

North End Store Remodeling Out; GCS Board Splits Over By-Laws

By Ellie Ritchie

Plans to invite North End residents to the board meeting of Greenbelt Consumer Services, for a discussion of remodeling the North End store, were abruptly cancelled yesterday when management was informed by the local PHA office that no alterations will be permitted in the structure. The board of directors has approved funds for removing the partitions in the lower floor of the building, originally a four-unit frame dwelling. The plot on which it stands is considered commercial property by the government, and is up for sale with other commercial areas.

Last Friday's board meeting took up the problem of continuing loss on Monday nights at the Greenbelt theater. At the suggestion of management, the board voted to approve closing the theater on Monday nights if the receipts continue to decline over the next four to six weeks.

Pharmacist Si Pearson has taken over at the Takoma Park drugstore to replace Jack Borenstein, who recently resigned. Lou Burt was approved by the board as head pharmacist at Greenbelt.

Plans for the annual membership meeting scheduled for Wednesday, April first, were reviewed by the board, and a timetable set up to permit early adjournment. Reports from officers and management, as well as from committee chairmen, will be in writing. Starting with a movie at 8 p.m., the plan calls for election of board members and auditing committee at 9:30, with discussion of by-law changes to follow.

In an effort to save time at the membership meeting, the directors considered the by-law amendments to see if they could come to agreement on recommending them to the members for passage. On none of the suggested changes, however, was there unanimous agreement. Elimination of quarterly meetings and the enabling changes necessary, to take care of required business formerly transacted at those meetings were approved 7 to 1, Harry Zubkoff dissenting. (Vice-President William C. Arntz was not present.) Zubkoff's own proposal to limit directors and members of the auditing committee to two consecutive one-year terms, with intervals of a year between service, was not seconded by any of his colleagues. Vote on a proposal to have all-day elections, as was done at the recent housing corporation meeting, was split three ways — Schwimer, Solomon, Zubkoff and Lewis in favor, Davidsen opposed, and Walter and Winegarden not voting.

General Manager Sam Ashelman congratulated the directors on their vote to recommend elimination of the quarterly meetings, since he felt a board recommendation would help the membership to decide the matter without too much discussion. Board president Walter Bierwagen, who will act as chairman of the membership meeting, stated that he plans to limit time for discussion on each of the topics, as well as the number of times any one person can have the floor.

Panagoulis Warns Reckless Speeders

The Greenbelt police department is cracking down on "hot-rodders", with fifteen arrests since February of teenagers for speeding within the corporate limits. The young people have been taken to court and fined.

Police Chief George Panagoulis warns against further violations. Two of the offenders were racing their cars on Ridge and Crescent roads, he said.

PHA Opens Bids On Apartments

Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation submitted its bids yesterday on apartment buildings here offered by Public Housing Administration. Bids were opened at two p.m. today in the PHA Washington office.

The GVHC board at Thursday's meeting decided that the Greenbelt Development Corporation (subsidiary of GVHC) will operate any apartments purchased in the event of a successful bid. The subsidiary was formed to handle the undeveloped land, but if an apartment bid is successful, another subsidiary will be formed for the land development.

Loan of a twenty percent down-payment for an apartment building purchase will be made by Peoples Development Corporation, negotiations with whom have been previously announced. PHA will carry a 25-year, 4½% mortgage on the apartment buildings, it was explained.

Should GVHC acquire any of the apartments, profits on their operation will accrue to members of GVHC through prepayment of the mortgage held by PHA on the dwelling units. This policy was made clear by the board, as well as the arrangement that no liability will accrue to GVHC should operation of the apartments result in a loss.

Moving Time

The board took action to extend a four-day period to persons moving into new homes here before rent charges on the new home are made. Previously, rent was collectable upon delivery of the keys by GVHC.

Considerable confusion has resulted from a letter mailed to some buyers which has been misinterpreted to mean that a family moving into a new home here had eleven days for decoration and moving before rent on the new unit would be collected. Manager Paul Campbell told The Cooperator that an owner will be charged rental on the new unit four days after he picks up the keys from GVHC.

Gardeners, GVHC Allot Garden Space

Allocation of garden space for 1953 will be made at a meeting of the Garden Club and representatives of Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation to be held tomorrow night at 8 p.m., in Room 120 of the center school.

Mrs. Mary Jane Kinzer, GVHC director of sales and services, announced that residents who used garden space last year may have the same area this season. Mrs. Kinzer said she hoped that all interested gardeners would attend the meeting tomorrow so that as complete an assignment of garden space as possible can be made.

The Garden Club will handle all future allocations, she said, and all records will be turned over to them.

What Goes On

Thursday, March 19 - Interior decorating meeting, Greenbelt theater, 8:15 p.m.

Friday, March 20 - Garden assignments, 8 p.m., room 120 of Center school.

Saturday, March 21 - First of three city-sponsored Clean-Up Days. Trash truck available for disposal of bulky objects.

Greenbelt Council Turns Kelly Green

City Manager Charles McDonald greeted council members last Monday night with "top o' the evening" in observance of St. Patrick's eve. He was sporting a green tie—Kelly green. He was offered best wishes by councilmen James McSmith, Thomas O'Canning, McMayor Francis J. O'Lastner, James O'Wolfe, and Benjamin McGoldfaden.

Boys Club Night Features 3 Games

The Boy's Club of Greenbelt will again hold its annual Boy's Club night promptly at 7 p.m., Saturday, March 28, in the auditorium of the Greenbelt Center School.

Three basketball games will be played. The Midgets, Intermediates and Juniors will meet three top teams from Bladensburg. These three games should prove to be a test of defense and offensive basketball for both clubs.

The Greenbelt Community Band under the newly appointed band director, Michael Ronca, and the famed majorettes under the directorship of Mrs. Ethel Perazzoli, will perform between 8 and 9.

Admission charge will be 25 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children.

Band Concert Features Majorette Soloists

With less than a week remaining before their initial performance of the year, the Greenbelt Band and majorettes are hard at work putting the finishing touches to their numbers. Besides their regular group routines, the majorettes are featuring special performances by Paula and Rhonda Bibler, Ann Walker, Nancy Kurth and Judy Lewis.

The concert will be presented to the public Wednesday, March 25, at 8 p.m. in the Center school auditorium. Everyone is invited to attend, and admission is free. Special invitations have been extended to city officials and others who have contributed to the musical development of the band and majorettes.

Dates Set For NRA Rifle Match

The second annual Middle Atlantic NRA Sectional Indoor Rifle Championships are scheduled to open Friday evening, March 20, at the University of Maryland range in College Park. The Terrapins Rifle and Pistol Club is cooperating with the Greenbelt Gun Club to conduct the affair which will run four days, March 20, 21, 27 and 28.

Council, Pepco Locked In Franchise Stalemate; Rate Still Undecided

Using the urban rate as a weapon, the Potomac Electric Power Company is still dickering for a franchise with the city of Greenbelt. At a meeting of the two groups last week, City Manager Charles McDonald and Mayor Francis J. Lastner offered PEPCO a ten-year franchise. Pepco wanted a perpetual franchise.

State Water Law To Exempt Greenbelt

A threat to the city's operation of the water and sewage utility last week was somewhat abated, when the city council was assured that legislation proposed in the state legislature to include Greenbelt in the district to be served by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission would be amended to exempt Greenbelt. A. R. Hassall, chairman of the county delegation to the House of Delegates, informed city manager Charles McDonald that they would approve no legislation that would adversely affect Greenbelt.

Officials of WSSC would not admit to sponsoring the legislation, McDonald disclosed. Suspicion of WSSC resulted from their long refusal to establish a rate for water purchased wholesale from them by the city. It was deemed possible by McDonald that residents of areas near Greenbelt may have requested such action in order to be served by the commission.

At the request of a citizen, Mrs. John Warne, it was again explained that the seemingly high water rate for local consumers is based on consumption of water during the past several years. PHA purchased slightly less than $60,000 worth of water, and revenue from water bills by the city will amount to the same. Only economical use of water will lower the rate, Mayor Frank Lastner asserted. Meanwhile, McDonald is preparing a message to all citizens explaining the water rate, as directed by council at a previous meeting.

City Solicitor Ralph Powers advised the council, through McDonald, that it may be wise to ask for "permissive legislation" in the sanitary commission's bill, which would permit WSSC to serve Greenbelt if the city so desired at a later date. A hearing on the subject will be held in Annapolis tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

GTA Readies Case

The Greenbelt Tenants Association, through its attorney, G. Gregg Evergam, is now ready to test its case before the Office of Rent Stabilization, according to Dan Vucci, board member of the GTA.

Evergam has filed a formal petition with the ORS requesting a hearing on the original Public Housing Administration petition to the ORS for a rent increase. Dan Vucci said sufficient grounds have been established in individual cases, based on maintenance and service complaints, to reduce rents in most instances.

A GTA committee will meet Friday, March 20 at 8:30 p.m. in the home economics room of the Center School to accept additional complaints.

The legal action being taken by the rent protest group is, in one instance, based on decreased services and in another, on the validity of the PHA rent increase petition.

At the city council meeting last Monday night, a letter from Pepco asking for a fifty-year franchise was read by city clerk Winfield McCamy. McDonald revealed that the power company has computed the bills, but is awaiting the city's decision about a franchise before determining the rate. Pepco informed McDonald that it will not ask the Public Service Commission for the urban rate unless the franchise agreement is satisfactory.

The council decided to request a 30-year franchise, and to continue negotiations on that basis. Councilman James Smith and the manager agreed that the urban rate was completely justified since a fee for the franchise was not involved. Mayor Lastner explained that Pepco's request for a franchise extending 35 years or more is reasonable, since the utility issues bonds covering a similar period. Also, investment in equipment is substantial and good business practice alone requires that they have reasonable protection, Lastner added.

Pepco is also asking for the right to serve areas beyond Greenbelt through the city. Negotiations will continue next week, it is expected.

Pepco has franchise agreements with less than half the communities in Maryland that it serves, it was disclosed.

Canine Capers Plague Police

Two cases of dog bites, one of which resulted in a court case, occurred last week in the north end of Greenbelt, according to Police Chief George Panagoulis. In addition, he said, his staff is swamped with calls asking that dogs be picked up.

The bites were not serious — in neither case was the skin broken. However, Panagoulis explained, one family had been warned several times to keep its dog tied up as many complaints had come in. When the dog finally nipped a child, the police officer charged the owner with "letting a dog run loose without leash or muzzle," a violation of Ordinance 1954 of the City of Greenbelt.

In the second case, no charge was made as the family agreed to keep the dog on a leash at all times.

During the last six weeks, the police officers have had to spend about double the time previously spent in picking up dogs, answering complaints about dogs, and turning loose dogs over to the Animal Rescue League.

Decorator Show Set For Tonight

Tonight a home decoration program will be presented at the Greenbelt Theatre. Time: 8:15 p.m.; sponsors: Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation and Greenbelt Consumer Services.

In addition to a presentation by an interior decorator on the selection of colors and fabrics, a color film will be shown to dramatize the effectiveness of well-chosen color combinations.

Vol. 17 Thursday, March 19, 1953 No. 31

Space For All

What Greenbelt needs is not only a new Youth Center but a Community Center in which all city organizations could share, including the municipal government. Keeping in mind the high cost of construction, it appears that the erection of a new building to house just the Youth Center, which is active mainly in the evenings, would be an unnecessary luxury. While we all realize the desirability of providing wholesome recreational outlets for teen-agers, there are other age-groups of youngsters for whom we want to furnish instruction and guidance in music, dancing, athletics, crafts, citizenship, and similar cultural and educational projects.

Then too, there are adult groups in town which meet for social or educational purposes, or are doing good work to make our city a better place to live in. All these community activities have a claim to space.

No organization, not even the municipal government, should think its space needs are the most important. The needs and desires of all the citizens, who pay taxes, should be carefully considered in any building plan calling for large expenditures of money.

What Price Responsibility?

The high compensation recently voted for directors of the Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation by its members has undoubtedly set off a chain reaction in thinking which may likely lead to increases in fees for similar paid positions in other local organizations. The introduction of this measure by President Mike Salzman at the March membership meeting was incongruous with his statement at the same meeting that one of the board's main objectives in the days ahead would be to make every effort constantly to decrease costs in operating the corporation.

As a result of GVHC membership approval to pay its directors $400 and its officers $500 a year, a proposal will be made at the April 1 annual meeting of Greenbelt Consumer Services to increase the maximum $84 yearly fee for its directors. Also, the membership of the Greenbelt Cooperative Publishing Association has voted to pay the editor and appropriate staff members of The Greenbelt Cooperator, when and if money is available. It is expected that fees for members of the city council and the Mayor will also come under examination with an eye to raising their $250 fees.

This trend in Greenbelt is going to mean money out of our pockets because whenever someone is paid, someone else has to foot the bill. Further, this swing to larger fees is not apt to encourage volunteer activity in the many other local organizations which depend on such enlistment.

Dog Dilemma

Despite the increasingly large number of dogs being imported into Greenbelt these days, there is evidence that a great many residents still object to opening the community to such pets. Apparently the Police Department is kept hopping answering complaints against dogs. The majority of calls coming into the police switchboard consists of calls of this nature and the police in self-defense are toughening up and putting teeth in the dog ordinance.

The police officers have plenty of work to do without taking time out to act as dogcatchers. Moreover, it is not the responsibility of the city to permit or forbid the ownership of dogs by Greenbelters.

Dogs are not permitted in this city. The Public Housing Administration lease provision prohibiting dogs in homes has been carried over by the Greenbelt Veteran Housing Corporation although apparently they have no effective means of enforcing it. Public opinion may remain the only possible way to clear the community of dogs. Let us hope it will not take a tragedy to start the ball rolling.

GRAVE STORY

A few weeks ago there appeared a news item in your paper to the effect that there recently had been discovered an unknown cemetery in the area of the Maintenance Department.

It may interest you to know that the residents who have been gardening in that area have known of the cemetery for quite a number of years. I thought you might be interested in knowing that this was not news to quite a number of Greenbelt residents, both present and former, and I for one was surprised to know that the Cooperator staff did not know of the Hamilton burial plot.

Josephine L. Brown.

IN ANSWER TO LONG

In last week's Cooperator, A. C. Long wrote with some disfavor of the Hare system of proportional representation, used in election of board members of GVHC and many other organizations. Since a recount of the ballots by the plurality system (a recount based on the not-too-accurate assumption that voters would have placed X's next to candidates whom they numbered 1 to 9) indicated that Ed Burgoon would have been the leading candidate in that count and Mr. Long would not have been elected, Mr. Long offered to give his directorship to Mr. Burgoon if GVHC members will discard PR.

PR and plurality have different objectives, and naturally often produce different results. (In the case at hand, seven of the directors would have been the same, two would have been different.) The plurality method is one of many systems seeking to measure the relative popularity of candidates. It often gives the entire representation to the more popular point of view - a board which is supported by a small majority is likely to be reelected in toto;

The new President extended a special invitation to all newcomers in the Parish to become members of the Holy Name Society, while a well organized opposition may also elect a solid slate of its candidates. PR, on the other hand, tries to provide representation on the board for all substantially supported points of view.

In the case of the last election, the recount of ballots showed rather conclusively that Mr. Burgoon was a more popular candidate than Mr. Long, and if Mr. Long believes that that is the proper criterion for election, he would be quite justified in stepping aside for Mr. Burgoon. However in doing so he would leave unrepresented the quota of 23 voters who elected him and whose viewpoints he represents. These 23 voters (18 of whom designated Mr. Long as their first choice) showed by their ballots that they preferred Mr. Long to any other candidate whom they could have helped elect. In passing it might be noted that 151 of the 223 voters in the election - over two thirds - had their ballots counted for and are represented by the candidate whom they marked as their number one choice.

In trying to analyze the results of the last GVHC election, it may be recalled that Mr. Long's statement at the membership meeting indicated rather strong objection to certain actions of the past board. He was presumably elected by persons who share his views. Although I often find myself in disagreement with Mr. Long's views, and although I have the greatest respect and admiration for Mr. Burgoon, I think that the "anti-administration" point of view should have its representation on the board - and that is what PR gave it. Therefore I hope that Mr. Long will not forsake those who elected him and that he will continue to serve on the board.

As for PR itself, we have used it for more than a decade in Greenbelt, and we have seen through the years how faithfully it has given representation to the different viewpoints in our community. I am sure that any objective review will show it has served us well.

WALTER R. VOLCKHAUSEN.

Guild Sponsors Movie To Help Launch CYO

Action was taken by the St. Hugh's Parents Guild Tuesday to launch the Catholic Youth Organization athletic program in Greenbelt. At its regular March meeting, the Guild voted to raise the necessary funds for baseball and softball uniforms and equipment by sponsoring the color movie "Miracle at Fatima". It will be shown at the Greenbelt Theater on April 7 and 8.

"The Miracle of Fatima" is the true story drama of the famous miracle which occurred 35 years ago in the little town of Fatima, Portugal.

Andy O'Connell, president of the Guild, announced that arrangements have been made for both matinee and evening performances on both days.

Tickets are being sold in advance and may be obtained at the GCS office over the drug store or at the police station after 4 p.m. daily. Members of the ticket committee will also contact local residents within the next ten days.

The Greenbelt Midgets basketball team was defeated in league play by University Park, making this its first defeat in the second half. Final score was University Park 27, Midgets 20. The top two scorers for the Midgets were Kenny Reamy 7, Don Bullion 5.

The Intermediates of Greenbelt won their first game of the second half by defeating Takoma Park 54-31. Score at the half time was 29-8 with the Intermediates keeping the lead with ease right up to the final whistle. Top high scorers for Greenbelt were Mike Canning with 12, followed by Tony Baker with 7 points.

The Greenbelt Juniors in league play defeated Beltsville 63-48. The eleven boys who saw action for the Juniors all made the scoring column. Joe Ashley was high with 16 points followed by Carl Carso with 12. Wednesday, March 11, the Juniors came in contact with Riverdale defeating them 35-28. Tim Woods held their star performer to one basket in the three periods he played. The Juniors in this game played very good defensive basketball. They still remain unbeaten in league play. Top scorers for the Juniors were Joe Ashley with 13, and Splurge Curry with 11.

The Greenbelt Seniors played an exhibition game at Pocomoke, Maryland. The score at the half time was 24-9. The Seniors played

 Ten-year-old Jimmy Panagoulis was "a-wearin' of the green" in the St. Patrick's Day parade in New York City. The entire student body of Leonard Hall, the school in Leonardtown, Maryland, that he is attending, went by train to New York on Monday, marched in the parade on Tuesday, and returned Wednesday night after a day spent in sightseeing. Mrs. Panagoulis, Jimmy's mother, went along also for the three-day holiday.

It's a welcome back we're wishing to Ed and Kitty Turner, who have been away from Greenbelt for about four years and are now living with their five children at 35-G Ridge Road. The Turners had been in Leonardtown and for the past year in Berwyn Heights.

Lil and Lou Gerstel have moved just across the walk from their old house into 14-Z Ridge Road. Their new phone is 2356.

Sonia Garin flew to Cleveland last Saturday to attend the triennial convention of the national convention of the National Council for Jewish Women, as the representative from the Greenbelt section.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kaighn, 13-V Ridge Road, have as their house guest her sister, Mrs. Charles Ore of Philadelphia; she has been here for about a month. Last week end another sister, Mrs. Howard Henzell, also from Philadelphia, came down to help Mrs. Ore celebrate her birthday.

Lars Bronstein, 11-K Ridge, underwent an emergency appendectomy last week at Prince George's Hospital and is at home recuperating.

Barbara Skolnik underwent an operation on Monday at George Washington Hospital. It's rough for little folks to be ill these lovely spring days; we wish her a very speedy recovery.

Bill Turner, 2-K Westway, is up and around now on crutches and again attending classes at the University of Maryland. Bill was struck by a car a few weeks ago and suffered a compound fracture of the leg.

Tumbling . . .
 All boys and girls interested in taking tumbling; we are arranging classes starting March 23 at 3:30 in the Center School Gym. The first day will be to see how many children are interested and then the classes will be made up and the day you are to come. The classes will be taught by Tommy Woods, who is majoring in Physical Education at the U. of Md. and comes to us highly recommended.
Softball . . .

We will have a meeting of all Greenbelt men who would like to form a softball league in Greenbelt to be played under the lights at Braden Field. This meeting is very important; so let's all come if you are interested, both young and old. The meeting will be held Thursday, March 26 at the center school promptly at 8 p.m. in the arts and crafts room.

Greenbelt Urged To Collect Trash

The city council has voted to dedicate the next three Saturdays as "clean-up days" on which a trash truck will be available for residents wishing to dispose of bulky objects. Lastner made a plea for residents to cooperate with cleaning up their premises and obey regulations for trash and garbage collections.
