been privileged to share; and that we, like everyone else in the world, must perforce adapt to the change.

We retain the physical advantages of a community whose original homes, lawns, playgrounds, playing fields, and landscaping were the best the most important talents of the Roosevelt administration could devise. We retain the swimming pool. We retain the lake and its recreational area, even now being improved by local organizations working with the state. We can look forward to the benefits of the proposed golf course, the continued development of the Department of Interior land, the improvement of the lake, the completion of the Baltimore highway.

We retain, whether we realize it or not, a cooperative way of life. Very few residents have escaped getting involved in some kind of cooperative in Greenbelt, from nursery school to newspaper. It seems fitting that we continue in that spirit, to agree on our aim and work together towards its achievement.

Those residents who wish to buy their homes in Greenbelt, and sincerely distrust the alternatives, can be rightfully indignant at this evasion of reality on the part of wishful thinkers.

We believe that all residents who want to buy should be guaranteed their right to buy mutually, without interference from those who do not want to buy—and who must still adjust, like it or no, to the changes confronting them.

Interior Contemplates Greenbelt Golf Course

By Isadore Parker

An 18-hole golf course may be built on Greenbelt property within the next two years, according to Severine Leoffler, president of the Leoffler Operating Company in Washington. Leoffler leases and manages all of the Washington golf courses. The Department of Interior informed him last week that they were interested in developing the Greenbelt land deeded to the agency by the Public Housing Administration prior to the sale announcement as a recreation area and wish to begin with a golf course.

At present funds for such a project are not available. However, Leoffler stated, Congress has rarely appropriated funds for such a purpose; money is usually obtained from other departments within the agency. Financing probably will be arranged through Leoffler himself.

Luxury Clubhouse

A topographic map of the area has been submitted to William Gordon, of Philadelphia, a world famous golf-course architect. Gordon will finish the drawings within the next month, it was disclosed. Largest cost, according to Leoffler, will be the clubhouse, estimated at $150,000. The course will lie between Greenbelt and Beltsville, with the new Baltimore Parkway adjacent to it.

The Greenbelt property is the only land available to the federal government in the area for such a purpose. Several Washington courses are too small, need adequate drainage, and have limited facilities. Another course is needed, Leoffler stated, and the Greenbelt links will definitely be the next one developed. "A new course will probably be completed and in operation within the next three years," Leoffler declared.

Board Wants Advice On Theatre Closing

By George C. Reeves

The board of directors of Greenbelt Consumer Services last Friday night debated management's suggestion to close down the Greenbelt theater three days a week in order to offset steady financial loss. Unwilling to make an immediate decision, they agreed to hold an open meeting on this question Tuesday, April 8 at 8 p.m. in the office over the drug store, where the public will be invited, to suggest remedies and a course of action.

Financial arrangements in connection with the transfer of commercial real estate to cooperative ownership were also considered, such as raising money by refinancing the land under the supermarket.

In addition, it was suggested that GCS might indirectly help residents to obtain loans with which to make down-payments on homes through GVHC, possibly through an arrangement with the Union Trust Company, using GCS shares as partial security for the loans. Discussions on these matters will be continued with the appropriate committee of the new GVHC board.

Sam Ashelman, GCS general manager, reported that certain details of the lease under which commercial buildings are rented from the Government are being clarified by negotiation. The Board authorized the officers of the corporation to sign the necessary documents.

Henry Walter, chairman of the membership committee, reported that the largest increase in membership since 1938 occurred in 1951, mainly due to efforts of the staff.

Replying to Harry Zubkoff's proposal for a news letter, management stated that plans were already well under way by direction of the previous board.

Week-end B'Ball

Intermediate team defeated Mt. Rainier 48-21 last Thursday night.

Of the four games played on All Boys' Club night, Saturday, Greenbelt won 3 (Midgets, Intermediates, Juniors); Bladensburg 1 (Seniors).

18 Win Ribbons At Science Fair

There were approximately 110 student entries in the Greenbelt Junior High School Science Fair held March 21 in the school auditorium.

Eighteen ribbons were awarded and twelve honorable mentions in the categories of engineering, physical sciences, physiological and biological sciences.

First place winners were: Engineering: Herbert Bird for his Modulated Light Beam with Phonograph and Oscillator, and Phil Guidry for his Reaching for Oil. Physical Sciences, Jand Audrusic and Lois Bennett for their Rainbow Dyes. Biological, Mary Michael Rupert and Sharon Thomas for Narcotics and You; Warren McKay for The Effects of Hormones on Plant Growth. Physiological, Mildred Elder and Sharon Romer for The Gems in Mother Nature's Ring; David Schurr for Coal, the Heat of the Earth.

Second Place winners were: Engineering, Paul Wester, for Simon the Little Moron; Dotty Buckwalter and Kathy Mott for To Eat or Not to Eat. Biological, Patricia Creegan and Madlyn Stutz for Some Human Parasites; James Hampton's Jumper the Frog.

Third Place winners were: Engineering, Ted Bauer's Model Filtration Plant; Robert Myers for his Ships Used During the Second World War. Physical, Jerry Cooley and Wayne Sams for Alcohol and its Uses. Biological, Marie Dixon and Judy Taylor for Ring Around the Tree Trunk; and Janet Cochran and Carolyn Derflinger for The Art of Embalming. Physiological, Elmer Edsinger and Buddy Giersch for Black Gold.

Honorable Mentions were: Physical, Fire Hazards and Their Prevention by Janet Parker. Physiological, Smoal the Volcano by Marion Jones and Marele Hennessey. Biological, Moldy Things by Shirley Mayhugh and Jean Flanagan; Ant Town U.S.A., by Donald Zocchi; The Anatomy of a Muskrat by David Hawkins and David Lee; Brother Rat by Edith Jackson and Joyce Beeler; The Life of Avocado Plant by Maureen Moore and Joyce Kling; Teeth by Lenore Parsons, Jackie Spates and Sally Gerard; Hippity-Hop the Frog and What's Inside by Jean Holler and Hope Lawson; Natural Woods of Maryland by Peter Clark; and Animals and Plants Depend on Each Other for Life-Giving Air by Bill Vincent.

Judges for the evening were: Dr. Neil Stuart, USDA, Plant Industry Station, Beltsville; Dr. Summer O. Burhoe, Professor of Zoology, University of Maryland; Mr. Paul S. Schaffer, Senior Chemist, USDA, Beltsville; Dr. Lewis P. Ditman, Asst. Professor of Entomology, University of Maryland; Mr. Howard Hunt, Oil Technical, USDA, Beltsville; and Mr. Joseph Guard, Asst. Professor of Engineering, University of Maryland.

"King of Kings"

Cecil B. DeMille's "King of Kings" will be presented in the Center School auditorium Palm Sunday evening, April 6, showing at both 7 and 9 p.m.

The film, which is non-sectarian, is being sponsored by the Mowatt Memorial Methodist Church.

There will be no admission charge but a free-will offering will be taken, proceeds to be used for the church building fund.

GVHC Members Approve Contract; Discuss Plans For Undeveloped Land

Members of the Greenbelt Veterans Housing Corporation last night approved the contract between members and the corporation, with the understanding that the board could change wording of the contract to clarify legal expressions without changing the "substance" of the content. Contract approval followed an attempted step-by-step consideration of each provision which consumed a great deal of time.

Mike Salzman, president, explained the board "thinking" on the problem of the undeveloped land. Three parcels of land are offered; at $1500 an acre (between Crescent Road extended and Beltsville), $1000 an acre (surrounding the lake), and $500 an acre, between Glenn Dale Road and Greenbelt. The last parcel is cheapest, because least improved and more expensive to develop.

Quick development is desired, Salzman explained, because it would reduce the city's tax burden. Financing could be arranged through the Peoples Development Corporation, a non-profit subsidiary of Farm Bureau. (Down payment funds for the land would be arranged with the understanding that PDC would also be given the mortgages on the homes built.) Homes could be built under three plans: cooperative-built apartments and multiple dwellings to be owned by the corporation; groups of homes to be built cooperatively, with the ownership going to the members after construction is finished; and privately-built individual homes. Precautions against speculation would be recommended by the board. GVHC hopes to take advantage of federal housing legislation which permits long-term amortization and low down-payments. Both Salzman and board member Thomas Ritchie emphasized that the prospect of profit from the sale of undeveloped land is practically non-existent. The cost of surveying, and installing roads and waterlines and sewer facilities, would raise the cost of lots to that of other real estate in the area. Ritchie challenged any member to show him how profit could be made on the disposal of the undeveloped land.

Board member John Beckham made a last-minute appeal to the late-stayers to reconsider the membership's decision last week to require 800 residents to put $100 down before negotiations with PHA continue. In effect, Beckham maintained, the membership voted to allow a few outsiders to buy Greenbelt while it required 800 members of GVHC to get together for purchase. "Even if only five residents wanted to buy their homes in Greenbelt, it would be unfair for the membership to deny them that privilege by saddling them with such a provision," Beckham declared. He urged a motion to reduce the 800 figure to 533 at the next meeting of GVHC.

Last speaker at the meeting, a local resident, exploded a bombshell when he announced that he had confidential information that another federal agency plans to purchase Greenbelt if the project is not sold to the residents. (Later investigation by the Cooperator disclosed that a nearby Army installation is interested in the purchase to provide housing for Army personnel and their families. Plans included making an officers' club out of the Center school.) The resident reminded the audience that tenants have only a thirty-day lease with PHA and could be dispossessed on such short notice.

'A Policeman's Lot' Ends At Wayside Inn

A farewell dinner was held Monday night at the Wayside Inn honoring Officer Albert J. Nuzzo who resigned from the Police Department to take a job with the C&T Telephone Company.

Among those present were Reverend Eric T. Braund, Councilmen Steve L. Comings and Thomas J. Canning, Commander Frank W. Dudley of the American Legion, Leo Mullen (former resident of Greenbelt), City manager Charles T. McDonald, presiding for Mayor Frank Lastner who is ill, and members of the Public Safety Department of Greenbelt.

Fish Gone, Lake Dry But Cans Multiply

The Izaak Walton League met last Thursday with State Fish Conservation manager, Donald Gilbert, to hear a detailed report of the progress so far at the Greenbelt lake. At that time nearly all game fish had been transplanted, for future restocking here.

According to Waltonian president, Edgar Swisher, considerable carp have been removed and disposed of, as well as eight turtles. The remainder of the fish were to be removed Friday and Saturday as the water receded.

On the recommendation of the State Conservation Department the lake is to remain empty for some time to allow for conditioning of the bottom to promote better opportunities for the restocked fish. Much debris has to be removed and a large crew of Waltonians, scouts and volunteers are expected to be on hand at every opportunity to assist in the work. Children and grownups are requested to refrain from throwing any bottles, cans, sticks, stones and refuse into the mud, which must be kept cleared.

Genuine Northcool sport suits will be a pleasure to wear this spring. Available in the season's newest ice cream colors, they are priced at only $3.95. To go with them and ideal for either dress or sport, are rayon gabardine slacks, ordinarily a $5.00 value for only $3.98.

On display now is a suit made by Mrs. Allen of this new linen-like rayon fabric. The fabric looks and feels just like fine linen but only costs a third as much. Some of our customers are also making some lovely kitchen cloths from it. The price, $1.09 yd. If you want, you can select your Easter basket this week to be put on layaway for the following week. If you have forgotten anything, could it be a card from our wide selection or perhaps some ribbon for that spring bonnet?
